RECOVERY IN STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK, March 31—(AP)—A remarkable recovery in prices took place in today's stock market after bear traders had failed to unsettle the general list by a furious attack on the railroad equipment shares. Net gains of 1 to 15 points were recorded by a long list of diversified issues, with final quotations at, or near, the day's high levels.

Trading did not maintain the terrific pace set yesterday when 3,317,700 shares changed hands, today's total sales being only 2,576,200 shares.

The rally was a natural sequel to the unusually heavy selling movement which has been under way for three successive weeks and during which many issues obviously had been oversold. While it had no direct relation with anything in the news, conservative market followers derived encouragement from the suggestions in the weekly steel trade reviews that the recent reaction had not been accompanied by any widespread cancellation of orders which invariably followed such declines in the past. Other bullish factors were the freight car loading statistics for the week ended March 20, showing an increase of 65,728 cars over the same week last year, and the publication of several favorable first quarter earnings reports.

Motor shares led in point of activity. Special strength of Hudson, which boared over 7 points to 77 1-2 on total sales of nearly 100,00 shares, was accompanied by a report that the company had shipped 31,500 cars in March, as compared with 17,000 last year. General Motors jumped nearly 5 points to 220 and Mack Trucks soared over six points to 110 1-4, while Chrysler, Fisher Body, Moon, Pierce Arrow common and preferred, Stewart-Warner and White closed 2 to nearly 4 1-2 points higher. Jordan was subjected to a vicious selling attack, breaking over 7 points to 37 3-4, a new low record for the year, and then rallying to 43 1-2.

U. S. Steel common led an advance in the rail group by showing an extreme gain of 3 points at 121 1-4, closing just below the top. Spirited biddings for the public utilities brought about net gains of 4 to nearly 6 points to Columbia Gas, General Gas and Electric A, and Laclede Gas. Coppers swung upward under the leadership of American Smelting which closed 5 3-8 points higher at 117 1-2.

Marked heaviness developed in a number of the high priced industrial specialties, several of which rallied a point or more between sales when the rally was at its height. General Electric soared 13 points to 306 and net gains of 6 to nearly 11 points were recorded by Allied Chemical, Coca Cola, Commercial Solvents B, Du Pont, Remington Typewriter, United Fruit, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Woolworth.

Rails rallied almost as much as the industrials. Jersey Central jumped 15 points on one sale, Atlantic Coast Line soared over 11 points to 153 and Chesapeake and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, New York Central, New Haven, Southern Railway, Texas and Pacific and Wabash all closed 5 or more points higher.

The drive on the equipment shares was only partially successful. American Locomotive was hammered from 86 1-2 to 80 1-4 but spurted back to 83. Baldwin declined from 107 1-2 to 97 7-8, but rallied to 103 1-4. American Car and Foundry closed 1 1-2 higher at 96 1-4, other issues with 3 points below that group. Westinghouse showed a net gain of 5 points at 132 after having touched 127 1-4.

Commodity prices were mostly lower [illegible] cents a bushel [illegible] to 99 points [illegible] cent a bushel [illegible] futures were slightly firmer [illegible] closing eased 6 to 11 points. [illegible] sold steady at 5 per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges also displayed an improved tone. Demand sterling was slightly higher around $4.85 11-16 and French francs rallied nearly 5 points to around 3.47 cents. Moderate gains also were recorded y most of the other European currencies, but the South American rates were slightly easier.

Help Nature Control Your Cough

Help Nature to obtain quick and lasting relief by the use of PERTUSSIN, which is most effective in freeing the air passages of sticky, irritating phlegm and in soothing the inflamed throat.

PERTUSSIN contains no "dope" (such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or any other injurious drugs) and has been prescribed in millions of doses every year during the past twenty years. It is pure and entirely harmless.

Safe for Every Cough

NORWICH MEN IN NEW YORK RENEW MEMORIES OF THEIR HOME TOWN

Recollections of old times in Norwich, their home city, were brought back vividly to each one in the gathering of 48 who attended the annual banquet and meeting of the Norwich Society of New York, which was held last Monday evening at the Twin Oaks grill room just east of Broadway New York City. As many of the members do not see each other at any time in the year expect at the spring and fall meetings of the society, much of the pleasure of the evening came in the renewing of old friendships formed in the Connecticut city where they were boys together.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Harold H. Thresher being the retiring president: President, J. H. Albertson; vice president, J. Olin Howe; secretary Charles H. Tirrell; treasurer, William T. McNamara; membership committee, Raymond Royce, E. W. McGuire; nominating committee, Edward J. Crawford; executive committee, J. D. Herr, Raymond S. Stefferson, Charles N. Hulbert, J. R. Powelson, Frank Lester, Harold H. Taresher.

Business having been disposed of, the members proceeded to enjoy themselves at the banquet for which the following menu was served:

Olives Celery
Fresh Shrimp Cocktail
Consomme Colbert
Filet of Sole Marguery
Roast Prime Ribs of Beef au Jus
Green Peas Baked Potatoes
Hearts of Lettuce
Ice Cream and Assorted Cakes
Demi Tasse
Cigars Cigarettes

The tables were attractively decorated with flowers and some excitement was caused by the distribution of favors, apparently flasks, which proved to be tiny vest pocket whiskbrooms.

A speaker of the evening was R. W. Budd, general manager of a well known detective agency, who was listened to with interest as he told of many interesting experiences in connection with preventing the sale of blue-sky securities.

Mr. Budd was followed by J. Olin Howe, who moved the audience by a wonderful tribute to Norwich as a center from which came a goodly number of national figures. One interesting statement he made was that six presidents of the United States have had direct lineal connections with Norwich.

Winslow T. Williams gave reminiscences that brought applause from the old-timers and letters from various members and friends who could not be present were read. Music, a song or two, and an exhibition of the Charleston by the entertainers were pleasant features of the evening.

A written communication from Principal Henry A. Tirrell requested that a representative of the society be present at the June graduation exercises at Norwich Free academy in connection with the perpetual trust fund which the society recently established to provide for two annual prizes. Harold H. Thresher was nominated and elected to perform that duty.

In accepting the office of president, Mr. Albertson outlined a prospective plan that his administration will follow. The members gave him an enthusiastic reception which demonstrates the support he may expect.

Jean S. Cuneo and R. W. Budd were elected honorary members of the Norwich society, which is anxious to have all men coming from Norwich to New York enroll as members. Full details may be obtained by writing J. H. Albertson, 139 West 42nd St., New York.

The following were present at the banquet:

Edward Harland Miller, J. D. Herr, John R. Powelson, Reginald Reynolds, Bruno H. Grodotzke, Joseph E. Shea, Patrick O'Brien, D. D. O'Connell, Elisha W. McGuire, Raymond C. Stefferson, John S. Y. M. C. A. BIBLE CLASS STUDIED THE CRUCIFIXION

At the weekly session of the Men's Bible class at the local Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening, the topic was "The Tragedy of the Cross" the scripture used being Mark 15:15-39. Among the points brought out in the discussion were the following: "The reason why Jesus encountered so much opposition which finally led to his crucifixion was in the main because of jealousy, though his enemies were unwilling to consider both sides of the question; they were prejudiced. It is an advantage to us to think of the physical suffering of Jesus on the cross because we are more likely to love those who really suffer for him. We walk as a rule not go far astray. The attitude of Jesus toward those who were responsible for his death is very wonderful; we wonder how he could pray "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." He wanted to save all men, even his enemies.

The remark by his enemies the "He saved others, himself he could not save," made in mockery had in it a real truth, namely that Jesus could not save himself and at the same time save us. It was the plan of God that he should give his life for a lost world. The thief who asked to be remembered by Jesus must have been profoundly impressed by his genuineness, and his ability to help him; the personality of the Christ must have won him. Personality has very much to do with success in any realm, and the more a man studies the life of Christ and lives according to Christ's example, the more winning personality he will have. We can secure the benefits of Christ's death only as we accept the redemption he purchased on Calvary; unless we accept it his death means little to us.

FOR GOOD FRIDAY AND EASTER AT CHRIST CHURCH

Rev. John H. Chapman will be the preacher at Christ Episcopal church at the Good Friday passion service from noon to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He has been specially trained and fitted to conduct this Good Friday service. Everyone is welcome to attend and if they cannot stay for the three hours can feel free to go out during any hymn. On Good Friday evening at 7:45 a large choir will sing the noted composition, Stainer's Crucifixion, this being a service at which it is expected to have a large congregation.

On Easter Sunday the early service will be at 7:30. The late Eucharist will follow the procession that begins with that noted hymn by J. Neander, with special music, He Is Risen. There will also be that wonderful hymn, Welcome Happy Morning, by A. S. Sullivan. Christ Our Passover, Saint Kevin's great hymn will be sung as the recessional.

An Easter service and pageant for the children will be given at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

BUILDING SUMMER RESIDENCE ON WESTBROOK SITE

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Peterson of Washington street are having a handsome summer residence erected at Westbrook and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy by June 1st. The site was purchased last fall and comprises about an acre and a half of lawn. It is located on the highest point between New London and New Haven and overlooks Long Island Sound.

Mr. Tuttle Can Sleep After Gas is Gone

"After taking Adlerika, the heavy feeling (gas) in my abdomen is entirely gone and I get a good night's rest now." (signed) J. C. Tuttle. Adlerika removes gas in TEN minutes and brings out a surprising amount of old waste matter you never thought was in your system. This excellent intestinal evacuant is wonderful for constipation or stomach trouble. WRITES OF UNUSUAL SIGHTS IN FLORIDA

Writing to Mrs. Arrie D. Chapman of this city, Mrs. James Hewitt of Laurel Hill road who has been spending the winter at Hialeah, Fla., gives an interesting description of a visit to Redlands, with its unusual attractions, as follows:

The New England society went to Homestead today, which is about 40 miles south of Miami in the Redlands district. We visited at a place where a great many tropical fruits are raised as an experiment. The government gets the plants and Mr. Johnson takes care of them. He says he is 68 years old and expects to live to be 150. He took us around his premises and explained to us his wonderful plants. The Chermoia tastes like ice cream, a combination of pineapple and banana in flavor. Its leaf seemed to me all of two feet wide. Then Monstera Deliciosa came from Ceylon, the Ilama from Peru. The Carmoulo came from India. The custard apple is a most delicious custard. A bitter sweet orange was brought by the Spaniards. What looked almost like grass, when bruised, gave the odor of lemon, which he said was the basis of all perfumes. This plant came from India. He called our attention to the sausage tree and its bark. The woodpeckers had punctured the bark at intervals, drawing out a liquid which as it soured became an intoxicant and the birds would be found lying around on the ground. After about an hour's time they would revive and be ready to try the same stunt again. The fruit of the tree looked like a cluster of sausages.

They had tried to get a breadfruit tree started, even moved with it a ton of soil from the South Sea Islands and then lost it. I understood him that they thought the last one was going to live. The mango trees were putting out a lot of fruit. The Avocado trees he did not say much about.

The Sappadilla is considered a perfect fruit and a balanced ration. A tree from Abyssinia, the natives strip off its leaves if going on a journey; they will answer for food and drink for several days.

I neglected ot say that the seeds of the Carmoulo are commercial strychnine and woe be unto you if you swallow a part of one, he said, but the fruit is perfectly wonderful in flavor.

From Mr. Johnson's we went to Mr. Fennell's home. He is raising orchids. At Christmas he was selling them at $7.50 each at the Biltmore hotel, Coral Gables. He offered to show us some of the natural orchids growing there but time would not permit us to take the walk. The ones we saw came from Equador.

Our journey took us through a country where the trees were loaded with grapefruit and oranges and the blossoms of the oranges were filling the air with the delightful perfume which no other flower can compare with. We were invited to go to a place where we had all the grapefruit and orangeades we could drink, they also had homemade candy, marmalade and jellies for sale made from the tropical fruits. It was a trip worth while.

Now a few lines about Hialeah. Last years we made about 300 stockings for holding candy for the children, this year 1,500. We have two candy factories here, also a tile factory, ice plant, make cement blocks, a factory for bed springs and mattresses, the Florida East Coast Railroad Shops. A great many buildings have been put up since last year. There is quite a colony of Norwich people here this year.

ROTARY WILL SPONSOR TROOP OF SEA SCOUTS

At its monthly business session on Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel the Norwich Rotary club voted to sponsor a troop of sea scouts in this city. This decision was reached after interesting talks by Nathan A. Gibbs, who spoke of the Boy Scout movement, and by W. Clayton Barry who spoke of sea-scouting. Some time ago there was a sea-scout troop in Norwich but it was dropped as there was no organization to back up the movement and take an active interest in the work. Mr. Barry, a former navy officer, has been over the work and the Rotary club has agreed to sponsor such a troop.

Mr. Barry in his talk said that it was the intent of the sponsors of the troop to make an appeal to the Boy Scouts between the ages of 14 and 16 to join this sea-scout troop. Practical navigation will be given the boys and the rudiments of a sea training taught them by men with practical experience.

Nathan A. Gibbs, who has been a member of the National Boy Scout council for 15 years, spoke of the scout work and its progress during the time he has been connected with it. He touched on his personal interview with Sir Baden-Powell who founded the boy scout movement in England in 1907. W. D. Boyce inaugurated the movement in America in 1910 and in 1916 the organization was incorporated by a special act of congress.

Mr. Gibbs spoke of the death of J. W. Storrow, president of the Boy Scouts of America, as being a great personal loss to him. Like Rotary, the Boy Scouts are now organized in every civilized country. The Boy Scout idea aims to supplement the home, the church and the school by engaging the boys' leisure energies in outdoor games and activities of cultural and practical value. It inculcates character. Its motto is "Be Prepared." The Scout oath and the Scout law are worthy of the close study of all Rotarians, while their daily good turn is one step toward the Rotary "Service Before Self." A Scout is a friend of all and a brother to every other Scout. Scouting is the process of making real men out of real boys. At present there are 790,741 Boy Scouts in the United States with 41,000 scout masters and assistants. Nearly a million boys and men are now associated with the movement, which is not military in thought, form or spirit but does instill in boys the military virtues of honor, loyalty, obedience and patriotism.

John J. O'Rourke spoke of the progress of the drive for funds for the Boy Scouts and urged Rotarians to make further effort to raise the required budget to carry the local movement through the year.

At the business session of the meeting Judge Nelson J. Ayling presided in the absence of President Edwin A. Harris. William G. Park was the song leader and a number of the "ladies night" songs were tried out under his energetic leadership. There were reports from various committees on work done during the past year. Charles A. Saxton reported for the educational committee saying that four very interesting meetings had been held on Rotary education during the year. He offered a number of helpful suggestions regarding the work for the coming year.

Dr. R. R. Agnew, making a report for the Boys Work committee, brought to the attention of the club the case of a very needy local boy who is at present at the Seaside sanatorium. The club voted to assist in the support of the boy during treatment by a specialist.

Charles R. Butts read his report as chairman of the trustees of the Dr. John S. Blackmar Boys Work fund. His report showed that during the year about $750 had been added to the fund through contributions and entertainments, and that there had been disbursements of approximately $550 leaving the fund amounting to $3,854.40 at the present time.

Alex McNicol, chairman of the ladies' night programme, told of the progress made and said that a capacity attendance was assured by the advance sale of tickets. Chairman McNicol also announced that the first three meetings next month would be: April 7th, election of officers; April 14, Ladies night; April 24th, report of the spring conference at Bridgeport.

There were reports of the spring conference committee by James Roantree and Mort Comstock of the Bridgeport club, which is to be host at the conference.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell spoke of the song recital by Henry J. LaFontaine to be held on April 23 at Slater hall for the benefit of the Boys Work fund. Dr. Campbell urged that all Rotarians endeavor to dispose of the tickets as soon as possible.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Sewed for United Workers

Ten members and one visitor attended the meeting Wednesday afternoon of Comfort circle of the King's Daughters, held with Mrs. Frelove Miller, at 45 Cliff street. In the absence of the leader, Mrs. A. T. Utley, the vice-leader, Mrs. J. H. Allen led the devotional exercises. The time was spent in sewing on garments for the United Workers. It was voted to send a plant to a shut-in, as an Easter gift.

NORWICH TOWN

Under the auspices of Loyal Circle of the King's Daughters, members of the Johnson Home family were pleasantly entertained Wednesday afternoon when several members of the B Natural club gave a delightful programme of vocal and instrumental numbers. The participants were: Vocalists, Mrs. Albert J. Bailey, Mrs. William F. Bailey and Mrs. Raymond Britton; pianists, Mrs. Harry Stebbins, Mrs. Frank Waters, Mrs. William S. Elliot and Mrs. Albert J. Bailey; violist, Mrs. C. R. Chamberlain, who also played with recitations.

The committee from Loyal Circle in charge of the arrangements, comprised Mrs. William F. Bailey, chairman, Mrs. George W. Carter, Mrs. A. Durie, Mrs. Susie Crooks and Mrs. Everett E. Bawley. During the afternoon every member of the home, including the matron, Mrs. May Rollins and her assistants, was presented a dainty Easter basket filled with candy, fruit, cup cakes and an Easter card. Following was the programme: Piano solos, Jean and Jeanette (Longe); Hexenspringe (Idyeet). Mrs. William S. Elliot; vocal solos, Thank God For a Garden (Del-Riego), I Love You Truly (Bond). What's the Use! (Ward). Mrs. Albert J. Bailey; piano solos, Triumphal March, A Procession March and Sunflower Dance, by Mrs. Harry Stebbins and Mrs. Frank Waters; recitations, Poems by Elsie Guest; Mrs. C. R. Chamberlain; vocal solos, Zina (McGill), At Dawning (Cadman), At Parting (Rogers), Maytime (Speaks), Mrs. Raymond Britton; piano solo, Bridal Roses (Oehmler), Mrs. A. J. Bailey; vocal solo, The Rose's Cup (Stevens), Were I (Bond), God Touched the Rose (Mary Helen Brown), Mrs. William F. Bailey.

In the last song Mrs. Elliot played the violin obligato for Mrs. Bailey. The accompanists throughout the enjoyable programme were Mrs. Elliot and Mrs. A. J. Bailey.

Mrs. George Zimmerman is leader of Loyal Circle.

There was a large attendance on Tuesday evening at the First Methodist Episcopal church, at the first of the series of Lenten services with the First Congregational church uniting. "Behold the Man" was the theme of the splendid sermon by Rev. J. W. Carter, pastor of Jewett City Methodist church, who also read the Scripture lesson. Rev. Charles L. Reeves offered prayer and the pastor of the visiting church, Rev. Gordon F. Bailey pronounced the benediction. At the service Wednesday evening at the same church, when the sermon was by Rev. Charles H. Smith, pastor of Uncasville Methodist church, the theme was "Religion and Civilization." This (Thursday) evening the service will be at the First Congregational church. Besides the sermon by Rev. Dwight C. Stone, of Hanover Congregational church, there is to be a communion service in commemoration of the Lord's supper, the pastor and visiting clergyman officiating. The service will begin at 7.30.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver on Huntington Green, Good Friday afternoon, at three o'clock there is to be a Lenten service under the auspices of Dorcas Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Albert G. Miner is in charge of the programme.

Easter Sunday the retiring pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. James D. Alabes, will conduct his last official service as its pastor.

Rev. Mr. Alabes came to the Norwich Town Methodist church nearly five years ago, having been to a great work in this parish Sunday May 9th, 1921. He is retiring from the pastorate after many years of faithful work for the Master.

A man will destroy his ... nothing ... will beseem, but he will ... long the lives of others.

COUNSEL ABANDONS HOPE OF SAVING GERALD CHAPMAN IN FEDERAL COURTS

Announcement Made After Justices of the United Supreme Court Had Declined to Intervene—Statements by Attorneys For Chapman That Alcorn Had Consented to Waive Judicial Formalities Until May 4 Were Denied by the State's Attorney.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Gerald Chapman, bandit, failed in his effort today to obtain a stay of his execution, set for next Tuesday from supreme court Justices.

Hay M. Wiley, Springfield, Mass., one of the condemned mans counsel, came to Washington to appeal for an order of postponement but Justices Stone and Holmes, to whom he attempted to present his case, declined to intervene.

When contended new evidence had been discovered which would substantiate Chapman's claim that he was not in New Britain, Conn., the night he is said to have murdered a policeman. He also held that constitutional questions had arisen which would warrant the supreme court to reopen the case.

When first attempted to obtain an audience Justice Stone was declined to hear him unless through counsel, although he granted permission over tears from Chapman, on the ground that as attorney general he had approved Chapman's transfer from the Atlanta penitentiary to Connecticut for trial.

The attorney then appealed to Justice Holmes, spending an hour with him in his chambers in a vain plea for a stay of execution. Finally he sought Justice Brandeis, who, like his associate, declined to intervene.

Abandoning hope of intervention through the supreme court at this time, Wiley left Washington tonight for New York where he will confer tomorrow with Frederick J. Grisold, chief counsel for Chapman.

He explained tonight that in his conferences with the supreme court justices he had not presented any particular form of petition, but had reviewed the new developments in the case.

In this connection he discussed a writ of habeas corpus, but he received no encouragement leading him to hope for any favorable action which would postpone the execution.

ALCORN HAS DECLINED TO WAIVE STATE'S RIGHTS

HARTFORD, April 1.—(AP)—Attorneys for Gerald Chapman who is to be charged next Monday night for the second time with State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn in their efforts to file a motion for a new trial. They announced Mr Alcorn had consented to waive technical formalities which would prevent a hearing on their motion until May 4 and permit them to go before Judge Newell Jennings of the superior court judge of the Chapman murder case, for a hearing at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. Alcorn denied this, saying to the Associated Press: "I haven't waived anything and I shall not waive any of the rights of the state of Connecticut in the Chapman case."

The only thing that he did agree to do, Mr. Alcorn pointed out, was simply to be present in the judge's chambers when Chapman's attorney submitted the new evidence on which they base their hopes of a new trial.

Judge Jennings said he told the Chapman attorneys that he was willing to hold himself available to "look over what they have in the way of new evidence and then decide whether or not I will hear it."

The judge's powers are discretionary.

Defense attorney now have five affidavits, four from new witnesses and a fifth, which they say, shows that one of the Chapman jurors was prejudiced and that Chapman did not get a fair trial.

The fifth affidavit was obtained this afternoon at Canton Conn., from Harry C. Peck, proprietor of a garage there. His deposition follows in part:

"This is to certify that I, Harry C. Peck of the town of Canton, county of Hartford and state of Connecticut, duly make oath and declare, without force or coercion that a few days after one Walter Shean (Chapman's murder accomplice) had accused one Gerald Chapman of shooting Policeman James Skelly of New Britain, Conn., that I, Harry C. Peck, was a neighbor of Walter S. Case in Canton Center; that at said time, Mr. Case and myself discussed the Skelly murder in the said Walter Case, expressing the opinion that he would like to sit on the jury, so that he could help, if he could to hang him, the said Chapman as he was convinced that Chapman having a bad record, had committed the crime."

Defense attorneys made public the new affidavit, even going so far as to declare that it is a basis for a mistrial in the old court action. Mr. Case could not be reached to comment on Mr. Peck's depositing.

Mr. Case was juror number five in the Chapman trial. He testified that he had lived at Canton for 31 years. While a venireman, and being questioned by Mr. Alcorn as to his qualifications, as a juror, he was asked:

"Have you formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused?"

The record shows that he answered, "I have not."

Mr. Grisold then asked him: "You have read a great deal, I presume, about this case?"

Mr. Case admitted that he had.

"Has it made any impression upon you at all as far as the innocence or guilt of this defendant is concerned?"

"No, sir," Mr. Case answered.

"You are going to be governed entirely by the evidence that you hear in the court rooms under the instructions of the court and under your oath?"

"That's my duty."

A petition which had 500 names affixed to it tonight was to be presented to Governor Trumbull tomorrow by two Hartford club women, asking the governor to reprieve Chapman.

An open letter to Governor Trumbull was sent by the national bureau of information and education of New York city, signed by J. A. Hopkins, chairman of the bureau, asking the governor to commute Chapman's death sentence to life imprisonment. Hopkins is a nationally known opponent of capital punishment.

INVESTIGTION INTO RADIO CONTROL ADJOURNED

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—An investigation into radio control by Examiner Reeves for the federal trade commission today was adjourned until April 12, when a ruling will have been obtained on an objection to testimony which ruptured the hearing.

The question of proper testimony arose when Edward L. Smith, counsel for the commission asked William G. Trench, assistant secretary of the General Electric company, for the name of the principal stockholder. Darnus L. Peck, counsel for the company, objected on the ground that such testimony would violate a confidence.

When Mr. Reeves sustained the objection Mr. Smith announced he would appeal to the commission on the ruling, as he intended to ask the same question of witnesses from the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the International Standard Electric company.

Mr Reeves thereupon adjourned the hearing on agreement of opposing counsel, saying he did not wish to take other testimony with the question pending.

MANCHURIAN HORDES ARE MOVING AGAINST PEKING

MUKDEN, April 1.—(AP)—The Manchurian hordes are moving today against Peking. Although severe fighting has not yet taken place, the troops of Chang Tso-Lin are marching upon the capital from Tientsin in three columns along the railroad." From Tungshan and from Jehol, beyond the great Chinese wall, Manchurian cavalry and engineering fairly thousands are moving overland.

The scope of the operations apparently indicates the determination of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchuria's war lord, not only to drive the Kuominchun (national army) forces out of Peking, but to continue the operations against Kalgan northeast of the capital, the elimination of Kuominchun, Kalgan is the stronghold of Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, commander of the Kuominchun.

Neither Marshal Wu Pei-Fu, commanding forces moving toward Peking from the south, nor the Manchurian commanders are at present considering peace overtures from the Peking government.

CONSTABLE ATTACHED AN AIRPLANE IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, April 1.—(AP)—Constable Charles A. Fine has attached an airplane at the city aviation field as the result of the alleged failure of the owner of the machine, William P. Thomas, to pay a bill of $82 which the city of Hartford, through the aviation commission, claims Thomas owes for hangar and oil. This is the first time an airplane has been attached. Constable Fine has detached one wing of the plane which is now at the city aviation field. The case will be heard in city court Monday.

MEASUREMENTS SHOW MOUNTAIN IS MOVING

BELLINZONA, Switzerland, April 1.—(AP)—Careful observations kept by the Swiss topographical bureau since 1888 show that the Motto D'Arbino, a mountain 5,550 feet high near Bellinzona, in the Canton of Tessin, is moving.

Engineers and topographical experts have been taking careful measurements day by day, and reports show that the great plateau that forms the summit, covering an area of nearly 100,000 square feet, has become dangerously undermined.

Nearly 40 years ago it was found that the summit was shifting horizontally at the rate of nearly an inch a year, a movement that increased progressively until some months ago, when the rate had increased to four inches a year.

The mountain sank at an average of nearly an inch and a half a year during the first 14 years of observation. The latest report is that there has been a subsidence of more than six inches during the last 12 months. Observers say when the underlying mass of rock gives way the whole of the great plateau will crash into the valley.

STORM DISASTROUS TO TELEPHONES IN CANADA

TORONTO, April 1—(AP)—Property of the Bell Telephone company of Canada sustained the greatest damage in yesterday's sleet and wind storm, according to an estimate. The total loss of the various electric companies, the Radial Railway and industrial concerns is set at about $1,645,000.

The damage to the Bell Telephone company is placed at $700,000, Canadian National Telegraphs $300,000 and Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs $250,000.

In further statistics compiled by the newspapers the number of poles down in Toronto and district is given as 1251, while nearly 300 trees were uprooted. Several hundred radio aerials were blown down.

On the other hand, the sleet is represented by some agriculturalists as worth "millions of dollars" to the farmers of the province.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS BY AMERICAN BRASS CO.

NEW YORK, April 1—(AP)—Shipments by the American Brass company in the first quarter this year were the largest for any quarter in its history, having been 12 1-2 per cent more than the same period of 1925. John D. Ryan, chairman of the Anaconda Copper company said today. Orders and contracts on the books at the end of the quarter were 13 per cent. in excess of a year ago. "As 1925 was the greatest year in the company's history in shipment and orders taken," Mr. Ryan added, "the present state of business does not indicate business or industrial recession and we are looking for a very good year."

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Condition of Royal Patients

LONDON, April 1.—(AP)—King George walked over from Buckingham Palace to York House and Marlborough House today to visit his son, the Prince of Wales, and his sister, Princess Victoria, both of whom are under the care of physicans. The King found the Prince chafing under the discipline of the sick room and anxious to be out in the soft spring sunshine which flooded London today after a particularly cold and dreary winter. The doctors are doing their best to keep the Prince of Wales in bed, he having undergone an operation for an affection of the ear several days ago, and they are opposed to his continental tour, which was to have started today.

FIERY DEBATE IN SENATE OVER DEBT SETTLEMENTS

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—The strictures made against the United States recently by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the British exchequer, in connection with the British-American debt settlement, brought fiery responses today in Democratic Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, referred to the chancellor's strictures as "whimings" while Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, turned back the pages of recent history to show that the United States sought to arrive at "just and fair settlements."

"As Great Britain is heralding to the world that we are a people clamoring for blood," declared Senator Reed, "let the world understand that the wealth she possesses to herself at the close of the war is not to be compared to any amount that she could have been called upon to pay to the United States under her debt agreement.

"One million six hundred and seven thousand square miles of territory passed to the control of Great Britain after the war. This is worth infinitely more in natural wealth than any possible sum Great Britain could have been called upon to pay us.

"When the war ended the United States waived all claim to reparations. There was no reason why we should not have asked for a certain portion of reparations.

"When it comes to a division of the territory of the conquered nations, the representatives of the United States at Versailles was hearted to make it clearly understood that the United States sought no territory.

"And [illegible] making a settlement with Great Britain we forgave that country almost one of its debt [illegible] a year. What the American taxpayer is called upon to pay [illegible] interest on American money lends and the interest on the British settlement.

"These matters indicate to me that from the beginning the United States was going to arrive at a just and fair settlement. There was no temptation to do other than to arrive at that end."

INCOME TAX RETURNS FOR MARCH QUARTER

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Final income tax collection figures for the March quarter, the first under the reduced rates of the new revenue law, showed a total payment to the government of $449,660,000.

This is almost $90,000,000 more than was collected a year ago under the higher rates and is $190,000,000 more than treasury officials estimated would be collected for this quarter.

The collections assure a surplus at the close of this fiscal year, June 30, which probably will be applied to the public debt. The unexpected increase in returns despite the reduced tax rates was attributed today by Acting-Secretary Winston to the "unusual income and profits resulting last year from the period of prosperity."

The New York federal reserve district reported the largest collections of the 12 districts with $160,802,511. The latest figures on collections by district, which do not take into account final telegraphic reports follow: Chicago, $90,104,966; Cleveland, $43,089,713; Philadelphia, $38,260,525; Boston, $36,264,331; San Francisco, $31,368,845; Atlanta, $22,968,029; Richmond, Va., $22,921,211, Kansas City, $14,727,606; St. Louis, $13,928,855; Dallas $9,947,255 and Minneapolis $9,816,284.

The collections take into account both personal and corporate income tax payments. An increase also was reported in miscellaneous tax collections but several of these which were repealed by the new law did not go out until the end of March and the full effect of the reductions will not be felt until later, treasury officials explained.

EDWARD W. BROWNING NOW PLAYING PRINCE

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP)—Edward W. Browning, elderly and wealthy real estate operator, has again assumed a role in a Cinderella tale. This time, however, he is playing the part of the prince, following his disastrous attempts to be fairy godmother to Mary Louise Spas last year.

His secretary today confirmed reports that his engagement to Frances Heenan, 15-year-old daughter of a trained nurse, will be announced in June when the new Cinderella achieves her 16th birthday.

Frances is suffering from burns about her face, the work, according to Mr. Browning, of "some fiend" who entered her bedroom while she slept and threw acid upon her. Eight detectives are searching for the malefactor, and four nurses are engaged in attending the girl.

He refused to confirm his secretary's admission of the engagement plans, saying "it is a question I can't talk about at present." He added that Frances was "a lovely girl—very refined."

WHITTEMORE MUST FACE DOUBLE MURDER CHARGE

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Richard Reese Whittemore, leader of a million dollar robber gang, will be taken to Buffalo, N. Y., to face a double murder charge tonight. He will leave on the 6.01 o'clock train to go on trial for the murder of two bank messengers in a $93,000 armored car holdup.

France in Fair Way To Finance Budget

M. Peret Has Succeeded in Having the Question Settled Before Easter Recess.

PARIS, April 1.—(AP)—M. Peret, Premier Briand's new finance minister, has succeeded in doing what six other finance ministers failed to accomplish; he has found sufficient support in the chamber of deputies to make possible the balancing of the French budget. He has thus made good his promise to have this delicate and complicated question settled before the Easter recess.

After an all-night session the chamber this morning voted sufficient new resources not only to clear away the budget deficit but provide for a small surplus. The government received a majority of 71, the vote being 236 to 165, with 320 deputies abstaining, as many of them had previously indicated.

The budget deficit amounted to 2,450,000,000 francs ($87,750,000), while receipts from the new measure are estimated at 2,500,000,000 ($87,500,000). The tax on business turnover will amount to 1,200,000,000 francs; that on alcohol 225,000,000 and the individual poll tax 570,000,000.

The chamber's action had an early effect on the franc, but when the statement of the bank of France was issued, showing that the treasury had borrowed an additional billion and a quarter francs, there was quick reaction, and the dollar went up a few points higher than yesterday.

The bank's statement is taken as indicative how close the treasury had been to catastrophe and what a narrow escape it had.

Parisites slumbered today after the 24 hour session of the chamber. It is expected that the financial bills will come before the senate tomorrow. The upper house has closely followed the debate in the chamber, and the government hopes there will be quick and favorable action and that the difficult problem will be finally disposed of Saturday.

PONZI CASE ARGUMENTS HAVE BEEN CONCLUDED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 1.—(AP)—Arguments in the case of Charles Ponzi and his wife, Rose Marie Ponzi, charged with violating state statutes of 1923 relating to the establishment of trusts, were concluded today in the Duval criminal court before Judge James M Pooler. Court was adjourned immediately until tomorrow.

The specific charges against Ponzi and his wife are that they failed to file with the secretary of state a copy of declaration of trust, under which Ponzi is alleged to have operated the Charpon Land syndicate, and doing business without permission from the secretary and the county general. Argument by the defense centered on the claim that Ponzi did not operate under declaration of trust but was acting only with the power of attorney for himself and his associates when he issued promissory notes, or "units of indebtedness" in the Charpon Land syndicate. The defense also maintained that the law did not define declaration of trust.

The prosecution asserted that a declaration of trust did not necessarily have to be in writing and argued that Ponzi failed to file his application with the secretary of state for fear that the plan of sale of "units of indebtedness" would be refused. During a short recess, Mrs. Ponzi fainted but was quickly revived.

NORMAL CONDITIONS IN THE STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Normal conditions prevailed in today's stock market, with rallies of 1 to 5 points helping to correct the "oversold" condition which resulted from last month's unparalleled decline.

Flurries of selling swept over the market without making much impression, although a few net losses of 1 to 5 points stood out in contrast to the long and varied list of gains for the day. An attempt to unsettle the list by hammering the equipment and motor shares met with stubborn resistance, with most issues following the leadership of U. S. Steel and other standard industrials and rails.

Most of outside and technical developments affecting the market were favorable. Passage of the French finance bills by the chamber of deputies, virtually assuring a balanced budget, brightened the European financial outlook, while a reduction in the call money rate from 5 to 4 per cent., stimulated professional buying operations. Short covering in advance of the holiday gave further impetus to the upturn.

ZOO BEAR AT LIBERTY FRIGHTENED VISITORS

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP) — A Himalayan bear who has lived for years in a cage at the zoo in Central park regained his birthright of liberty today and thought so little of it that he sold it for a mess of honey.

Jiggs, as the shaggy bruin is known, climbed over the unprotect t top of his cage and joined the visitors to the park's people house. Women and children fled and the monkeys chattered with fright. The bear strolled into the open.

Keepers rolled a cage on wheels with a pail of honey in it and with a spring door toward him. Jiggs looked up at the sky, around at the open fields, sniffed the sweet aroma of honey—and trotted into the cage. The door snapped shut behind him and Jiggs was wheeled back to captivity with honey dripping from his grinning jowls.

Perjury Indictment For "Bathtub" Party

NEW YORK, April 1—(AP)—The alleged 'wine bath' party which startled Broadway a month ago, resulted in the arrest of Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, on a federal indictment charging perjury. If he is convicted, it may cost him as much as 30 years in prison and a $12,000 fine, should the maximum penalty be exacted.

The indictment was the result of the federal grand jury's investigation into a party given by Carroll at the Earl Carroll theater on the night of Feb. 22 and early morning of Feb. 23. The feature of the affair was a bath said to have been taken by Joyce Hawley, showgirl, in a bathtub on the stage containing what was variously described as fruit juice, ginger ale and wine.

Carroll, summoned as a witness, was indicted on six counts, the principal charges being that he falsely testified that he had no record of the guests at the party, that no intoxicating liquor was served, and that no one got into the bathtub at any time during the festivities.

Arrested on a warrant Carroll was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and was released in $2,500 bail, on the understanding that he cannot leave Manhattan before his trial.

Federal Attorney Buckner said his trial will be set for an early date, and that if he is found guilty, swift punishment will follow, as an example to others.

Among those who testified before the grand jury were Irvin S. Cobb; Miss Hawley, newspaper men and other guests. The guests who were not summoned included the Counties of Cathcart and Harry K. Thaw.

On Nov. 3, 1924, Carroll was arrested when police charged that posters displayed at his theater were indecent. He was later acquitted in special sessions.

NEW BUILDINGS PROPOSED FOR YALE UNIVERSITY

NEW HAVEN, April 1.—(AP)—Three major building operations will be started by Yale university directly after commencement in June, it was announced tonight.

The Sterling memorial library, to be erected at an estimated cost of $6,000,000 as a monument to the late John W. Sterling, 94, of New York city, will be the largest of the three. The building will stand on the square bounded by High, Wall, York and Elm streets, occupying all the block except the Elm street side. The old gymnasium and the Carnegie swimming pool will not be torn down to make way for the library.

Construction of William L. Harkness hall, a lecture and recitation building provided for by a gift of $900,000 from the late William L. Harkness and his family, will also start after commencement. This building is to be located on the new cross-campus forming the approach to the Sterling memorial library. It will extend College street to Blount avenue, and along Blount avenue to Wall street. In addition to class and lecture rooms, it will contain thirty seven offices for members of the faculty.

The alumni memorial to the 227 Yale men who lost their lives in the World war, Will be begun about June 25. This is to form the south facade of the dining hall, at the head of Blount avenue. The plan calls for a memorial colonnade with an altar of liberty in the center. The funds for this were raised by a committee of the Alumni Advisory board.

In addition to these three projects Yale university, it was also announced, has made elaborate plans for the development of its property in the center of New Haven. In no case has the university money in hand for the erection of the addition buildings planned, nor will it make any general appeal for funds for them. Plans are to be drawn primarily to indicate to the Yale corporation the cost of building the needed structures and the architectural possibilities of the different sites.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST DENATURED ALCOHOL

HARTFORD, April 1.—(AP)—Launching what is termed the biggest offensive towards the elimination of denatured alcohol in the state of Connecticut, Federal Prohibition Administrator C. P. Mills announced today the disapproval of applications for nine manufacturers. Approval was given the applications of seventy nine other manufacturers.

According of the list of disapproval applications, made known today by Deputy Prohibition Administrator Frank T. Putney, the Connecticut Alcohol Distributing company of New Haven and the Solvents Recovery company, of Danbury, two large dealers in specially and completely denatured alcohol, have been deprived of their permits. This action leaves the Apothecaries Hall company, of Waterbury the sole bonded dealer in the state.

The applications of the following manufacturers were also disapproved: Joseph Basile, Norwich; Max Davis, New Haven; D'Ormo company, New Haven; Bucati Products company, New Haven; Gaetano Impellitteri, New London; C. A. Johnson, New Haven; Melrose Manufacturing company; Norwalk Perfumery company Norwich; Viving Perfumers, Inc. New Haven.

HOUSE VOTES TO IMPEACH FEDERAL JUDGE ENGLISH

Voted 306 to 62 on Charges of "Misdemeanors" in Office—Unless Judge English Resigns He Must Stand Trial Before the Senate on the Five Articles in the Indictment Returned Against Him By the House—Scene Created By Representatives Mills and Rankin.

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP)—Amid turmoil and confusion, the house late today impeached Federal Judge English of the eastern Illinois district, 306 to 62, on charges of "misdemeanors" in office.

Unless Judge English resigns he must stand trial before the senate on the five articles in the indictment returned against him by the house.

The vote came at the end of three days' debate and culminated in a near fist fight.

After proponents and opponents of the resolution of impeachment had talked themselves out, the democratic floor leader, Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, put forward a motion to re-commit the resolution to the judiciary committee to hear additional testimony.

Out of the usual hubbub and din attending house roll calls, the announcement came of the rejection of this motion, 90 to 275. Speaker Longworth then announced that the vote was on the impeachment resolution itself.

There were a few scattered "ayes" and as equally few scattered "nays"; it was plain the house did not know on what it was voting. When the speaker announced the adoption of the resolution a good dozen members [illegible] on their feet with cries of "[illegible]"

"What have we voted on?" demanded Representative Hudson, republican, Indiana.

There was so much turmoil that before undertaking to reply, the speaker pounded for order.

The vote was upon the judiciary committee resolution," Mr. Longworth said after the house had subsided. "After the motion to recommit had been announced, the chair stated what it considered a reasonable time for proponents to demand a separate vote on any one of the articles of impeachment."

Three minutes were [illegible] on a motion to recommit [illegible] on the first article of impeachment. Then the house proceeded to vote.

In the face of the overwhelming majority against them, supporters of impeachment abandoned plans to demand separate votes on the four remaining articles of impeachment and the entire resolution was permitted to come immediately to a record vote.

The house appeared to be on edge when it met today after two days drawn out proceedings in the English case. Immediately after Speaker Longworth rapped for order, a quorum call was demanded by Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi. Representative Mills, republican, New York, urged that this demand be not [illegible] The Mississippian [illegible] and Mr. Mills stood [illegible] aside. As he approached, Mr. Rankin, he said:

"Get on your own side of the house," interrupted Rankin as he shook his fist at the New Yorker.

Mr. Rankin then started toward Mr. Mills, but Representative Doughton, democrat, North Carolina intervened as a peacemaker.

Still struggling to reach the New Yorker, Mr. Rankin, as he himself subsequently explained, started to hurl a vile epithet at Mr. Mills, but immediately announced he would withdraw the remark, adding:

"I won't call any white man that."

Later, Mr. Mills amplified his statement on the floor by saying he wanted to get a decision in the English case tonight and had wished to avoid the delay of a quorum called, which might force the house into a session tomorrow, thus keeping in Washington a number of members who had engagements out of town.

The demand for a quorum was not pressed and the house proceeded with the debate. Chairman Graham, of the judiciary committee and Representative Montague, of West Virginia, a democrat of that committee, argued for impeachment, while Representative Weaver, of North Carolina, another democrat on the committee carried the burden for the opposition.

There was an unusually large attendance and a marked attention in the house as these three members and others unfolded their arguments and logic.

After the various votes had been taken, the house undertook to name the seven members who are to prosecute the case before the senate. The judiciary committee, consisting of five republicans and two democrats was objected to by Representative Garrett, who suggested four to three political ratio.

Chairman Graham explained there was not only a precedent for this ratio, but plan for appointment of a seven members from one party in power. Thereupon, the democratic leader objected to the immediate consideration of the resolution naming the managers and the house adjourned until Monday.

Judge English, who was appointed to the bench by President Wilson, in 1919, is the eleventh federal judge and the fourteenth federal official to be impeached by the house. The last impeachment was that of Robert W. Archbald, an assistant judge of the commerce court, who was convicted by the senate in 1913.

The chief charges against Judge English are wrongful manipulation of bankruptcy funds usurpation of authority over [illegible] appeals, use of profane language from the bench and threatening of fines and counsel in court.

Until the managers have been appointed the notice of [illegible] in impeaching Judge English will not be reported to the senate. The managers will make the report and the senate must give it consideration at one p. m. on the day following its presentation.

NO PROSPECT OF AMERICAN AT GENEVA CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—What prospects of acceptance by the United States of the league of nations invitation to a General conference in September on the senate's world court reservations may have existed when it was started on the way to Washington, it was authoritatively stated today virtually have been dissipated by subsequent developments.

The invitation arrived by cable almost simultaneously with advices from Geneva of the circular sent out by the league advising the 48 signatories to the world court protocol to indicate opposition to the procedure by the senate. The situation at once took on new complications.

The circular was viewed by Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, as an attempt to draw the United States into direct negotiations with the league and he saw in the move a logical sequence to the action taken by the senate when it voted adhesion to the court, as well as new evidence of controlling ties between the court and the league.

At the state department the Geneva advices caused surprise and had the effect of overshadowing other phases of the world court question. None of the officials there was willing, however to publicly express an opinion as to what influence the published reports from Geneva would have although it went without question that it would constitute a serious if not a fatal blow, to all possibility of acceptance.

FOUR PERSONS INJURED AS C. V. TRAIN BRUSHED BUS

RICHMOND, Vt., April 1.—(AP)—Four persons were injured, one seriously, when a southbound freight on the Central Vermont railroad sideswiped a Richmond-Burlington bus here today. The bus driver, who claimed that he failed to hear either the engine whistle or the crossing bell, swerved the car when he saw the train approaching, but the machine was dragged 50 feet by the engine and demolished.

William Dwyer of Richmond sustained internal injuries and two other passengers were cut by glass and shaken up.

SEAMAN FOUND GUILTY FIRST DEGREE MURDER

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—George Budd Williams, a West Indian negro seaman, was found guilty of first degree murder in general sessions court today. He was convicted of having killed William B. Young, a watchman employed by an electric protective company, during a silk robbery from an Eighth avenue loft last February 7. Williams will be sentenced to death by Judge Allen on April 8.

AMMUNITION WAS TO BE SMUGGLED TO MEXICO

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—A projected Mexican revolution, for which American ammunition was to be smuggled in American ships without the knowledge of owners or officers, was believed to have been frustrated today when the arrest of three seamen and confiscation of 1,000 rounds of ammunition was announced at the customs house.

The raid was made at midnight last night at the foot of Wall street after a prominent part was played by a mysterious and [illegible] woman who tipped off the federals that [illegible] 1,000,000 cartridges were to be shipped to Mexico today.

Members of the special service squad found from shipping [illegible] that the ony steamer, freight or [illegible] leaving for Mexican ports today was the Ward freighter Cuba and so the boat was raided.

At noon yesterday the special service squad began its shadowing of members of the crew. Throughout the afternoon and evening [illegible] was kept under close surveillance and stevedores were seen carrying large packages of apparent weight aboard. One such package was carried over the gangplank just before midnight by Antonio Esteban a ship's fireman and the officers followed him aboard.

They followed Esteban to the sleeping quarters of the [illegible] crew and there found that [illegible] bunk apparently [illegible] The officers pulled his blankets off and [illegible] engineer, and Frank Fernandez. All three were arrested, charged with violation of the president's proclamation forbidding exportation of arms and ammunition to Mexico.

Officials of the line and officers of the ship said that they had no knowledge of the attempted violation and the ship was not held.

TROUBLE IN BUILDING TRADES IN DANBURY

DANBURY, April 1—(AP)—Proposals of a compromise made today by the master plumbers in an effort to end the strike of more than 75 members of the plumbers and steamfitters union or Danbury, and Bethel, were that afternoon rejected by the strikers. The plumbers were joined this morning by 100 carpenters and joiners of the two towns. Both trades seek a raise in wages.

The employers of the plumbers offered a continuance of the present wage $9 a day, until August 1, when they said big contracts made on the present wage scale would expire, and that after that date the desired raise of $1 a day would be granted. This was rejected however, by the strike leaders, who renewed their demands for an immediate raise. The carpenters are striking for an increase of $1 a day from $8 to $9.

TO BE A FISHERMAN MEANS SOMETHING NOW

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 1—Almost at the dawning of April 1st, marking the opening of the fishing season, local anglers appeared in large numbers at the office of Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton to apply for fishing licenses. There was much jocosity and commenting on the fancy buttons which are to be worn by licensed fishermen this year. Several of the applicants were residents of Manchester and Hartford. There was some disappointment in the fact that the recent rain storm would tend to swell the brooks and chill the water so that the trout would not come out into the open streams. The trout season will remain open until June 30. On April 15 the streams specially leased and stocked by the state in the north and east counties will be opened, providing a fishing program which by far exceeds any other available in past years. Not only but 20 fish can be taken by any one person in one day, the catch is not to exceed 20 pounds and every fish kept must be at least six inches long. Evidently the law-abiding fishermen must carry the following paraphenalia: Rod and tackle, bait, boots, scales, yard stick, adding machine, grub, a button and license, compass, credentials (and a pint if he cares to.) Women, who are supposed to have equal rights and therefore equal duties, are exempted from the payment of the fee of $3.25 for a license to fish in the ordinary stream. They are only required to do so to fish in the specially licensed streams.

Good Friday services will be held at the two Roman Catholic churches and St. Paul's Episcopal church. The masses at St. Mary's and St. Joseph's churches will be at eight o'clock. A union service, under the direction of the rector, Rev. F. C. Williams, will be held at St. Paul's church, lasting from noon until three o'clock. A special arrangement of psalms, prayers and hymns has been made so that attendants may be present only for an interval of the three hours of service. The theme of the address will be, Comments at the Cross, the rector leading in the service, the introduction and conclusion, with a sermon on The Comment of Love, Rev. A. Stanley Muirhead will speak on The Comment of Indifference and the Comment of Hatred. Rev. David Winslow Lovett will preach on The Comment of Despair and the Comment of Faith, and Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock will speak on The Comment of Superstitution and the Comment of Thought.

The funeral of Dennis McCarthy was held from the family home, 321 Bridge street, Thursday morning, with services at St. Joseph's church at ten o'clock. Rev. Henry E. Quinn, officiated, also read the committal service at the family burial plot at St. Joseph's cemetery. There was a large attendance at the services and there were beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were Maurice Kelley and Michael J. Connor of Woonsocket, R. I., Dennis J. Connor of Blackstone, R. I., Richard and James Bradley of Newport, R. I., and James Healy of this city. Killourey Brothers were in charge of the arrangements.

A special Passion Week service was held at the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening during which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. Rev. A. Stanley Muirhead, the pastor, delivered the sermon, taking for his subject, Holy Thursday, or Christ's Last Day With His Disciples. In reviewing the events of the Last Supper and Christ's betrayal by Judas in the year 29 A. D., Rev. Mr. Muirhead closed by saying, "Thoughtful men and women everywhere are discovering that the program which Jesus gave to humanity constitutes the only practical solution for the world's greatest curse-sin." The class of probationers which will be admitted to full membership on East Sunday morning, attended the service in a body and jointly received the sacrament.

MEETING UNANIMOUS FOR CITY PLAYGROUNDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 1—Much enthusiasm was manifest at a meeting of about 25 representatives of the leading organization of the city, in conference with Mayor John C. Tracy, to discuss the feasibility of securing playgrounds. Mayor Tracy presided, Gerard E. Loisel being secretary. The discussions were all favorable to a cooperative movement of civic and fraternal organizations and the city government to provide recreation grounds for the children. Other than the large park owned by the American Thread Co., in the lower village, Willimantic has never had an equipped playground. Among the representatives, to stress the urgent need and the benefits of supervised play was Mayor Tracy, also Albert B. Smith and James B. Fullerton of the Rotary club, John F. Carr of the Exchange, A. L. Weatherhead of the chamber of commerce, Albert J. Fournier and John B. Edrarton of the Elks, Patrick J. Connors of the Knights of Columbus and Mrs. John Reilly of the Woman's club. Resolutions which expressed the sentiment of the meeting and contained recommendations were adopted as follows: 1—That the sentiment of the meeting be for the establishment of playground facilities this season; 2—That there be three or four small playgrounds in various parts of the city; 3—That the grounds be supervised by competent employes; 4—That each organization in the city appoint a member to represent it on an executive committee, of which the mayor is to be chairman, to devise a plan of action, also to draw up a financing program.

GREASE PAINT DROPPING OUT AS A MOVIE COSMETIC

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 1 (AP)—Since the beginning of the motion picture industry, grease paint in a multitude of forms has ruled the screen. Now suffering film folk and also suffering film fans are seeing its overthrow.

Improved cameras, better lighting and more sensitive film are making it possible for the stars to appear before the lens without reinforced layers of grease and cosmetics.

In early days, faces were done in yellow to make them photograph lighter. Since then they have passed through most of the colors of the rainbow (some actors even using blue and purple paints) to gain better effects.

Women with their finer skins and lighter coloring fared well enough but the "he-men" of the thrillers were wont to be reflected with faces of ghastly pallor but with necks and arms that photographed as shocking challenges to soap and water.

But even with the technical improvements made, dethroning of King Grease Paint is not without a struggle. Actors recruited from the stage are had to wean from the grease pot. They blush at the facial nudity of acting a part without a mask of paint.

The announcement of Cecil De Mille that he will produce his next picture without grease paint being used by any of the players stirred some protest, more of it surprisingly, from the men than from the women.

Allan, Dawn in directing the Paramount picture, Sea Horses, had a cast including Florence Vidor, Jack Holt, William Powell, George Bancroft and others that used no makeup. It was successful.

Other film folk who have dropped the use of makeup for the screen include Esther Ralston, Mary Brian, Betty Bronson, Theodore Roberts, Wallace Beery, Jane Novak, Eva Novak, Ernest Torrence, Raymond Hatton and Alice Terry.

RARE BOOK TELLS STORY OF FIRST CONTINENTAL HIKE

CLAREMONT, Col., April 1 (AP)—A rare volume containing the story of what purports to be the first transcontinental foot journey of a white man in the conquest of North America, is the latest addition to the William S. Mason collection of Western Americana in Pomona college library.

The books tells of the adventures of Cabeca de Vaca, Spanish explorer, in journey through the southern section of the United States between the years 1528 and 1536, and of his explorations in the River Plata countries of South America after his appointment as governor of the region in 1540.

An expedition, of which Vaca was a member, left Spain in 1527 headed for Florida and Louisiana. It was wrecked on the Florida coast. Fifty survivors drifted to the coast of Texas in rudely constructed boats and made shore Nov. 6, 1528. All but 15 died of disease or starvation and these became slaves of the Indians.

By a stroke of good luck, Vaca staved off threatened death for himself and companions by posing to the Indians as a divine healer, usually being able to cure minor maladies.

After six years, Vaca, with two companions, escaped. They reached the coast of California and turned southward arriving at Mexico City July 24, 1536.

As a reward for his exploring services Caca was appointed governor of the provinces of the Rio de La Plata, in South America. Here he incurred the jealousy of his compatriots and was sent back to Spain in irons, remaining in prison six years awaiting trial. Eventually, he was exiled to Africa.

Two separate editions of the first portion of the book are known to be in existence—one in the New York Public library and the other in the British Museum at London.

WALLINGFORD SCHOOLBOY SERIOUSLY INJURED

WALLINGFORD, April 1.—(AP)—Roy Butler, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler, was seriously injured while on his way to school this afternoon, when he was struck by an automobile truck operated by George Small. The truck was owned by Hall brothers, chicken dealers of Cook Hill here. The boy suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and internal injuries. It was reported at the Meriden hospital where the boy was taken, that his condition is critical.

The Value of a Garment

Did you ever try to answer the question—
"What is the real value of a garment"?
Somewhat upon the quality of the materials used,
Somewhat upon the skill with which it is made,
Somewhat upon the color, the lines and the fit, but as a completed garment its value depends wholly upon a happy combination of these various features plus its fitness for the use intended.
And now what shall we say about price?
We all want the best we can afford, don't we?
The price of our Coats ranges from $19.50 to $50.00
And each is excellent value in its class.

DANIELSON

"OLD IRONSIDES" MEDAL FOR E. JOHN M'KENNA

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 1—Some time ago, it was found necessary to raise the sum of one half million dollars to recondition the historical fighting ship U. S. S. Constitution, better known under the loving nick-name, "Old Ironsides," made famous by Holmes' poem.

It was decided to permit the school children of the nation to contribute this fund, with the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks as the collecting agency.

In this section, hearty co-operation was given by all teachers, and the local lodge of Elks offered special prizes for essays; the major prize, however, was a beautiful bronze medal contributed by Commander Marion Eppley, U. S. N. R. of Newport, R. I.—this has just been awarded E. John McKenna of St. Mary's school, Putnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McKenna, of Walnut street, Putnam. The cash prizes in gold were awarded: Vincent Wilber, Israel Putnam school, Putnam.

John Green, North school, Pomfret.

Madeline Fournier, St. James school, Danielson.

Elizabeth Baker, Moosup Grammer school, Moosup.

The judges were Eric H. Johnson, prosecuting attorney of the city of Putnam and Thomas H. deCoudres, president of Putnam chamber of commerce and former school superintendent. All essays were judged by numbers, names of contestants not being used.

TOWN MUST RAISE $1,500 AS Y. M. C. A. APPORTIONMENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 1—Killingly is apportioned $1,500 in the Y. M. C. A. county budget set this year at $6,600. Of the total, $3,000 will be required for the secretary's salary, this being the largest of all the items in the budget. For an officer secretary, $720 is required. Automobile upkeep is set at $600, and depreciation on the secretary's car at $300. Rent will require $260, printing and stationery $125, postage $125, supplies and equipment $200. Under the head general agencies, $500 is required for the state, $100 for foreign, $75 for home, Springfield $25, retirement $80, refund account, $250.

The budget is apportioned among the towns as follows: Brooklyn, $150; Killingly, $1,500; Plainfield, $1,500; Putnam, $1,600; Sterling, $75; Eastford, $226; Pomfret, $60; Thompson $600; Woodstock, 300.

The announcement that there is favorable opinion in Danielson regarding adopting a working schedule approximating daylight saving, stirred up considerable discussion here on Thursday. Opposition to the proposed move was not long in developing. The outstanding feature of the talk, however, appears to be that there is more sentiment here this year for fast time than there has been for several years past. How will it be decided? Well, that's a question. Common agreement seems about the only basis for getting a general adoption of the plan. No one can be forced into it. If certain important manufacturing concerns adopt the plan, that will have a weighty influence with business interests and others. The next week or two likely will see some definite plan announced. There have been years when Danielson split its activities between daylight time and standard time. That situation could come about again. What will be sought, though, is a general agreement on one time or the other.

It is regarded as not unlikely that the town, at its next annual meeting, will take due notice of the fact that Librarian Harry E. Back points out in his annual report on the Danielson Public library that Killingly, through use of the library books by the schools and at the East Killingly branch, which use adds materially to the wear and tear on the volumes, is not paying the borough adequate compensation for the service. Killingly is uniformly generous in educational matters and in keeping with this attitude like will increase its library appropriation next fall.

Of the brigades of trout fishermen who made their way to the brooks within a few miles of Danielson Friday, a few came back with trout. Many of the sportsmen did not get as much as a nibble. Cold weather and icy waters were accused of being the chief factors in keeping down the catch on the first day of the season. The fishermen who did have the luck of a catch produced no great strings, though some very pretty fish of medium size were shown or reported taken. The fishermen are not discouraged. They knew the streams that yielded little Thursday harbor many trout and that there are other days coming.

The musical programs arranged by the organist, Mrs. Joseph Gareau, for the 5 o'clock mass and for the 10 o'clock mass at St. James' church Easter Sunday morning are as follows: 9 o'clock—Regina Coeli (Werner); Ne'er Was a Morn So Golden (Hall); Chant de Paques (Rougnon); Come We Neath The Shrouded Skies (Hall); Que Cherches Tu, Madeline? (Plouvier).

10 o'clock—Rossi's mass in D. Kyrie, chorus choir; Christe, soprano solo, Mrs. Albert Bernier, alto solo, Mrs. Eva Bodo; solo, Miss Lucille Caron; Domine Deus, soprano solo, Miss Marie Lavallee, alto solo, Miss Elizabeth Grennon, tenor solo, Henry Woisard; Credo, chorus choir; Et in Unum, bass solo, Joseph Beaudoin; Et Incarnatus Est, soprano solo, Miss Lucille Caron, alto solo, Miss Eva Bodo; Qui Cum Patri, baritone solo, R. Ballard; offertory, Haec Dies (Graziolli); Sanctus, chorus choir; Benedictus, soprano solo, Mrs. Albert Bernier, alto solo, Miss Eva Bodo; Agnus Dei, soprano solo, Miss Margaret Sullivan, baritone solo, Ovila Bernier.

At the 3 o'clock mass a junior choir will sing the following arrangement: Triomphe Victoire (Lambillotte); Easter Glory Fills the Sky (Nolte); Chantons Aujourd'hui Victoire (Bridier); Victory Song (Stanbaugh); Regina Coeli (Lambillotte).

One hears talk nowadays about the advantages that might accrue from a reorganization of the Eastern Connecticut Chamber of Commerce. There are those who see in a revival of this organizations activities opportunity for boosting New London and Windham counties, as other sections of New England are being boomed to their great advantage. Live wire work can do great things for this section of southern New England, with its many advantages for business and as a vacation land.

Reports given at the annual meeting of the Baptist church shows the financial condition to be satisfactory, there being no indebtedness and a small balance in the treasury. The following officers were elected: Treasurer, Miss Lillian E. Bailey; clerk, Mrs. Ethel G. Lyon; auditing committee, Henry E. Burton, C. Clinton Cleveland, Miss Dorothy Burton; deacons, Frank T. Preston, William J. Craig, E. H. Hammett, E. M. Colvin, C. H. Starkweather; finance committee, the trustees, the deacons, treasurer, clerk, pastor, Frank T. Stinson, Mrs. A. E. Withington, Mrs. J. T. Moran, Mrs. B. C. Conklin, the president of the Ladies' Aid society, the president of the Missionary society; comittee on religious education, Mrs. Edward L. Keach, Miss Grace Stanton, Mrs. Charles Carver, Miss May Hammett, Walter Bruce; robe committee, Mrs. E. B. Wilbur, Mrs. Everett Mitchell; head usher, Charles B. Carver.

The meeting discussed plans for painting the exterior of the church this season and making other improvements.

The call for the annual borough meeting contains clauses for action on several interesting proposals. Among these, on petition of the requisite number of citizens, that a salary of $50 a year be paid the warden and that burgesses be compensated at the rate of $25 annually.

The meeting will be asked to pass upon the proposal that a new heating system be installed in the public library. This is a pressing need. Also there is need at the library of considerable repairing and redecorating of the interior and more book shelves are needed, as set forth in the warning.

A proposal that the meeting approve a plan calling for the appointment of a committee on revision of the borough charter, such a committee to report to a borough meeting prior to the convening of the general assembly of 1927, is of special importance. It is held by those most familiar with the charter that it needs revising in a number of respects.

Killingly grange is to hold its meeting in Odd Fellows' hall Monday night next and confer the first and second degrees upon a new class of candidates. The officers met last Monday night for a rehearsal of the work. As special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Downs attended Brooklyn grange at the meeting last week for the celebration of the 40th anniversary of that grange's organization.

Palm Sunday was observed at Good-year United church with a special sermon, Rev. Charles A. Downs spoke from the words "Behold Thy King Cometh" found in Zachariah 9:9. History records many notable triumphal entries but none comparable with our Lord's entry into Jerusalem. Jesus was a real king as shown by His words, deeds, decisions and commands. His slogan was peace. He ruled with love and transformed those He conquered.

More hail and snow flurries were features of Thursday's weather, following lightning during Wednesday night.

Misses May and Elizabeth Dunn have been visitors in Providence.

Considerable repairs on borough streets will be required this spring when the weather becomes suitable for such work. The winter wear has been unusually severe.

While the stores will be doing business as usual in Danielson today, Good Friday for many will be something of a holiday.

Some automobiles, newly registered went into service Thursday, April 1, after having been off the roads since the end of last year.

C. A. Hamilton, patient in a Worcester hospital, continues to improve. His recovery is slow and he will be at the hospital for a considerable time.

All the announcements about coming events considered, territory hereabouts threatens to break out in a rash of jazz the coming week.

The Hygeia reservoir, supplying water for Danielson from the East Killingly section, is filled to capacity and water was coming over the spillway Thursday.

Schools of the town of Killingly will resume their sessions next Monday after having been closed since a week ago today.

A union Good Friday service is to be held at the Congregational church this (Friday) evening. There will be a showing of slides of the Passion play and a special musical program.

William H. Shippee, who recently passed his 82nd birthday, lays claims to being the oldest fur buyer and antique dealer in New England. He has been a resident of Danielson for many years.

PUTNAM

EVERETT WILLIAMS, ILL, SUICIDES BY HANGING

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 1.—Everett Williams, 48, a farmer whose home is in West Woodstock, committed suicide this morning by hanging.

He had suffered a recent attack of the grip that has been prevalent in Putnam and surrounding towns for several weeks, but was much improved and said he was able to resume his farm work. The effects of this illness is the only reason friends and relatives can advance for his taking his life.

Mr. Williams rose between 4:30 and 5 o'clock to feed the stock and do the milking. Two hours later the members of his family, wondering at his long delay, went out to look for him and found him hanging from a beam in the barn. He had used a rope harness and a strap to take his life.

Mr. Williams had lived in West Woodstock for many years and was widely known and highly respected. He was a quiet man who never sought nor held any of the public offices of the town. His wife and three children survive him, two sons, John Williams and Ellsworth Williams and a daughter, Miss Christine Williams, all living at home.

ENG. SHEPARD B. PALMER WAS UNABLE TO REPORT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 1.—Owing to the illness of Engineer Shepard B. Palmer of Norwich and his inability to be present to make his report on the city water conditions of Putnam, the special meeting of the city council which was to have been held this week was postponed until next Tuesday, the date of the regular meeting.

MRS. S. B. BRADWAY, 106— NOT ILL, BUT FAILING

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 1.—Mrs. Sarah Bosworth Bradway of Eastford is 106 years old April 30th. She is the only real Daughter of the American Revolution in this vicinity and one of the few remaining ones in the United States. A delegation of the Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter will make their usual annual visit to her home. Although Mrs. Bradway is not ill her strength has failed materially during the past year.

Miss Rhea de Coudres of Putnam appeared in a piano recital at the Melklejohn studio in Providence, assisted by Miss Gertrude Waddington, soprano. Miss de Coudres was very well received and the critics spoke favorably of her playing. The numbers she played were: La Fileuse, Youfera off; Prelude in G, Chopin; Etude in G flat; Prelude in A Minor, Debussey; Swan, Palmgren; Golliwog's Cake Walk, Debussey; March Militaire; Schubert-Tausig; Eclogue, Liszt; Rhapsodie No. 13.

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Alice H. Miller, at Seattle, Wash., March 26. Mrs. Miller was a former resident of Putnam and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Florence Beresford of Providence and one son, George I. Miller of Rye, N. Y.

Ulysses Remillard, of Gilman street, Putnam, and Joseph Mateau and his son, Frank Mateau, of Webster, returned Thursday from Fort Meyers, Florida, where they have been for the past three months. They are carpenters and have been employed by Charles Haggerty, who has been building bungalows there.

Frank J. Miner of Pomfret, 90, a veteran of the Civil war, is seriously ill. His wife, who is 92, is also confined to her bed. Because of their age, their condition is considered serious.

At the annual meeting of the Baptist church, held at the church parlors, the following officers were elected: Clerk, Clarence E. Pierce; treasurer, Arthur E. Smith; trustees, Louis E. Law, Arthur E. Smith, Samuel Rich; church committee, C. W. Durfee, Henry L. Converse, F. A. Maryotter; collector, Louis E. Law; assistant collector, Raymond Durfee; music committee, Mrs. Leon Walker, Mrs. Samuel Rich, Edwin Phillips, H. W. Thompson, Leon Walker, church reporter, Roy W. Thompson; calendar committee, Mrs. Newton A. Ballard; auditors, N. A. Ballard, W. E. Moss; budget committee, Newton A. Ballard, Dr. J. B. Kent of Larchmont, N. Y. Was made honorary chairman, in recognition of his long years of service in church work. Dr. and Mrs. Kent expect to be here for the annual reception call on Saturday, April 10. Rev. Mr. Hodge of Winchester, Mass., preached at the church last Sunday. No call has been extended yet to anyone to become permanent pastor and Rev. Mr. Lockwood continues to act as supply. The meeting was largely attended.

Because of the illness of Judge Edwin C. Dickinson, there was no session this week of the superior court. The cases on the docket all went over either to the next term of court or to a special session. Judge Dickinson is

THE SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND

Another phase of the effort to build a railroad between Palmer and Providence is taking shape. The Central Vermont road has come to the conclusion that it has sunk enough money in the attempt to build that stretch of road and throws up its hands. It is apparently through. Plenty of discouragement was offered at the time the idea was advanced but there was no disposition to give heed. It was necessary to test it out and apparently that has been carried far enough to feel satisfied that there is no hope for anything further and the effort should be abandoned. If anyone else wants to try it it is ready to give them the chance. Through the naming of receivers for the road that chance will be afforded.

The Southern New England bought the right of way between Palmer and Providence. It cleared some of it. It leveled some of it and it put in the foundation for some of the bridges. It spent several million dollars but it has laid no rails. Since work was stopped it has regularly renewed its charter but the right of way has in many instances become only dumping grounds.

Now the idea is advanced that other roads might be interested in acquiring the rights and property of the Southern New England and complete the line. It is an idea which may impress railroads at a time when very little is being done in the way of building new lines. There is hope until it has been tried out.

Having such a connection to Providence would have given the Central Vermont and the Grand Trunk another New England outlet, but with the line to New London and that excellent harbor as the southern terminus there would be no advantages furnished at Providence which are not available at New London. The former would be much farther from New York.

It hasn't as yet appeared that the Central Vermont was planning additional development of its existing line. But that would seem to be the logical thing to do in view of the advantages which it already has, and it seems hardly probable that it would abandon a road which it considered would be taken up and developed by another railroad.

DEPORTING ALIENS

According to figures which have been announced there were about 9500 aliens deported last year, making an average of about a month. It is desired in view of the large number here illegally to be deported to obtain concessions whereby this number can be increased to 1000 a month.

What will result in the way of legislation is a guess yet. Just how many aliens have come to the country illegally no one knows. Estimates vary but it is safe to say that the number has greatly increased since the quota restrictions went into effect. Those who are here illegally are attracted by the opportunities that are furnished by defying the law until the authorities are coming into the country at a much faster rate than those being detected and sent back. Immigration laws are going to, and not to anything it is evident that we should not sit idly by and watch the illegal entrants steadily increase in number without applying proper restraint. It is due to those who respect the quota to see that those who do not are deported. It is due the people of this country who are burdened with those who are here in violation of our laws to see that they are sent back instead of having our institutions clogged by aliens who should be returned whence they came else the impression is going to be gained abroad that our immigration laws amount to nothing and ought not to be observed and what we consider a trickle of booted aliens will quickly become a flood.

The quota law was established for the purpose of keeping down the number of aliens. If it is desired to increase the number the law should be changed. It would be a most unwise practice to pay lower and fast with the law according to someone's changing views of conditions.

Just how many classes of undesirables are included in the aliens who are here in violation of the law is not known but we need to let it be known that we want none of the undesirables. However they might get into the country and we also should get the fact clearly established in the minds of those who want to come in that they are wanted only if they are willing to obey our laws, and that includes the immigration law.

There are those who have made the flight with out stopping, those who have done it by aeroplane and those who have failed in their efforts to get from the United States to some point in Europe. Nevertheless since that time there has been a crossing made from Spain to Brazil and only a short time previous to that a crossing of the north Atlantic was effected by successive hops from the British Isles through Iceland, Greenland and Labrador to this country. This was the accomplishment of the round the world fliers.

But progress has been steadily made in flying. Sustained flights have been establishing new records continuously and it is by no means surprising that Captain Rene Fonck, the noted French ace, should have full confidence in his ability to complete the crossing in the big new Sikorsky machine that is being built in this country and will be equipped with nine powerful French engines.

According to the plans two others will accompany him and it is intended that the flight from Long Island up the Atlantic coast to Cape Clear and thence across to Ireland and Paris, a distance of 3600 miles will be completed within 36 hours. The machine is expected to make a speed of 100 miles an hour.

No one is ready to say that it cannot be done any more than one would venture the opinion that another flight around the world could not be made. There will be the protective measures employed of stationing naval vessels along the course, France and the United States being represented, and it is natural that it should be touted as the beginning of those much talked of daily flights across the Atlantic. Each successful flight brings us that much nearer to such a possibility.

INVITING SERIOUS TROUBLE

"Crushed Under Truck Trying to Get a Ride." How often such a statement appears in the headlines describing a fatal accident into which a motor truck and a child has figured. No one will deny but what it appears too [illegible] and there's no telling how many [illegible] are the victims of its apes. There are plenty of instances where persons shudder [illegible] close calls and think [illegible] have the margin.

It is of course the old story of failing to give due consideration to the menace of the highway today with its steadily increasing number of motor vehicles. If we wait for personal experiences before taking warning it will be a long time before there will be any improvement. Unfortunately there are those who take that view of the matter and neglect to guard themselves or to see that others keep out of the streets.

The temptation may be great to rush [illegible] and try to get a ride on the back of a truck or car. It is possible now and then to see youngsters on bicycles trying to catch hold of trolley cars in order to get a tow and avoid a spill in front of automobiles only through the merest good fortune or the alertness of the auto driver.

The highway of the present time is far different from what it was a decade or two ago, and it calls for the exercise of the keenest care at all times in order to escape the dangers. Needless to say there should be no disposition to make these dangers any worse than they are and yet that is done every time one tries to catch rides, dashes into the streets or crosses without giving notice to what is coming.

WATCHING NEW YORK

When it comes to referring to the people in the question of sentiment concerning modification of the enforcement [illegible] which was adopted by convention [illegible] the ratification of the [illegible] Hardly New York indicates [illegible] will take the lead and set the [illegible].

The effort is well underway and supported in the New York state legislature awaited. The chance is to [illegible] to submit the matter to [illegible] of that state in order to [illegible] expression from them in such [illegible] that it can be regarded as [illegible] more than an uncertain [illegible] vote. It would give all voters a chance to indicate their desires under favorable election conditions and consider say whether they favor asking congress to change the Volstead act so that the manufacture, sale, transportation or importation or exportation of beverages which are not intoxicating will not be prohibited.

Under the proposal for federal referendum it is intended to have the states take just the action that New York is contemplating. It is taking time by the forelock in the plan which is getting under there, and considering the size of the state much interest is being attached to the outcome of the proposed state referendum, it in fact it is a chance for a demonstration.

It represents, of course, another stage in the fight between the wet and the dry forces. It would disclose whether public sentiment has changed to the point where there is sufficient dissatisfaction with enforcement to warrant the modification which is being urged. Interest now centers on whether New York is going to lead the way.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Bright warm and spring; April ought to turn the thoughts to the [illegible] bathing suits.

The new malt tonic is going to come in very handy for the sufferers with spring fever.

The man on the corner says: April must do better than it has thus far to get the prize.

Is there any question but what there will be a thorough trial of the new medical beer ruling?

There's always something inspirational about the first fish stories, whether you believe them or not.

Just when New York thinks it has its crooks scared it will probably consider it a good time to order them all out of town again.

If April will produce a few sunshiny days and send the mercury up a bit would have the housecleaning business going full tilt.

Those who borrow money can't show too much appreciation, but there is invariably a big howl raised when the time comes to pay it back.

ISN'T IT A PITY.

"I don't care!" sniffed the bride when her friend, the lady who had been married for quite a long time, dropped in and caught her with a damp handkerchief and a red nose. "It isn't fair! Before they marry you a man can't exist out of your sight, and all he wants to do is sit and gaze into your eyes—and six months after you get your new calling cards he goes straight from the office on Saturday to the golf club and gets home late to dinner—and again the next day and leaves you all alone!"

"Oh, shucks, and three of 'em," jeered the lady who had been married for years. "He's just getting back to normalcy, that's all! Can you imagine a bald, red-faced man who eats cough drops and wears three different weights of underwear during the year, can you imagine him turning back five times to wave kisses to his wife in the morning before turning the corner on the way to the station?

"He may have done it when he was a young handsome creature with a full crop of hair and a tennis record—but it just can't be done in his present scenic settings! Amanda would be calling up the psychopatic hospital staff if he acted that way—and she would be quite right!

"When a man first falls in love he is so amazed to find that such a perfect creature exists," went on the lady who had been married for years, "that he is terrified for fear she will be lost, strayed or stolen and he keeps a zealous eye on the horizon. If he can't see he is nervous, worried, miserable—amusements pall, sports are but ashes, fears rage, he anticipates the worst. Darling may fall downstairs and break a neck, dearest may be abducted, angel may surround a flock of germs in the drinking water if he isn't on hand to guard her. To say nothing of the envious men circling about waiting a chance to snatch sweetness from beneath his very nose. What is a golf game to a man in that state of mind?

"If a girl chances to have been one of a large family given to telling one another the exact truth about themselves this glittering worship and saccharine adoration is balm to a chastened soul. She drinks it in, forms the habit, and, like all dope addicts, shrieks with fury when it is taken from her. Back in her mind she knows that as time goes on folks lose their hair, their teeth, that their complexion changes and they somehow don't care so much for chocolate fudge sundaes, but, nevertheless, she doesn't expect George to change his attitude toward her.

"But, my dear child, as time goes on nothing is more atrocious than a husband who adores you every minute! He constantly gets under your feet when you are hurry to meet Elsie for lunch to hear all about the styles in Paris. Or he wants to sit and hold your hand when you are simply dying to find out what happened to the heroine in chapter fifteen of your latest novel!

"Only, there really aren't any husbands like that. They are too busy earning a living and figuring about the income tax or else warding off the mortgage note that is due. If backed into a corner and a gun held to their heads they would readily admit that yes they loved their wives devotedly, heroically, absorbedly, but they haven't mentioned it lately because they've been sort of busy.

"John doesn't come home these nights, crush me to his chest and whisper that he's been loving me every instant of the day's separation — he throws his hat on the table, says it's been a rotten day and will be lucky if he gets 40 winks before dinner, nips me on one ear as he passes and calls that it is a kiss.

"Neither do I run my fingers through his wavy hair, so called, and breathlessly murmur that dearie worked too hard and I knew he's going to be sick and I'm going down to that horrid old office and tell them what I think of 'em. I scowl at the wad of mud he's tracked in on the freshly dusted floor, advise him to take some of those liver pills and add that the coal bill came in the day's mail. Nevertheless you couldn't hire us to get a divorce!

"You may imagine that you want Tom on, your trail every single second but you don't. It's just habit. There are lots of things you want to do there's a dandy picture at the movie come on, let's go this afternoon!

"Oh, I did want to see Rolling Furnaces now you mention it!" agreed the wife, throwing down her handkerchief and jumping up. "But if you think I'm going to overlook Tom's actions this way when he comes home tonight, you're mistaken! I'm perfectly furious! I was going to make deep apple pie and now I won't! I'll show him!"

From Small Beginnings

John Adams, the Farm Boy, Second President of the United States

Fifty years to a day after the signing of the Declaration of Independence there died, on July 4, 1826, the two men most closely connected with the making of the Declaration: John Adams, who practically fathered it, and Thomas Jefferson, who wrote it. Both had served the country nobly and well and both had been honored with the presidency. Both alike were sons of landowners, one from the north and one from the south.

John Adams was born on a hard Massachusetts farm in a house that was erected in 1681, fifty-four years before his birth. The house was so well built that it is still standing, although the farm has changed into the prosperous city of Quincy. He was brought up with the customary severity of New England training, and taught that character is worth much more than money. Because the people of early New England so valued education they founded schools and colleges almost as soon as they founded villages, and they sent their sons to gain all the learning that they could. John Adams's father sent the son, whom he had named after himself, to school, and then to Harvard college. Little did the farmer suspect that in giving the boy every possible advantage he was training up one of the makers of a great new country, its representative to foreign courts and its second president. Little did he suspect that he was preparing the way also for a grandson, John Quincy Adams who also should be the president of a great republic.

With his newly gained education the boy of twenty, just graduated from Harvard, set to work to earn a living by teaching school. At the same time, being ambitious, he "read law" in the office of a lawyer, and became a full-fledged lawyer. Being a good speaker and having strong opinions, he quickly became a leader. In the nearby 20 years before the outbreak of the revolution he wrote and spoke in favor of freedom. Naturally, such a man was sent to represent Massachusetts in the Continental congress. It was largely owing to his earnest appeals that Washington was put in command of the Colonial soldiers, and to Declaration of Independence drawn up and signed. He represented America in France and later in England, and so became the first vice president and the second president of the United States.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Heading the American delegation to the Archeological congress which is to meet today at Beirut is Dr. George Grant MacCurdy an anthropologist of international reputation and the author of numerous books and papers on subjects closely connected with archeology. For nearly 25 years Dr. MacCurdy has been attached to the faculty of Yale University, and is lecturer on anthropology and curator of the anthropological collections. At the present time he is also director of the American school of prehistoric research. He is a member of the prominent learned and scientific societies of America and has been honored by the anthropological societies of Paris, Berlin and Brussels. Dr. MacCurdy is a native of Waterbury, Mo., and received his early education in the state normal school there. Later he studied at Harvard. He has traveled extensively in the capitals of Paris, Berlin and Vienna.

Stories That Recall Others

The Wobbly Cars

A clew is a clew, so while improbable, there may be some connection between the following incident and the alleged disappearance of certain cars from a certain place.

A motorist hailed a fried and rather [illegible] requested:

"Please look at my fender and see whether it is dented."

The fender compiled and reported that one rather large dent was evident.

"I thought so," declared the motorist angrily. "ought to have the [illegible] arrested. He crowded [illegible] car like me."

To Him Who Waits

Recently Walter had occasion to use the telephone at his home. Raising the receiver he found two women were engaged in a general discussion of the income of nations, washing, weather, etc. A short time later he [illegible] to find the [illegible] still going good. This continued for an hour and 25 minutes. At last he figured that it was his turn to use the phone and decided to devise some means of eliminating the [illegible] reaction.

It was snowing hard and Walter hit on an idea which struck him as "the one." Raising the receiver he said in a "distant" voice as he could summon: "Hello, hello—this is the telephone company. I'd like to test your [illegible] and it's awfully cold up on the telephone pole in a March wind."

"Why, you poor man," chorused the women. "Here we have been talking for 20 minutes and keeping you up in the cold this cold day. We are so sorry, and we will hang up right now. Call up again after a while, Maggie [illegible]."

Then Walter got a chance.

CHILD TRAINING

THE SENSITIVE CHILD
John Faux Douglas

One thing that most people do to three super-sensitive child is to make him more sensitive. Some children are naturally self-conscious; others become sensitive through sickness or because of some physical deformity.

David, who was somewhat frail, was one of a family having three other boys, all very strong. David's mother wanted a little girl, and so she proceeded to make one of David. She bought him little pink slippers instead of shoes, in defiance of the fact that he lived in the country; prohibited him from going anywhere alone and cautioned him so much that he became afraid of horses, cows and dogs; and she continued calling him baby names even after he started to school.

He was so babied by his probably well-meaning mother and so teased by his brothers that he grew super sensitive and very unlike the other boys. He became self-conscious when looked at or spoken to and was frail and thin from too much confinement in the house. His mother should have allowed him to "run" as she did her other boys and then David would have been as normal and healthy as each of them turned out to be.

I knew another child, Donald, who grew quiet and unconfiding when with his family because when he was very young no attention was paid to the little things that he talked about. When he would speak of the objects around him which he had observed—often for the first time—some member of the family would say, "Oh, that is nothing new. I knew that ages ago." They did not intend to be unkind but they did discourage any attempt at conversation that he offered so that he finally came to the table, gulped down his food, asked to be excused and hastened away to play with outside companions. Donald is grown up now but he still has the habit of eating dinner at home, practically in silence; when he goes out, he proves excellent company. Every member of a family should have his "say" in the flow of family conversation.

If a child has any physical deformities, they should never be mentioned. Friends who call and offer pity should be told privately not to do so before the child, lest it cause him to seek seclusion, feeling strongly that somehow he is "different."

Jim had one leg left shorter than the other by infantile paralysis. His family never mentioned it in public nor in any way alluded to the fact that he was "a little lame boy." They did, however, all they could to correct the deformity.

Jim became a leader with his "crowd." He danced, swam, played golf and tennis and could do most of the things that the others did just a little better than they. Probably not half of them ever noticed the slight limp that Jim had, because he was so entirely unconscious of it himself. He would have been an entirely different fellow if the family had taught him that he was "different" and could not do what other children could do.

CONTINUED PROSPERITY FOR PRINTING INDUSTRY—LYNCH

INDIANAPOLIS, April 1 (AP)—The printing industry in the last year has escaped the slump usually anticipated after a period of exceptional business activity and indications are that the present era of prosperity will continue indefinitely, said James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union. Mr. Lynch has just completed the checking of reports from all important jurisdictions of the union.

"The old cycle of business boom, slump and recovery seems to be a thing of the past," Mr. Lynch said. "Prosperity is making a long visit with America and, barring some unforseen development, we are going to enjoy flourishing business for many more months. If employment in all lines could be more fully stabilized we would be well insured against business fluctuations."

CONSTABLE REFUSED TO AID DISTILLERY RAID

NEW HAVEN, April 1.—(AP) — The state police, it was announced today, are investigating the alleged refusal of Constable Clarence C. Matlewski of Woodbridge to aid in a raid on a distillery near his home, at the request of the New Haven police Saturday night. They say are investigating it was asserted, his alleged refusal to help a man handed over to him a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

The investigation follows the trial today of Charles Chieppo, 30, of Matthew street who was bound over to the superior court on a charge of owning a still seized in White street last month.

Chieppo was characterized by Assistant City Attorney David Bouzner as the leader of a number of conspirators.

Tuesday the state police received information that there was a distillery in operation in Woodbridge. They found a running outfit outside, and Constable Matlewski, whom they had asked to help them, was found in the factory. As the police were searching the premises, a shot was fired from the second floor. This was believed to be a signal to place him under arrest and examine the other three.

When the men were arraigned at the Wooster square police court they pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor. Bail amounting to $1,000 was fixed. This was furnished by Sam Cohen, who was also bound over to Constable Matlewski with the request that the complete arrest him and hold him for the Woodbridge town court, according to the police.

HOUSE ADJOURNED LAST NIGHT UNTIL MONDAY

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Adjournment of the house until Monday was taken this afternoon by the democratic majority over the opposition of the republicans, despite the fact that Easter Sunday falls on April 4. The motion was carried by a vote of 214 to 183.

CONSTANT CURLING AND WAVING RUINS HAIR

Girls just must curl and wave bobbed hair to appear their prettiest. But constant curling and waving burn and dry the luster, vitality and very life from the hair.

To offset these bad effects, just get a 35-cent bottle of delightful, refreshing 'Danderine' at any drug store or toilet counter and just see for yourself how quickly it revives dry, brittle, lifeless, and fading hair.

"Danderine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, glint and vigorous luxuriance. Failing hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.

WOULD LIGHTEN STAIRS OF BUNKER HILL MONUMENT

BOSTON, April 1.—(AP)—Darkened stairways in the Bunker Hill monument would be lighted at night both for patriotic and moral purposes, the state legislature committee on ways and means was told today. Charlestown citizens appearing in support of a bill of $1,500 to install a lighting system in the shaft declared that the monument "has become a trysting place for boys and girls at night and many sad happenings have resulted.

A word to the wise may be sufficient, but they seldom get off that easily.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE COMMITTEE ON THAMES VALLEY DEVELOPMENT

Norwich council, No. 309, United Commercial Travelers, is working on plans for another joint meeting of U. C. T. men, members of the common councils of Norwich and New London and representatives of industrial and civic interests throughout the Thames river valley district. The meeting is to be held at the Mohican hotel, New London, Thursday evening, April 15, at 7 o'clock and it is expected that there will be 100 present.

Herbert R. Branche, executive secretary of Norwich council, No. 309, U. C. T., stated Thursday night that there will be a list of eight ten-minute speakers headed by Mayor Milo R. Waters of this city and Mayor W. C. Fox of New London. It is expected that a committee, to be known as a citizens' committee of the U. C. T., and to be comprised of the U. C. T. civic committee and representatives of the city governments of Norwich and New London and representatives of the industrial and civic interests throughout the Thames valley district will be named at this meeting. The aim of the committee will be the development of the Thames valley district.

SETS SALE DATE FOR BRAIDED THREAD CO.

There were few motions on the short calendar list at Thursday session of the superior court in New London before Judge Christopher L. Avery. The short calendar session was held Thursday because of Friday being a legal holiday.

Attorney Benjamin F. Hewitt was confirmed temporary receiver for the Braided Thread Corp., of Mystic and April 30 was set as the date of sale of machinery and real estate. Attorney C. Hadlai Hull represented the plaintiff corporation, and Attorney George R. McKenna, the thread corporation; in the case brought against the latter by the J. D. Crosby Co.

Judge Avery took the papers and reserved decision in the case of Witchewski against The Falls Co., and others in which a motion was made by Attorney Myers, representing the American Mutual Insurance Co., in which was an appeal from the compensation commissioner, that awarded compensation to Witchewski and ruled that the American Mutual Co. and the Liberty Mutual Co., should each pay half towards the award. Attorney Meyers contended that because the claimant did not incur the injury during the course of insurance by the American Mutual Co., that company was not liable for any part of the award. He admitted that the disability came since The Falls Co., became insured with the American Mutual but charged that the Liberty Mutual was the company which insured The Falls Co., when the injury occurred. Judge Avery took the papers following remarks by Attorney C. V. James for the claimant. The judge said that he should in a memorandum of decision correct the present judgment on record and order judgment for the full amount against both companies, leaving them to thresh out who should pay it.

Robert W. Perkins, receiver for the Shore Line Electric Railway Co., and others was granted authority to sell a tract of land in the town of Preston which was said to be worth about $25.

DR. FREEMAN IS ELECTED MEDICAL SOCIETY HEAD

The New London County Medical association conducted its 136th annual meeting Thursday afternoon at the Mohican hotel, New London, with more than 25 physicians in attendance.

The program began with a dinner at 12:30, followed by a scientific session. In the latter, Dr. Frank M Dunn, president of the association, gave an address of welcome. This was followed by a paper on fractures by Joseph Edward Root, B. S. M. D., of Hartford.

Hugh Baird Campbell, M. D., of Norwich followed with a paper on pneumothorax and thoracoplasty in pulmonary tuberculosis.

Dr. G. M. Burrows of Danielson, a delegate from the Windham county association, was heard in brief remarks.

Two new names proposed for membership were Dr. Elijah J. Burdsall of the Norwich state hospital and Dr. George St. Gildersleeve of this city. Action will be taken at the next meeting.

BRINGS SUIT TO COLLECT $1,404.13 JUDGMENT LIEN

John J. Enright, a Norwich contractor, has brought suit in the superior court against Henry Pukallus, a Norwich builder, to collect a judgment lien for a judgment of $1,404.13, with $36.94 costs, which was obtained against the defendant in the common pleas court, March 1, 1926. The lien is against property on Smith avenue, this city. Bertha Pukallus, Mary A. Finlayson, and Frank G. Benson, all of Norwich, the Illio Varnish company of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Rand Kardex bureau of Tonawanda, N. Y., are named as party defendants.

EAGLES SCORE HIGH IN THEIR PINOCHLE PLAY

The fifth night's play of the Eagles pinochle tournament resulted in the scores being exceptionally high Thursday night with Louis Tratchenberg with 7575 taking first while E. J. Mullins was second with 7,025, W. Caughey third 7,000.

A challenge is hereby issued to the champion Foresters and the Eagles committee would like to meet the Foresters committee to make arrangements for such series as they may deem advisable to play.

The pinochle committee has made arrangements to hold another public whist and pinochle in the near future.

SUFFERED SEVERE BURNS IN FIRE AT OCCUM

Suffering from severe burns received when he fell into a bonfire at his home in Occum, Albert Crumhold was reported early this (Friday) morning as resting comfortably as could be expected. His condition is serious. Mr. Crumhold had been a patient at the W. W. Backus hospital since late Tuesday afternoon. The lower part of his body is extensively burned.

SPEAKS IN SERIES ON "THE GOD OF TODAY"

At noon Thursday the fourth in the series of noonday services held in Holy week at the Palace theatre under the auspices of the Protestant churches of the city had the largest attendance of the week, about 150 being present. Archdeacon J. Eldred Brown presided.

In the series upon the general topic, God, the address by Rev. Charles A. Spaulding of New London was upon "The Contemporaneous God," in part he spoke as follows:

"The 'God of Today' is a great and immediate need. We cannot be interested in a god of smoking altars. Such altars are a relic of a past that has long been gone and never can return. We cannot be interested in a god of the unscientific past. Light has come into the world of thought and it can never be excluded. We can never rest satisfied with a god who is not adapted to all possible conditions of human life. And we do not need to be. This world has not out-grown nor out-traveled God. The world of thought has just begun to realize that God is not a constraining bond holding us back to a past we do not like. But he is a call, an inspiration, an urge, toward untried ways that lead into new revelations of the meaning and purpose of life.

People cry "Back to Christ." "Back to God." But it is impossible. He isn't back. He never has been. But far far ahead of all human knowledge and achievement God beckons his people forward toward the daybreak of more light and a better day. He has seen the end from the beginning. He sees the world-life of today and understands it better than any of us. God is right at home in the present. While we are just catching up.

The modern conception of God is new because it thinks of God as the God of the world. It recognizes a world-life. If you ask if he has not always been the God of world-life, the answer is, "Yes. But then have not known it." Our age is startlingly new because it has a consciousness of a world in which we all live. The youth of today are the first generation who have ever been conscious that they live in a world If you ask where did they think they lived, the answer is that they thought they lived in some Province, some country, some empire, but they never thought of themselves as citizens of the world. That is the peculiar discovery of this present age. World-life, world-citizenship, world-sympathy and brotherhood are the vital asset of the new and better age that is to be.

I hear about "The Revolt of Youth." But it isn't necessary. There is land enough. The youth of today has but to reach out and demonstrate the bigger meaning of life in the modern atmosphere. Youth is emancipating itself from the thought that it can be truly interested in a part of the world without being equally interested in all the rest of the world. This is like learning a new language. It is a new world language. It is the language of the universal human interest. And that is Christianity because it is Christ. Christ did not come into the world for the exclusive benefit of Jews, still less of Anglo-Saxons. He came to bring good news to a world and to minister to its total life. The contemporaneous God is interested in the welfare of every human life. And you and I must be the same if we are to be His.

The God of today is not distinguished by the power he can exert, or the wonders he can perform. Men have lived under that thought of God and it had its worth. But the distinguishing attribute of God as He is comprised today in His capacity for suffering. No God of power of chanceless will, of awful sovereignty, can win the appreciation of the present age. It is a God with a broken heart, who appeals to this world in this day. And that is what the crucifixion and the passion of Jesus means. God's heart is breaking as He sees how men are wrecking their birthright and spoiling the high privileges which are theirs. God does not punish sin. He pities it. It hurts Him, because He is Father.

It has been asked if it is really possible to maintain a permanent passion for righteousness in the hearts of men. And when we see the wrecks of that passion which strew the pathway of human history, we may well be in doubt. But a God with a broken heart sorrowing, bleeding, dying for humanity will furnish such a motive. And that is the meaning of Holy Week and of the victory of Easter.

INJUNCTION TO GIVE CANDY STORE WATER

A temporary injunction has been granted by Judge Allyn L. Brown in the suit brought against Max Sternlieb by Joseph Pappas, lessee of the store at 37 West Main street, where he has been conducting a candy and soda water business. The effect of the injunction is to direct Sternlieb to turn on the water so that the Pappas store can have city water and to keep it turned on until further order of court or "some other competent authority in the premises."

Pappas brought the suit against Sternlieb for $1,000 damages and the injunction on the claim that in October 1925, Sternlieb with the avowed intention of causing Pappas to vacate the store and abandon his leasehold turned off the water, has kept it turned off and has refused to turn it on. The place where the water is turned off is in a part of the building to which Pappas has no access. It is claimed, so that he has been unable to have the water, which he needed in his business.

PASSENGER TRAIN LEFT RAILS AT FRANKLIN

The Central Vermont boat train due in Norwich at 7.10 Thursday evening, was wrecked shortly before 7 o'clock one mile north of the Franklin station, when two cars and the engine tender left the rails. No one was hurt. A wrecking crew was sent to the scene to replace the cars on the rails. They were still working at the wreck up to an early hour this (Friday) morning.

BIRTHDAY CAKE MADE TO HOLD 94 CANDLES

In order to find room to place such an unusual number of candles on one cake, this was made in three-decker form, the candles set on the top of the uppermost cake and around the edges of the two larger cakes underneath it. It is completely covered with white frosting, handsomely decorated, and with the words in German, "Zum '94 Geburtstag."

Herbert J. Babbitt, 50, East Thompson farmer, has asked the aid of the police of Webster to find his wife, who left his home a week ago and has not since been heard from. Mr. Babbitt declared that he no longer wants his wife located in order that she may be induced to come back and live with him, but for an entirely different reason.

It appears that when Mrs. Babbitt left home last week she first sold four cows and sixteen fowls, the whole for $95, taking the money with her. She also took a horse and wagon, with which she drove to Webster, Mass., three miles away, and there abandoned, apparently taking the bus from there to Worcester and then to Providence, according to information which Mr. Babbitt has been able to gain.

The husband declares that selling four head of cattle for $95 was just like giving them away, and he says he is ready to pay up to $100 to locate his wife. He declares that he will not allow her to live at the home in East Thompson longer, but will prosecute her in the court of law.

A brother of Mr. Babbitt who had for some time been living at the home is also missing and the East Thompson farmer, who has lost a wife, brother, chickens, cows, all in one sweep, sees some connection between the disappearance of the two at practically the same time.

LITIGATION OVER A NOTE FOR $4,353,528

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—The Warner Sugar company and the Connecticut Valley Lumber company are engaged in litigation over a note for $4,353,528, alleged by the lumber company to be fraudulent, it was learned today. Supreme Court Justice Erlanger signed an order directing the issuance of subpoenaeus for the examination of witnesses here.

The suit originally was filed by the Warner Sugar company against the New Hampshire stave and heading mill to recover on a note of the sum mentioned, and the Connecticut company was permitted to intervene.

"In its intervening petition," a statement by attorneys for the latter company said, "the Connecticut Valley Lumber company claims that the note was fraudulent; that the New Hampshire stave and heading mill was simply a name for the branch of the Warner Sugar Corporation's business and that the Warner Sugar company was in fact suing itself; that the suit was brought to cheat and defraud the Connecticut Valley Lumber company out of $125,000 which became due a short time after such suit was brought."

GREGORY NOTT CAMP TO WED MISS GURDON PAULSON

NEW YORK, April 1—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John McKesson camp announced today that their son, Gregory Nott Camp, would be married to Miss Gurdon Paulson, model in the Yale Art school, at their home Saturday noon.

Miss Paulson, a 21-year-old orphan, noted as the "perfect blonde beauty" came to this country from her home in Iceland five months ago. She met Mr. Camp at the Yale junior prom February 6, and a rapid fire courtship led to her acceptance of the socially prominent New Yorker two weeks later.

METROPOLITAN MUSEUM AMONG BENEFICIARIES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 1.—(AP)—The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York is among nearly a score of beneficiaries which may profit by a majority opinion of the Rhode Island supreme court today in which a trust deed involving the distribution of more than $2,000 of the estate of the late Theodore M. Davis of Newport, will be admitted to probate.

The museum's share, estimated to be worth more than $245,000, consists of a collection of Egyptian relics and other art objects acquired by Mr. Davis during his excavations in Egypt. Counsel declared after reading the opinion that ultimate disposal of the collection depends on court proceedings scheduled for hearing before the United States court for the southern district of New York next Monday.

POULTRY DEALER VICTIM OF HOLD-UP IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, April 1.—(AP)—Covering Louis Rochlin, owner of a poultry market at Cedar and Prince streets, with a revolver, a hold-up man jumped over the counter, seized $48 from the cash register and made his escape tonight.

The hold-up was a daring one as the district is thickly populated and well lighted.

Joe Dawson, Louisville pitcher, is facing a long summer. He has demanded an increase in salary over last season which Capt Neal of the Colonels doesn't think he earned. Dawson declares he will not report and the club maintains that it will not waste any more stationery on him.

CLOCK-LIKE REGULARITY HIS REWARD

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieved constipation of long standing

Mr. Charles R. Pollard, of Walworth, Wisconsin, will testify that habit-forming pills and drugs were even worse than useless in relieving his constipation.

"I am writing to tell you of the grand results I have received from using your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Before I commenced using your ALL-BRAN food I was obliged to take a laxative every night, and being a ruptured man aggravated this trouble and made it all worse . . . but since using your ALL-BRAN I have laid all my laxative medicine and pills away and my bowels are as regular as a clock."

CHARLES R. POLLARD,
Walworth, Wisconsin.

Don't let constipation drag you down, and don't become a slave to habit-forming pills and drugs. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten regularly, is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is returned, because it is 100% bran. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily — in chronic cases, with every meal. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Use it in cooking with the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

BERLENBACH-DELANEY BOUT WILL OPEN OUTDOOR SEASON AT STADIUM

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Tex Rickard drew back the curtain from a good share of his prospective 1926 heavyweight drama today. In a series of important announcements, he disclosed an elaborate program bearing on the ear-marks of starring a heavyweight championship tilt between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney on August 18 or Sept. 8.

The promoter revealed that he had opened negotiations for a 1926 lease on the Yankee stadium, which he plans to open with a return light heavyweight title match between Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney on or about June 10. Simultaneously he said he also would operate his Jersey City arena, Boyle's Thirty Acres, beginning about May 18.

Both big arenas, Rickard said, would be ready for at least "one big shot." While he refused to say so flatly, he hinted into a discussion of dates and possibilities which left his hearers convinced that he figures on staging Dempsey's return to the ring, with Tunney as his opponent. Tunney already is under contract to Rickard for this season and it is understood the promoter has an agreement with Dempsey which will materialize into a formal contract after August 3, when the champion's contract with his erstwhile manager, Jack Kearns, expires.

Rickard pointed out that with Boyle's Thirty Acres at his disposal he will be able to shift a Tunney-Dempsey match to Jersey if present objections to it here by the New York state athletic commission are not removed.

These objections hinge around the commission's insistence that Harry Wills, negro challenger, be given first call on a title match. They may be removed however, it was indicated today by the commission deciding that Wills already has violated the rules by entering into his agreement with Dempsey and Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan City, Ind., promoter at a time when Dempsey was on this state's ineligible list. When it placed its ban on the champion, the commission issued a strict injunction against dealings with him by promoters or managers holding licenses in this state.

Wills, however, in Rickard's opinion, is not yet out of the heavyweight picture altogether although the negroes chances of meeting Dempsey have diminished. If a Dempsey match is found impossible otherwise, Rickard indicated he would be willing to stage an elimination test between Wills and Tunney, the winner to face the champion.

While Rickard favors August 12 or September 3 as dates for his "big shot," he has available several other dates, so far as the Yankee stadium is concerned. These are August 9 to 13, September 2-4 or September 15-17, all marking occasions when the Yankees will be away from their home park.

Rickard expects to leave on another "secret mission" to Chicago next week but has promised another "big announcement" before departing. His interviewers today interpreted this as meaning he may announce definitely he has clinched the Dempsey-Tunney match. His trip to Chicago is believed to be concerned with establishing a franchise for the National Hockey league there.

Three or four "big shows" are planned by Rickard for the Yankee stadium, for which he closed negotiations today with Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees. In addition to the return Berlenbach-Delaney bout and the prospective Tunney-Dempsey match, he is understood to have Young Stribling, Georgia light heavyweight, in mind as a possible opponent for the winner of the light-heavyweight encounter. A match bringing Benny Leonard, retired lightweight king, back into the ring for a welterweight battle with Mickey Walker also is in sight.

Johnny Risko, young Cleveland heavyweight, is another boxer who may figure in Rickard's heavyweight program.

"I think Risko is the most promising man in the heavyweight division today," he said. "Some day he'll be fighting for the heavyweight championship under my direction."

Paulino, the Tiger of the Pampas, who is slated to visit the United States soon, probably will be offered a match with Wills, Tunney or Risko with the idea of testing his ability.

MAJORS WILL SEE FEW NEW CATCHERS THIS SEASON

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—The ranks of major league catchers, which opened to receive a new star in Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics last year, have passed through the 1926 training camp grind without serious threat of other invasions.

Melvin Ott, Giants' schoolboy star, and Bennett Tate, Washington youngster, created stirs in their respective camps. Ott has been shunted to the minors for further seasoning, however, while Tate finds opposition from two of the best known veterans of the American league in Muddy Ruel and Hank Severeid.

Bob O'Farrell, former Cub and a player of eleven major league campaigns, has come back to earn a first string berth with the Cardinals. Picinich and Hargrave are expected to share the major catching burdens in Redland, while Earl Smith and Gooch again will don the Pittsburgh masks.

Behind the plate for the Cubs will be two players of several years' experience in Hartnett and Gonzales, but it remains for the Giants to produce a pair whose joint experience exceeds that of any two other regular receivers on one club in baseball. Grover Hartley now is 38 years old while Frank Snyder has survived 13 major league races.

Philadelphia and Boston each has a comparatively young staff in the National. The former with Henline and Wilson to do the bulk of the work, and the latter placing chief dependence on Gibson and Taylor.

Veterans predominate in the American league, with Ray Schalk of the White Sox and Wally Schang of the Browns returning to the game after more than a decade's play behind the plate.

Alex Gaston of the Red Sox, Bassler of the Tigers, Myatt and Luke Sewell of the Indians, all have seen several seasons of service, but Bengough and Collins of the Yankees are comparatively young in major league experience.

MAJOR LEAD TEAMS SPEED UP SPRING PRACTICE

CHICAGO, April 1.—(AP)—Major league baseball clubs today dusted from their playing togs, the mildew, which had collected during a week of postponed games and a staccato of hits resulted from the renewal of exhibition games.

Tris Speaker's Cleveland Indians made 13 hits off the Toronto internationals in Georgia for a 10-2 decision. Faulkner and Carroll working well on the mound except for one inning. The tribe hopped from the ball park to a rain for new Orleans, where they rest tomorrow.

Over at Waycross, Georgia, the Philadelphia Athletics pounded out eight hits for a 6-2 win over Rochester, another international club, and in Birmingham, the Boston Red Sox got 12 knocks, but watched the local club drive in a 10 to 7 victory with 13 hits.

Hornsby's determination to outwear the Texas Blizzards was rewarded with a 11 to 4 defeat of the Dallas Texas league club by the Cards, who hit safely 11 times. The two teams meet for their final exhibition tomorrow.

The St. Louis Browns wound up their training season at Tarpon Springs, Florida with a long batting drill. They start northward tomorrow and stop in Georgia for their first trip out on Saturday.

Ty Cobb and his Detroit outfit had a good day's work at Augusta, Georgia, with George Dauss, out for the last two weeks with a stiff elbow, whipping them over with difficulty Blue, Gehringer, Tavener and Warner still cavort as the Tyger infield although the pack is not final. The Tygers exhibit again at Augusta Saturday and head north the following day.

For the first time since spring, Blizzards set in through the central states, the Chicago Cubs got a bad break in California. McCarthy and his crew spent the day in idleness at Los Angeles because of rain.

CRUICKSHANK LEADS FIELD IN NORTH AND SOUTH OPEN

PINEHURST, N. C., April 1.—(AP)—Bobby Cruickshank, of New York, today led the field in the north and south open championship at the end of the first 36 holes of medal play with a 71-74-145 score.

Despite the high wind, the diminutive New Yorker played steadily and for the first nine holes he was two under par. On the inward journey of the morning play he was only one over par and the afternoon round he was tow more over par.

Jock Hutchison, Chicago, with a score of 147, was tied for second place with Arthur W. Yates, of Rochester, present north and south title holder.

Thomas J. Harmon, jr., New York, was next with a 75-73-148, two strokes better than August Nordone, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., who had 75-75-150.

MacDonald Smith, of New York, present north and south champion, also had a 75-72-150 count. He played unsteadily during the early round and was slicing most of his tee shots and missing many putts.

Walter Hage, of Pasadena, Fla., piled up a string of four 38's for a total of 152 and was eighth in the standing.

BALTIC INDEPENDENTS TAKE EASY GAME FROM WHEEL CLUB

Thursday evening at the Baltic Social club gym the Baltic Independents took an easy game from the Ponemah Wheel club five of Taftville, 53 to 26. The game was very one-sided and uninteresting after the first few minutes of play. Provencher, Rondeau and Wilcock starred for the Independents and Smith for the Cyclers. The summary:

SHARKEY WINS CLEAN-CUT VICTORY OVER KING SOLOMON

BOSTON, April 1.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey of Boston, New England heavyweight boxing champion and favored by the New York boxing commission as Gene Tunney's next opponent, won a clean cut decision over King Solomon of Panama in a fast 10 round bout here tonight. Sharkey weighed in at 190 and Solomon at 196.

The fight was jammed with action from start to finish with both contestants trying hard for knock outs in the opening rounds. The judges gave Sharkey seven of the frames, Solomon two and they drew one.

Sharkey started the fireworks in the first minute by flooring his opponent with a wide right, but King was up before the count started. The Boston fighter kept forcing things in the next three rounds, punishing his opponent with hard rights to the jaw and body and coming off first in the infighting.

In the fifth round the King stiffened and took a slight advantagew hich he carried through the next frame. His rally only spurred Sharkey and in the seventh he drew even again. There were several furious exchanges with the fighting standing toe to toe swapping punches to head and body.

The spurt seemed to tire Solomon however and Sharkey began to hurt him in the eighth with stiff rights, one of which opened the visitor's left eye. The last three rounds were clearly Sharkey's. He was pushing King all over the ring and was punching him along the ropes between clinches.

SCHAEFER RECOVERS LEAD FROM HOPPE IN 7TH BLOCK

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Jake Schaefer, challenger, led Willie Hoppe, champion, 2,400 to 2,070 at the end of the eighth block tonight in their 3,600-point match for the world's 18.1 balkline billiard title. Schaefer set a new record run of 241, ading 22 to his unfinished string of 219 in the afternoon.

Schaefer's conquest tonight was 300 to 236, the challenger showing excellent form in the late innings. Hoppe's best run was 109 and in three frames he failed to count.

The innings:

Schaefer

Schaefer regained the lead in his fight to wrest the world's 18.1 balkline billiard championship from Willie Hoppe, scoring 384 points to the titleholder's 34 and completing the seventh block with an unfinished record run of 219 in the after block. The score at the close of the day's play was: Schaefer, 2,100; Hoppe, 1834.

Schaefer ran out his string in seven innings, his high run of 219 marking the fourth time during the match that the old mark of 140 established by Frank Ives more than two decades ago has been surpassed. Hoppe thrice previously exceeded Ives' feat.

The score by innings:

Hoppe

0 2 2 45 3 11 0— 34—1800—1834

Schaefer

7 2 21 27 47 1 219—384—1716—2100

O. D. H. S. TEAM IS BOOKING GAMES FOR THE SEASON

The management of the newly organized O. D. H. S. baseball club of Norwich is now getting busy booking games for the coming season and has on the list some of the fastest clubs in the state. Two high school teams already have been booked and one is still pending. Washington high of Washington Heights, N. Y., and St. Paul's of Jersey City. Both these will be played in foreign grounds. La Salle Academy of Providence is the one pending.

The management also wishes to state that practice will be postponed until the weather conditions are much better. There are still a few positions open for local talent who wish try outs. Out of town men will be secured as soon as the season opens unless local talent is heard from before then. The management is anxious to hear from local boys as he prefers them as to outsiders. Any men interested can get in touch as soon as possible with Ed. V. Gleason, asst. mgr., 325 Roswell avenue, Norwich, Conn, or phone 2088.

SEEDED PLAYERS ADVANCE IN FIRST ROUNDS AT AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—Seeded players generally advanced in the opening rounds of the men's doubles and the women's singles of the South Atlantic tennis tournament here today.

William Tilden and Sandy Weiner, both of Philadelphia, were forced to extend themselves to beat the New York teams of Sam Hardy and Fred Braggs in the semi-finals round of the doubles. The score was 6-3, 4-6, 9-11, 7-5. The other semi-final match was postponed until tomorrow.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, New York, second ranking women's tennis star, defeated Miss Amie Robinson, Augusta, in love sets in the opening round of the women's singles, 6-0, 6-0. Mrs. Theodora Sohst, New York, winner of the 1925 tournament eliminated Mrs. Bradley, Augusta, 6-1, 6-1.

Mrs. A. H. Chapin, jr., advanced to the second round, when Miss Spink, Augusta, defaulted. Miss Florence Ballin, New York, won from Mrs. Chauncey Hackett, Washington, 6-0, 6-0.

TWO MAJOR UPSETS FEATURE SCHOOL BASKETBALL

CHICAGO, April 1.—(AP)—Two major upsets featured today's play in the national scholastic basketball tourney at the University of Chicago, as 16 surviving teams whirled onward in the five day championship race.

The south was twice victimized. Tech High of Atlanta, Georgia, and Wheeler, Mississippi, going down in unexpected fashion before teams from Minnesota and Pennsylvania, respectively.

Wheeler, Mississippi champion and fourth place team in the 1925 tourney, was nosed out 17 to 14 in the closing minutes by Nanticoke, Pennsylvania, an entry passed with little notice in the opening round. Gaylord, Minnesota, came through with a surprise, smothering the Atlanta, Georgia, quintet only one southern field goal being represented in the final score of 23 to 7.

The east strengthened an unanticipated bid for the title, as a result of the Nanticoke victory and that of Fitchburg, Massachusetts, which romped through a game with Roswell, New Mexico, 31 to 12.

Fargo, North Dakota, dropped Elkins, West Virginia, out of the running, when the westerners took a fast overtime tilt, 25 to 20. Both teams used dribbling attacks, Fargo taking the game, when the West Virginians went cold on the basket toward the close. Elkins having led at the half, six to five. The count at the end of the regular playing time was 20-20.

Brackenridge High of San Antonio, Texas, defeated Pine Bluff, Arkansas, in an unimpressive game, 26 to 22. The result was somewhat of an upset, Pine Bluff having previously won two games in handy fashion while the Texans had taken only a slow game from Torrington, Conn., on the opening day.

Salem, South Dakota, defeated Westport High, of Kansas City, Missouri, 28 to 26.

TWELVE COLLEGE TEAMS TO TRAIN IN SOUTH

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Twelve college baseball nines, emulating their professional brethren, will tune up their throwing arms and refocus their batting eyes on southern diamonds.

Pennsylvania, pioneer of the southern exodus, opened its season yesterday with a victory over the University of Virginia team, Yale, Syracuse, Bucknell and Dartmouth opened today, with Rutgers starting tomorrow and Boston college Saturday. Cornell, Vermont, Holy Cross, Fordham and Princeton will stage their inaugurals next week.

Most of the teams will concentrate their activities around Virginia and Maryland but Dartmouth will penetrate deep into the south and play a series of games against Georgia institutions.

In addition to the baseball invasions, Columbia and Yale will send their tennis teams into the south for preliminary training before taking on more strenuous matches against traditional opponents.

BOWLERS FIND IT TOUGH GOING AT TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., April 1.—(AP)—Bowlers found the going tough today in the American Bowling congress tournament, now in its last week here.

Only one outstanding score showed up all day, that of Max Klug, a member of the Toledo Page Dairy five that failed to roll into the money in the team event.

Klug rolled games of 227.257 and 238 for a 722 which gave him second place in the individual standings, nine pins below Eddie Votel, of Braddock Pennsylvania, who has held the top two weeks.

Klug's score drops Rehor, of Cleveland with his 714 down to third place in the list and crowds half, of New York out of the standings. J Porto a member of the Algonquins of New Haven, Connecticut, rolled 672.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Sam Vick has been re-engaged as manager of the Laurel team of the Cotton States league. He took charge of the team during the last campaign and brought it up as a serious contender in the second half of the pennant race.

Joe Gleason, veteran pitcher of the Shreveport team of the Texas league, broke a small bone in his right ankle while going into third base in a game with the Chicago White Sox last week.

Russell (Lena) Blackburne, who managed the Little Rock team of the Southern league, last season, will be carried by the Travelers as utility man, according to Manager Joe Cantillon. He will also be a sort of first lieutenant for Pongo Joe.

Well, they finally came to it. The new Hollywood team of the Pacific Coast league, is to be known as the Stars. Manager Vitt does not care what they call his team as long as the members do not contract Kleigsore in their movie environment.

Johnny Stuart, former University of Ohio pitcher, has been released to the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league, by the St. Louis Cardinals. A string is attached. Stuart was with Milwaukee of the American association, on option most of 1925.

John McGraw has announced that the Giants will train at Pennant Park, his new subdivision city, near Sarasota, Fla., next spring. There will be polo grounds, trap shooting course and other features at the Pennant park athletic field when completed.

Charlotte of the South Atlantic league, has purchased Catcher Charley Rowland from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league. He will be expected to fill the vacancy caused by the sale of Freddie Noone to the Toronto Club of the International league.

Manager Walter McCredie of the Mission club of the Pacific Coast league, last week cut loose three youngsters—Willie Rose, outfielder; Herb Myerson, first baseman, and Buck Winters, pitcher. McCredie is making an effort to place Rose in the Western league.

George Blackburn, a pitcher for the Baltimore Orioles in the late 90's has been signed as umpire in chief of the East Texas league. He has been umpiring exhibitions in Waco, these including games in which the St. Louis Cardinals have appeared. He looks like a good guesser.

President Dick Guy of the Wheeling club of the Middle Atlantic league, last week announced the sale of Outfielder Jimmy O'Connor to the Bay City Club of the Michigan-Ontario league. O'Connor was one of the leading base runners in the Middle Atlantic last season.

Vean Gregg, veteran left-hander who was turned over to Birmingham by the Washington Senators, has announced at Seattle that he will not join the Southern league team. It is said he has made arrangements to pitch for Hoquiam, Wash., of the independent Timber league.

Jake Wimer, star shortstop in the independent Twilight league last season, has signed with the Manchester team of the New England league. Wimer will act as field captain. Other players to sign recently with Manchester are Sinchez a third baseman and Garnt, outfielder.

George Smith and Lil Stoner of the Detroit pitching staff, hold the unusual distinction of being the same age to the day. Smith was born in Louisville on October 27, 1901, and Stoner's [illegible] on the same date at Bowie, Tex. Johnny Neun was born the next day at Baltimore.

The San Francisco Seals had another [illegible] last week. Four pitchers [illegible] Herbert Hunter pitcher; Joe Cohens, infielder, and Joe Zanic, catcher were cut loose. Zanic belongs to the Wichita club of the Western league, while the other three were made free agents.

EASTERN CONN. CHECKER TITLE IS AT STAKE IN DUWELL TOURNEY TODAY

Practically every city of any size in this great United States has produced during the last few years a champion of some sort and by tonight Norwich will have taken its place amongst these cities when over at the Duwell club located on the east side someone of the representatives of the different cities and villages entered in the tournament to determine the checker championship of eastern Connecticut will have earned the right to be called the checker champion of eastern Connecticut. For the past few months checkers has been one of the most talked of sports in these parts and finally it was decided that a tournament of this kind would create considerable interest and through the efforts of the Duwell club it was finally decided to hold one starting March 9th, but only two days before the date set for the opening games it was decided to postpone the tournament. This decision created considerable comment and also was the cause of several letters being published in the local papers, but while several people criticized it was a wise move on the part of the Duwell in postponing the tournament to today as it will give all the entrants coming from the different places a chance to get here and the tournament can be cleaned up in one day.

Tod first round starting at 10 a. m. sharp play continuing throughout the day with time out for dinner and supper which will be furnished by the Duwell club. It is expected that one round will be played in the morning, two in the afternoon and the finals will be played after supper. The winner of the tournament to receive $25 in gold and a silver loving cup, while the runners-up will receive $15 and two $5 prizes.

In looking over the following list of entrants it can be seen that the surrounding towns are pretty well represented by men whose names are familiar to anyone acquainted with checkers in this part of the state. The following men will compete for the championship of eastern Connecticut: George H. Moles, New London; Carl Hanlen, Lebanon, Count Gillan, Norwich; Judge M. H. Gusmer, Putnam; Charles Maeshellery, Taftville, William P. Warren, Putnam, Newton Lamphere, New London; Harry K. Burton, Putnam; E. L. Pultiz, North Franklin; John Hargraves, Occum; Fred Booth, Norwich; Charles Ladueur, Putnam; Henry Dubois, Putnam; Joseph Gorman, Norwich; Ernest Du Breuil, Plainfield; Eddie Mack, New London and A. C. Davison, Putnam.

BOXING REPLACING DUELLING IN GERMAN UNIVERSITIES

BERLIN, April 1.—(AP)—Boxing is rapidly replacing student duels with rapiers as a major sport in German universities and high schools.

The first interscholastic boxing matches ever held here have just taken place between pupilists of the [illegible] University of Goettingen and the Hanover school of Technology.

Educational authorities in many states, notably Prussia, have sanctioned boxing and its popularity is becoming widespread. The lower house of the Baden legislature has passed a bill prescribing the same punishment for student duelists with sharpened sabres as that meted out to those who attempt to settle affairs of honor with weapons.

A man may know love by heart and yet be unable to define it.

CONVICTION OF KID M'COY AGAIN CONFIRMED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—(AP)—The state supreme court today affirmed the manslaughter conviction in Los Angeles of Norman Selby (Kid McCoy), former heavyweight fighter, and also reversed a decision of the state district court, which had granted Selby a new trial. Selby is in San Quentin State prison. He was convicted of killing Mrs. Teresa Mora in a shooting affray at Los Angeles.

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR SINCLAIR CONSOLIDATED

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation had an unusually prosperous year in 1925, the annual report today showing surplus of $6,002,793 after depreciation and depletion in contrast to a deficit of $8,149,268 in 1924. This is equal after preferred dividends to $1.01 a share on the common stock.

TARIFF COMMISSIONER DENNIS HAD NERVOUS ATTACK WHILE TESTIFYING

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—The senate tariff investigating committee ended today's hearing abruptly when Commissioner Dennis, democrat, of Maryland, who was testifying, suffering a nervous attack, and was unable to continue.

In the mildwst of charges that the commission with pigeon-holing lower duty cases and expediting those for higher rates, Mr. Dennis put both hands on his head and asked for a recess. He was taken to an anteroom but in a few minutes resumed the stand only to find that he could not read his notes. He explained that he had been unable to sleep during the night and the committee adjourned until Monday when he will complete his statement.

The committee will publish the unused oil report, the special confidential document of the commission delivered by subpoena. It showed that on March 3, 1925, the commission recommended to President Coolidge a reduction in the duty on linseed oil, from 3.3 cents to 2.7 cents per pound. Only three members, Chairman Marvin, Burgess and Glassie voted. Commissioner Dennis charged that the commission refused to begin the cotton hosiery lower rate inquiry it had been threatend with a congrssional investigation. The report, he said, has not yet been completed.

The commissioner said a majority of the commission had recommended an increased duty on cotton gloves from 60 per cent. ad valorem to 112 per cent., which would have raised the retail price from 95 cents a pair to $1.50, but the president, "actuated by a sense of farness," refused to act on the recommendation.

ITALIAN MUSIC SCHOOL FOR AMERICANS GIVEN A SUBSIDY

TRIVOLI, March 31 (AP)—The Italian government has granted a partial subsidy to the Master School of Music for Americans in recognition of its work towards strengthening the cultural ties between Italy and the United States.

The Master school, which holds its classes during the summer months at the famous Villa d'Este, is devoted entirely to the musical education of Americans by a corps of distinguished Italian professors. They are headed by Mario Corti, who is a professor at the Royal Musical Academy of Santa Cecilia and is considered the greatest living violinist in Italy.

ROB ROY ONE OF PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S CLOSEST FRIENDS

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—One of President Coolidge's closest companions is a dog—Rob Roy, a handsome white collie which has supplanted Laddie Boy, the mascot of the White House.

Born only two years ago, Rob Roy has worked himself into the affections of the president. [illegible] when his master returns to the White House after luncheons he trots along to take a snooze in front of the fireplace, a curl up in a leather chair at the president's elbow or look out of the window, yearning probably for a run around the yard or out into the street with dogs that don't have to observe white house etiquette.

Rob Roy gets excited when he spies any of the squirrels which scamper around the white house lawn. He frequently makes a dash for one, but never on the chase at a sharp reprimand from the president.

For a while after he arrived from Swampscott, not far, Rob Roy, was homesick. His playmate Paul Pry, the snappy airedale, had been turned over to the mercies of the Coolidge children for discipline. But another collie—also white but smaller—soon came from the Wisconsin farm where Rob Roy was born.

Despite the newcomer, given the name of Prudence Prim by Mrs. Coolidge, Rob Roy seems to have first claim on the [illegible] office. Mrs. Coolidge [illegible] Prudence.

BOATMEN SEARCHING FOR COOK'S ANCIENT RECORDS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 1 (AP)—Efforts [illegible] boatmen plying [illegible] to locate records supposed to contain Capt. Cook's handwriting [illegible] Point Possession, a sandspit jutting into the upper inlet.

It is believed records are in the hands of descendants of natives [illegible] Nathaniel [illegible] observed on the [illegible] Cook's visit to the inlet in 1778. Following the rediscovery of the [illegible] monument erected [illegible] Cook on the occasion of his first visit to the large waterway bearing his name.

Captain George Howe Sr., [illegible] the oldest skippers in Alaskan waters, gives the legend narrated to him by an old Indian chief telling of Cook's historic visit about as follows:

Captain Cook brought his [illegible] anchor near Kenai. It was the first time the aborigines had ever beheld a sailing vessel. They doubted its end one man out in his birch canoe to reconnoiter the strange craft. To ascertain if its mission was hostile or friendly. He was prepared to signal with his paddle if hostile.

When the native came close to the schooner, Captain Cook he stepped [illegible] called on him to come aboard. He was shown piles of trade goods and [illegible] dressed out to foster confidence. He was made to understand that the Indians could have such things or others in exchange for furs.

When the Indian returned to [illegible] he was a marked [illegible] [illegible] dressed [illegible] [illegible] Indians looked [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WESTFIELD PATROLMAN DONNED SPRING UNIFORMS AND SHIVERED IN SNOWSTORM

WESTFIELD, Mass., April 1—(AP)—Thirteen Westfield patrolmen were the victims of an April first prank today that were in doubt where to place the blame. Obeying an order to throw aside their winter uniforms they issued forth into an icy world to shiver in an April snowstorm in short blouses designed for spring and fall wear.

The members of the force boast of three uniforms, heavy for winter, light for summer and the intermediate weight for the mid seasons. Chief Chief Thomas F. Daley sent out an order that on April 1, the winter weight clothing should be laid away and the spring blouses donned. At the same time, winter elected to linger in the lap of spring a few days more, and a light snowstorm this morning was followed later in the day by low temperatures and a raw wind.

The winter coats reached to the patrolmen's knees, while the spring and fall blouse is hip length. The men donned sweaters beneath the blouses but there remained the unprotected hiatus between blouse and knee. Friends reminded the shivering officers that they would grow accustomed to the situation in time as snow had been known to fall in this section as late as April 19.

The order went into effect at 9 o'clock this morning when the first shift of three patrolmen went on duty. The day officers said their colleagues on night duty would bear the brunt of the chief's order, with the lower temperatures prevailing after sundown.

Prof. A. E. Knowlton, of the Yale department of electrical engineering and electrical engineer of the public utilities commission, of Connecticut, will be in charge of the third annual course for electric metermen to be held on April 5, 6 and 7, in Sheffield Scientic school.

SPOKANE, GOLF LINKS IS UNIQUE FOR ITS TERRAIN

SPOKANE, April 1 (AP)—For variety of terrain, scenery and playing conditions, probably no golf club in the United States surpasses the links of the Spokane Country Club.

There are mountainous backgrounds, plains, plateau, gulches, precipitous bluffs, forrested hillsides, rocky crevasses, arroyoes, a lake and a spring that forms a pool in the seventeenth fairway.

The golfer is presented during the round of the links with long shots down hill to the river at the foot of a mountain; perilous brassie shots across an arroyo that deploys a wide stretch of the most shifting sand; long ungrade three shot holes; iron pitches across narrow gorges; a mashie shot aifost perpendicularly to a green in a mountain defile; a spectacular drive from the top of a towering bluff to the piney plain far below, a drive from a ponderous rock tee, and other sorts of golfing.

The going is difficult with its mountain climbing at times, but the crystal springs that gurgle here and there pour fourth water that is rejuvenating.

From the clubhouse, nestled among pines in the center of the club grounds, the first two holes run down a moderate grade to a river curling around the base of a mountain peak. The third retraces the ground to a green stalked off by conferes that measure a dozen feet around the trunks. Then over the dry creek bed to a valley and back and down again.

After a short hole, whose green is on the verge of a burn, the player shoots up grade for more than 500 yards to a spot set like a stare among the tall firs. Then the tee of the ninth hole forms the stage for the golfer, as he clambers up a series of steps to a niche on the mountainside with trees all around, except in front. Thence he must shoot 180 yards across a ravine with almost perpendicular sides to another wood bound green.

At the start of the second half comes a short hole that probably has the steepest fairway in the world. The distance from tee to pin is only 143 yards. It looks shorter and seems much longer in play, for the way is through a rocky crevasse with the green appearing to be almost straight above the tee. The sides of the ravine rise 50 feet above the bottom of the ravin. Played as it looks, the ball will fall short of the carpet, and the ordinary golfer must take a good swat with a mid-iron or spoon to set home, owing to the fact that the ball is intercepted at the top of its trajectory.

The next four holes on a plateau would be dull, except for forrested gulches which must be avoided and a deep ravine that must be carried twice. But these are only the calm before the storm of beauty, for the fifteenth tee is at the verge of a bluff two-hundred feet high and almost perpendicular. From this crest, the player sees the green far below, some 300 yards away.

"Inspiration" would be a good name for this hole, as the view, with forrests of pines lining the emerald fairway inspire a mighty desire to drive the green. And the trajectory here favors distance, so that such players as Jock Hutchinson and Jim Barnes hassle and only fair players could almost reach the velvet grass around the flag.

The thrill of this hole is not allowed to die out at the next, for after one ascends the steps to a high rock tee, he looks down a steep grade through the lane of trees to a green nestled under a shady background of firs. Any reasonable drive will get home 265 yards, while experts use a spoon or even an iron.

Then a tee in a cozy nook of evergreens with a bubbling fountain and its purling brooks at your feet, whence a shot of 159 yards lands the ball on a tabled green overhanging the river. A glide home in the shade of the pines and the round is done, but one who is strange to the course may have some difficulty in adding up his score, although par is only 69.

McCoy's Rinolin Helping Thousands

Natural Way to Overcome Constipation and Be Free From the Vicious Habit of Daily Purging

Here—right in this city at Lee & Osgood Co. or any druggist you can get a bottle of McCoy's Rinolin, a pleasant to take emulsion that in 10 days, if the simple directions are followed, will rid you of chronic constipation and establish normal and regular bowel action without artificial aid for a long time to come.

If it doesn't do it your druggist is authorized to return to you the money you paid for it.

So why should any sensible man or woman continue with violent purgatives, salts or calomel—a vicious and harmful habit—when such surprising results can so quickly be obtained with McCoy's Rinolin.

Like McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets which have benefited millions, McCoy's Rinolin is guaranteed to establish regular bowel action and rid the intestines of poisonous waste.

GREAT REINDEER DRIVE OUT OF ARCTIC TO TAKE TWO YEARS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 1 (AP)—A great reindeer drive which will take two years and for spectacularity rival the big trail movements of Tartan herds in frontier days will be undertaken in an effort to revivify an industry now menaced by lack of marketing facilities.

Under the direction of George Ashenfelter many thousand head of both government and privately owned deer will be driven overland from the Arctic to Broad Pass on the Alaskan railroad. The drove may be as large as 50,000.

A similar plan conceived two years ago by the bureau of education was abandoned for lack of funds.

Ashenfelter, a large herd owner, will sponsor the drive which will mean not only the removal of the deer from the north to a territory reached by rail but also means a more or less wholesale migration of Eskimo herd owners, most of whom have matriculated in the government schools of husbandry.

"There is not an Eskimo in the Arctic who can support himself on his herd of reindeer," said Ashenfelter, owing to the lack of marketing facilities. The best they can get now for their animals is $10 to $15 a head with the scant population of their country for a market. On this he cannot provide the necessities of life for himself and family.

"The Eskimo has been weaned from his primitive mode of livelihood, educated by the government and started in the reindeer business but finds himself unable to provide for himself and family the necessities of life, while herding his deer. To leave them unherded means their eventual passing to other hands.

"Under present conditions, with the ship service provided, deer must be either butchered at a season when the meat is not of the best or killed in the fall and stored. If the deer are moved to territory served by the Alaskan railroad it will be possible to kill and ship at any season. This is the reason why the big drive will be undertaken."

The drive plans call for cutting up the herds into units of about two thousand each with each unit supervised by skilled chief herders assisted by a number of herders, apprentices and collie dogs. The units would move several miles apart with their positions in the line of march reversed at intervals so that equal advantage of the browsing grounds would be obtained.

Herds of educated owners total more than 125,000, but if only 50,000 of this number should participate it would create a series of herds stretching from the coast of Bering sea eastward for 100 miles. The drive, expected to start in the early winter months would be held at the Yukon river until it freezes and then shoved into the headwaters of the Kuskokwim river and later across country to Broad Pass, a distance of 300 miles.

Experience has shown that the mortality rate of fawns is too great then when an attempt is made to drive them in the spring—before they are strong enough to stand the hard travel. The route selected is that used by the herds of caribous in their annual fall migrations across the Tanana valley and through Broad Pass. Care will be taken to keep the deer and caribou separated because of the penchant of the wild animals to steal the domesticated does.

Ashenfelter expects that approximate 7,000 animals belonging to the bureau of education will be included in the trail movement. With hiswife, a full blood Eskimo, and their six children, Ashenfelter, will leave for the north in June to make preparations.

Among the Eskimo who will participate are many skilled ivory carvers. They hope to create an Eskimo village near Cantwell, the center of the southern reindeer industry. Mrs. Ashenfelter plans assembling a score of Eskimo women and opening a manufactory of bead and skin work.

POETS OF CHICAGO HAVE THEIR VERSE IN DEMAND

CHICAGO, April 1 (AP)—The ancient complaint of publishers that poetry does not sell has been discredited here by some recent remarkable sales records.

Publishers, booksellers and literary critics have watched with amazement as several lake volumes of verse have disappeared over the counter with the rapidity of a best selling novel.

Editions have been sold out overnight or even before publication, and in one instance—involving a book containing both poetry and prose—pressed for a time were unable to carry the load placed upon them.

Most of these statistics have been tributes to the popular appeal of newspaper "columns," in which many of the collected verses appeared.

A few years ago the name of J. U. Nicolson was unknown to the literary world. So far as his friends and associates knew his interest was wrapped up in the storage business. Then one day a poem signed with the unassuming pseudonym, The King of the Black Isles appeared in The Line O' Type of the Chicago Tribune. It was never a lyric in the melodious manner of the Swinburnelan school, attracted considerable attention. Soon others of the same type and bearing the same signature appeared in that and other newspaper columns.

Presently it was announced that The King of the Black Isles was J. U. Nicolson and that a volume of his verse was to appear with his pen name as title. The publishers, hesitatingly printed a modest edition. It did not last long. The volume is now in its tenth printing.

A few months ago another interesting poetic record was made. Some years ago when the late Bert Leston Taylor was piloting the "Line," he printed a number of poems in German American dialect signed K. M. S. Except for an interval during the war these poems continued to appear in various columns and finally were gathered in a book, Die Schonste Lengvitch. The author was Kurt M. Stein. A cautious edition of 500 copies was put out. It is now in its eighteenth thousand.

Another more modest record has just been made, but for poetry it is not without interest. Another popular contributor to Chicago newspaper columns was The Phantom Lover. Along about St. Valentine's Day the author, Henry V. Stevenson, gathered his verses in a book, with The Phantom Lover as the title. Three editions of a thousand each were sent to press in a few days.

But probably the most remarkable record of all was established by The Line Book, made up of contributions of poetry and prose to the Line O'Type. Eleven thousand copies of the 1925 edition were printed as a starter and before nightfall of the day they were placed on sale the edition was exhausted. Sales now are well past the 100,000 mark and steadily climbing.

THE TENDENCY TO STANDARDIZATION.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

Human nature dearly love a rut. At least. It does in this age, and my limited reading of history convinces me it always has.

The average man and woman has a passion for going where others go, doing what others do, wearing what others wear, saying what others say and —worst of all,—thinking what others think.

The absurdities of fashion in dress and home have been held up to ridicule, but these absurdities are really ridiculous only when we more nearly than can be found in any "fashion-plate" of half a century ago. The "styles" which were then decreed and which were held to be very masters of fashion and taste of them would to-day provoke derision or pity if openly and seriously worn.

But it isn't only or chiefly in women [illegible] Deplorably [illegible] "The [illegible] universally understood to be, not the right thing, the appropriate thing, not the thing necessary, but the thing [illegible] are doing. "Follow your nose?" Humph, not any more. Now instead the contents of whatever happens to be in front. "When in Rome, do as the Romans do." Did ever stop to think that Peter didn't do it? Poor Peter were sadly lacking in the world's shrewdness. The [illegible] Wolf have escaped Goodman's axe and the other tender ones if their dad had followed Pat and obeyed the [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible] better.—We wise ones of the later years. Where the mob goes there we go. We propose to be on the side of the majority if it takes a life or loses a soul. As the majority is always and necessarily mediocre, this means that we make mediocrity our guide. Instead of hitching our wagons to any stars, we drop our five-cent needle into the most promising [illegible] ruts and step on the gas.

It's not only so in matters of dress and etiquette, it is the same in far greater matters. The tendency of the times is towards standardization in many things.—Nor is there the least doubt that standardization in many things is a vast convenience. It would infinitely make for economy and handiness if every nut on every motor-car were of the same size, with the same number of thread. On the other hand, if architecture had been standardized along the lines of Egypt's pyramids or Parthenons, say, the world would never have seen a cathedral of Rheims. If literature had been standardized along the lines set by Homer and Virgil, there would never have been a "Hamlet" or an "In Memoriam." If every artist had been content to follow the pattern-and-ink copyists of the Dark Ages there never would have been a movable type and printing press. If every boy had been held inflexibly to following his father's trade the world might have had a few more wonderfully carved "mandarin balls," but where would the locomotive and the telegraph and the radio have come in?

You see, the worship of conformity and standardization has two sides. One good and one evil. With one hand its devotee oils up the bearings of Things-as-they-are: with the other he relentlessly crushes back the better Things-which-must-be.

There is no doubt that following the beaten rut makes for easier going. There is likewise no doubt that following it slavishly will never lead to new fields or forests or gold-mines. To reach such one must prospect for himself and beat out his own trail.

Of course, one of the most outstanding examples of this craze for standardization is in the field of wages and work-hours, though the demands of certain western farmers that the government fix prices for their corn and wheat are in the same category among the other objects of the "labor movement," so called, is the standardization of hours and wages. Every workman is to work the same length of time as every other and draw the same wages. There is no doubt that we have some [illegible]—for the less efficient workmen. But after all, should the standard of the world's work be set to suit the "less" capable? [illegible] to be sold on both [illegible] as of many other questions.

[illegible] the conditions of work and pay and wages and prices has been pretty thoroughly in the air. I have been reading with much interest the past week a book upon [illegible] life in the fourteenth century, between 1350 and 1400 A. D. The [illegible] world has impressed me most forcibly about that life was the way it was. It was marked out and hedged in and standardized for every man, from the rank of king or duke down.

All the workmen of the city were divided up into crafts or as they called them, "mysteries." There were open only to accredited apprentices who had served a full term of apprenticeship, or to outsiders only after these had been examined by duly appointed "surveyors" as to capability and good character. To work over-time was strictly forbidden. To leave one's employment without notice or the complete fulfillment of any agreement with the employer was punished with imprisonment in Newgate. The same penalty was imposed on any workman who left his work because of dissatisfaction with the officially established rate of pay. This rate of pay was fixed by orders issued by the mayor and aldermen for every craft. For example masons, carpenters and plasterers were paid sixpence a day for half the year and fivepense a day for the other half; tailors were allowed to charge tenpence for making a man's coat and two shillings and sixpence for making a woman's gown; "with the cutlers and fullers it was the custom for the wardens of the trade to examine each man individually and to fix his wages and no master cutler or fuller was allowed to pay him beyond the sum thus fixed." This usually ran from three pence to fourpence a day, with food and drink. In 1350 the mayor issued a full set of regulations fixing the wages of every kind of artisan and laborer, even to prescribing a fee of a half-penny for taking off a horse-shoe. No employer was allowed to entice a workman away from his job by offer of better wages or more beer. Any employer paying more than the legal wage was liable to a fine of 40 shillings, and any workman accepting more than that wage to jail for 40 days.

Similarly, the prices of food, etc., were fixed by law. A loaf of bread must be sold for a half-penny. The price the farmer might ask for his wheat was similarly fixed, every harvest, varying from less than five shillings to ten shillings a quarter. The "quarter" was a quarter of a ton, or about eight bushels. Furthermore, the farmer couldn't sell to any one on his way to market, nor could he sell to any dealer or baker till his wheat had been freely offered to the public for three days. In 1347 one dealer raised the price of wheat twopence a bushel, and was jailed for 40 days. Next year another dealer tried to shove the price up by threepence-ha'penny a bushel, and they put him in the pillory. Farmers could bring their product in and hawk about the streets, but dealers could sell only at their places of business. Prices which the peddling farmers were allowed to ask included one shilling for a ham, two shillings for a sheep, eight pence for a lamb, fourpence for a hen, eggs ten for a penny and oats eightpence a bushel.

Thus it appears that, so long as 500 years ago, the idea of fixing wages and prices and work-hours was carried to an even greater extreme than even an I. W. W. bolshevist would ask for today.

And—it—didn't—work. The position of both laborers and skilled artisans was immeasureably worse, then, than it is now.

The very fact that it was abandoned after more than a century of strenuous endeavor to make it work, is evidence enough of its inherent unworkability.

The very facts of human nature as it is now, was then, and probably will be for many generations to come, forbid all such inquisitorial and inhibitory attempts at controlling it.

London in the 13th and 14th and 15th centuries tried to force all workmanship and all production and all business into a set of measured molds. It laid industry on a sort of Procustes bed, and chopped off its feet if it was too tall to fit or pulled its joints apart if it was too short. For fear that it might grow one-sided, London forbade it to grow at all.

We're headed, industrially, in that same direction, today. It's all right to standardize tools and machines. But it's mighty foolish business to try to standardize men and women.

It is possible and perhaps useful to standardize the pitch of a screw-thread or the tone of a violin. But it hasn't yet been put in the power of humanity to standardize ambition or will or intellectual force or spiritual vision. There are some things which the Master of the universe seems to have reserved as His own prerogatives.

Michel Angelo didn't work just eight hours a day,—no more and no less. Nor did he ask just two scudi a week as wages,—no more and no less. If he had done either or both, his name would never have been heard of this side of the Tiber. The same can be said of every other great artist, poet, philosopher, soldier, statesman.) They all of them, from Tubal Cain to Thomas Edison, sought to excel and to win whatever reward their souls craved for their excelling. They refused to travel in any rut or to follow any mob.

The ideal of human organization would be that which left every man absolutely untrammeled to lead his own life in his own way and to make of it whatever his own spirit urged, —so long as he in no slightest degree infringed upon the right of others to do the same.

As there are hardly two faces in all the world which look alike, so there are scarcely any two human beings with exactly the same capacities or characteristics.

When they attempt to copy each other, they are simply reverting to apehood. When society, working from without, attempts to force them into one mold it is attempting what is usually impossible and always foolish.

You can squeeze a handful of mud almost any shape. But it's different with a diamond, which may, indeed break under too great pressure, but will never alter its crystalline form.

MILLIONS OF TONS OF COAL ON FIRE

SUMMIT HILL, Pa., April 1 (AP)—Anthracite strikes may come and go but, like Tennyson's brook, the Summit Hill mine fire apparently goes on forever.

It has been burning for 67 years, ever since February, 1859, and is the most destructive, expensive and famous mine fire in the history of mining in the United States.

The area involved is about one mile long and 1,500 feet wide. More than $3,000,000 have been expended in fighting the fire. The tonnage of coal consumed by this "king" or mine fires can only be guessed, but estimates run as high as 14,000,000.

Summit Hill lies in the Panther Creek valley in what is known as the Schuylkill or Lower coal field of the anthracite regions.

In the years since the fire first was discovered, many stories have been told of its origin. But the true story, vouched for by the company, is that it was started through hot coals being mixed with ashes, the cause of many a fire in the homes of coal consumers.

It was common in the days before the Civil war to have large stoves in the bottom of the slopes for the comfort of the men. The "bottom man" at old No. 1 slope when the fire started was one Daniel Boyle. Among other things it was his duty to attend to the stove. One morning he was a little late in arriving and in hurrying to get the stove burning gave it a severe raking, shaking down red hot coals with the ashes.

An empty was standing near and he shoveled the ashes and hot coals into it. The cars in those days were built entirely of wood. By the time he finished one of the drivers hitched his mule to the car and hauled it to one of the unused gangways. He had been ordered to place a car there by the foreman the previous day in accordance with the foreman's intention to place several men in that section to do some repair work. The foreman, however, changed his mind, and the car, as well as the repairing, was forgotten for a couple of weeks.

When they started to do it they found the fire well under way, the hot coals, mixed with the ashes, having ignited the wooden car and the fire having spread to the timbers. As it was an old worked-out gangway the fire spread rapidly to the loose coal.

There was little, if any, experience then in fighting mine fires. The only method employed was to flood the place. This was done but on pumping out the water it was found that the fire had ignited considerable headway and showed plainly that water was of little use in combating it.

There was such an abundance of coal, the vein here being fifty feet thick, and many of the working being under-developed, it was felt the fire would burn itself out in time. It was decided to abandon the old slope and sink a new slope (No. 2) farther west. With the development of the new slope passed the glory of Summit Hill as a mining town.

In fighting the fire in the early sixties, an open cut was made which seemed to isolate it for many years. Eventually the fire traveled past this cut into the coal areas beyond.

The next method used was sinking six-inch diameter bore holes, spaced 25 feet in each direction, across the basin west of the fire to establish a barrier 250 feet wide and extending from the outcrop on the north to a point where a water seal on the south would prevent the spread of the fire. Fine silt or coal dirt mixed with water was run into the bore holes to fill the crevices and openings in the coal seam and the rock overlying it, thus creating a barrier which, it was believed, would check the fire. It failed.

The next attempt was the sinking of a twelve foot gap 160 feet into the earth, which was lined with concrete and the intervening space filled with clay, making a fire wall 700 feet long. The fire traveled so rapidly that it pressed close to the barrier before it was completed and necessitated the engineers working their men in 20 minute shifts. The wall was finished, notwithstanding the hardships and great expense. Considerable [illegible] filtered through, but the defense halted the fire. For double security however, the west face of the wall was cleared and a water seal constructed.

Today there is still evidence of [illegible] surface of the fire that has burned so long is still burning. A few hot spots are visible along the south crop of the Mammoth vein. The northern portion of the fire area has cooled off materially, although from the vapor that arises from the crevices at certain places it is known some bodies of fire still exist.

During the last two years a large number of eight inch diameter drill holes have been sunk in this section to allow further flushing. This has not been entirely successful, but in combination with the barrier cut off and the silting operations over the entire area, it undoubtedly is causing the fire to gradually burn itself out. Drilling and flushing along the south crop will be continued until the fire in that area also has been extinguished.

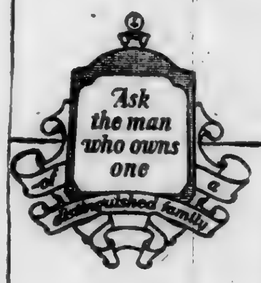
The Price of the Packard Six



Considering its beauty, its comfort and its distinction, the Packard Six is not high in price.

For example, the five-passenger Sedan costs but $_____ delivered at your door with all necessary accessories, freight and tax paid.

The accessories include, in addition to those usually furnished, front and rear bumpers, automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, electric cigar lighter and spare tire and tube and cover.

Many prefer to buy on the payment plan, knowing it is much better to buy a long life car that way than a short life car for cash.

Under our plan you may have a new Packard Six five-passenger Sedan for $_____down and $_____ a month.

If your present car has a market value, we will buy it from you and apply its price on the down payment on the new car.

Quite likely you would not have to write a check for more than one or two hundred dollars to have a new car—a Packard Six—at once.

Those who buy Packard cars this year, either for cash or on the payment plan, will not have to buy again for years to come.

Packard has offered no yearly models for more than ten years and has preserved the traditional beauty of Packard lines.

Packard cars are improved from time to time as occasion warrants. Progress could not be made otherwise.

But the owner of a three, four or five year old Packard is never ashamed in the company of the latest purchaser.

Rather, he feels the pride of possession that comes only with long attachment and association.

You must live with a car to love it.

May we examine your present car and tell you how easily you may have a new Packard?

Packard cars are now being sold on the basis of the new tax rate

The Munsell color wheel has made it possible to obtain combinations of colors which are perfect in balance and tonal value.

RUBEROID Giant-shingles afford you opportunity for perfect blending of colors. By their use you may obtain a roof in absolute harmony with the architectural style of your home and with its surroundings.

Ruberoid Giants give you extra size, extra weight, extra rigidity, extra large headlap and a closed channel which afford absolute protection against leakage in a driving storm.

Due to their size, self-spacing and self-aligning features, Ruberoid Giant-shingles can be laid at less than half the cost of ordinary individual shingles. You save shingles, nails, labor and are free from all risk. You can lay them on sheathing boards or right over old wood shingles.

Come in or phone us for samples and descriptive literature of Ruberoid Giants. You will marvel at their beauty. The price, too, will be friendly to your pocketbook.

WESTERLY

O'BRIEN POINTS OUT LOOT HIDDEN IN A STONE WALL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 1.—About noon Thursday, Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown was led by Frank O'Brien, an employe in the laundry department of the Westerly hospital, to a cache at the west end of Wells street, where over $100 worth of goods was found hidden under a flat rock in a stone wall. Following O'Brien's arrest and detention in the Westerly police station, Wednesday morning, investigation and check-ups were made by Chief Brown. He was assisted by Officers Kessel, Norman and Pawcatuck. Patrolman Brown was called in.

O'Brien will be presented before Judge Oliver H. Williams at the regular session of the district court this (Friday) morning at 9 o'clock. A revolver, a fountain pen and three gold pencils, said to have come from the Holliday store, were located in the waste box in the laundry room of the Westerly hospital, according to the police. Articles held at the police headquarters are two cartons of Chesterfield cigarettes valued at $3; nine cartons of Camels, $13.50; four packages of Climax tobacco, 40 cents; one box of Seidletz powders, 35 cents; B. L. tobacco, $3.50; five boxes of candy, $5; one coat, $1.25; one apron, 50 cents; one watch, $40; three gold pencils, $4.50; one fountain pen, 20 cents; one revolver, $5; one lock and two keys, $1.50; one fountain pen, $1; one box cartridges, 50 cents; three cartons of Lucky Strikes, $4.50; one carton Meccas, $1.50; one carton Sweet Caporals, $1.50; two cartons Fatimas, $4.

These goods were all identified this morning by Frances L. Holliday, proprietor of the store, which was entered. It is claimed some time during Tuesday night, by cutting a glass in one of the windows in the rear of the store and lifting the catch.

O'Brien had a black hand bag in his possession and its contents were examined at police headquarters this morning. It is said to have contained mostly the personal effects of O'Brien, but among the articles was a broken fountain pen and a new lock and keys. Holliday, according to the police, identified the fountain pen and lock as belonging to him, and it is claimed that when the pen was shown to O'Brien, he expressed a willingness to go to Wells street and show the police the location of the goods.

O'Brien is 24 years old. He was at one time employed in a hospital in New York and worked for about a year at the plant of the George C. Moore company on Beach street. For the past few weeks he had worked as a helper at the Westerly hospital, and it is claimed that he left this institution hurriedly Tuesday without securing his pay.

SOLOMVILLE BOY CUT WHEN THROWN FROM TRUCK

WESTERLY, April 1. — Edward Mueller, ten, making his home with Mr. and Mrs. John Guetel, Solomonville, got two cuts, one above and one below his right eye, and had a general shaking up, when thrown from a Ford truck on West Broad street, Pawcatuck, Thursday morning, just before 8 o'clock. He was taken to the office of Dr. William A. Hill, 137 West Broad street, where medical treatment was given him.

The accident involved the Ford milk truck of John V. Sharples of the Stonington road. The boy was riding on the running board with Mr. Sharples, the driver, when the truck struck a telephone pole in front of the residence of Fred Barber. The driver escaped injury. The truck had its two left wheels taken off and milk bottles strewed the highway with milk and broken glass.

It was reported that Mr. Sharples was driving up West Broad street and struck the pole to avoid a collision with an unknown automobile, which was coming down West Broad street. Just previous to the time, Miss Pauline Stahle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Stahle, had driven a Chevrolet coupe out of the driveway of her parents' home, 161 West Broad street, to come down West Broad street and had passed the milk truck. The damaged truck was towed away by a wrecker.

The Pawcatuck Congregational church Easter musical program will include: Organ prelude, pastorale, Giulevant. Selections from cantata, "From the Cross to the Crown," Fred W. Peace. Organ postlude, "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel. Robert Valentine is choir director and organist.

In the Holy Week services of Christ Episcopal church, this (Friday) evening the cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," will be rendered. Saturday, three hours of devotions will continue from 12 noon to 3 p. m. and at 4 o'clock there will be administering of baptism by the rector, Rev. G. Edgar Tobin. Mrs. Charles S. Larkin is the organist and choir director.

Tuesday evening of next week Dr. Conover, of Philadelphia, is to deliver an illustrated lecture at Grace Methodist Episcopal church. Wednesday Rev. Marvin S. Stocking, and wife, will attend the Methodist conference at South Manchester.

Miss Antoinnette McCloy, granddaughter of Judge Oliver H. Williams, of Westerly, entertained this week at a birthday party, 15 young friends. Refreshments were served and games were played.

In anticipation of her wedding a surprise miscellaneous shower party was tendered at the home of Mrs. Nellie Negrelli, 99 Canal street, to Miss Dorothy Evangeline Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver F. Lincoln of Summer street, Thursday evening. Miss Lincoln is soon to become the bride of Fred Lamphere of Westerly. Many of the gifts had reference to the first day of April. The color scheme for decoration and favors was green and white. About 20 friends attended to felicitate the future bride, and to enjoy the refreshments and social evening.

Mrs. Harry J. Haggert, widow of H. J. Haggert, who was found suffocated in his apartments in New York several weeks ago, who had started the erection of a house in Hopkinton, before going to New York, was a visitor Thursday in Westerly and Pawcatuck.

Today, Good Friday, although observed in Connecticut is not a legal holiday in Rhode Island. In Pawcatuck the Bank and Trust company is closed for business for the day and there is no session held in the public schools. On the Rhode Island side of the Pawcatuck river, in Westerly, post office, banks, public buildings and schools are open. Friday, being the regular day for the session of third district court, a custom has obtained of holding no session which will be followed this year with the exception of hearing only cases which are urgent.

Lieutenant R. B. Shea, of the medical corps, who has been attached to the U. S. S. Tulsa, which docked in Boston last Monday after a nine weeks' station in Central America waters, is visiting with his family in Pawcatuck, previous to proceeding to Washington, D. C., where he has been detailed on a special mission.

E. E. Carpenter of the Shore road and Judge William A. Wilcox and Albert G. Martin of Pawcatuck attended Thursday the Herbert West auction on the Hull farm, a mile north of Stonington borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paul and child of Alton, R. I., left Westerly on Thursday morning for New York, en route to visit for a time in Tampa, Fla.

Joseph Orlando, employed at Bradford, with his family, plans to dispose of their household effects and to leave their home, 92 Liberty street, Pawcatuck, for a nine weeks' trip which will include a visit to their former home, Cornwall, England.

Following heavy rain which fell in Westerly Wednesday afternoon and evening, with five or six sharp lightning flashes and heavy peals of thunder, Thursday furnished a number of snow flurries of short duration.

Miss Sadye York has returned to Westerly after several days' visit at the Hotel Kimball, Springfield, Mass.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Some Smiling Pool Gossip

When gossips meet along the way.
They always find a lot to say.
—Old Mother Nature.

This doesn't mean that what they find to say is worth saying. Very often it isn't. Sometimes it would be much better if it were left unsaid. But folk with easy running tongues do dearly love to gossip.

Over at the Smiling Pool, Peter Rabbit sat on the bank. Jerry Muskrat sat on the Big Rock, and on the Smiling Pool itself between them sat Mr. and Mrs. Quack, who had just arrived from the Sunny South where they had spent the winter. Of course, Peter wanted to know all about the feathered folk who had been left in the Sunny South, and of course Mr. and Mrs. Quack wanted to hear all the news of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest.

"Did you see Honker the Goose down there?" asked Peter.

"No," replied Mrs. Quack. "The Honker was not where we were at all."

"Did you find the Sunny South had changed much?" inquired Peter.

Mrs. Quack sighed. "I should say so," said she. "Do you remember that last year when I returned I told you how many of the ponds and lakes had disappeared, because those two-legged creatures called men had drawn the water out of them?"

Peter nodded. "I remember," said he, "Did you find that they had let the water back into some of them this year?"

Mrs. Quack shook her head sadly. "No," said she. "No, indeed. Instead we found that there was less water than before. The place where we spent the winter before was wholly dry this time. We had to hunt up a new place. Once, Mr. Quack and I always knew just where we were going when we started south. But times have changed. Yes, indeed, times have changed. Now, when we go South, we haven't the least idea where we are going. I begin to wonder if there will be any lakes and marshes left. Those that are left are so crowded that it is a wonder more don't starve to death than actually do. And as if all this were not bad enough, the hunters with terrible guns give us no peace before the middle of the winter. For weeks and weeks and weeks we never know that we shall be able to get a mouthful to eat without being in danger from those terrible guns. It's hard on one's nerves, Peter Rabbit."

"Did you see Honker the Goose down there?" asked Peter .. .. ..

"I should say so," said Peter. "If I were you, Mrs. Quack, I wouldn't go south."

"Quack, quack, Peter talk sense," replied Mrs. Quack. "We must eat, and pray what would we eat up here when everything is frozen?"

Peter looked a little foolish and scratched his long ears with his long hindfeet. "That's so," said he. "But you might live at Farmer Brown's house. Farmer Brown's Boy has ducks every year. He had some all winter. Then you will have enough to eat." Peter looked as if he thought this really was a bright idea.

Mrs. Quack shook her head. "Why don't you live there yourself, Peter?" she demanded. "You know you want your freedom. Mr. Quack and I want our freedom just the same way. Farmer Brown's Boy has always treated us kindly, but after all, he is one of those two-legged creatures and it is those two-legged creatures who have made life so hard for Mrs. Quack and myself and all our relatives."

They Built New Strength By Taking

Father John's Medicine

Bernard and James Quinn of 8 Magnolia Ave., Cambridge, Mass., had the whooping cough and lost considerable weight and strength. Their mother, Mrs. James Quinn, says: "I gave my boys Father John's Medicine and the benefit obtained surpassed our hopes. The coughing stopped, they began to eat better and regained the flesh and strength they had lost. I certainly do recommend Father John's Medicine to all families."

Inset in the circle is Marguerite, daughter of Mrs. A. T. Gonyer of Orono, Maine. Mrs. Gonyer writes: "Marguerite had been rather thin and pale when we began giving Father John's Medicine. Since taking it she has grown well and strong and her vitality has returned. I urgently recommend Father John's Medicine to other mothers who wish to build up a run down child."

In millions of homes, from coast to coast, Father John's Medicine is the family medicine for body building—the tonic that old or young may safely take to build new health and strength—because it contains no drugs and has had over 70 years of success.

Barber—No, I guess not. You see I've only been here a year.—Answers.

"Does your wife object to your smoking?"

"No," replied Mr. Meekton; "but she takes a great deal of the pleasure out of it by compelling me to sit in front of the geraniums and blow all the smoke on them to kill the insects."—Tit-Bits.

Alice had learned the story of Columbus at school, and was telling it to her mother.

"An' his ships were named the Miss, the Pinta and—and—"

"Santa Maria," prompted her mother.

"Yes, and the queen's name was—was—"

"Isabella," suggested the mother.

"Mother," demanded Alice, with sudden suspicion, "have you ever heard this story before?"—Western Christian Advocate.

BAKE—CHECK KINDLE

A good cook needs help

IF your range doesn't give you perfect service, your cooking does not do you justice.

A State Crawford Range gives you the kind of help every good cook needs—proper heat for baking, broiling or boiling—which makes good cooking sure. It has the single damper, which has brought fame and success to all Crawford Ranges. It burns coal or wood. It has a mantel back of white enamel, easy to care for and good-looking.

A gas-end oven added to this range will give you a comfortable kitchen all the year—warm in winter, cool in summer. The State gas-end has five top burners, a 16-inch oven for baking, and a convenient broiler—as large as the average separate gas range.

Let us show you the many other good points of the State Crawford, and explain to you the guarantee which goes with every range.

TELLS LIONS BOYS OF TODAY NEED LEADERSHIP THAT IS FINE AND STRONG

With the usual large attendance the weekly luncheon meeting of the Norwich Lions club was held Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel. President William A. Anderson presided and Joseph A. French acted as song leader. Grace was said by Rev. E. C. Dunbar. Several song numbers were sung from the new Lions' club song books which were distributed for the first time Thursday.

Birdie Reeve, 16 year old speed typist, gave a remarkable demonstration of rapid typewriting. She attains a maximum of 300 words a minute. The five minute speaker of the day was Herbert Corey. The attendance contest prize, a bill fold, donated by Peter Ethier, was awarded Rev. E. C. Dunbar. President Anderson introduced as the speaker of the day, Emory H. Davis, boys' secretary at the Y. C. A. and Mr. Davis spoke on The Needs of Boys. In part he said:

I wish it were possible for me in some mysterious way to stand up here before you the entire 3,000 or more boys of Norwich, in order that you might get a glimpse of some of our future leaders. For you know friends, the boy of today is to be the man of tomorrow.

He is the person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is to sit right where you are sitting and attend to those things you think are so important; when you are gone. You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried out depends on him. If you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them. He is going to sit at your desk in the senate and occupy your place on the supreme bench. He will assume control of your cities, states and nation. He is going to move in and take over your prisons, churches, schools, universities and corporations. All your work is going to be judged and praised or condemned by him. Your reputation and your future are in his hands. All your work is for him and the fate of the nation and humanity is in his hands So it might be well to pay him some attention.

Now what are some of the needs of our boys?

Possibly I am not thinking in the same terms that you are. To be sure a few of the outstanding physical needs of our boys are: More supervision where they can play under safe conditions; also more adequate bathing places supervised. But, men, I am far more concerned about some of the more vital influences that are affecting our youth.

While it is true that we ought to do all that is in our power to provide all of these things that are possible yet it is fundamentally important that we give some very serious attention to some of the other phases of our boys' needs.

Strong Leadership.

Boys need adult leadership and advice today more than ever before. Our youth is getting leadership of many kinds on every hand and, gentlemen, I am afraid that we have been thinking too much in terms of providing things for our boys, instead of providing a fine, strong virile type of leadership.

Boys go where we go, and not where we tell them to go. They do what we do, and not so much what we tell them to do. Boys need companionship and influence of a high order.

There comes a time in the life of every boy when he is hungry for companionship, first of his "Dad," and if his "Dad" fails to respond and "come across" he then turns to some one of his heroes and adult examples. and men, that is where the serious question comes in. If that adult happens to be a man of fine sterling character, all's well, but many times such is not the case. The man that is furnishing the leadership many times is doing so wholly unknowingly and unconsciously. Boys have a habit of picking their examples and of following them without telling us about it, which in a way is a little unfair, but nevertheless, true. If we fully realize to what extent we are influencing the coming manhood I really believe that we would seriously stop and check ourselves up pretty strongly.

Roosevelt said, if we are going to do anything for the younger manhood of America that is going to be of lasting value, we must begin long before he becomes a man.

Give Them Good Example.

The great call that is continuously going out from all big business is always an appeal for men and young men of character. Now where are these boys, our boys, going to get this that we call character, and where can they get help to make it. Men, character is something that is caught and not taught. Your lives have been influencing most of these characters that you have been exposed to in the past. Gentlemen, how about the character that you are exposing to your boy, and to other boys in the neighborhood and community? Psychologists tell us that boyhood is the plastic age. We are moulded pretty much by environment. Are we giving careful though to the moulding of our most precious asset, i. e. our boy's character, or are we leaving it pretty much to circumstances and happenstance?

Most of us are far too busy making a living and trying to provide material things for our boys and forgetting the most vital things. What kind of a life am I making?

The meeting closed with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and salute to the flag.

Stand by Your City.

If you think your city's best,
Tell 'em so.
If you'd have it lead the rest,
Help it grow.
When there's anything to do,
Let the fellows count on you—
You'll feel bully, when it's through,
Don't you know.

If you're used to giving knocks,
Change your style;
Throw bouquets instead of rocks
For a while.
Let the other fellow roast.
Shun him as you would a ghost.
Meet his hammer with a boast
And a smile.

When a stranger from afar
Comes along,
Tell him who and what you are—
Make it strong.
Needn't flatter, never bluff,
Tell the truth, for that's enough;
Join the boosters—they're the stuff—
Sing your song!

TEXAS CAPITOL TO FEEL INSTINCTS OF HOUSEWIFE

AUSTIN, Tex., April 1 (AP)—A woman governor's domestic instincts are not necessarily destroyed by affairs of state. Gov. Miriam Amanda Ferguson is considering a little spring house cleaning. Her board of control plans to ask the next legislature for $1,500,000 for repairs on the capitol and the governor's mansion.

A discerning house-wifely eye perceives that almost a century of male rule has done no credit to man's vaunted penchant for keeping his castle in order.

The Texas capitol stands like a Roman battlement magnificent without but crumbling within, while the mansion is plainly a relic of a by-gone age Sam Houston, the George Washington of Texas liberty, built the mansion, and the bed he slept in still stands in the guest room. To say that one has slept in Sam Houston's bed is a coveted boast of overnight guests.

Mrs. Ferguson, however, would rather have a cozy cottage and let someone else have the honorable antiquities, even though the state does allow her $5,500 for fuel, water, ice, lights, telephone, furniture repairs, upkeep of grounds, and two men servants. This doubtful advantage, she believes, is offset by the barnishness of the house, whose huge rooms are almost untenable in winter, because it would take a blast furnace to heat them and a hot fire endangers the structure.

It is in the capitol, however, that Mrs. Ferguson finds conditions most repugnant to orderly housekeeping. This great structure, one of the largest public building in the world, has an exterior which is the delight of tourists but an interior that is the despair of the official family. Its plaster crumbles and its tile floors buckle, while the roof leaks in places and the bare walls are stained by match scratches and the dust of time.

Completed 38 years ago, the building has an imposing exterior of pink granite, as bright and clean as the day it was carved from the nearby mountains. Chicago contractors constructed the building for 3,000,000 acres. The healthful outside appearance, however, has misled men legislators for almost 40 years virtually to ignore its inside needs.

Now the woman governor believes she can show the men a trick or two about housekeeping. The tubs and buckets placed in the senate chamber to catch rain and the wooden supports in the attorney general's office to keep the plaster in place are anything but pleasing, and the expense of hiring a man to devote all his time to repairing the floor is anything but economy.

Mergers of the New York Title and Mortgage Company and the United States Title Guaranty Company into what is said to be the largest institution of its kind in the world, with $20,000,000 capital funds, has been approved by the directors of the companies.

NEW LONDON 'ELKS' OFFICERS INSTALLED BY NEW YORK VISITOR

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 1—Officers of New London lodge of Elks were installed this evening in the presence of as many members of the order as the meeting room in the Elks' home would accommodate. The secretary of the New York lodge was the installing officer. A banquet was followed by an entertainment by vaudeville stars from Boston. Malcolm M. Scott is the new exalted ruler.

WILLIAM G. HOLDRIDGE DIES SUDDENLY AT PRESTON

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 1—William G. Holdridge, a former resident of New London, died this morning at his residence in Preston, death resulting from cerebral hemorrhage. During his long residence in New London, Mr. Holdridge resided on Truman street and 25 years was employed as machinist by the E. Walton Machine company. Mrs. Holdridge died about two years ago and since that time Mr. Holdridge resided in Preston. He is survived by his son, Frederick Holdridge, of Groton.

APRIL FOOL FIRE ALARM A JOKE IN POOR TASTE

NEW LONDON, April 1—A still alarm was responded to by the fire department this afternoon, but no fire was found to combat, and as a result of the incident it is believed that the summoning of the firemen was the result of the work of an April Fool joker. A telephone message was received at the central fire station shortly after 2:30 o'clock, the party talking claiming that a fire existed in the dwelling 114 Shaw street. Fire Chief Charles Rose and the Crawford Hose company responded, but at the Shaw street house no one could be found who had knowledge of the summoning of the firemen and no signs of a fire existed. The house is occupied by George H. Potter and family.

COMPENSATION BOARD LIKELY TO DEFER MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 1—The compensation board of the city, which will hear remonstrances from property owners on Bank street who object to the widening of that highway by the taking of two feet or more from the sidewalks, will be in session at the court chamber tomorrow morning. The board is not ready to announce any manner for there is an understanding that the board will meet and then adjourn to assemble at a later date. There was objection expressed to having the session on a religious holiday, Good Friday, and that objection prevailed, with the result that a tacit understanding was reached that there would be no business before the board other than the mere assembling. The Bank street changes are estimated to cost some $30,000, so naturally the property owners are not all in favor of the move. It is proposed also to double track the highway, with a view to relieving any congestion in traffic such as has been experienced in recent years. The Connecticut company is to pay half the cost of removing the tracks and the placing of another set of rails in the street, but the other expense is to be largely borne by the owners of property, and by other taxpayers who bear the expense if a city shall stand, for in this case the other taxpayers are the "city." How serious the objections to improvements will be is not ascertained. There was very serious objection when the matter was first broached, but of late there has been less heard of it. Next week when the board of compensation gets down to the real business end of its duties, the question will develop or it will disappear altogether.

Today marked the beginning of vacation duty for the police department. The usual duty during the day was performed by Officer Augustus Ray and Sergeant Egan, of duty was taken [illegible] Officer Clarence Martin who is stationed upon to perform this form of duty in place of Officer George Mc[illegible]ney, who is having his vacation.

The funeral of Warren E., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Reeve, was this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the child's parents, [illegible] The services were conducted by Rev. Joseph A. Elder, of the Huntington Street Baptist church. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Ellen V. Gorton has sold a house and lot on Ocean View Place, Ocean Beach, to Sadie Toubis, of Hartford, formerly of London.

Archibald S. MacFarlane has sold a house and lot on Alger Place to George F. Reynolds.

The police signal box, corner of Ocean and Glenwood avenue, is again out of order.

The members of the police department today started on their annual vacations. The officers to begin their recreative respites were Patrolmen Patrick Sheehan, George McCaskey and Henry Hick.

Luther J. Robinson, a former member of the crew of the United States Coast Guard destroyer McCall, state pier, who was taken into custody yesterday afternoon at Danville, Va., at the request of the New London police, who held a warrant charging Robinson with the theft of a watch and chain and gold pocket knife and who waived extradition, will not be brought to New London for trial. Today Acting Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky instructed the police to notify the Danville police that the charges against Robinson had been withdrawn and to release the prisoner. Robinson was accused by Bert Pierson, also a member of the crew of the McCall with the stealing of the jewelry, claiming that the trio of articles were removed from his locker and that no one had left the ship the afternoon of the theft excepting Robinson, who had been paid off and discharged from the service.

The police were summoned to the outskirts of the city this afternoon because of two drunken sailors occupying a portion of the highway and in danger of serious injury by being struck by a passing automobile. When the officers arrived one of the bluejackets had disappeared, but his companion was taken into custody.

Mrs. Catherine Moffatt, of Norwich; Mrs. Harry Meyers, Mystic; Cushing Wade, lugboat Aquidneck, this port; Robert Mathers, Uncasville; Mrs. Joseph Jordan, infant son, Squire street; Mrs. Hannah Daly, 63 Lincoln avenue; Mrs. Mary Barnes, 31 Alger Place; James McDowell, Waterford; Mrs. William Young, Old Mystic and William Williamson, Groton, patients at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital, were dismissed today.

Willard Taylor, a Poquonoc bridge youth of 18, drove over to New London in an automobile owned by his father yesterday but he did not have a license to drive, so that when he became snarled up with a Bay state car Policeman Dorsey demanded a look at the authority that permitted Willard to operate a car. That document Willard did not have so he was ordered to appear in court today. He was on hand and when the facts in the case were stated Judge Prince told Willard he would be obliged to pay $10 for his indiscretion. The youth admitted that he was aware that he should not drive a car without having in his license so to do.

Pedestrians on State street, near the corner of Bank street, had a narrow escape from serious injury this afternoon, especially so did one young woman, when a strip of metal weighing about 20 pounds fell from the top of the building owned by the estate of Charles H. Klinck, corner of State and Bank street. A high wind prevailed throughout the day and shortly after 4 o'clock a man and woman were standing close to the building awaiting the arrival of a trolley car. Suddenly and without any warning the metal strip, was ripped from its support and crashed to the sidewalk the heavy object missing the head of the woman only by inches. The police reported the matter to Building Inspector Hewitt and it is thought that an examination of the structure on the south Chapman street side will be made. Only a year ago a huge strip of timber was ripped from the roof by the wind and landed upon the sidewalk.

The condition of Willis Jones, of Ocean avenue, employed as bank watchman, who has been confined to his home several weeks by influenza, does not improve rapidly and it will be sometime before he can resume his duty.

Mrs. George L. Chaffee 271 Montauk avenue, is in Washington, D. C., where she will spend a month.

Miss Roberta Bigood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. T. Bigood, has returned, having spent several days as the guest of her aunt, Miss Marnda Prentis, in Boston.

Five of the six supernumerary police officers, who were appointed several days ago by City Manager William A. Holt, started police duty this evening. They were members of the 7 o'clock detail that left the police station in charge of Sergeant Samuel Hick. The men assembled at the police station at 6:30 and after being given their equipment, they were addressed at roll call by Lieut. James C. Sullivan, who instructed the men as to their line of duty and what was to be expected of them relative to conduct and behavior and their treatment to citizens in general and taxpayers. The officers to go on duty and who will probably perform regular duty the greater part of the year are George K. Cockell, Walter M. O'Neill, Elwood M. Dailey, Lawrence W. Fardy and Louis H. Wheeler. The officers will continue duty throughout the night until 8 o'clock in the morning when they will return to the police station and answer roll call.

Because of the major portion of misconduct about the city last night being perpetrated by members of the United States Coast Guard and not the sailors from the Submarine Base, no provost guard from the latter military base, was assigned to duty about the city tonight, it having been decided that if the disturbances to occur were made by coast guards, it was for the coast guard authorities to take charge of their men and see that the rowdy tactics were ended. This evening four of the coast guard sailors became engaged in a fight on Federal street and the battle waged so vigorously that the police were notified. Patrolmen Clyde Murphy and Clarence Martin arrested the entire gang. They were locked up and will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning.

Commander F. H. Young, United States Coast Guard, state pier, and residing at 394 Vauxhall street, complained to the police this evening because of the mistreatment of his little son by an unidentified man. According to Com. Young his son and several companions were in front of a store on Vauxhall street and were laughing and joking among themselves. When a patron of the store came out and started to go to his team which was beside the curb, the teamster slapped the Young boy's face and then kicked him. The youth went to his home where he related what had happened and the police were notified. Patrolman Edward Riordan was sent to the home of Com. Young where the boy gave an apparently accurate description of the team, together with a fairly good description of his abuser, and it is possible that the fellow will be detected.

Half a dozen coast guardsmen were arrested this evening for intoxication and breach of the peace. Four of them were engaged in a fight on Federal street and were corralled by the police. This was payday with the sailors and having been confined closely aboard ship they let out when they got ashore with the result that they over-indulged in alcohol and other intoxicants.

Farmers declare that they never knew a season when conditions for getting the ground in readiness for planting were so backward as they are now. Ther is little frost in the top of the ground, but a few inches below the surface there is much frost.

Charles Stetson is to vacate the premises on Willetts avenue where his shop is located. The premises have been leased to an other party and Stetson must leave.

Dealers in women's clothing lament the conditions of weather prevailing in most of the stores there are heavy stocks but the cold is such that sales are few. With snow and ice to the northward and to the south also, there is small chance of mild weather for some days.

There is said to be more sickness in this city now than at any time in recent months. Children have measles and scarlet fever and there is much grip and many colds among older people.

Samuel Park, one of the best known admiralty lawyers in New York is in town to pass the Easter holiday. Mr. Park was prosecutor of the New London police court some 25 years ago.

The severe weather has had the effect of increasing the patronage of the Learned Mission here. The rule is now that all the accommodations are made use of for strangers.

There are to be fewer Easter Monday dances in New London this year than ever before. And the Lenten season was never so open as it has been this year.

Painters have rarely known a better season than they are having at present. They are in demand everywhere and are commanding good wages. The best of the painters are never out of work of they desire employment.

Merchants generally are hoping for milder weather during the next two days. They say that would help business amazingly.

RUM CRAFT REPORTS DISCREDITED HEREABOUTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 1—Reports that there are a number of English vessels off the Boston end of Rum Row and that they are supplying liquor to craft that put out to obtain it, are doubted by coast guardsmen and others here. They claim that there are no vessels with liquor off Montauk and say that if the liquor was to be obtained the craft that had it would be nearer to a market than the vessels are off the Massachusetts coast. Small boats that have been in the vicinity of Rum Row so-called, off Montauk declare that there is no liquor to be had there and they doubt that the reports coming from the eastern end of the row are accurate. They say that no liquor has come ashore from Montauk in a long time and that the carriers of booze are well scared lest they be picked up by the federal enforcement craft. What the bootleggers desire is plenty of alcohol and they say they can make their own whiskey. They declare that nearly all the stuff that is sold for whiskey here and elsewhere is only alcohol and water colored with burnt sugar or caramel. They prefer to get the alcohol and make their own to taking chances of going to Rum Row for liquor of a similar character.

CROSSED WIRES ALARMED TREASURY DEPT GUARDS

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Crossed wires or something played an April fool's prank on treasury department guards when alarms in two money vaults clanged.

For five minutes the richest building in the world was an armed stronghold, with guards and secret service men dashing about in vain search of supposed bandits. When the excitment was over the guards had only the satisfaction of knowing that their defense machinery worked like a clock.

The treasury's daily financial statement shows nearly four billion dollars in gold and silver are in it vaults.

TODAY'S EVENTS

Today is Good Friday, which closes the penitential season preceding the festival of Easter.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Fashion Shop, Plainfield

The millinery business formerly managed by Mrs. M. J. Herbert will hereafter be known as "The Fashion Shop" and will carry a complete line of dresses, coats and hats.

The new manager, Mrs. M. S. Higgins will make frequent trips to New York to purchase fresh merchandise and will offer to the women of Plainfield and vicinity expert shopping service.

Breed Theater

Startling photographic effects, said to keep every audience in a state of wonder or excitement, were achieved in filming the William Fox screen version of Dante's Inferno, which comes to the Breed theater today and tomorrow. Inferno the great literary classis on which the picture is based, describes an imaginary journey made by the great Italian poet through Hell, where he saw the souls of mortals being punished according to the nature of their sins while on earth. It is reported that the Fox picture has followed the poem with fidelity. Henry Otto directed.

Other pictures on the bill include the ninth chapter of The Green Archer, the Pathe news and an educational comedy. Coming Sunday, The Lost World.

Broadway Theater

One of the most pleasing attractions of the whole repertoire of the Myrkle-Harder company is "The Love Bandit," which will be presented here at the Saturday matinee and evening performances to be given by this popular organization. This play is a gripping story with scenes laid in the city of New York, and also in the deep woods of the northern country, and its characters are of a type to be found in each of these widely separated environments. Amy Van Claton is a "blue blood," and Jim Blazes, the fearless young lumber jack, who has worked himself upward until he is the president of a great lumber corporation, a "red blood," clear through, nothing more or less, but he is ambitious to be something even greater than the head of a lumber company, he wants to be the husband of a wife who has genuine refinement, of real "blue blood" stock. Amy, through reverses of the family fortune, goes out into the world to seek a living, and he comes the secretary of the lumber company's president. And this young man falls desperately in love with her. But she will have none of him, though a chain of fateful circumstances finally brings about a wedding of the pair, but her heart is not his, not yet. Jim, however is not the type that gives too easily and before the play is ended, well, it should be seen to be appreciated, and a delightful two hours of entertainment is promised all who are planning to be present when is pleasing play is presented. The play to be presented today at the Broadway theater is Lowell Sherman's powerful play "The Good Bad Woman" at both matinee and evening shows.

Broadway, Sunday

A true, sound, agreeable little melodrama has moved into the Astor and begun presenting itself on the screen which until lately has been occupied principally with the subterranean adventures of Lon Chaney and "The Phantom of the Opera." This "His People" also is a product of the Universal work shops. It brings the first appearance of Rudolph Schildkraut in the films, and gives to the screen a performance by this gifted actor (the father of Joseph) which is as suggestive of the Wallachian music master as anything which has been seen in these parts in months.

Mr. Laemmle finds himself the possessor of a drama of life in the darker corners which is almost certain to make a strong bid for popularity.

Much of its success will be due to the extraordinary acting of the leading player, and for those who have been fortunate enough to sit before the stage playing by Mr. Schildkraut it will not seem so remarkable that he has done well in "His People."

I think Mr. Schildkraut's work in speech. Also George Lewis, as the prizefighter, is a juvenile I have not seen before, but one who, if I am any thing of a picker, will for at least ought to) attract the attention of his employers and be cast in other and more important parts.

Capitol Theater, Willimantic

Bringing Up Father in Gay New York, the last word in modern musical comedies, will be the next attraction at the Capitol theater, Willimantic, Wednesday, April 7 matinee and night. Based on the famous George McManus cartoons, the new offering has been acclaimed one of the best presented in many seasons. A genuine laugh-compelling vehicle, the kind that is certain to perpetuate the popularity of Jiggs, Maggie, Dinty Moore and the rest of the Mahoney clan, whose antics and escapades are daily chronicled in the leading newspapers throughout the United States. This time Father comes into his own, but only after he has outwitted Maggie in her mad and temporary successful authority over the worse henpecked husband and Father in captivity. A Father show without a bevy of pretty young women forming a champion beauty chorus would not be complete. This year the pulchritude end of the contribution has been described as superior to similar offerings of previous seasons, which means that each succeeding year, and this is the tenth, witnesses the "best ever." As a rule these promises have been kept; and if the new play lives up to advance publicity very few of the patrons of the Capitol theater will be disappointed.

Real Estate Sold

Joseph K. Panek and Nycholas Tymcheck, real estate agents, have sold for Jennie, Abraham and Benjamin Schulman their farm with all equipment, better known as Brewster's farm in Poquetanuck. The new owners are Amelia and Anthony Mitnik.

The same agents have sold for Mrs. Thomas J. Dodd a four-tenement house, known as 88 Roath St., to Frank Praelucki and John Bukowski. The new owners purchased the property for residence and investment.

Palace Theatre

Six great acts of vaudeville headed by Birdie Reeves, sensational child wonder who has given some remarkable demonstrations in town and who thrilled and entertained the audience at the Palace yesterday, as the master of the English language and the fastest typist in the world. Some of her stunts at the typewriter seem almost humanly impossible. With apparent ease she writes three hundred words a minute—at the same time quoting extracts from speeches of famous men. The Blue Danbes a comedy quartet with another sensation David Merritt Carlyle the radio tenor who has an exceptionally good voice went well with the audience yesterday. The surprise novelty of the bill is the La Temples who carry pretty near a carload of paraphernalia. James & Esther a singing and dancing team, Richard & Grey offer a comedy novelty and make up the rest of the bill. On the screen D. W. Griffith's "Way Down East" is seen again and those who have not seen the picture will see it as it was originally presented and those who have will enjoy seeing it again.

Coming to the Palace

No heavyweight champion boxer ever trained more earnestly for a battle in defense of his title than Richard Dix trained to prepare himself physically for the role of the Indian hero in "The Vanishing American." Zane Grey's epic of the red man which will be shown on Sunday next at the Palace theatre.

In the screen story Dix appears as a Navajo Indian—one of the 10,000 Navajos who take part in "The Vanishing American."

As soon as the star received word that he was to play the part of Nophaie he began a training siege so severe as to make the fall grind of a college fullback resemble a vacation by comparison. For weeks he devoted practically eight hours daily to boxing wrestling, riding, swimming and roadwork.

Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Malcolm McGregor are featurged with Dix in "The Vanishing American," which was directed by George B. Seitz. Lucien Hubbard adapted the story and Ethel Doherty wrote the continuity. In addition to the featured players the cast includes George Magrill, Shannon Day, Charles Crockett and Bert Woodruff.

STATISTICS OF CHURCH COMMUNICANTS IN THE U. S.

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—The number of members and communicants of churches in America increased 800,000 during 1925 according to the annual census of the Christian Herald made public today. The grand total at the end of the year was 46,883,756. The Methodists lead the increases, taking the place usually held by the Roman churches.

The census shows an increase of 186 church buildings as against a decrease in the year before of 12, the first decrease in the country's history in the belief of the compiler. The total at the end of the year was 236,964. The number of ministers increased 2,066, bringing the total to 216,073.

Of finances, the census reports that many large churches reported a decrease in missionary income, believed to be the natural reaction to unusual efforts to enlarge incomes after the war. Annual reports of the United Stewardship council show an income for current expenses and benevolences for two dozen or more of the larger denominations, aggregating over 22,000,000 members to be gradually rising. The grand total for 1925 was $463,871,673, all voluntary contributions.

The greatest increase in communicants or members was shown by the Methodist group which reported a gain of 220,183. The western Catholic bodies were second with an increase of 203,990, the smallest in several years, which is explained by restriction of immigration from Catholic countries and the fact that Catholic returns do not come in annually. The Catholic bodies still lead in number of communicants by almost double the largest other church, the Methodist. Census totals are: Western Catholic, 16,156,914; Methodist, 8,920,196.

The Baptists are third, with an increase of 104,396, giving them a total of 8,397,914. The disciples of Christ showed the next largest gain, 90,493, as compared with 62,520 by the Presbyterians and 42,485 for the Lutherans although its number of members or communicants is some 800,000 less than the latter two, it having a total of 1,759,399 as against 2,561,936 and 2,546,127. All the other groups are under 1,000,000 in number of members or communicants and showed gains of less than 10,000.

The only group to show a decrease during the year was the Friends, composed of four bodies, which reported a loss of 549 members or communicants. They were the 13th group in the list, having a total at the end of the year of 115,628.

PILGRIMS IN JERUSALEM FOR EASTER CELEBRATIONS

JERUSALEM, April 1—(AP)—Exalted in the memory and imagination of Jew, Christians and Mohammedans, Jerusalem again is filling with thousands of pilgrims and tourists as the annual Easter celebrations draw near.

The faithful, traveling by train and automobile, on animal and afoot through the orange and banana groves from Jaffa and the Jordan valley, across the plain of Sharon, past enormous cactus and eucalyptus trees, all are alike in their sincerity. The Moslems are coming to pray where Mohammed prayed, the Jews to weep beside the walls of their vanished temple, while the Christians are gathering around the place of the crucifixion.

Members of the American missionary and relief societies are vying with the hospices and convents in extending hospitality to tourists from the homeland. The American near east relief, which already has welcomed 7,000 American tourists to the holy land this season, has arranged to have groups of American pilgrims escorted to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and the Mount of Olives by children from its orphanages at Bethlehem and Nazareth.

In spite of the inroads of modernity Jerusalem at the Easter season still seems the most picturesque place in the near east. Intermingled with its multitudes of modern bootblacks are its blue-robed peasant women, Greek priests in stove-pipe hats, Moslem women still veiled, Arabs in their flowing robes of brown and white and American tourists in cork helmets and golf suits.

Easter Sunday will be the climax to a week of prayers and tolling of bells, and the city and its guests will join the Via Dolorosa to jostle together under the great black dome of the sepulchre and, holding lighted candles, cry, "Christ is risen!"

GLOOMY PROSPECTS FOR BRITISH COAL INDUSTRY

LONDON, April 1.—(AP)—Prospects for a peaceful settlement in the British coal industry at the conclusion of the present truce were gloomy tonight. The rather fragile hope entertained by the government that the mine owners and miners would be able to reach a peaceful agreement based on the recommendations contained in the coal commission's report seems doomed to disappointment, although the government, striving to assist a settlement, has undertaken temporarily to continue the coal subsidy after April under the guise of a state loan.

The mine owners today submitted to the miners' federation their detailed reply to the commission's recommendations. This will be discussed by a meeting of delegates of the federation next Friday.

The two positions, however, continue far apart. The owners want reduction of wages, abolition of the existing national minimum in favor of district minimum wages varying according to local circumstances and the readjustment of working hours. The miners refuse to accept any of these. Therefore it becomes evident that the government will be compelled to exert pressure to secure an agreement.

Representatives of the miners were talking tonight of the prospect of a dangerous crisis in May, when the government's coal subsidy ceases.

SEARCHING FOR BOSTON JEWELRY MANUFACTURER

BOSTON, April 1—(AP)—A widespread search was in progress tonight for Malcom G. Fleming, youthful president of Fleming and [illegible] Newark, N. J., jewelry manufacturers, who dropped from sight in Boston two weeks ago. Searchers faced an apparently clueless mystery for police, relatives and business associates discovered only yesterday that Fleming was missing. The end of the first day's search revealed no clues but only a puzzling set of circumstances.

Fleming, it was disclosed, called upon Sanger and company, wholesale jewelers on March 19. He left a sample case containing jewelry valued at thousands of dollars, and a grip containing clothing. He said he would return in about an hour. He has not been since then.

A man still gives a dollar for a 50-cent article that he wants. A woman will give 40 cents for a 50-cent article that she doesn't want.

TWO MASTED SCHOONER ASHORE ON LONG ISLAND

SOUTHWET HARBOR, Me.—(AP)—A two masted lumber schooner was ashore on Long Island and breaking up in heavy seas, a report from Swan's Island, nearby, said tonight. The crew was landed safely on Long Island by fishermen.

Coast guardsmen who started for the wreck were forced to put back here because of the heavy sea running outside. No details of the rescue could be learned tonight as there is no wire communication with Long Island.

Complying with a senate resolution, the biological survey will make a thorough investigation and report on the recent sale and transfer of 338 elk from Montana to Massachusetts.

George A. Muir of New York bought the stock exchange seat of Fisher, A. Buell for $135,000 yesterday. The previous sale was $150,000.

NOTICE!

STOCKHOLDERS — PATRONS OF THE PALACE THEATRE

THE MANY FRIENDS OF MINE IN NORWICH:

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

The Board of Directors of the Norwich Amusement Co. You know them all well.

WATCH WHAT THEY ARE GOING TO DO NOW!

They're going to get an order from the court to KICK ME OUT OF THE PALACE and here's the inside story:

I came here in November in 1924 and put $5,000 into the Palace Theatre and $5,000 into the Norwich Amusement Company, worked hard to give you good shows, tried my best to please you, even though working under trying conditions and petty interference on the part of the directors. Finally, last summer, when I wouldn't agree to a plan of theirs that would in my opinion ruin my investment they adopted a very hostile attitude. The treasurer going so far as to

REFUSE TO SIGN CHECKS

for legitimate bills and finally

OUR TELEPHONE WAS TAKEN OUT and wasn't put back for several months.

NEXT—WHEN THE FILM COMPANIES WERE MOVING OUT OF CONNECTICUT

they refused to let me buy films in excess of $1,000, knowing it might possibly close the theatre.

YOU CAN SEE THEY WERE TRYING TO MAKE IT PLEASANT FOR ME.

I WAS OBLIGED TO TAKE OVER THE FUNDS OF THEATRE BECAUSE THEY WOULDN'T PAY BILLS and they have continually harassed me in numerous ways.

Furthermore Norwich Amusement Co. had $1,600 on deposit at the Norwich Savings Society. This was withdrawn without my knowledge. I haven't space enough to tell you half of what I have gone through with these gentlemen.

THEY ARE GOING TO GET ME OUT TEMPORARILY. I'M COMING TO YOU WITH MY STORY because after all is said and done the power is in your hands.

I invested $10,000 here in this business in cash. I have taken practically no salary. I have tried to give you good shows. In the opinion of all I have talked to, better than any previous management of this theatre offered

YOU WILL KNOW I DIDN'T GO OUT WILLINGLY, IF I CAN GET PERMISSION FROM THE CHIEF OF POLICE

I'm going to tell my story in detail on the street tomorrow night. If I don't have the chance to talk to you again, thank you all for your many kindnesses.

E. L. McEVOY.

STOCK MARKET FIRM

NEW YORK, April 1—(AP)—Stock prices maintained a firm undertone today despite intermittent selling by professional traders who had bought stocks "for a turn" in the two preceding sessions. Closing quotations disclosed some irregularity, a long list of gains ranging from 1 to 5 points being counteracted by a shorter list of corresponding net losses. Trading showed a further reduction in volume, the day's sales aggregating 1,864,000 shares, as compared with 2,576,200 yesterday and 3,317,700 the day before.

Lightening of the call money rate, reflecting the return flow of funds withdrawn from the New York market during the past 10 days, helped to revive speculative confidence. The day's trade news also was conservative in character, the chief item being a report that mills of the U. S. Steel Corporation were operating practically at capacity, the announcement of John D. Ryan that the business of the American Brass company broke all records for the first quarter and publication of several favorable earnings statements by motor car and oil companies.

Oil shares received strong buying support today on trade predictions of record breaking gasoline consumption this year. Atlantic Refining scored an extreme gain of 4 1-2 points at 106 and others yielded sizably on profit taking, while net gains of 1 to 2 points were recorded by California Petroleum, Pan-American Petroleum, Texas Pan-American Western, Skelly and Sinclair preferred.

Most of the standard industrials recorded moderate gains on the day. U. S. Steel common showed an extreme gain of 2 points by touching 123 and then sagged back to 122 1-8 on realizing. American Telephone, Du Pont and the preferred, North American common, Sears Roebuck and Texas Gulf Sulphur showed net gains of 1 to 3 points.

The wave of profit taking materially reduced or cancelled the early gains in the motor shares. Hudson fell from 79 1-2 to 77 1-8 Mack Trucks from 112 1-2 to 110 1-4 and Chrysler from 35 to 33 1-2.

Bear traders made another unsuccessful attempt to unsettle the general list by hammering the railroad equipment shares. American Locomotive tumbled from 86 7-8 to 82 and rebounded to 83 1-4, off 2 3-4. Baldwin dropped from 101 to 97 5-8 and then rallied to 98 where it was up nearly 1 point on the day.

Active buying developed in several railroad shares, particularly Delaware & Hudson, Lackawanna, Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific, all of which showed net gains of more than a point. Chesapeake and Ohio was heavily offered by traders but yesterday had bought the stock for the $6 cash dividend, which is to be paid today, the closing quotation of 116 representing a net loss of 2 points. Southern Railway and Louisville & Nashville also were heavy.

Call money renewed at 5 per cent. and was 4 1-2 and thence to 4, closing at the bottom. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with most of the principal rates showing an easier undertone. Demand sterling ruled around $4.85 3-4 and French francs around 3.45 cents.

NORWICH, CONN., FRIDAY, APRIL 2, 1926

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DESPATCHES

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Friday, April 2, 1926

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The northeastern storm is now central near Eastport, Maine, where the barometer reads 29.34 inches and the far western disturbance has remained almost stationery over the plateau and southern Rocky Mountain regions.

The western disturbance will advance slowly eastward or northeastward during the next two days and it will probably be attended by rain in the lower Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys Friday afternoon or night and snow or rain on Saturday in the north Atlantic states and rain in the middle Atlantic states.

The temperature will rise slowly Friday in southern sections east of the Mississippi river and it will not change materially on Saturday.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook and Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Diminishing west and northwest winds and generally fair Friday.

Forecast

For southern New England: Fair Friday; Saturday increasing cloudiness, probably followed by rain on the coast and rain or snow in the interior; not much change in temperature.

Observations

7 a. m.	38	29.30
12 m.	42	29.27
8 p. m.	38	29.30

Highest 42, lowest 38.

Predictions for Thursday: Cloudy.

Thursday's weather: Cloudy, snow flurries, cold wind.

TAFTVILLE

Lenten services were held in the Methodist church Wednesday evening. This is the regular midweek service of the church calendar there. Rev. Mr. Bolen, pastor of the Methodist church, Baltic, was the speaker. Rev. Mr. Bolen has been a resident of Taftville for many years and has a host of friends here. Rev. Mr. Bolen's subject was "Christ's Passion." Special music was rendered by the choir.

NORWICH TOWN

With the spring season of the Norwich and southern district conference of South Manchester, beginning Wednesday, April 7th, and continuing for a week until the following Monday, April 14th, it is expected the Rev. Mr. Aldrich will be released as pastor of the Norwich Town church. Rev. Mr. Aldrich is planning to attend the sessions, which will be announced during the conference. Friends of Rev. and Mrs. Aldrich and family, who are soon to move from Norwich Town, regret the departure.

The Sheltering Arms service Easter Sunday afternoon will be under the direction of the choir of Mt. Calvary Baptist church, and the singing of that course. Rev. Mr. Dunn

THREE FORECLOSURE SUITS IN SUPERIOR COURT

Three foreclosure suits were included in the list of suits for the superior court which were filed Thursday at the office of the clerk of the court.

Foreclosure of a mortgage for $4,-750, dated Aug. 5, 1920, on property on Seams street, New London, is sought in a suit brought by Henry B. Bates of Preston against Antonio Di Maggio, alias Orazio Di Maggio and Vincenzo Di Maggio, alias Frank, alias Francesco Di Maggio, both of New London.

Foreclosure of a $4,500 mortgage, dated Oct. 24, 1917 on land on Canterbury turnpike road, Norwich, is sought in a suit brought by Morris Studd against Joseph P. Duhaime, Abraham Studd and Mary Duhaime, all of Norwich. Payments on the mortgage have reduced it so that it is claimed there was $400 due and unpaid on Oct. 29, 1925. Abraham Studd, one of the defendants, claims a $2,000 mortgage on the premises, Mary Duhaime claims an attachment lien for $2,000, and Wilfred Smith claims an oral lease given in 1926.

John and Mary Nell, husband and wife, of Griswold sue for foreclosure of a mortgage for $2,150, dated May 9, 1924, against William H. and Ellen L. Pierce, husband and wife, of Montville. The property is in the town of Griswold.

Heard Three Motions Argued

A two-hour hearing took place in the superior court at New London Wednesday before Judge Allyn L. Brown in the case of the H. G. Craig & Co., Ltd., and others against the Uncas Paper Board Co., in which arguments were heard on three motions. One was on the application of John G. G. Kerry, who recently purchased the plant, on taxes, another no lease of receiver to Connecticut Co. and the third on land condemned by highway department. Attorney Frank L. McGuire represented Mr. Kerry and Attorney Arthur T. Keefe the paper board company. The judge took the papers and reserved decision.

A burden of approximately $14,000,000 was lifted from taxpayers of New York state yesterday when Governor Smith signed the Phelps 25 per cent. tax reduction bill and recent increase in federal income tax exemptions.

SUES FOR SCALDING RECEIVED IN UNUSUAL SORT OF ACCIDENT

The following new suits for the superior court were filed Thursday at the office of the clerk of the court, Judge George E. Parsons, in this city.

Raymond C. Brittin of Norwich sues the Robert Gair Co., of New York, operating a paper mill in Montville, for $5,000 damages for injuries received by Brittin, on March 6, 1925, when he was station agent for the Central Vermont railroad company at Montville. While walking at a point about 200 yards south of the depot, Brittin broke through the ground into a hole which it is claimed was caused by the undermining of the ground by leaking steam from a pipe of the paper mill which ran under the railroad tracks from one part of the mill to another. In breaking through the ground Brittin was precipitated into the hole over the steam pipe and before he could escape from the excavation his right leg and foot were severely burned. Because of his injuries he lost 16 weeks' pay amounting to $[illegible].20.

icked By Horse

Damages of $5,000 are sought by Fishel Slopak of Colchester against Nathan and Gussie Schwartz of that town for injuries he received when kicked by a horse on Nov. 11, 1925. The horse that kicked him was one that the defendants had placed with the palaintiff for trial with a view to purchase by the plaintiff. It is claimed that Schwartz guaranteed the animal to be sound and kind, when he knew it was a vicious and dangerous animal.

Samuel Ginsberg of New London, who was riding on the rear seat of the automobile of D. M. Parker of New London at Hilliard, Florida, on Dec. 21, 1925, sues Parker for $7,500 damages for injuries Ginsburg received in an automobile accident. The machine driven by Parker ran into another automobile through the negligence of Parker, it is claimed, and Ginsberg was thrown out. He suffered a broken nose, split lip, loosened teeth and facial disfigurement and was incapacitated from attending to his occupation as a laborer for a long time.

Sues For Painting House

Alevand Dunn of New London is the plaintiff in a suit against John E. Dart, administration of the estate of Annie Dart, claiming $1,500 in damages on a charge against the estate for painting and decorating the Dart house at 70 Montauk avenue, New London. The work was done, it is claimed between Nov. 1922 and July, 1925, for which Annie Dart agreed to pay $800 to Dunn.

Suit in the common counts for $900 is brought by Mohegan Dairy Co., of New London, against Helen P. Keiles and S. Patterson, Inc.

Suit for $4,500 damages has been brought on the common counts against Lemis Realty Co., Inc., of New London by Hugh F. Lena of that city.

LEBANON CHURCHES TO HAVE REVIVAL SERVICES

Lebanon is astir again over another coming church affair. Last October people from all over the state made a pilgrimage to the old First Congregational church to attend its one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary. It was a big day. But "big days" every century or so do not make a church, nor do they contribute as much as is desired to the spiritual life of the community, so the local ministers think. Churches must deal with the present and build for the future. The times are ripe for another "spiritual awakening" again in Lebanon. The last real evangelistic meeting was held about a quarter of a century ago when Rev. Mr. Greenwood was there as a special speaker. Rev. Andrew G. Litchfield, pastor of the Baptist church, and Rev. Stanley Sellon, pastor of the Congregational church, have been leading their congregations in union prayer meetings for a number of weeks in preparation

An interesting feature of the services will be special evenings given over to organizations which will attend in a body. Monday night will be Christian Endeavor night, Tuesday night the American men will attend in a body; Wednesday is called "Ladies' Aid" evening, on Thursday night the grange will close their meeting and attend church.

The evangelist for the work is Rev. Frederick H. Jacobs, pastor of the First Congregational church of South Norwalk. Mr. Jacobs is a very gifted speaker and has done a wonderful work in his community. Mr. Jacobs is a graduate of Butler university, Indianapolis, and Yale Divinity school. The local ministers will led the devotional services and furnish the special music.

The meetings will be held in the Congregational church. Pastors and members of neighboring congregations of all denominations are invited to join in the meeting.

MASSACHUSETTS PUT LOAD LIMIT ON SOME ROADS

The Connecticut state motor vehicle department has received from the Massachusetts department of public works a list of Massachusetts highways on which any vehicle which, with its load, weighs more than 10,000 pounds, is prohibited from being operated during certain periods of this season except by a special permit. The restrictions are made presumably to protect highways at the season of the year when they are most susceptible to damage from excessively loaded trucks.

The state board of public roads of Rhode Island has also furnished a list of restricted highways, giving the maximum weight of vehicles and loads allowed on different stretches of highway in that state, but the Rhode Island restrictions will probably be removed in a few days. They have been in effect in that state since March 4.

Restrictions on some of the Massachusetts highways will extend to May 1; on smoe to April 17 and on others to April 24. The list, subdivided into its proper classification by counties, is too long for general publication in this state. It is on file in the Connecticut department at the state capitol, however, and persons desiring information or copies of the list are requested to communicate with the Connecticut department or the Massachusetts Department of Public Works, State House, Boston. The Rhode Island list is also on file at Hartford, for the benefit of any who may desire information with respect to it.

The Massachusetts department of Public works, in cases where it deems it advisable is issuing permits for individual commercial vehicles permitting them to carry a load not in excess of 500 pounds per inch width of tires but not to excess a maximum of 420,000 pounds, including the weight of the vehicle.

WRITES OF WORK OF CONNECTICUT FOREST GUIDES

The following article by F. A. Benton of this city, appeared in the "Wooden Nutmeg," Connecticut Department of Forestry for March, 1926.

During the past two years Mr. Benton was employed by the State Forestry department to visit various Scout councils throughout the state and interest the executives and scouts in the work, with the result of the increase in forest guides as shown by the statistics below:

Connecticut Forest Guides.

The Boy Scouts of America are cooperating with the Connecticut forestry department in the prevention and the fighting of forest fires, and also, in other ways as shown by the following list of forest guides appointed by State Forester Austin F. Hawes, upon the recommendation of local scout executives:

Centerbrook 2, Danbury 3, Bristol 34, Hartford 44, Litchfield 2, Meriden 20, Naugatuck 18, Middletown 23, New London 26, Norwich 44, Stamford 15, Torrington 15, Ridgefield 1, Willimantic 2, total 249

The guides are required to sign a pledge, promising to protect and conserve our forest trees, wild plants, birds and harmless animals; to urge others to do likewise; to be careful with fires at all times and in all places; and when called upon to put out fires in their immediate vicinity. Each guide is given a badge and a certificate signed by the state forester by which he may be recognized as a guide.

The duties of Connecticut forest guides are the following: To patrol fire hazards during the picnic camping and hunting seasons, to tag autos parked in the woods by hunters and campers warning them about leaving camp fires burning, etc., posting fire warnings, distributing literature pertaining to forestry preventing fires and aiding in putting them out when called upon to do so.

Excellent service has been shown by the scouts and guides in the past two years in the above duties. Norwich scouts aided in extinguishing eight fires in the spring of 1925, and one troop constructed a lookout tower in the top of a large hickory tree in Norwich Town, where scouts scanned the country for miles around during the fire season.

It would be well if other scout councils would adopt the guide plan, and the number of fire might be considerably minimized in the future.

This is a service along the line of the scout "Good Turn" and tends to interest the boy, who will soon be a citizen of the commonwealth, in civic service, as well as aiding the state in preservin its future assets.

F. A. BENTON,
Fire Warden, Norwich, Conn.

HAD INTERESTING TRIP TO SOUTH AMERICA

Mrs. John Rush of 108 West Thames street has just returned home after a delightful two months trip to South America. She accompanied her daughter, Mrs. R. Waldo Repetto, to the latter's home in Buenos Aires late in January. She has also visited Rio de Janeiro, Sugar Loaf Mountain, Santos and Montivideo, beside many other interesting places.

When your child has Croup

IN cases of spasmodic croup or kiddies' colds, the child's suffering and your anxiety will find quick relief through the soothing, healing, medicated vapors of Vicks VapoRub.

When Vicks is rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime it acts in two ways at once:—

(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages and lungs, loosening the phlegm and easing the cough; and

(2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain.

Colds are usually better by morning and croup is often relieved with one application.

OFFERS TWO COURSES ON BIBLE FOR TEACHERS

In the teacher training course which is to begin next week under the auspices of the Norwich council of Religious Education four courses are to be offered. Two of the courses are on the Bible. Prof. Warmingham's class in a study of the Prophets of Israel and Judah will get a view of these ancient preachers and their sermon from the standpoint of their own times, and so will be in a position to rightly estimate the contribution which these preachers made to the social and spiritual life of the nation.

In the same hour Mr. Denny will take his class into the new testament and in the ten lessons he will conduct his pupils through the first Christian century among the peoples and times where the foundations of the Christian religion were laid.

Each instructor will conduct two classes every evening. In the second hour Mr. Denny will take up the future, training and expression of the devotional life. Prof. Warmingham at the same time will conduct a study of the great world religions of the past and present. Prof. Warmingham is especially qualified to bring out the genius of the various religions of the world, coming as he does from his native land in India with the Oriental view point combined with western education.

DIVORCE SUITS FILED FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Four divorce suits were among the new suits filed Thursday for the superior court and returnable in April.

Divorce from John W. Randall, formerly of Groton, now of parts unknown, is sought by Elsie Fletcher Randall of Groton. She married the defendant Dec. 10, 1922 at Stonington and she alleges intolerable cruelty since Feb. 1, 1925. She asks for change of name.

Max Dreher of New London asks divorce from Alice Sizer Wilcox Dreher of that city on the ground of desertion, Feb. 22, 1923. They were married July 3, 1918.

Edwin A. Himel of New London is made defendant in a divorce action instituted by Florence Caswell Himel. They were married on March 31, 1925, and intolerable cruelty is charged since May 1, 1925.

Florence Johnson Oswald of Uncasville is being sued for a divorce by Henry A. Oswald of New London. The couple were married on June 22, 1919, and desertion is alleged May 22, 1922.

SIX FATAL ACCIDENTS IN STATE IN WEEK

HARTFORD, April 1.— (AP) —Six fatal accidents were included in the 232 major crashes reported to the state motor vehicle department last week. The victims in these accidents were Walter Allert, of Stamford; Edward Murphy, of Riverside; Elias Glaubinger, of Bozrahville; Alice Baron, of Bridgeport; Manuel Rodreres, of Hartford, and Andrew Bowman, of Norwalk.

Twelve cities reported 178 of the total number of accidents, Hartford leading all cities with 43. Other reports were: New Haven, 34; Bridgeport, 33; Waterbury, 15; New Britain 11; New London, 7; Stamford, 10. Meriden, 5; Winsted, 1; Norwich, 4; Norwalk, 2, and Greenwich, 8. There were no accidents in Middletown and Danbury, according to the reports.

GAVE DEMONSTRATION OF CATERPILLAR TREAD GRADER

Selectmen and other officials from Montville, Putnam, Moosup and this city witnessed a demonstration of a Fordson tractor, with caterpillar tread, Thursday afternoon on Asylum street. The machine is one that has been sold by the I. E. Bogue Co., to the contractor who is doing the work on the highway improvement and is designed as a road grader with scarifier scraper.

The machine came up the Asylum street hill from Starr street without difficulty, having the scraper down full length, a bit of work which Street Commissioner John C. Donovan said the big city trucks were never able to do unless about half the width of the scraper was used. At the corner of Newton and Asylum streets the caterpillar tractor showed its power in cutting down a large hump that has been raised in the macadam surface of the street. The tractor bit into the hard macadam and pushed its way through without a halt, giving a convincing demonstration of its power. The machine weighs 7,600 pounds and the claim is made for it that it surpasses in economy and effectiveness of operation scrapers and graders of much greater size.

CHAPMAN'S FATE WILL BE DEFINITELY DECIDED TODAY

In Hartford Today Judge Jennings Will Look Over What the Attorneys For the Convicted Man Have—It is Generally Conceded That Judge Jennings Will Refuse to Grant a New Trial—Such Action Will Leave the Condemned Man With Virtually No Further Hope of Escaping the Gallows.

WETHERSFIELD PRISON, Conn., April 3—(AP)—With his span of life shortened to seventy-two hours at midnight, Gerald Chapman, murderer and mail robber, spent the afternoon quietly reading a magazine.

He was stretched out on his cot with the magazine in front of him when Joseph M. Freedman, of his defense staff, called to inform him of the court action contemplated tomorrow by which it is hoped to obtain a new trial.

Chapman threw his magazine on the cot and went to the door of the cell when Freedman, accompanied by Deputy Warden George H. Starr, appeared.

The condemned man was greatly concerned over the refusal of three United States supreme justices to grant a stay of execution yesterday at Washington on the application of Ray M. Wiley, of the defense staff.

"What were their reasons for turning it down?" Chapman asked.

Mr. Freedman told him that he had better wait until Mr. Wiley came to see him tomorrow and get the information first hand. He then told Chapman of the affidavit sworn to by Harry C. Peck of Canton, Conn., who says he heard Juror Walter S. Case say that he wished he could get on the murder jury and help hang Chapman, before the trial ever started.

"What kind of a man is Mr. Peck?" Chapman asked.

"He's a highly respectable citizen."

"That's fine," Chapman said. "That's fine."

They continued their conversation for a moment and then Chapman said "Excuse me a minute."

He turned to the table behind him and got a cigarette.

"Mr. Warden, may I have a light?" he asked Mr. Starr.

He lit the cigarette and then sat down in the arm chair with which his cell had been provided.

Freedman then went over the details of tomorrow's action spending about 35 minutes with the condemned man.

Chapman realizes that after tomorrow there is no hope for him except through the board of pardons or another visit to the governor, Freedman said. The board of pardons does not convene again until May 4, although a special session may be called by the governor when and where occasion may require. The statutes say that "all members of the board of pardons must be unanimous in order to make their judgment operative."

It is generally conceded that should Judge Newell Jennings, who presided during Chapman's murder trial in superior court, refuse to grant Chapman a new trial tomorow, when his attorneys go before him with new evidence that the condemned man will have virtually no further hope of escaping the gallows.

Judge Jennings has told the attorney that he would simply "look over what they have" in the way of new evidence and then decide whether or not that he would hear it in a motion for a new trial. He has three courses of action. He could refuse to hear the new evidence which would keep the case out of court, he could agree to hear the evidence and then overrule it or having heard it he could order a new trial. In case the attorneys got the case into the court and then had their motion for a new trial over-ruled, they would appeal to the supreme court. It would then be up to the governor again to decide whether he would reprieve Chapman pending disposition of the appeal.

MYSTIC GAME WARDEN DISCOUNTS APE STORY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 2.—(AP)—George Denison, Mystic, Conn., game warden, after a day's search of Horace D. Hiner's farm in Taugwank, near Stonington, Conn., declared this morning that he was convinced the hairy creature in trousers reported seen a number of times about the place is no ape man or zoological rarity, but merely a prospective purchaser of the farm, dressed up in a fur coat, and endeavoring by his antics to frighten away the two orphaned sisters, who inherited the farm by the death of their father three weeks ago, so that they will sell cheaply.

"Everything quiet," he reported. "I didn't see anything or hear anything. That's how goes out there again with the skin of an animal over his head. they are going to put the lead to him. I wouldn't want to try it again if I were he."

The Miner girls, Muriel, aged 19, and Mildred, aged 16, are armed and ready to shoot, he said and other residents of the neighborhood also have their shotguns at hand and will brook no ape man real estate tactics in the vicinity in the future.

The fur-and-pants creature has succeeded in frightening Frank Miller, hired farm hand from the place despite the stoical attitude of his youthful employers. "You won't catch me coming back, either," he declared. The Miner sisters, however, insist that they are not afraid and that they will retain and till the acres of the Miner homestead.

The curious rumors from Taugwank have attracted scores of curious investigators. The Miner sisters have been obliged to put up a no trespass sign on their farm. They say the condition of the North Stonington roads has saved them much annoyance as many would-be investigators have become stuck in the mud and forced to turn back before reaching Taugwank.

The ape-man has not been seen for several days, and is thought to have been frightened by threats of "lead." He had been frequently seen bounding about on boulders in the fields and once or twice on haystacks.

INCOME TAX RETURNS REFLECT GOOD BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, April 2—(AP)—The increase of almost $60,000,000 in income tax collections for the March quarter over recipts of a year ago when the rates were higher, was looked upon today at the white house as the result of improved business conditions fostered by taxpayers' anticipation of the rate reductions.

At the same time another warning to congress to hold down on proposed increases in permanent expenses of the government was issued on behalf of President Coolidge who believes a deficit in 1927 still is a dangerous probability.

Final statistics issued today by the treasury showed collections for the quarter were slightly less than $500,000,000, or $100,000,000 more than it was estimated would be received, but no surprise over the heavy receipts was shown at thew hite house.

In fact, President Coolidge believes the large collections were quite natural and holds the opinion, however, that the returns for the next three quarters of the year under the new tax law will materially decrease, and that the full effect of the widespread tax reduction ordered by congress will not be felt until the end of the year.

LAST TRIBUTE TO NOTED JEWISH TRAGEDIAN ADLER

NEW YORK, April 2.—(AP)— The teeming East Side, paused today in its grim struggle for the necessities of life to pay a last tribute to Jacob P. Adler, noted Jewish tragedian, who died last Wednesday. He was 74 years old.

The services were held in the Kessler theatre, in lower Second avenue, the scene of so many of Adler's successes, where many of those present had laughed and wept with the dean of Yiddish actors. More than 3,000 persons taxed the capacity of the building; other thousands stood uncovered in the near-by streets, at but paralyzing traffic, and fully 100,000 lined the route of the funeral cortege.

Some of the tragedy of the roles which Adler had so faithfully portrayed in his acting was brought to the funeral services by Irving Adler, the actor's son, who now is a prison convict serving a sentence for counterfeiting. He was brought here from Sing Sing today by a prison guard to attend the services.

Eulogies of the late actor were delivered at the theatre by Boris Tomashefsky, also a well known Jewish actor, long associated with Mr. Adler on the stage Dr. H. Mokdoni, of the Jewish Morning Journal; I P Freedman, of the Jewish Daily News and others who had known Mr. Adler for nearly a half century.

PRESIDENT EXPECTS COAL LEGISLATION THIS SESSION

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—Congress should enact coal legislation before the present session adjourners, in the opinion of President Coolidge, so that any future labor troubles in the mine fields will not leave the public without fuel.

The house commerce committee now taking testimony on various phases of the coal industry, would do well, Mr. Coolidge believes, to frame its legislation around recommendations submitted by the presidential coal commission after its investigation of the industry only a few years ago. Two definite provisions for handling the coal-labor problem stand out in the president's mind as essential to any effective legislation: Presidential authority to appoint a strike mediation board and machinery for coal administration in event of a strike.

Before it attempts to draft a bill, the house committee should, in the opinion of Mr. Coolidge, call all interested parties, including miners, operators and members of the cabinet who would be concerned with any labor disputes in the coal fields.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

It was learned that President Coolidge expects passage of coal legislation at this session.

Illinois watering development project was opposed and favored befroe a house committee.

The president's opposition to American participation in the Geneva conference on the world court reservations was indicated.

More rigid dry enforcement regulations were proposed by the administration; a senate committee refused to subpoena wet witnesses.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Condition of Royal Patients

LONDON, April 2—(AP)—No change was noted tonight in the condition of Princess Victoria, sister of King George, who is ill with influenzal pneumonia at Marlborough house. The Prince of Wales is still confined to his room at York house after the operation on his ear early in the week. He is described as making good progress, and was able to sit up for a little while today.

WHITTEMORE IN BUFFALO TO FACE TRIAL FOR MURDERS

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 2.—(AP)—Richard Reese Whittemore came back to Buffalo today to face trial for the murder of two bank employes in a $93,000 robbery here last October.

His arrival was signalized by a display of viciousness seldom witnessed even by the police whose daily duties cause them to be in continual contact with criminals.

"I'll kick your guts all over the station," he screamed when a photographer attempted to take his picture, and suiting action to his words he lashed out in all directions with his feet and his one free hand. The crowded station was convulsed with excitement as the officers subdued their prisoner.

"Before I burn, all the rest of the six in this Buffalo job will burn with me," the thug told Detective Chief Austin W. Roche during the trip from New York. Within eight hours the Buffalo police received word that the last known member of the Whittemore gang, Morris H. Weinzimmer, known as Zimmer, had been arrested in Cleveland, Ohio.

Whittemore is believed by the police to have been the driver of the bandit car in which the robbers made their getaway from the scene of the bank of Buffalo holdup.

After lodging Whittemore in the city jail Chief Roche declared the prisoner was only the first of six men who would be tried for their lives and convicted here. He declared Anthony Paladino, Leon Kraemer, Jake Kraemer, "Shuffles" Goldberg, and "Zimmer," members of the gang, would all be tried here.

The detective chief said he believed Whittemore was the man who shot and killed Lewis Yarington, bank guard, as he was escorting John Meyers, the messenger carrying the money bags from the bank car to the bank of Buffalo the morning of the robbery. He believes Whittemore shot Meyers in the arm and snatched the bag containing $93,000. Leon Kraemer is believed to have been the murderer of Charles Clifford, driver of the bank car, who was shot down without apparent reason.

Leon is the believed to have snatched the money bag containing $17,000 only to drop it when wounded in the wrist by police fire.

Whittemore reiterated much of the story he had already told New York authorities on the trip to Buffalo. He expressed bitter hatred for Paladino, because of the latter's revelations to police.

WITNESSED SLAYING OF NEW BRITAIN POLICEMAN

HENDERSON, Ky., April 2.—(AP)—Thomas McKinley White, 27 year old Negro, today reiterated and enlarged on his voluntary statement made last night that he, as chauffeur for Gerald Chapman, witnessed the slaying of a New Britain, Conn., policeman by the bandit leader.

White said he was employed by Chapman in 1921 and drove Chapman's car on a number of trips. Three men always composed the party, he said, and a machine gun, carried in the car, was taken by the men when they left the machine.

When asked what his orders were, White said "to follow the white men and keep the car within a block of them ready for instant flight."

In April, 1922, White said Chapman and two other men went to New Britain, Conn., to the corner of Commerce and Baltimore streets. The three men left the car and entered a building. White stood on the corner and watched. A few minutes later, he heard a sound of breaking glass, and pistol shots. One man staggered and fell to the sidewalk. The other two bandits fled in one direction while Chapman ran to the car, and he and White escaped. The next day, White said, Chapman gave him eight thousand dollars and told him to leave town. That was the last time he saw Chapman, he said.

THREATENED TO CAPTURE AND BURN SWINDLER

BRISTOL, Conn., April 2—(AP)—Rollin D. Reed, who was arrested in Springfield, Mass., today before he had time to carry out an alleged threat to capture and burn a supposed Hindu who, he charged, had swindled him out of $3,000, reside swith his mother, Mrs. Viola Reed, on Maple avenue, Edgewood, a suburb of this city. He is a carpenter.

Reed, according to his story, met the Hindu doctor at Lake Compounce, near here, about a year ago when he did some carpenter work for the doctor. The doctor then moved to New Haven and Reed said he went there to do some work. It was in New Haven, Reed claims, that he lost his money.

He declares that he notified the New Haven police of his loss, was referred back to the Bristol police and that later the state police were notified. The last complaint he made was last November.

TO PROSECUTE ENGLISH IMPEACHMENT CASE

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—Nine managers may be named by the house to prosecute before the senate the impeachment case against Federal Judge English of Illinois.

This number, two more than originally contemplated, was tentatively agreed upon today to satisfy democratic leaders who, after the impeachment of the judge yesterday objected to a ratio of five republicans to two democrats on the house representation.

If nine are selected the house prosecutors are expected to be Rpresentatives Hawley, Maine; Hobbs, Massachusetts; Michener, Michigan; Moore, Ohio, and Boiss, republicans, and Sumners, Texas; Montague, Virginia, and Tillman, Arkansas and Dominick, South Carolina, democrats, the last two to serve if the number is increased to nine.

PONZI GUILTY VIOLATING STATUTES OF FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 2—(AP)—Charles Ponzi, charged with violating the state statutes regulating the operation of trusts, was found guilty late today by a jury in the Duval Court of Criminal Records.

The verdict carries a sentence of two years in the state prison or a fine of $1,500. The jury was out one hour and three minutes.

Frank Brennan, counsel for the defense, filed notice of appeal for new trial. The appeal motion will be heard next Tuesday.

Ponzi, who has been at liberty under a bond of $5,000 since his indictment February 8, will remain at liberty under the same bond.

Taking of testimony was completed this morning and the afternoon was devoted to argument over the motion of the defense attorney to have Judge James M. Peeler, instruct the jury not to consider that Ponzi was acting under a declaration of trust and to the rebuttal.

FARM CONDITIONS SHOW MATERIAL IMPROVEMENT

WASHINGTON, April 2—(AP)—"Material improvement" in general farm conditions over a year ago, was reported today by Chairman Cooper, of the Federal Farm Loan board on the basis of advices from the presidents of the twelve federal reserve banks.

Higher prices for hogs and cattle, Mr. Cooper said, have offset effects of the corn surplus, and the livestock industry generally was declared very much improved.

Chairman Cooper warned however, against over-production this year in cotton and potatoes. Despite previous warnings, he said, land bank presidents from the south "unanimously indicated that farmers are planning to increase their acreage."

John T. King Faces Charge of [illegible] Jury

Paid Only $[illegible] Income Tax —Federal Jury Finds He Should Have Paid $40,000.

NEW YORK, April 2.—(AP)—John T. King, former national republican committeeman from Connecticut, and who managed the campaign in that state for Theodore Roosevelt when he ran on the Bull Moose ticket, was indicted today for perjury in swearing to his 1921 income tax returns.

He was charged with swearing to a gross income of $35,500 and a net income of only $266, whereas testimony before a federal grand jury indicated he should have paid $40,000 tax. The government charged that he should have declared an income over $190,000.

Mr. King, having been notified of the indictment, was in Federal Judge Knox's court when the indictment was returned. He was arraigned soon afterward, and on a plea of not guilty, was released in bond of $2,500.

This indictment was an indirect result of investigations into the manner in which the alien property custodian handled the stock of the American Metals Corporation. Mr. King had been mentioned as an associate of Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, and called before the grand jury several times, but he was not indicted when true bills were returned against Mr. Miller and other associates.

The alien property custodian seized 49 per cent. of the stock of the corporation in 1918, as being German owned. This stock was sold for $7,000,000 and converted into Liberty bonds.

Three years later the Swiss company, the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs Des Mataux, of Basle, was reimbursed in that sum after it had instituted a claim on the basis of an oral agreement with German owners of the stock in 1914.

A government investigation resulted in the charge that the money had been returned by the Swiss to the German owners of the stock after $440,000 had been paid to American officials and politicians, including Miller, King and others.

COOLIDGE OPPOSED TO U. S. PARTICIPATION AT GENOA.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—President Coolidge feels that the league of nations' invitation to the United States to participate in the world court conference in Geneva in September should not be accepted. He takes the position that the senate reservations speak for themselves and, therefore, it is not necessary to send a delegation to Geneva to explain them.

In view of his attitude, made clear today at the White House, it appears certain that the league invitation, received yesterday by Secretary Kellog, will be declined with thanks As the situation shaped up tonight, although no reply has been forwarded to Geneva, only unexpected developments would cause the president to change his mind.

He clearly approves of the direct negotiations the state department has initiated with the 48 governments signatory to the world court protocol, and sees no reason why it cannot be determined in this way whether the United States is to enter the court under the senate stipulations.

FURIOUS FIGHT BETWEEN HINDU SECT AND MOSLEMS

LONDON, April 2—(AP)—A furious fight took place in Calcutta, India, today between a Hindu sect and Moslems, and, according to one estimate, 20 persons were killed and 150 injured.

The Calcutta correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph says that the riot began with the approach to a Mosque in the northern part of the city of a procession with music led by the Arya Samaj sect of Hindus, enemies of the Moslems. Fighting developen when the Moslems tried to bar the way, the trouble soon spreading to other streets.

Deputy Police Commissioner Bartley, and another European, Sergeant Davis, who went to the commissioner's assistance, were slightly hurt.

The correspondent says that the scene of the rioting tonight had the appearance of a deserted city. Police patrolled the streets and all the shops remained closed.

EUROPEAN RESORTS HAD POOR WINTER SEASON

LONDON, April 2—(AP)—The winter just past was a poor season for most of the European resorts, due chiefly to a falling off in American patronage, and hotel men's associations and travel agencies are planning campaigns to insure that next winter will not see the decline continue. The lure of Florida is one of the principal factors blamed, the French and Italian rivieras particularly having suffered from the rival attraction.

AT EASTER DAWN

Easter Morning dawns once more
Lent's long night at length is o'er.
Shadows—sorrows—fade away.
Earth is bright on Easter Day.

From the garden where Christ prayed
And the kiss that Him betrayed,
From the scourge and crown and jeer,
Christ has risen—Here is here!

From the hill of Calvary
And His death and agony,
From the cross and from the tomb,
Christ is risen—lilies bloom.

Easter Morn has dawned once more,
Night has gone and Lent is o'er,
Chimes will peal and organs play—
Christ, our Saviour, reigns today!

Severe Jolt For Wets in the Senate

Comes in Form of a Bill to Tighten by Volstead Act to Aid Enforcement.

WASHINGTON, April 2—(AP)—Senatewets who are behind the drive for modification of the prohibition laws today received a couple of rather severe jolts.

The first came with the refusal of the judiciary sub-committee to summon other than government officials as witnesses at the prohibition hearings to begin Monday.

The second was in the form of an administration bill tightening up the Volstead act as an essential to more successful enforcement of the dry statutes.

This measure containing seven more or less drastic amendments to the Volstead act, recommended by Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury, was introduced by Senator Goff, republican, West Virginia, and will be referred to the judiciary subcommittee.

Thus it will be open for discussion during the two weeks of prohibition hearings and the drys are expected to brace it at the same time they are condemning the liberalization bills offered by Senators Edge, republican, New Jersey, and Bruce, Maryland and Edwards, New Jersey, democrats.

Under the ruling of the sub-committee today if these senators want to put on the stand witnesses other than government officers they will have to arrange to bring them to Washington at other than government expense.

This action aroused Senator Edge who had submitted a list of eighteen witnesses, including state and municipal officers, whom he desired to have summoned. He accused the sub-committee of "splitting hairs in favor of the drys" and with acting to prevent the wets "from presenting valuable information."

On the other hand, Chairman Menna and Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, said the sub-committee was following a long established practice at hearings on legislation. In such cases summonses rarely are issued, proponents and opponents being required to supply their own witnesses.

The amendments proposed by Assistant Secretary Andrews, who is in charge of prohibition enforcement, are designed primarily to dry up sources of liquor supply. Perhaps the most drastic would permit warrants to issue for the search of private dwellings on evidence or manufacture of liquor for commercial purposes.

Other amendments would authorize these steps:

Imposition of severe penalties for the counterfeiting of permits, prescriptions and other liquor forms.

Imposition of drastic penalties upon those who make, sell or transport liquor made from denatured alcohol or rum.

Requirement of registration of buildings and apparatus which have been set up in such a way as to make the manufacture of beer possible.

The summary condemnation of vehicles seized in liquor violations.

Before having the bill drafted Secretary Andrews consulted with Secretary Mellon and officials of the department of justice and the measure has the full support of the administration.

In a letter accompanying the bill, Mr. Andrews explained the search of private dwellings amendment by saying that liquor operators are taking advantage of existing statutes to use homes as distilleries with immunity.

"They rent these dwellings and establish a family therein," he said, "whose occupation it is to distill alcohol for the bootleg trade. We can break up this source of supply only by having the law provide that search warrants may be issued on evidence of manufacture for commercial purposes."

One of the amendments proposes a sentence of two years in prison and a fine of $25,000 for persons convicted of denaturing alcohol or rum for liquor manufacture or of selling, making or transporting liquor made from denatured alcohol or rum.

Some time after the sub-committee rejected, 4 to 1, his request that witnesses other than government officials be summoned, Senator Edge issued this statement:

"The public will have little difficulty in reaching a conclusion as to why material witnesses were not subpoenaed. These twenty witnesses are mostly state, county and city officials. Their absence will be very unfortunate as we have been informed they were all in a position to present many interesting and pertinent facts.

"When one recalls the witnesses subpoenaed in past investigations in no way as important, or as much of a national issue as is prohibition, the decision of a majority of the committee will surely provoke speculation."

FIVE BURGLARIES NETTED BRIDGEPORT YOUTH $10

BRIDGEPORT, April 2—(AP)—Andrew Snee, 21, held in bonds of $1,000 on burglary charges following his capture last night by Patrolman Thomas L. Donnelly in a drugstore at 580 North avenue, is convinced today that crime does not pay. In five confessed burglaries his loot totaled $1.55 in pennies, four cartons and seven loose packages of cigarettes and a few nickels and dimes. The total value of the loot was probably not more than $10.

Snee was halted by two shots from Patrolman Donnelly's revolver last night when he made an attempt to dart past the policeman who surprised him in the drugstore.

BRITISH TROOPS DEFENDING THE IRAK-SYRIAN FRONTIER

Participated in Skirmish With Irak Troops, Who Had Been Attacked by Syrian and Arab Tribesmen—British Used Armored Cars and Airplanes and Put the Tribesmen to Flight—British Officers Restrained the Irak Troops From Pursuing the Enemy Across the Frontier.

BAGDAD, Irak, April 2—(AP)—British armored cars and airplanes, used as reinforcements for Irak detachments guarding the Irak-Syrian frontier, participated in a skirmish today against 2,000 Syrian and Arak tribesmen who attacked the Irak troops. The tribesmen fled in disorder, leaving 45 dead and carrying away many wounded.

15-YEAR-OLD GIRL ENGAGED TO MARRY E. W. BROWNING

NEW YORK, April 2—(AP)—Fifteen-year-old Frances Heenan is engaged to marry Edward W. Browning, she announced tonight. He is building a home for them on a 135-acre estate at Bellmor, Long Island, she added.

The latest Cinderella of the elderly real estate operator made the announcement "to correct the false impression that I am an adventuress" and to protect her beleaguered admirer, whose attentions to her are under scrutiny of the Children's society.

Both Browning and the girl had previously refused to confirm or deny reports of their engagement, although they made no secret of their friendship.

The girl is now recovering from burns on the face said to have been inflicted by an unidentified assailant who threw acid on her as she slept, and Browning today offered to undergo a skin grafting operation to save her beauty.

"The date of our wedding has not been fixed," Miss Heenan said, "but it will be some time after my sixteenth birthday, which is on next June 23."

"Daddy," as she called Browning, has promised to let her pick out her engagement ring at a Fifth avenue jeweler's, she said.

"I am not marrying Mr. Browning for his money nor for a career," she added. "I am a home-loving person and I want intellectual companionship with a man with whom I can feel safe."

STORY OF LOYALTY OF MEN WHO FOLLOW THE SEA

NEW YORK, April 2—(AP)—The manner in which men of the sea rally to the aid of their comrades when wind and wave batter a ship to pieces was strikingly revealed when the Cunard liner Mauretania rescued 201 persons today. Its log showed that when the freighter Laconia called for help on March 31, four ships turned from their courses and one gave up the race until the tanker Suwied had taken off all of the Laconia's crew and the ill-fated ship had been set afire.

During this race for life messages of cheer were constantly sent on to the floundering vessel. Such great speed was made that the Mauretania broke all official records among passenger liners when for a whole hour she maintained a speed of 29 knots. The previous record was made by the same liner several years ago when she maintained a speed of 27.04 knots for an hour. But that was in fair weather and in her race to the Laconia she was fighting against heavy seas.

Then the Shirvan announced that it was proceeding to Falmouth and no more aid was needed. The three other ships turned quietly back into their scheduled paths, as modest as they had been brave.

BROOKHART-STECK CASE POSTPONED TILL MONDAY

WASHINGTON, April 2—(AP)—With sentiment in the senate shifting back and forth on the Brookhart-Steck senatorial contest from Iowa, the case went over today until Monday at the request of Senator Curtis, the republican our leader. The delay was sought when Chairman Ernst of the elections committee was unable to present the majority report recommending the seating of Daniel F. Steck, a democrat.

Under agreement the contest will reach the senate floor Monday and held there until it is decided, with debate expected to consume most of the week.

FABRE LINER STANDING BY DISABLED STEAMER

NEW YORK, April 2. — (AP) — The steamer Forvele was reported in distress, having lost her rudder, 40 miles east of Cape Cod today. Her plight was learned in a message to the Fabre Line from the Patria, owned by that company, which reported it was standing by.

The Forvele is not listed in maritime registers. The Fabre Line requested that a coast guard patrol boat be sent to relieve the Patria, which left yesterday for a special Mediterranean cruise. Captain Pierre Deschilies of Boston is in command.

COAL GAS CAUSED DEATH OF TWO CHILDREN IN BOSTON

BOSTON, April 2—(AP)—Coal gas claimed the lives of two children and sent their mother and three others to the Carney hospital in critical condition in South Boston today.

Mrs. Anna Ryan and her five children Mary, 9, Anna, 8, James, 7, Paul, 2, and Gerald, 1, were found unconscious in their rooms by Mrs. Marion Willis, an upstairs lodger. They were taken to the hospital. James and Gerald were dead on arrival and others were conscious but in a critical condition tonight.

$36,250,000 BEQUESTS IN WILL OF MRS. STEPHEN V. HARKNESS

NEW YORK, April 2—(AP)—Specific bequests to organizations totalling $36,250,000 are made in the will of Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness, wife of one of the earliest partners of John D. Rockefeller, in her will filed for probate today. She died March 27.

SEARCHING FOR ROBBERS OF THE PHENIX, R. I., BANK

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 2.—(AP)—A touring car with motor running was found abandoned on Wellington avenue, Cranston, R. I., this afternoon and police officials searching for the four bandits who robbed the Phenix, R. I., Trust company of $24,000, after cowing the four employes of the place with revolver shots, have decided that the thugs instead of making an escape through Connecticut, doubled on their tracks and made a get-away through this city.

It is believed by the police that the gunmen, after shaking off pursuers between Ashland and Rockland, R. I., drove their speedy touring car in the direction in which they had come, met another car awaiting them in Cranston and made their escape through this city and East Providence.

A Providence motorcycle policeman this morning pursued a big sedan through the streets of this city when his attention was attracted to it by the speed at which it was traveling. He suspected that the car contained bootleggers but lost in it traffic.

Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island state troopers and the police of many cities and towns in this vicinity have been asked to aid in the search for the robbers.

They have few clues to aid them in their work. The men who entered the bank were masked. They were heavy goggles. The registration plates found on the abandoned car, which was first noticed on Wellington avenue by employes of a nearby factory some time after two o'clock today, were stolen Wednesday night from the machine of a Providence man.

The bandits entered the bank at 9:20 o'clock this morning, one of them firing a revolver and ordering the cashier and his son and two women employes to hold up their hands. The other three wanted a seven foot railing and a counter and scooped into canvas bags $10,000, the interlaken mills payroll, which had been delivered to the trust company a short time before in an armored car.

Four thousand dollars in bills were taken from cash drawers and another $10,000 approximately from the bank's vault. Silver was disregarded. The bank had no negotiable securities in its vaults.

The employes of the bank could give only the most meagre descriptions of the bandits, saying they were apparently young and of medium height.

What descriptions were available were broadcast by radio.

The bank's loss was covered by insurance. About a year ago the Interlaken mills' payroll of more than $10,000 was stolen as it was being taken to the plant in an automobile. Since then its funds have been transferred in armored cars. The bandits, knowing that practice, evidently decided to wait until the small bank had taken custody of the funds. When they entered the building, the payroll was in main sight for them on the teller's desk.

MAN FOUND GUILTY OF RADIO SLANDER

CHICAGO, April 2.— (AP)—The country's pioneer court action involving a charge of radio slander resulted a decision today when Philip Friedlander, radio announcer, was found guilty of disorderly conduct and fined $25 and costs. Charges of disorderly conduct were preferred against Friedlander by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe after he had searched the statutes vainly for a law governing slander by radio.

On March 11, the state's attorney alleged that he was slandered when Friedlander broadcast a statement that Robert E. Crowe, with others, had entered a Chicago cafe. Crowe heard the announcement over the radion in his home, raided the cabaret and arrested Friedlander.

Judge Gentzell before giving his decision said that legislation governing radio slander would be of benefit in further cases of this kind.

GATHERED EVIDENCE AGAINST BERGDOLL

NEW YORK, April 2—(AP)—Robert Paul Sachs, retired advertising man, who said he was largely responsible for the pending trial at Mosbach, Germany, of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, arrived aboard the liner George Washington today.

Mr. Sachs said he originally went to Mosbach from the University of Heidelberg, where he was studying, to ascertain the truth of stories that Bergdoll was being "persecuted."

Evidence he gathered against the slacker was turned over to the prosecuting authorities, he said, and will be used against him when the trial opens April 14.

Mr. Sachs is on his way to his home in Almeda, Cal.

FRESH FALL OF SNOW OVER THE MIDDLE WEST

CHICAGO, April 3—(AP)—A fresh fall of snow today laid an Easter mantle of ermine over the middle west, and eastward from the Rockies toward the Ohio river valley.

From three to twelve inches of snow had fallen, tonight over most of the area, and although the weather bureau said the sun might come out on the Easter parade, there appeared to be no hope that the snow would even begin to disappear by Sunday. Unsettled weather threatens overcast skies for tomorrow, with more snow for most of the states from Michigan to Colorado.

SECONDARY SCHOOL HEADS MEET IN CONFERENCE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 3—The annual secondary school conference under the auspices of the state of education was held at the residence hall of Willimantic State Normal school Friday, with sixty high school principals and other educators present.

The conference opened with an acquaintance dinner, Thursday evening. The speakers were Dr. James L. McConaughy, president of Wesleyan university, and, Dr. A. R. Meredith, secretary of the state board of education.

The topic of discussion for Friday morning was What Should High School Teachers Expect in Supervision from High School Principals? An illustration was given in a demonstration lesson given by Miss Mary Quinn, Willimantic State Normal school faculty. Leading in the discussions were Frederick R. Noble, principal of the Windham Street Model school of this city, Carl Maddocks, state supervising agent and Paul S. Miller, principal of Washington High school, Meriden.

Luncheon was served at noon. Dr. Howard Burdge, principal of the Normal school at Fredonia, N. Y., speaking on the subject of Helping Boys to Be What They Want to be.

The first talk of the afternoon session was by Dr. A. G. Ireland, state supervisor of physical education and health. He spoke on Athletics and the Physical Education Program in Secondary Schools in Connecticut.

A general meeting was called at three o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Maude Kestor, director of special education and standards talked on Selection and Administration of Intelligence Tests. The title of the afternoon discussion was The Practical Uses of Intelligence Tests in the High School. With Walter S. Spencer, principal of the New Haven Commercial High school leading, the subject was discussed by Egbert A. Case, principal of Windham High school of this city and C. C. Hyde, principal of Hartford Public High school.

James C. Moore, principal of the Bridgeport High school was in charge of the program for the evening. The conference will be resumed and closed today (Saturday). The topic will be, Why Do High School Pupils Succeed? and will be presented by Egbert A. Case of this city, Clarence P. Quimby, principal of South Manchester High school and Henry E. Cottle, principal of Bristol High school. The closing discussion will be on, What are the Effects on the High School of Rapid Promotion?

Miss Mary Killourey of 322 Jackson street, died Friday noon at St. Joseph's hospital after a brief illness with pneumonia. She was born in Ireland, a daughter of Michael and Mary Flanagan Killourey. Surviving her are two brothers, Daniel J. and Thomas J. Killourey and three nephews, John J., and Daniel P., and Thomas H. Killourey, all of this city.

HOUSE JOLTED BY TRUCK— WHOSE IS THE QUESTION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 3—Fearing at first that an earthquake had struck his house, Antonio Savigne, of Carr Hill, near Milk street, discovered that the building had been run into about 2 o'clock Friday forenoon, by a truck which he claims was driven by Gerald Milstein. Children who had been passing in the vicinity pointed to Milstein as the responsible driver, stating that he had backed his truck into the building. Milstein staunchly denied the accusation and placed the blame on Ernest Holland, who was also driving a truck in the vicinity of the house. Holland, in turn flatly denied that his truck was implicated, as it had been parked quite a distance from the house. The argument grew heated and Officer Rudolph Laramee was called. He escorted Milstein, Holland and Lavigne to police headquarters. Upon arrival, each told his story to Chief of Police McArthur. Milstein's truck was looked over and a fresh mark was found on one corner of the body. Milstein said that the mark had been there several days but he finally agreed that he would settle for the damages as they appeared to him to be small. Unless a satisfactory settlement is announced it is likely that the matter, which is being further investigated, will result in court action.

STUDY OF FINGER PRINTS MAY LEAD TO THIEF

WILLIMANTIC, April 3—A study of finger prints is figuring in an investigation being made to locate the party or parties who stripped a Cole eight automobile of some of its attachments, a few weeks ago. John Gunn, of Chaplin, who states that he is a finger print expert employed by the government, is leading in the search for the guilty ones and is doing so with unusual enthusiasm as the automobile in question is owned by him. He announced Friday that he had arrived upon a clue which he believed would get quick results in rounding up his quarry. He left his machine in a shed belonging to a neighbor and upon returning to it discovered that some of the accessories were missing. A Windham county official has been informed of the facts and is to take a hand in the investigation.

Good Friday was quiet in Willimantic. All factories, banks and schools were closed for the day and mercantile houses suspended business at noon. Hundreds attended the eight o'clock masses at St. Joseph's and St. Mary's churches in the morning and the special services at three o'clock in the afternoon. A three-hour service was conducted at St. Paul's Episcopal church from 12 o'clock noon. The rector, Rev. F. C. Williams was in charge. Short sermons were delivered by the following pastors of local Protestant churches: Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, Rev. A. Stanley Muirhead and Rev. David Winslow Lovett. Private and public transportation conveyances brought many visitors into the city, most of whom will remain for the week end. Likewise a large number left to visit in other cities. The only sign of activity on Main street during the afternoon, other than pedestrian and automobile traffic was at the location of the Nathan Hale community hotel, where the brick work was being continued on the ground floor and the floor for the fifth and last story was being laid.

Julia Winski, fourteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Winski, of Ashford, died at Hartford hospital Thursday night, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Eileen Racicot, who leaves with her family later this month to join Mr. Racicot in Miami, Fla., was tendered a farewell party and banquet by the Ladies' auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Thursday evening. She was presented a substantial check in appreciation of her assistance in the various activities of the auxiliary. At the close of the affair the party attended the Capitol theatre in a body. Mr. Racicot, who has been in Florida for some time, is meeting with success in the advertising department of a newspaper. The family will make Miami their permanent residence.

In honor of their cousin, Mrs. Elmer Yake of Springfield, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Parker entertained at auction with seven tables in play, at their home, Thursday evening. The prizes were won by Mrs. Curtis H. Reinhardt, Mrs. Herman C. Little, Kenneth N. Hillhouse and Dr. William E. Hendry. Guests from out of town included in addition to Mrs. Yake, Mrs. W. W. Townsend of Springfield, and Misses Barbara Lincoln and Josephine Bryant of Hartford.

The Jewish residents of the city are observing the feast of Passover which closes next Tuesday evening. Rabbi Isaac K. Sachs announced Friday that services today (Saturday) would be held as usual and that the services on the last two days of the feas would be held Sunday evening, Monday morning and evening and Tuesday morning and evening. Sermons will be delivered by Rabbi Sachs before Musaff, at the morning services fo the last two days of Passover.

Another continuance, this time until Monday April 5, was granted in the case of Lyman Maine, charged with abandoning his wife and minor child. The case was continued from March 18 to Friday morning. Prosecuting Attorney Harry S Gaucher received notice that the wife of the plaintiff who is the complainant in the case, was ill and unable to attend court Friday.

Encouraging progress is being made in the campaign for $30,000 to defray the expense of redecorating the interior of St. Joseph's church. The twenty-nine two men teams which are canvassing the parish are meeting with much success. A meeting to listen to reports will be held at St. Joseph's hall Thursday evening next.

Miss Henrietta Hall was awarded first prize in the second in a series of weekly Charleston contests held Thursday evening at the Capitol theatre in connection with a picture-vaudeville program. The large audience acted as judges signifying the vote by applause. Harold Suphers won second prize of the first contestants.

Here and There

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Lovett have as week end guests, their daughters, Miss Vesta Lovett, teacher in Walling ford and Miss Elsie Lovett, of Hartford hospital training school.

Mrs. Elmer Yake and two children of Springfield, Mass., are with Mrs. Yake's father, Allen B. Lincoln for the week. Mr. Yake is on a business trip in the west.

Dr. Herbert C. Little is attending a medical meeting and the New England industrial convention in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sharpe are entertaining over the week-end, Mrs. William W. Townsend and son of Springfield, Mass.

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

JEWETT CITY

SUPT. R. T. HURLEY URGES FINGER PRINT IMPORTANCE

(Special to the Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 3—The open meeting of Pachaug Grange last evening was of more than ordinary interest. The lecturer, Mrs. William Edmond, with the assistance of Deputy Sheriff John Dolan, had arranged the program. It opened with a piano solo by Mrs. Harold Geer. Robert T. Hurley, superintendent of the state police from Hartford, was the first speaker. He said the question of today is not what the state police are doing for the public, but what the public is doing for the police. The indifference of the people toward crime is one of the big features of today. He divided the public into two classes, society, 90 per cent being in that class, and anti-social, ten per cent, and said that ten per cent is holding back nine times its size, that has all the wealth of the country at its command. He said there was a deep ravine between the two classes, but society seems to want to hobnob with anti-social and there seems to be a bridge passing over the ravine. But there is no bridge which leads to the police. The police will continue to be in the rear as long as society takes this attitude. He laid great stress on the importance of finger prints. He believes finger prints of every person should be a matter of record as much as records of births, marriages and deaths. It would save billions of dollars lost to people by confidence men, financial crooks and fake solicitors and it would find kidnapped children. It is high time that citizens woke up and looked the rotten conditions in the face.

A vocal solo, Listen to the Mocking Bird, with auto-harp accompaniment, was given by Mrs. George Briggs, who responded to an encore with Annie Laurie. Frank Wells have a humorous recitation on apples, his encore being That Jersey Cow. Byron Kinsle sang Out of the Deep, his encore being Santa Lucia. The event of the evening was the unveiling of a large photograph of the first class ever graduated in the town of Griswold, taken with the principal, E. M. Swift.

Deputy Sheriff Dolan, a member of this class gave the picture, which is to be hung in Grange hall. It was unveiled by Claire Shea, Mr. Dolan's niece and daughter of one of the school committee. State Attorney Arthur M. Brown had been asked to give a short talk before the presentation, and he dwelt principally on the protection of the criminal, saying that the present system of jurisprdence shows too much favor to the crim nal, in order that a possibly innocent person may not be punished. There is one thing everyone can do—obey the law; then the work of the state police and prosecuting attorneys would be lightened. There is no true liberty except in obedience to law. He quoted Abraham Lincoln, and Stephen A. Douglass, concerning obeying law and upholding the constitution.

He then turned to the presentation of the picture. He said that Mr. Dolan gave the picture solely as a tribute to the memory of the teacher, E. M. Swift. Mr. Brown paid a most eloquent tribute to the teacher who was so beloved and honored by his pupils. A modest and unassuming man, his profession was a sacred thing to him. His interest in every pupil's welfare was sincere and he had the faculty of inspiring each with a healthy desire to make good. He gave himself unstintingly, leaving a shining path behind him. A fact not known to many is that Mr. Swift's career in this town began in Pachaug, where he taught a select school in the town hall for two years. He boarded in the house which stood on the site of Grange hall. Now, nearly 50 years since that time, his picture with his first graduating class will hang on the walls of the building which took the place of that house.

The class was graduated in 1891 thirty-five years ago next June 26, the exercises taking place in the Methodist church. The members were Arthur Brown, John Dolan; John Welsh William Connell, Daniel Driscoll (deceased) Allie Wells, Arthur Chapman (deceased), Rose Sharkey, Carrie Fifield, Lillian Barber (deceased), Lillian Brown and Grace Eldredge. As Attorney Brown was too modest to say anything regarding the personnel of the group, Mr. Swift's daughter Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, told the company that Mr. Brown was the valedictorian of that class, and that there was a deputy sheriff, doctor and town clerk who were members. John Dolan, Dr. Daniel Driscoll and John Welsh. Seldom does a class have a member called to fill so many high and responsible positions, and that so worthily, as the valedictorian of this first class in Griswold. He has become a prominent lawyer, judge of the town court, warden of the borough, representative and senator in the general assembly, grand master of the Masonic fraternity of the state, president of Jewett City Savings bank, and is now state's attorney.

The last number on the program was a piano solo by Mrs. Jesse Phillips. The master of the grange, Walter Hyde, thanked Mr. Dolan for the gift and providing the part of the program. On the platform were seated Warden Matthew Geary, burgesses, Thomas McBroome, and Edward Jodoin, Prosecuting Attorney Richard Dudkowski, Health Officer Dr. G H. Jennings, Deputy Sheriff Dolan and State's Attorney Brown and Miss Claire Shea. The platform was decorated, through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Whiting, with palms, tulips, daffodils, cyclamen and peranganium. Flags were used for the background. Cake and coffee were served in the dining hall. There were two hundred present.

Arthur DiBlasi has returned from Long Island.

An April Fool's day in the village, school children had their jokes, fooling automobile drivers telling them they had a blow-out. One local clam dealer walked two miles in the village with a peck of clams to deliver to some one and when he reached the house he found the joke on him. He went away laughing. Fake candy provided fun for the day, many getting this joke put over on them.

Miss Esther Sistare is able to be out, after being ill at her home.

The Nuggetts basketball team had a banquet at the D of A. hall, Elm street, Wednesday night, prepared and served by Liberty council. About 35 sat down to a fine chicken pie supper. The hall had decorations in orange and black, the colors which the Nuggetts had on their suits. Each member had a girl friend as guest and the coaches and referee were present. After the supper there was speaking. Manager Rathbun gave a short address. Perry's orchestra from New London, played for square dances and Virginia reels. In the party were Misses Marion McDonald, Irene Jenssen, Dorothy McDonald, Dorothy Irons, Mary McGowan, Janet Labonty, Margaret Mahoney, Bennie King, Bennie Smith. Mrs. Clifford Phelps, Mrs. Albert Patterson, Fred Fitzpatrick, Albert and Charles Patterson, Clifford Phelps, Elbert and Elihu Rathbun, George Deveau, Keith Ebbetts, Hubert Ellis, Harry Robertson, Babe Bracci, T. Bracci Millard DeBlasi, John Connery and Neil Morrison. The coaches were presented a fountain pen each for their services during the year. They were Albert and Charles Patterson. Referee Fred Fitzpatrick received a gold pen for his work. The toastmaster Neil Morrison read the report for the season and praised the good work of the Nuggetts team. He also told about every game played and spoke of the brightest prospects for the season. Neil Morrison was scorer for the team. Patterson brothers gave a short address and Clifford Phelps, the man who held the watch for them hoped to be with them again next year.

She was a resident of Plainfield until last September living in the home of William Harvey on Plainfield street. Miss Linch was gifted in many ways being an able writer, and interesting conversationalist. She will be mourned by many Plainfield friends.

Samuel Dorrence, Marden Prentiss and Earl Butler, came home from Storrs college Wednesday, to spend the Easter vacation.

Arthur Salisbury, who has been visiting at the home of Harry Greene, on Plainfield street, has returned to Detroit, where he is engaged in business.

Mrs. Wallace Salisbury is at Backus hospital, Norwich, ill with pneumonia.

At the Congregational church, Easter Sunday, there will be a special musical program including the following: Duet, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," by James Rowle and Christopher Krauss, an anthem by the choir, "Awake Thou That Sleepest." Miss Florence Leach of Wauregan, a student at the New England Conservatory of Music, will assist the choir with her violin, playing the following selections: hymn, A Saint, by Charles Gounod and Benedictus. Mrs. Henry Leach will be at the organ. The sermon of the morning will be, "The Immortality of the Soul." In the evening the Christian Endeavor society will hold a consecration service, the leader being Wilfred Lister.

It is said that haste makes waste, yet you seldom find a hustler in an almshouse.

Goodbye "Blue Monday"!

New kind of soap soaks week's wash whiter than washboard rubbing

HERE'S a new kind of soap that ends washboard scrubbing forever.

It's all you need—no bar soaps, chips or powders—just this amazing granulated soap that soaks clothes whiter than you could rub them!

Gone are the weary hours over wash tubs. Gone are the reddened hands of washday.

Now you just soak the clothes in Rinso suds an hour or two, or overnight—and the dirt and stains float right off without scrubbing. The most soiled parts need only a gentle rub between the fingers to make them snowy. Even in the hardest water, clothes rinse spotless!

Clothes last longer—hands stay youthful

No other laundry soap is easier on hands or clothes than Rinso—it contains no acids or bleaches to injure white clothes or fast colors.

Clothes really last longer this new way, because there's no hard friction against a board. Even boiling isn't needed, for soaking in Rinso whitens better than boiling—and sterilizes, too.

Try Rinso next washday instead of old time bar soap. See how much cleaner and whiter the clothes get. See how many hours of rubbing you save yourself. See if you'll ever go back to the old way again! Get Rinso for small cost from your grocer. Follow easy directions on package.

Fine in washing machines

Rinso is recommended for safety, and for whiter wash, by 23 leading washing machine makers

"No more washday problems for me! I get my clothes clean and fresh with hardly any effort by using Rinso. Even the most soiled pieces come out beautifully white and I don't have to do any washboard rubbing. Rinso makes wonderful suds and loosens the dirt as if by magic—it doesn't get my hands red either. Rinso makes wash day as easy as any other day for me."

DANIELSON

RESIDENTS TO BE SHOWN VALUE OF SMOKELESS COAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 2.—A public demonstration of how to use low volatile smokeless coal is to be given on Railroad square today under the auspices of an organization that is teaching New England communities much about a subject on which it has had, generally, very little information.

This demonstration is a reminder that a long-drawn out coal strike ended a few weeks ago after enduring for about five months and that during the period, thousands were handicapped in heating their homes satisfactorily by being unable to get hard coal and unacquainted with the use of other varieties of coal.

The educational effort of which today's demonstration here is a part is intended as a future safeguard against such inconveniences as were encountered because of the last coal strike, and in the interest of economy and efficiency in heating homes and other buildings.

Brooklyn had a visit from the demonstrators Friday and Putnam will see them Monday.

RICHARD WHALEN DIES— ONCE OWNED BOROUGH FARM

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 2.—Richard Whalen, 72, resident on lower Main street, died at his home Good Friday morning after a week's illness with pneumonia. Announcement of his death came as a great surprise to the people of this community where he had lived for more than half a century and where he was very generally known. Few were aware that he was ill.

Mr. Whalen was born in Ireland, coming to this country as a young man and locating in Danielson. He never married, making his home with his sisters. The family for a long time were owners of and lived on what is now known as the Borough farm, they having sold the property to the borough. Mr. Whalen spent the greater number of his active years in farming, but has been retired for more than a decade. He leaves one sister, Johanna. Another sister, Catherine Whalen, died early in January of this year. Mr. Whalen was a member of St. James' church.

Friends of Mrs. Charles Benham are pleased to hear that she has returned to her home in Brooklyn after visiting relatives and friends in New London and Essex, this state, the past three months. In December Mrs. Benham underwent an operation at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam and is now very much improved in health.

Hustlers who got out in February and solicited snow removal jobs found plenty to do in clearing walks opening driveways and making other paths. Therefore is contained the suggestion that equal activity will bring profitable returns just now in cleaning properties of the winter's accumulation of rubbish, ashes, discarded materials, old papers and so on. The clean-up season is on hand.

Manager Ralph Bowen has an- nounced the schedule of Killingly High school baseball teams as follows: April 17, Plainfield High school at Danielson; May 1, Putnam Trade school at Danielson; May 14, Putnam Trade school at Putnam; May 21, Rockville High school at Danielson; June 1, Plainfield High school at Danielson; June 11, Putnam Trade School at Danielson; June 18, Putnam Trade school at Putnam. The team has been at hard con-

Excavations at Killingly High school have proceeded so rapidly that work on the foundations will be under way within a few days. Evidence already has given of the efficiency of the contracting firm. The steam shovel and motor truck crews it has had at work have made the excavating move forward at a rapid pace. Assurance is given that the same celerity will mark the various construction stages to be undertaken. Danielson will see the new addition rising on their foundations in the very near future.

Easter, the great spring festival with its joyous inspiring story of the Resurrection will find Danielson's churches crowded at Sunday's services. Various churches of the borough will mark the observance of Easter with impressive services, special musical programmes or concerts. While there is not the longed-for promise of warm weather and bright sunshine for Easter, that will make no great difference to those whose interest in the day is wholly spiritual.

One hears from the clerks that they are thinking again of weekly half-holidays. This arrangement has been effective in Danielson for a number of years on Thursdays during July and August. The clerks would like the arrangement extended to cover parts of the late spring season and through September. They advance the same arguments as have been presented in other years for this concession from employers. Whether they will petition again this year has not been decided, it was said Friday.

In making preparations for the sum- mer vacation, do not forget to place all of your valuables and valuable papers in one of the safe deposit boxes in the fire and burglar proof vault. The Windham County National Bank, Danielson, Conn.—adv.

Supt. Robert T. Hurley of the state police department has been in Danielson on a business trip and for a brief visit with friends.

Easter Saturday services are being held at St. James' church today (Saturday), the close of the Lenten season.

Various matters of special interest will come up for discussion at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Mary K. O'Neill of Dayville has been named as administratrix of the estate of her father, John H. Kenary.

William K. Litch has been in the south on a business trip the past week.

Miss Helen Hopkins of Pratt Institute, N. Y., and a classmate, Miss Beatrice Armitage of Brooklyn, N. Y., are spending the Easter season with Mr. and Mrs. Burdette C. Hopkins.

Miss Beatrice Pelett has been visiting with Miss Marion Pelett at South Lancaster, Mass.

A union Good Friday service in the Westfield Congregational church in the evening brought out a large congregation.

Miss Frances Tillinghast of Connecticut college is spending the Easter recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett T. Tillinghast.

Mrs. Minnie Allen will have members of the Fortnightly club at her home for a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Through a special drive, Danielson Chamber of Commerce hopes to increase its membership to 250 or over.

Misses Pauline Boulaine and Mary Walsh are now sharing in managing the accounting division of the Danielson and Plainfield Gas and Electric company office here. Officer Manager James Barry has resigned and has taken a position in Providence.

To all inquiries as to when, or whether the Connecticut company is going to remove its trolley rails through Danielson there is no definite answer yet. The company has not indicated to anyone here its plans relative to the rails.

Further progress has been made the past fortnight on the alterations and enlargements work in the quarters of the Danielson Trust company. The work will not be completed until late in the spring.

It was said here Friday that the top surfacing of the new bridge put in over the Assawaga river in Main street last November likely will be put on late during the present month and certain other work done to complete the structure.

The newly established rapid toll line service to certain points out of the Danielson office is appreciated by numbers of subscribers who have so wanted such it.

PUTNAM

TRUST COMPANY SUIT FROM GILPATRIC CASE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 2—The Hartford-Connecticut Trust company, trustees under the will of the late Joseph Cutler of Putnam, has filed a substitute complaint in its suit against Receiver George M. Coffin of the First National bank of Putnam, claiming $45,000 damages.

The complaint says that on February 14, 1921, former State Treasurer G. Harold Gilpatric as executor of the Cutler will, had on deposit in the First National bank of Putnam of funds in excess of $42,073. In order to enable the First National bank to deliver $200,000 in Liberty bonds to the state of Connecticut, says the complaint, "Gilpatric on February 14, 1921, by an entry on the books of the bank charged to the account of the executor of the Cutler estate the amount of $42,073 and increased the resources of the bank by that amount.

"With the bank's funds so augmented and further augmented by other similar sources, said Gilpatric as the cashier of said bank issued for said bank certain drafts on Boston banks which he used to purchase the bonds of Kidder, Peabody & Company of Boston. These bonds were thereupon delivered to the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, which exchanged them for suitable denominations and delivered them to the state of Connecticut on March 9, 1921.

"The sum total of all claims asserted against the receiver of the First National bank of Putnam on account of the misappropriations of funds to issue said Boston drafts and purchase said Liberty bonds is not more than $65,931.35, the amount of $34,763.06 is the amount found by the probate court for the district of Putnam to be due to the plaintiff on account of such defalcations."

GOOD OFFICES OF SHRINERS IN BEHALF OF CRIPPLED BOY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 2—Arrangements have been made by local members of the Order of the Mystic Shriner to have the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGarry received in the Shriners' hospital for treatment. The hospital is located at Springfield, Mass., and is for children only. The little boy is crippled but it is believed that with the attention the specialists at this hospital can give him, he will be greatly benefited, if not completely cured.

Frank B. Christmas of Center street is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis. His condition is satisfactory. Mrs. Christmas, who was visiting relatives at Tiverton, R. I., was called home by the sudden illness of her husband.

Mrs. Herbert J. Smith entertained two tables of bridge in honor of Mrs. Silas M. Wheelock. The latter leaves next week for California with her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Wheelock who is to be married at San Diego about the middle of the month to Dr. Rodney Hitch of the Naval hospital there. Mrs. Ernest C. Morse made the highest score and was awarded the prize.

The East and West Auction Bridge club was entertained Thursday by Mrs. S. Nikoloff at her home on the Pomfret road. Mrs. C. L. Adams had the highest score of the afternoon. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Miss Nowers will entertain the club at its next meeting.

The Putnam Y. M. C. A. club is to hold a meeting Monday at 6:30 at the Methodist church. Supper will be served the boys and an out-of-town speaker will address the club at this meeting.

A dog owned by William M. Mans- field attacked Louise Sherman, 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sherman, of Grove street and bit her on the calf of her left leg. The wound was treated by Dr. H. I. Perry and no ill effects of the bite are anticipated. The dog was shot.

Andrew Gustafson of Pomfret has a [illegible] which laid an egg which measured [illegible] inches in circumference and one and one-half inches the long way around. The egg is now on display in the window of Chandler and Morse.

The delivery truck owned by Walter J. Bartlett of this city, driven by Wallace Aldrich and an automobile driven by F. O. Davis, of Pomfret came together near the Burns store in Pomfret. The delivery truck was tipped over with Mr. Aldrich beneath the truck but he escaped without much injury. Both machines were somewhat damaged.

There is to be an Easter sunrise ser- vice at the Second Congregational church Sunday morning at six o'clock in the church parlors. There will be a prayer service with a short address by the pastor. The public is cordially invited.

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Sarah Bragg Hutchinson, wife of Thomas L. Hutchinson, at her home in Westfield, N. J. The family formerly lived at Grosvernordale, where Mr. Hutchinson was in business for a number of years, and where they are well known as well as in Putnam. Surviving her are her husband and a daughter, Mrs. Ida Hutchinson Kiffin.

Three candidates took the royal arch degree at the largely attended meeting of the Masonic lodge. Representatives from the various chapters in this vicinity were present. A turkey supper was served after the exercises by a committee from the Eastern Star.

Captain Gardner Richardson has been appointed consul of commerce to Greece by Secretary Herbert Hoover. Captain Richardson is well qualified for the post by his work in Athens during the World war. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are now visiting the former's mother at Pomfret, after which he will go to Washington for two months' preparation before sailing for his duties in Greece.

Dr. and Mrs. T. Morris Murray of Boston and Pomfret have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mary Vinton Murray, and Ross Whistler of Boston. The wedding

ANNOUNCEMENT

Another Large Financial Institution for Putnam and Worcester

THE DIRECTORS believe that the locating of this new company here means much to the people of this vicinity. It means a strong, new financial institution which adds to the city's prestige as a financial center. It means an added impetus to the building of homes, business blocks, and public buildings. It means another opportunity for safe and sound investment in a local concern.

THE UNITED MORTGAGE & REALTY COMPANY is organized under the laws of Massachusetts. Its charter permits it to make construction loans and loan its money on first and second mortgages on improved income-producing real estate. This means that it will deal in the safest kind of investments—that it will restrict its activities to this form of investment—that it will loan its money only on the finest kind of security——improved real estate in New England.

This company is starting when New England appears on the verge of a great awakening that promises to bring a revival of trade and activity to every state in the group, but more particularly to the great industrial section of which Worcester is the center. The present demands for loans of this character and the favorable outlook for the future point to no other conclusion than that the company is starting at a most auspicious time.

The decision of the men responsible for the formation of THE UNITED MORTGAGE & REALTY COMPANY came as a result of a careful investigation of the facilities for financing building operations. They found an opportunity for an institution such as this. Present facilities, excellent though they are, are not sufficient for this great and growing community.

No better example of the success of institutions similar to this can be found than the Bankers' Mortgage Corporation of Worcester, which was formed in 1923 and was a success from the time it began business. It is interesting to repeat what was said in the announcement of this company when it was formed. Of the men who were responsible for the establishment of the Bankers' Mortgage Corporation the announcement said:

"They were familiar with the success of the famous Guarantee & Trust Company of New York, which started with an original capital stock of $500,000 and now carries a surplus of $11,000,000. The Lawyers' Mortgage Company of New York City, was originally capitalized at $500,000, and each stockholder has received 12 times his original investment in stock dividends, as well as three times his original investment in cash dividends—$15,055 on an investment of $1000.

"They were familiar with the record of the Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company of New York, of S. W. Strauss & Company of New York and Chicago, of the Harris Loan & Trust Company of Chicago, of the Federal Bond & Mortgage Company of Detroit, and of similar successful institutions in other cities."

The authorized capitalization of the UNITED MORTGAGE & REALTY COMPANY is 60,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock with a par value of $10; 30,000 shares of class A non-voting common stock of no par value, and 10,000 shares of class B voting common stock of no par value.

The management of this company will be in the hands of men of proven integrity and ability. Board of Directors is made up of men who are experienced in determining real estate values and passing on credits. The board consists of:

L. M. CARPENTER, Jewett City, Conn.
President; Chairman of the Board of Directors of the L. A. W. Acceptance Corporation of Massachusetts; President, Jewett City Trust Company; General Manager, Ashland Cotton Company.

LOUIS A. WOLFE, Worcester, Mass.
Chairman of the Board; President of the L. A. W. Acceptance Corporation of Massachusetts.

SAMUEL ROSOFF, Worcester, Mass.
Vice President; Treasurer of L. A. W. Acceptance Corporation of Massachusetts.

CARL F. WHEELER, West Brookfield, Mass.
General Merchant.

I. S. LESBER, Worcester, Mass., Vice President

SIMON KAMINSKY, Putnam, Conn.
Treasurer.

THOMAS J. HOWARTH, Worcester, Mass.
Assistant Treasurer; Assistant Treasurer of L. A. W. Acceptance Corporation of Massachusetts.

H. B. CHAPMAN, Plainfield, Conn.
President, Chapman & Tripp, Lumber Dealers; Director, First National Bank of Plainfield.

THOMAS CROMPTON, Whitinsville, Mass.
Retired.

JAMES A. ELLIOTT, Rockville, Conn.
Retired.

L. SIDNEY ATWOOD, Chatham, Mass.
Merchant.

EDWARD H. GAUDETTE, Spencer, Mass.
Spencer National Bank.

ERNEST L. SMITH, Millbury, Mass.
Treasurer, Millbury Savings Bank.

JOHN M. TATEM, Eastford, Conn.
Probate Justice.

In making this announcement the directors of THE UNITED MORTGAGE & REALTY COMPANY are actuated by two motives. The first is to acquaint the people of this vicinity with the plans and purposes of this new company, and secondly to offer the conservative investor an opportunity for a safe and profitable investment.

REVISING POSTAL RATES

In the haste to enact postal rates that would provide revenue sufficient to meet the requirements of the increased pay for postoffice employees congress over a year ago changed and advanced the schedules. It did so without a careful study of the situation, although there was a strong protest made against such a move and it was pointed out that merely raising rates would not necessarily insure greater revenue. When it becomes necessary to pay the rates demanded for service the result is inevitable that the people are going without the service. The reaction has supported the contention that higher rates arbitrarily or unscientifically applied would have detrimental effects.

For some time there has been a congressional committee at work studying the effects of the existing rates with the idea of a revision. For the purpose of changing the present situation Postmaster General New has recommended changes which he believes should be made now. He says what the 100 per cent. increase in private postcard rates has done. Just about one quarter of the cards that were handled in 1925 will be handled this year if no change is made. That means a loss to the department. Revenue is being decreased instead of increased and the postmaster general would have the old one cent rate restored.

Likewise he would have restored the old rate on second class mail matter so that individuals who send newspapers through the mail would not be obliged to pay four cents, in some instances more than 3 cents, to send a newspaper through the mail. Because of the big gain in parcel post there has been a decrease in mail business to say nothing of the tremendous increase in receipts.

There are other recommendations including additional service and a check upon sharp practices which the postmaster general claims exist in the hope that they will be stamped out. With the present revenue laws tied and found wanting the time is certainly ripe for remedial action.

AGAINST UNAMERICAN OWNERS

Periodically there rises on the horizon the Japanese bogy-man's head, and a strip of territory in Mexico is the purpose of exploitation. Only recently there has been a repetition of such a statement, and as on all previous occasions it has aroused interest and concern.

In reply to heritages the statement is denied that Japan has been refused any war footing, and it is not improbable that that will prove to be the case. But there has been considerable position on the part of some one to arrange upon some land deal in Mexico to create an excuse for using the pression which it appears that the broadcasting of such a rumor is intended to create. Japanese gasoline that a dummy fire

Upon a closer investigation more pertinent reference becomes apparent that just before the World war there was a movement on the purchase of Mexican territory by Japan at Magdalena bay was under consideration. How this country feels about such a thing was clearly set forth at that time. It has no idea of tolerating such a thing, and for that matter there seems to be no good reason why Japan should want any such colony.

Can it be that there lies back of such a report an effort to get this country to purchase Magdalena bay or that long strip of territory belonging to Mexico and known as Lower California? We have no particular interest in that point of land beyond the protection that it would be against the acquisition by some other country but American Mexico fully understands how this country feels. It knows the attitude that was set forth more than a dozen years ago and it has reason to believe that it has not changed. It could not sanction any deal without anticipating the protest by this government, but if there is any doubt about it it would be quickly reemphasized should the facts of the matter require it. On the other hand it is to be realized that if that particular part of Mexico belonged to Uncle Sam it couldn't be used for inflammatory purposes every few years.

FRENCH PROGRESS

Has the French chamber of deputies stopped playing politics and gotten down to a serious consideration of the financial problems and the welfare of the nation?

To a certain extent that might seem possible in view of the fact that it has given support to the cabinet's proposals for the balancing of the budget and the provision for a small surplus. Cabinets have fallen and cabinet members have gone during the past two years while there has been no persistent an effort made to bring about such action. Seemingly the best interests of France have been disregarded during all that time. The political parties have been standing out for their wishes and the radical influences have been sufficient to block any constructive action, while offering none themselves.

The situation had gotten to the point where the franc was at its lowest, where French credit was suffering and where the Briand ministry was on the verge of resigning again. While France might have been getting the benefit of a sound policy, justly administered, all this time it has been obliged to swing along under a bothersome and aggravating handicap. The situation was known, the financial problems could not be dodged and yet it was impossible to get together upon a program. And yet now it is apparent that progress has been made simply because a portion of the deputies refrained from voting. Their silence permitted favorable action, but what is going to be their attitude as further measures concerning taxation are brought forward? Have they really reached the conclusion that their obstructive tactics must be abandoned? It seems to good to be true, but time will tell.

It is much better that France should get down to brass tacks and undertake some policy than to follow the course of the past two years and endeavor to get somewhere simply by drawing cabinets.

MUST AVOID DEFICITS

President Coolidge is still calling for action on the part of congress that will keep expenditures down and prevent a deficit. He was urging this before it was known what the revenue collections for the first quarter of the year would be and he is still holding to that position.

The president is fully cognizant of what congress is inclined to do when it anticipates a large surplus. Even the results of the first quarter have been so promising that they are apt to cause congress to lose restraint and pursue the reckless expenditures.

There are reasons for believing that the outlook is favorable, that the new revenue law is going to operate very satisfactorily and that there will be a surplus for the next two years, but that doesn't warrant extravagance. Right must not be lost of the fact that the country is staggering along under a huge debt and still paying taxes that were made necessary by the war. We have cut expenditures and kept down appropriations to such an extent that it is being reflected in lower taxation. The taxpayer cannot be said to be satisfied. Naturally he looks forward to the day when such taxes will be eliminated, and yet there can be no expectation of that useless sum now is made of the treasury funds that debts can be wiped out and deficits avoided. We cannot spend what we haven't got and get out of debt.

It is entirely possible that the first quarter payment will not be a fair indication of what the year's revenue is going to be and it is certainly an unwise thing to rush in to needless and unjustified expenditures on any such an assumption, following is known from the steadily increasing list of future tax reduction.

RED FOR DANGER

The recent conference at Washington of the executives of automobile clubs expressed themselves as being opposed to the idea of having various colored lights on the rear of motor vehicles to indicate the driver's intention to stop, which has been suggested at different times under the belief that it would be possible to distinguish more readily and that it would lead to confidence for the elimination of danger which might be caused by the blinking of indicator lights.

It would seem that if red on a motor car would mean that there would be no red and yellow danger lights some states might adopted one and some cling to the other it would mean a departure from the uniform which exists, at least for the most part, at the present time. Red has been considered a danger signal wherever it is seen and the opponents see no reason for the change which would for a time create confusion, and which would call for the scrapping of present equipment and the purchase of something new.

When automobile club executives voicing their opposition to such a change there are reasons for believing that they express the sentiment of auto drivers. The auxiliary light on rear of cars indicating when a car is standing down or stopping is not a new one. It may be green, red yellow or something else but it accomplishes the purpose by flashing. The red light on a pole meant be mistaken for a while for a red light on a motor but in either case no careful driver will be misguided. Red has indicated danger too long to cause trouble whenever it is.

Even admitting, as claimed, that Europe has borrowed much more money than it can pay it is only what a lot of people would like to do.

Think of a year with business so much better that revenue was only slightly cut under reduced taxation! Isn't it time something was done about it?

It will be a terrible blow if that 3.75 per cent malt doesn't prove to be a beverage. But if 4.4 per cent beer was unsatisfactory in Ontario perhaps too much is being expected of 3.75 per cent malt.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

The longest and from many viewpoints the most important of our Lord's addresses to his disciples is recorded in the Gospel of John, 13-17th chapters inclusive. It is a series of intimate contacts between the Master and his devoted followers. At times he repeats what he has said several times before for the purpose of emphasis and further application. His main object, however, is to put before them as clearly, fully, and at the same time, as cautiously as possible the fact of his early removal from them. He knows perfectly well what his passing is going to mean to them, and hence he aims to stimulate their courage, for they will not see till after his death how necessary it was for him to go if the spiritual kingdom of God is to be established on earth with power. Unless they are bound together by the strongest bonds of unity, that is love, for one another they will certainly fail.

Did you ever realize how much is contained in this sentence: "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye go and bear much fruit, and that your fruit should remain"? It must occur to the thoughtful person that the real workers of the world are the chosen men and women. The people who reach the highest distinction are those who get there through the selective process. Rulers who are chosen by the people are more apt to be able men and women than those who reach high office through the accident of birth. Has it not proven true in history that when great crises have arisen God has raised up men big enough to grapple with them? Jehovah went away up into Chaldea to find the right sort of a man to bring the scattered Jews into tribal unity. Just as truly was Washington chosen to lead the Continental army into victory, and found the United States.

In that farewell discourse the disciples were told that persecution would be their earthly reward as it was his. "If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you." He tells them very plainly "in the world ye shall have tribulation." The disciples are dealt with very honestly. Again and again they are told that they will not find the life of discipleship "a bed of roses." But he did tell them that the hard, rugged road of upright living was the only way to honor and immortality. They were told to "go and bring forth much fruit" and that their fruit should remain. The fidelity of these plain men—listeners of Galilee—made an impress on their own age. They went forth in his great name and succeeded if we are to judge by the spiritual results. The day of Pentecost with its 3,000 converts was only the beginning. They were fruitful workers.

The thought in the above paragraph establishes a principle that is seen everywhere and in all the walks of life. It is the man who works for all he is worth—other things, of course, being equal—who gets it. Ag ot, who [illegible] successful [illegible] ground." He is not [illegible] who is after the soft snap is the failure in the end, and that there is no [illegible] success without putting forth the utmost effort. To have a college [illegible] and illustration of this [illegible] is the best [illegible] success [illegible] who were [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

NEW YORK WILL LOSE BIG FIGHT IF COMMISSION DOES NOT CHANGE EDICT

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Tex Rickard with the Yanke stadium or Boyle's Thirty Acres as available arenas for his proposed Dempsey-Tunney match, has played his heavyweight cards so skillfully that the state athletic commission now must change front or see a million dollar title fight go to rival Jersey territory, boxing observers asserted today.

The promoter's latest maneuvers in gaining virtually monopolistic control of the heavyweight situation for 1926, have put the commission in a perplexing, if not embarrassing position, it was pointed out.

As matters stand now, the New York solons have put their foot down firmly on Dempsey-Tunney negotiations and clung consistently to their demand that Harry Wills, giant Negro contender, be given first call for a title bout with Dempsey.

On two occasions Rickard and his matchmaker, Jess McMahon, have been interrogated without tangible result. The promoter's answer, if facile signs can be read accurately, has been to push his negotiations for the Dempsey-Tunney fracas without taking Wills into consideration. In fact, Rickard, in so many words, has said he does not care to promote a Dempsey-Wills encounter, this year at any rate. And by having two arenas available in rival states, either capable of handling a million-dollar attraction, cities see the promoter in an advantageous position.

Within the past few weeks, occasional suggestion has been made that the commission may seek a loop-hole which would enable it to eliminate Wills from the picture temporarily and pave the way for Tunney and Dempsey to meet in this state. Considerable political pressure, it has been said, is being exerted toward this end. At the same time, it is pointed out, any alteration of the commission's stand in opposing Wills' title challenge would have it conspicuously open to charges of inconsistency.

One alternative suggested is that Wills and Tunney fight it out here for the right to box Dempsey, thus settling the status of the two outstanding challengers, but Wills already has rejected one opportunity for such a test. His attitude has been that he is entitled to first call without any further preliminaries by having for several years proved his right to the top challenging position.

It is possible that some of the atmosphere may be cleared when the commission holds its regular meeting next Tuesday, at which time dates sought by Rickard for Yankee stadium shows during the summer are likely to be acted upon. He already has said he would prefer August 12 or September 9 for his "big shot." Presumably the Dempsey-Tunney match.

HUGGINS SAYS HIS TEAM WILL BOTHER SOMEBODY

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3.—(AP)—The New York Yankees may not play in the world's series next fall, but they will furnish the American League team that does "a whole lot of bothering" Miller Huggins, their manager said today. Huggins, here with the team for an exhibition match with the Brooklyn team, gave out a statement which he termed "the first comprehensive resume of spring training developments."

"There is only one place in the Yankee combination that is likely to cause trouble and that is the infield," Huggins stated, adding that his infield was of "tremendous intrinsic strength but as yet undeveloped." He is confident that by the time the season opens his combination in the infield will have developed co-ordination in defensive play.

"I have no doubt about the offensive. All those boys can hit," Huggins said. "I am a great believer in developing the disposition of a player as well as his skill and I am frank to say that as yet I cannot tell what my infield is going to do."

Huggins believes that Gehrig at first, Lazzeri at second and Koenig at short will produce. Each is 21 years old and lacks only experience.

COLLEGIATE SWIMMERS AFTER TITLES REDUCED TO 33

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 2.—(AP)—Two elimination contests and an epidemic of last minute withdrawals today reduced contestants for the national individual intercollegiate swimming championships to 30. The finalists, representing 12 colleges and universities in the east, middle west and west, will take to the water in the Naval Academy tank tomorrow.

Fall of Stanford and O'Brien of Illinois will flip from the springboard tomorrow as the leading contenders for the national fancy diving honors. They qualified with ratings of 82.9 and 77.6 respectively.

In the 200 yard breast stroke, Allan of the Navy covered the distance in 2.49 3-10 for a new Navy pool record, but his time was more than six seconds slower than the intercollegiate record.

FITCHBURG ENTERS H. S. BASKETBALL SEMI-FINALS

CHICAGO, April 2.—(AP)—Fitchburg, Mass., went into the semi-finals of the national interscholastic basketball meet here tonight when it eliminated Natlcoke, Pa., the only other eastern team remaining in the title play, by a 23 to 4 score.

The game was the first one in the round before the semi-finals in the invitational tilt sponsored by the University of Chicago.

With the score tied two minutes before the finish, Miyakangas of the Fitchburg team was fouled as he tossed a basket which went through the hoop.

SCHAFER PRACTICALLY SURE OF 18.1 BILLIARD TITLE

NEW YORK, April 2.—(AP)—Jake Schaefer increased his lead over the champion, Willie Hoppe, in their 3600-point 18.1 balkline billiard title match by winning tonight's block 300 to 35, running out in five innings.

With only two blocks to be played tomorrow, it appeared that Hoppe had lost his last crown, and once upon a time he held them all. Schaefer had 145 at the start of tonight's block, while Hoppe could make only one in the same inning.

The champion's high run was 35.

Schaefer: 145, 0, 56, 99—300. Previous total 2700. Grand total 3000.

Hoppe: 1, 24, 10—35. Previous total 2332. Grand total 2367.

NURMI TURNS DOWN OFFER TO COMPETE AT PHILADELPHIA

NEW YORK, April 2.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi has decided definitely not to accept the invitation of the Amateur Athletic Union to compete in the National championships at Philadelphia in July, according to information received today from the Flying Finn by Christ Dalton, local athletic official.

The news came on a picture postal card to Dalton in which Nurmi sent his "best regards" to American athletes "from the land of ice and snow." He said he had started training, again adding that "judging from results so far, I believe I will get into good shape."

NOANK NUGGETS HAVE GOOD SEASON'S RECORD

During the past season the Noank Nuggets played 16 basketball games winning 11 and losing five. The season's record follows:

CRUICKSHANK WINS NORTH AND SOUTH GOLF TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., April 2.—(AP)—Bobby Cruickshank, of New York, today won the united north and south open golf championship here, leading the field in medal play at the end of the 72 holes with a score of 295.

Cruickshank's victory, however, was not an easy one for only one stroke separated him from Arthur Yates Rochester, New York, who strove desperately to overtake the New Yorker in the afternoon round. The winner faltered at the start of the final round when he required a 40 going out, but a sensational comeback with 34 won the title for him.

Another player who missed a chance at the title by erratic putting was entire four rounds. Joe Kirkwood, Australia, who had been near the top during the entire four rounds. Poe Kirkwood, Albany, Georgia, with 296 was fifth.

Walter Hagen, American professional champion, who entered the tournament a favorite, finished with a 299, tied with Tommy Armour, Washington, D. C. Fred McLeod, also of Washington, was a single stroke better than his fellow townsman when the play ended.

EASTERN STATES SCHOLASTIC BASKETBALL TITLE AT STATE

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., April 2.—(AP)—The Eastern States scholastic basketball championship will be decided here April 7, 8 and 9 when the seventh annual Glens Falls tournament will be played in the Junior High School gymnasium.

Passaic High school, of Passaic, N. J., won the championship last year and is returning to defend its title. The other entries are: St. John's Preparatory school, Danvers, Mass., Catholic champions of New England; Berlin, N. H., High school, claimants of northern New Hampshire championship; Christian Brothers Academy, Syracuse, N. Y., claimants of the New York State Championship; Horace Mann High school, Private school champions of Greater New York, Lebanon, N. H., high school, Connecticut Valley champions; Massey school, of Stamford, Conn., preparatory school champions of Connecticut and Glens Falls High school, city champions.

YALE WINS COLLEGE SABRE AND FOILS TITLE

NEW YORK, April 2.—(AP)—Yale's fencing team made a clean sweep in the intercollegiate championships by winning the sabre and foils titles today after annexing the Epee honors last night.

The Eli fencers went through their five foils matches without a defeat after rolling up a winning total of 16 points in the sabre competitions with three victories and two tied matches.

Harvard placed second in the foils with four victories and one defeat, with Navy, 1925 champion, and Columbia, tied for third with two triumphs and three defeats. Army and Cornell brought up in the rear with one victory in five matches.

The Yale team wins a leg on the Colonel Robert M. Thompson challenge trophy by virtue of its victory in the foils.

STRIBLING MATCHED WITH RISKO FOR MAY 14TH

MIAMI, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Young Stribling, Georgia fighter, will meet Johnny Risko of Cleveland, Ohio, in Madison Square Garden on May 14.

The announcement was made here tonight by "Pa" Stribling, father-manager of the Georgia fighter Mr. Stribling exhibited a wire from Jess McMahon, Madison Square Garden matchmaker who declared that he had signed Risko today.

Mr. Stribling also announced a brief barnstorming tour for Young Stribling previous to this match. He will meet Chick Burns at Wichita, Kansas; Tom Marvin at Oklahoma City and Joe Lohman at Kansas City, Missouri, on unannounced dates.

He will train for the fight in Miami.

ROBINSON APPOINTED AS HEAD COACH AT B. U.

BOSTON, April 2.—(AP)—Edward N. Robinson, former head coach of Brown university football teams, was today appointed coach at Boston university Reginald W. P. Brown, his assistant at Brown, also has been appointed to the Boston university coaching staff. George V. Brown, director of athletics at Boston university, made public the announcement for the athletics at council.

A further addition to the football coaching staff, Director Brown announced, will be Hilary Mahany, former Holy Cross end. Mahany, who starred during his career with the Purple, will coach the ends at B. U. next season.

CHAPIN AND TILDEN TO CLASH IN FINALS TODAY

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., Springfield, Mass., and William Tilden, Philadelphia, national champion, advanced to the finals of the South Atlantic tennis tournament here today. Howard Voshell, Brooklyn, N. Y., defaulted after one set had been won by Chapin, 11-9, and a second had dragged through 16 games to stand at 8-all.

Tilden defeated Jerry Lang, New York, 2-6, 6-4, 6-7, 6-4, 6-3.

In a Belfast court the other day a law 250 years old was invoked to prevent golfers playing over the Royal Portrush club course on Sundays.

Kaplan Matched With Chapin

MERIDEN, April 2.—(AP)—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, of this city, world's featherweight champion, was signed today to meet Mickey Chapin, Scranton, Pa., lightweight at Scranton on April 12. Kaplan's title will not be at stake, both being scheduled to weigh in at 133 pounds. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds.

OFFICIALS OF TAMPA RACING TO BE BROUGHT TO COURT

TAMPA, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Thwarted in previous attempts to end horse racing at Tampa Downs, County Solicitor R. E. L. Chance today filed a bill of information in criminal court naming forty officials and employes of the West Coast Jockey club. Th bill contained five counts, all charging conspiracy to violate a state law and sponsoring betting.

Harvey Meyers, president, was among those named. The others were ticket sellers, starters and other employes of the club. Capiases for their arrest were turned over to the sheriff. Each will be required to give bond.

The charges filed today a week before the met is scheduled to close, followed appeals previously made to the state attorney general and the Florida supreme court to close the track.

Several days before the club opened on February 13, an injunction was granted against the club, restraining racing. Attorneys for the club obtained a supersedeas order from the state supreme court and the racing is now being held under that order.

Trial of the turfmen on the charges preferred today probably will come up in criminal court during the term which begins April 19.

CHICAGO, April 2.—(AP)—The rumble of disrupted training camps swelled in volume today as personnel and baggage pertaining to spring training camps of the major league baseball clubs were rounded up preparatory to the movement toward home ballwicks.

HALLEN OF LEBANON WINS CHECKER CHAMPIONSHIP OF EASTERN CONN.

Good Friday has come and gone but before the day had completely passed a new champion was added to the ever increasing list of different champions reigning in the different parts of eastern Connecticut and he shall be known as the checker champion of this part of the state. For over 12 hours representatives of the different cities and villages east of the Connecticut river battled for supremacy until finally Carl Hallen of Lebanon won out over William Warren of Putnam, who, although had to be content with second prize, did himself and the city of Putnam, whom he represented, credit, playing a strong consistant game throughout the day and finally holding the new champ to three draws before losing claim to the title.

Champion Hallen well earned the right to his title, meeting the best of them throughout the day, always playing slowly and steadily until finally his last opponent was eliminated.

Some of the players were rather late in arriving and it was almost 10:45 a. m. before the players were matched up to play the first round, 16 players taking part. The first man to be eliminated was John Johnson of Norwich who lost three straight games to Edmund Dubois, Sr., of Putnam. Frank Gillan, representing the Norwich checker club was the next one to be eliminated, losing two games to E. L. Pultz of North Franklin, after holding him to two draws. Gillan is only a youngster and received compliments from every direction in playing such a strong game against Pultz, who is older and much more experienced and everyone agrees that Gillan has the making of a strong player with a little more seasoning. Frank Stanton of Putnam won three straight from Ernest Dubreuil of Plainfield.

Charles McSheffery of Taftville was eliminated by William Warren of Putnam, winning one, losing two, and playing one draw. Fred Booth of Norwich defeated Henry Dubois of Putnam, winning three and losing one.

The real feature of the first round was the elimination of Eddie Mack of New London by Joseph Gorman of Norwich, these men playing three consecutive draws, finally Gorman winning the last game. The last one to be eliminated in the first round was Judge Geissler of Putnam who was paired up against the new champ Carl Hallen. These two were playing for three hours before Hallen succeeded in eliminating the judge winning two, losing one and playing one draw.

Following this round the Duwell club members served an appetizing menu of chowder, rolls, pie and coffee. At 2 o'clock the second round was started with eight players. The following were eliminated in this round: Edmond Dubois of Putnam, losing two games to Fred Booth of this city; Harry Burton losing to E. L. Pultz, Frank Stanton who lost three straight to William Warren and Joseph Gorman who lost to Carl Hallen. The features of this round was the match between Burton and Pultz, the first four games resulting in a win apiece and two draws, Pultz finally winning out in the two extra games. Gorman and Hallen also had to play extra games, the results of which were one win apiece and five draws, as these two men played draws in the extra two games they balloted for the right to enter the semi-finals. Hallen proving the luckiest. Although Gorman had to drop out it was not because he couldn't stand the pace but simply being a case of having the breaks against him.

Immediately following the second round, the semi-finals were played Carl Hallen winning three straight games from Fred Booth after losing the first one. After playing the allotted four games and the two extra ones allowed in case of a tie, Pultz and Warren remained deadlocked with two wins apiece and two draws. On the ballott, Warren earned the right to enter the finals against Hallen, his name being the one drawn from the balloting box.

Following the semi-finals the players again sat down to a lunch prepared by the club, consisting of potato salad, sliced cheese, sweet pickles, rolls, assorted cakes and coffee. During the dinner hour music was furnished by the Duwell Hot Tamales, a ten piece orchestra, composed of club members who only recently were organized, but in the last month have done remarkably well in rounding into a well balanced dance orchestra. They received compliments from every direction in regards to the well arranged program which was presented.

George Moles during the lunch hour, spoke a few words in appreciation of the wonderful treatment given the players during the day by the members of the Duwell club.

Following the concert which ended at 7:45 p. m., William Warren of Putnam and Carl Hallen of Lebanon, the two who had earned the right to play in the finals, proceeded to play for the championship of eastern Connecticut. Both players played a very slow and thorough game. The first game was a draw, each man watching every move very closely. Hallen won the second game and after two long drawn draw games, was pronounced as the checker champion of the eastern part of the state. Immediately following the finals, which lasted three hours, Chairman James V. Peaace of the Duwell sports committee, awarded the lovely cup and $25 in gold to Carl Hallen, the winner. William Warren, the runner-up received $10 in gold, while both E. L. Pultz and Fred Booth received $5 apiece, these two men playing in the semi-finals.

The success of the tournament was largely due to the efforts of Chairman James Peaace, and Secretary Robert Woodmansee, Jr., of the sports committee. The serving of lunch was handled by William Shanley, Charles Dickenman, John Williamson, Archie Spaulding, A. E. Fowler, L. Williamson, Arthur Disco, William Peaace and several other members of the club. The meals were prepared through the kindness of Mrs. Robert Woodmansee who was voted a most desirable cook and Mrs William E. Shanley who prepared the coffee served at both meals. The scorers for the games were Charles Coleman, Archie Spaulding and P. Bowens.

PHILLIES AND ATHLETICS IN CITY SERIES GAME TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, April 2—(AP)—All of the Phillies and about half of the Athletics came home from the south today and will meet tomorrow for the third game in the spring series for the city championship. The first two games were played in the south, the American leaguers winning both.

The Phillies celebrated their home coming by signing up Walter (Butch) Henline, their star catcher, thus making the family circle complete.

FIRPO AND SPALLA TO MEET IN RING TONIGHT

BUENOS AIRES, April 2—(AP)—Luis Firpo, Argentine heavyweight champion, and Erminio Spalla, of Italy, will enter the ring tomorrow night for their second meeting in Buenos Aires in a little over two years. The match is scheduled to go fifteen rounds.

Although there is relatively little betting, Firpo is the favorite. His followers look for a knockout before the fifth round.

The Italian champion has been here for a month training intensively and is said to have specialized in defensive tactics.

WM. GARDINER DORPS DEAD AT WORK IN COAL YARD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 2.—William Gardiner, 30, colored and unmarried, a resident of Pond street, Westerly, dropped dead Friday morning at about 11.20 o'clock in the Andrews company coal yard, 107 Main street. Gardiner was in front of a truck loaded for coal delivery when he was overcome. As he fell to the ground it is believed he struck the radiator of the truck, several scratches appearing on his forehead. Dr. John Champlin, Jr., was called, but the man was dead.

Dr. Champlin summoned Medical Examiner M. H. Scanlon, who ordered the body taken to local undertaking rooms. While it is thought that death was due to a sudden heart attack, Dr. Scanlon will make further investigation before announcing his findings. Cecil M. Beringer was said to be the only witness, although William Parks of Ashaway was close at hand when the man dropped to the ground.

An examination of the truck showed that the ignition was off and the gas from the supply pipe completely shut off.

Friday morning at his home, 6 Pauline street, Pawcatuck, occurred the death of Rosario Lombardo, 60, a well known West Side resident.

He was born in Tusa, Italy, in 1863, coming to this country about 1905. During his 20 years of residence here he was employed for the greater part of the time by the Groton and Stonington Traction Co. He made many friends on the West Side and was generally liked by his own countrymen. He was a member of the Sons of Italy. Besides his wife, Anna Tudisco Lombardo he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Benedetta Grilla and Mrs. Annunziata Caruso of Westerly, and Mrs. Catherine Perrona of Elizabeth, N. J., and three sons, Dominic Lombardo of New London, Samuel Lombardo of Westerly and Joseph Lombardo of Elizabeth, N. J., a stepson, Angelo Fazio of Westerly, and four grandchildren.

The funeral of John J. Kennelly was held Thursday afternoon at 2.45 o'clock from his home, 71 Liberty street. At 3 o'clock at St. Michael's church Rev. Michael Keating read the burial service. Because of Holy Week, there was no requiem high mass, but one will be celebrated later. Burial was in St. Michael's Old Cemetery, where the committal service was by Father Keating. The bearers were James G. Butler, James A Keane, John Keegan, Michael J. Burke, John Donahue and Joseph Keane.

Before Judge William A. Wilcox in a special session of Stonington town court, Frank O. Brown of Pawcatuck was present charged with neglecting to support a minor child, who has been cared for during the past few months by a private family on the West Side.

In court he stated that he was at present out of work and had no funds, but he expressed a willingness to support his child. His case was continued on May 3, and he was released on bonds of $500.

In the prize essay contests held annually for Pawcatuck school students, the subjects in the Peleg S. Barber Memorial Essay Contest, which is open to high and grammar school pupils residing in the old 18th school district of the town of Stonington (embracing the thickly populated section of Pawcatuck), will be announced upon the re-opening of the Stonington schools April 12. The essays are to be written during May and the prizes will be awarded at the Commencement exercises in June. The prizes, which in past years were $20, $10 and $5, have been increased this year to $25, $15 and $10, due to an increase in the principal of the Peleg S. Barber Memorial Essay Fund. This growth of the principal was caused by the fact that the annual payment of $40 in prizes did not use up the annual interest in its entirety.

This meeting of the Westerly Visiting Nurse association is to be held Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock in the children's room of the Memorial and Public library. Following the business meeting Mrs. Austin T. Levy of Harrisville, R. I., will give a short talk on "Some New Phases of Public Health Work." Mrs. Levy is one of the lay representatives on the board of directors of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, and is also chairman of the lay section of the Rhode Island state branch of that organization.

Grand Tall Cedar Harry A. Sanderson of the Providence Forest of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon was present Friday evening at a preliminary organization meeting held in Champlin hall on Main street. It is planned to have the charter close on the 15th of this month.

have the charter close on the 15th of this month. Sixty-five signers were obtained for the Westerly order at the meeting presided over by Mr. Sanderson. Officers were elected as follows: Tall Cedar, Howard D. McFarland; deputy tall cedar, Walter H. Snyder; secretary, William A. Phillips; treasurer, David Robertson.

Alan A. Palmenter, 85, was taken suddenly ill Friday afternoon about two o'clock in the store of E. Howard Clark and was taken to the Westerly hospital. Late tonight his recovery was marked and he is to be discharged from that institution tomorrow.

Murray is organist.

Pawcatuck Congregational church. Organ prelude, pastorale Guillvant; selections from cantata, "From Cross Crown" by Fred W. Peace. Organ prelude "Hallelujah Chorus" Handel. Robert Valentine is organist and choir director.

At Pawcatuck Seventh day Baptist church the following musical program for Easter will be carried out this (Saturday) morning: Prelude, anthem, The Royal Banners Forward Go, Peace; anthem, Genteuns and Lord's Prayer; doxology, psalm, Gloria Patri; anthem, Christ is Risen, Hallelujah, Birch; Scripture lesson, hymn; prayer and response; offertory, duet, The Saviour Liveth, Wilson; notices; hymn; sermon; prayer; hymn; benediction; postlude, organ, Finale in A, Cuthbert Harris. Mr. J. H. Tanner, chorister; Mrs. J. B. Eaton, organist; Miss Amy Eaton, violinist.

Grace Methodist Episcopal church Morning service: Organ prelude; hymn; Apostles' Creed; prayer and response; anthem, Mary at the Sepulchre, Stafford; responsive reading, Easter; Gloria Patri; New Testament lessons; offertory, soprano solo; hymn; administration of Lord's supper; benediction; doxology and organ postlude. J. H. Tanner, chorister; P. Hoxie, organist.

Evening service: Organ prelude; processional; invocation; hymn; Apostles' Creed; prayer and response; anthem, The Royal Banners Forward Go, Peace; responsive reading, Easter; Gloria Patri; New Testament lessons; offertory, soprano solo; hymn; sermon; cantata, The Crucified, Nevin; benediction; postlude. Narragansett commandery, No. 27, Knights Templars, John A. Hoag, commander, are especially invited to the evening service.

The union service at the M. E. church, Thursday evening in commemoration of the Lord's supper was in charge of Rev. Marvin S. Stocking, pastor. The devotions and prayer were led by Rev. Arnt L. Schoning of the Christian church and the address was delivered by Rev. Lewis A. Walker of Calvary church. The administration of the Lord's supper followed, in charge of the pastor, assisted by Rev. Mr. Schoning and Walker. Nearly one hundred attended.

Frank Robertson, a senior at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, is passing the Easter vacation as the guest of Westerly relatives and friends.

Mrs. Hattie Ellis is visiting friends in New Haven, leaving Friday noon.

Miss Mary T. Thorpe of Jamestown is spending the Easter week vacation with her parents here.

NORWICH WITNESSES IN EMIL ANDERSON CASE

WESTERLY, R. I., April 3.—In the third district court Friday morning, but one case was tried, that of Emil Anderson, who was arrested in Norwich, and against whom larceny complaints were brought for tools alleged to have been taken in Potter Hill. He stated that he wanted trial, but without counsel, taking the stand in his own defense. He was found probably guilty and held in $1,000 bail to await the next session of grand jury in superior court for Washington county, April 19th at West Kingstown.

Other arraignments were made, but without trial.

Judge Oliver H. Williams read the following: Criminal docket, state, Thomas E. Brown, chief of police of Westerly, complainant, vs. Francis O'Brien. This was a complaint which alleged that on the 30th of March the place of Francis L. Holliday on Granite street, about 1 p. m., was entered and goods amounting to $100.61 were stolen. The defendant, entering a plea of not guilty, waived examination and was adjudged probably guilty and required to recognize in the sum of $100 for his appearance before the grand jury in the April term of superior court.

State, Thomas E. Brown, complainant vs. Louis Gradolini, continued two weeks; vs. Frank Terranova, continued two weeks; vs. Samuel Main, continued two weeks. State, James E. Norman, R. I. state trooper, vs. Charles Golden, continued two weeks. State, Thomas E. Brown, vs. Henry F. Narrone, continued two weeks; vs. James Pignataro, ready; vs. James Pignataro, ready; vs. Christine Gradolini, ready; vs. Emil Anderson, ready; vs. Francis O'Brien, later consideration.

The cases of the state vs. Pignataro, represented by Attorney Ledwidge were also passed temporarily.

Trial calendar—State, vs. Christine Gradolini. Charles Ruisi, sworn as interpreter asked the defendant if she had counsel and by direction of Judge Williams if she wanted council. "Leave it entirely to the court," said the defendant. Judge Williams asked if she continued her plea of not guilty and if she did she would have to have a hearing. "Leave it to the mercy of the court," she replied and Interpreter Ruisi told the judge that he was trying to plead nolo. The defendant said that she had nothing to say and understood that other parties were not going to push the case, which was one of assault.

The trial of Emil Anderson was taken up. Amos Elson was sworn as an interpreter but said that he did not talk the same dialect as the accused Finlander but would attempt translations.

Through the interpreter Anderson requested a hearing of his case and stated that he would endeavor to defend himself.

Henry C. Davis, police officer in Norwich, on duty there last Monday was called to the store, he testified on the stand that he saw the defendant in the store and that the accused had nothing in his possession. He saw a box of tools, which had been in defendant's possession and identified them. Questioning him he was informed that they had been purchased in New London from a man as the accused declared, for $7.50. Anderson came to Norwich by bus, paying a 50 cent fare. Witness placed the man under arrest, taking him to the Norwich chief of police, George Linton.

Albert Hart, employed at the Potter Hill mill as overseer, identified the numbering machine and punch missing from the mill since last Monday morning. He never saw the other tools. Homer Clarke of Potter Hill testified that he saw Anderson last Saturday go by his house on the Ashaway road 400 yards from the bridge, when he looked out of the window. Eugene Perrin of Potter Hill gave the same testimony and Hart recalled to the stand identified pieces of cloth found in the finishing department and in the sewing department.

Mrs. Rees identified the cloth as part of that which had apparently been slept in at the mill and Mrs. Perrin identified a pair of scissors which Sheriff Mitchell testified to having taken from the pocket of the accused and which she had used for five years. Sheriff Mitchell told of the trip to Norwich with Chief Brown, Solicitor Ferguson and Charles W. Austin, employed at the Potter Hill mill, who identified his own loom fixer's tools at Chief Linton's office. Chief Brown identified scissors, pieces of cloth and where they were found. No questions were asked by the accused.

Anderson took the stand and told a story of having bought the tools of an intoxicated man at the New London station. On cross examination he said he was born in Finland in 1892, came to America first in 1914 and a second time in 1916. On the last time he landed in Boston and had worked in Winooski, Vt., Yantic, Thamesville, Webster, Holyoke, Adams, Maple Grove, Mass., and that he had not been in Maine or New Jersey. Leaving New York about 5 o'clock he arrived in New London after 9 o'clock and on the next day could not see the tools at a pawn shop, went to a lunch room and then left New London for Norwich.

Jurors for service from the town of Westerly, as grand and petit jurymen having been selected by the Westerly town council, Town Clerk Everett E. Whipple has served his warrant upon the Westerly town sergeant for their summons to act in the April term of superior court for Washington county.

Town Sergeant George L. Madison began Friday the issuing of notifications, as follows:

Grand jurors—Howard C. Langworthy, farmer; David Lowry, paving cutter; Maurice L. Laing, carpenter and Charles M. Lamb, grocer.

Petit jurors—Robert Duff, machinist; Simeon C. Dion, foreman; Columbus Pasetti, granite cutter; Charles E. Sherman, builder; Thomas H. Collings, trucking; Joseph Coduri, granite manufacturer; William J. Hutt, driver; F. Stewart Greene, artist; and Arthur E. Briggs, machinist.

Grand jurors are required to attend the Washington county superior court to be holden at the court house, South Kingstown, on the 19th day of April, 1926, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon.

Petit jurors are required to attend the session of Washington county superior court for the April term, beginning on the 21st day of April, 1926, at 9:30 o'clock, forenoon, in the court house in South Kingstown.

March 31.—Samuel H. Davis to Pasquale Terranova, two parcels of land, Nos. 55 and 56, Oak street center.

April 1.—Samuel H. Davis to Nunziato Curto, two certain lots of land, Nos. 45 and 46, Oak street center.

April 2.—James W. Burke to Ames A. Champlin and Geneva R. Champlin a certain parcel of land on the south side of the Boston Post road you can count on keeping it

years longer than other cars

Do away with vibration—cut friction to a fraction—abolish carbon troubles and valve grinding—and you add years to the life of your car.

In the poppet-valve-engined car, it is the pounding of cams against push-rods, the contact of push-rods on rocker-arms, the recoil of valves under coiled springs that cause vibration.

In the sleeve-valve-engined Willys-Knight there is no pounding of metal upon metal. The Knight engine is simplicity itself. It consists of but two metal sleeves operating with a gliding motion. No vibration. No friction. Simply two single sleeves working smoothly, silently, up and down, one within the other, in a constant film of oil—and that is all!

Carbon, too, shortens the life of the poppet-valve engine. The only remedy is valve-grinding. And this assembling-and-tearing-down process weakens the engine every time it is performed.

Carbon troubles cannot exist—there is no valve-grinding—with the sleeve-valve-engined Willys-Knight. The unique principle of this patented engine provides that carbon only serves to seal compression and prevent power-waste. Instead of weakening, it literally gives this car added years of life and usefulness. Instead of harming, as it does all other engines, it actually helps the Knight engine to perform!

The new WILLYS FINANCE PLAN means less money down, lower monthly payments; and the lowest credit-cost in the industry.

Prices from $1790 to $2495. We reserve the right to change prices and specifications without notice.

POETRY

The Faith of Easter

Faith is the substance of things hoped for —Heb. 11:1

The Immortal Life revealed, attained above,
Involves the Immortality of Love.

Of God's Love—heights and depths yet to unfold,
Of Christ's Love—Calvary's themes told and retold,
Of Holy Spirit's Love, all souls befriending,
Of Angel's Love, God's messages outsending,
Of Love which souls renewed on all bestow,
Of Love sincere, that human lives now know,
Of Earth's affections, various, pure, increased,
All selfish loves and self-willed sinning ceased.

Fear not the spirit's flight! Then will it be Earth's darksome haze dissolving, we shall see
Loved, well-known faces peering thro' the mist,
Familiar, dear, as when their lips we kissed—
Entranced, note soft, sweet eyes, once more a-gleam
Not as though mirrored on some crystal stream
But tender, thrilling hearts as before [illegible]
Warm welcomes giving, as border land we cross.

Sealed chrysalis of flesh no longer binding,
And these loved "ministering spirits" finding,
Paradise 'twill be to hear pronounced our name,
Receive embrace, remembered well, the same!
But [illegible] fact, not dubious seeming!
O'er [illegible] surpassing, that engaging smile
That tells, "We've waited you so long a while!"
While trumpet's sound that safely we've arrived
Forgiven perfected, faultless deemed by Him
The great "Forerunner, for us entered in."
Then vision overmastering, of His Love
Hearing, "My love for you prepared this place,
My Saving Love, ages to come shall show,
As I on thee Eeternal Life bestow!"

Who'd miss of dying
Miss Life's Harvest Hour
Of Love's completeness, Heaven's Dower!
—Rev. George G. Phipps.

Easter Message

She spoke to a seeming stranger
Beside that grave new made.
"They have taken away my Lord," she said,
"And I know not where He is laid!"

"Mary," the loved voice thrilled her:
"Master," she quick replied
And turned to the luminous presence
Of Him with the wounded side.

And there to her kneeling, He uttered
The Word that ever endures:
"Go say to my brethren, Mary,
I ascend to my Father and yours"
—Lelia A. W. Reeve in Nautilus.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Suitor—I can't live without your daughter, sir.

Rich Paren—All right, I'll pay for the funeral.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Whatcha doin' with all that wire
Goin' to build a wireless.—University of Michigan Gargoyle.

Taylor—Don't you think you ought to put a horn on your car?

Saylor—That's a good idea. I'll put a good sharp one on in place of the pumper.—Detroit News.

Solicitor—My client is most respectable. He bottles that excellent commidity—stout.

Magistrate—Yes, we deal with its after effects in this court.—Tit-Bits.

My friend, said the missionary, are you travelling the straight and narrow path?

In silence the man handed over his card, which read: Signor Ballanelo, Tight-Rope Walker.—Humorist.

Do much sight-seeing when you were abroad.

No, answered Mr. Blank. Mother and the girls did the sightseeing. I had to put in my time finding the places where they cash letters of credit.—Judge.

I had an unusual experience today.

What happened?

I upset an ink bottle on my new dress.

Nothing unusual about that!

Yes, there was: the bottle was empty.—The Progressive Grocer.

The captain, taking inspection, noticed Private Brown had no toothbrush.

Where's your tooth-brush? he demanded.

You don't mean to tell me you ever get that thing into your mouth? shouted the captain, angrily.

No, sir, replied Brown, without changing his expression. I take out the teeth.—Good Hardware.

The Face on the Floor

'Twas a balmy summer evening, and a goodly crowd was there.
Which well nigh filled Joe's bar room that stood upon the square.
And as songs and witty stories came through the open door.
A vagabond came slowly in and stood upon the floor.

"Where did it come from?" some one said.
The wind has blown it in."
What does it want?" another cried, some whiskey, rum or gin?
Here, Toby, stic him, if your stomach's equal to the work!"
I wouldn't touch him with a fork; He's filthy as a Turk."

"Give me a drink. That's what I want, I'm out of funds you know;
When I had cash to treat the gang this hand was never slow.
What you laugh as though you thought this pocket had never held a sou
My boys, I once was fixed as well as any one of you."

April 7—Club No. 5 meets in Buckingham Memorial.

He has gathered together the broken threads,
With the help of a few faithful hearts;
And silently now in his beautiful way,
He is weaving the whole from the pasts.

He is working with the fragments of faith and hope,
Given to him day by day;
And he's weaving a kingdom for you and for me,
A world that shall pass not away.

And we as disciples must help his plan
By finding the threads that are lost;
And well may we labor together each one
No matter how great be the cost.

For someday this weaver shall wake us at morn,
When there's sunshine and blue sky above,
To witness his finished task our great Lord,
The beautiful kingdom of love.

Thankful

I lost my arm in '63,
My leg in '64.
The rheumatism bothers me.
My knee is sometimes sore:
But though the fact you'll plainly note
I'm blind as any bat.
My tongue is nimble as a goat,
I thank the Lord for that.

I lost my job at 73,
I tell the simple truth.
As 80 never more I'll see
I've passed my early youth,
I'm now a drone within the hive,
Fates used me as a mat.
But bless your heart, I'm still alive,
I thank the Lord for that.

No friend my memory can [illegible]
I'm living all alone;
I have no home to give a dog,
No dog to gnaw a bone.
No relative to pass a word
Of comfort tit for tat,
But I've a tame canary bird,
I thank the Lord for that.

No turkey will my table bless:
I haven't got the price.
I do not pumpkin pies possess,
Thouan pumpkin pies are nice.
But, still, a slice of ham's all right,
I love it lean or fat.
And I've a famous appetite.
I thank the Lord for that.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS AND HELPS

Dear Members: I am sending in a few household hints and helps which I trust some of the sisters will try I have proven them to be all right.

Grease the top of the kettle each time and contents will not boil over.

Save your lemon rinds and use them for kindling. A handful of dried lemon rinds will revive a fire that is most out.

To cut brown bread when hot use a piece of common twine instead of a knife. Cross the twine after it is put around the loaf the width of the slice and draw the ends and the brown bread will cut smooth.

Heat the knife to cut white bread smoothly.

Add a teaspoon of ginger to doughnuts and they will not soak fat.

To keep cheese from molding or drying up dampen a cloth with vinegar, wrap it up and keep in a covered dish.

Milk will keep longer and more cream will rise if kept in a shallow pan instead of a deep one.

In a bowl or pan has any kind of food stuck to it turn it upside down in a pan of hot water and leave it awhile and it will be easier to wash.

To remove ink stain soak the spot in sweet milk. As soon as milk gets dark change and use fresh.

Stain mixed with lemon juice will remove iron rust.

Moisten spot and then hold over a dish of boiling water. When pressing woolen goods spread a newspaper over the material instead of a cloth and there will be no lint to brush off.

Put one tablespoon of starch in a quart of water and sprinkle tablecloth with it. Makes them look like new.

When boiling tough meat add a little soda to the water and simmer gently and the meat will be much tenderer.

To test eggs put them in water. A fresh egg will sink a poor egg will float midway and a bad egg will float on the surface.

When the middle of sheets wear out make pillow cases of the sides.

Put a little kerosene in the wash boiler when boiling cloths and they will look much whiter. Also good to remove stains.

Salt sprinkled on stove when grease is upon will prevent smoking.

To make a broom last longer dip in a pail of boiling suds once a week.

To cut a cake that is iced hold the knife in boiling water for a minute and the cake can be cut without breaking the icing.

When life with its sorrow and heartache seem more than mere human can bear, then a wee happy thought in such words as these. There is always some one to call who knows or our pain and the tears that lie back of the eyes of the what's and the why's that we have when we think of our lot, but we hold to our course, borne on by the force of some one who knows we will win. So we face one defeat with a bit of conceit instilled by the faith of a friend.

Success to the Corner.

RURAL AUNTY. (April 10.)

JUMPING ROPE

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: This is a beautiful morning of the spring season, and we observe so much that makes us glad for the coming days. Just a few minutes ago I saw a blue bird and heard his cheerful song as he lit on the limb of a large walnut tree, that stands close to the house.

The tiny blades of green grass are trying to appear through the dead substances of last years growth. We are close to the Easter day that which symbolizes so much, in hope and faith of a new life beyond this vale of tears and sorrow. The season of spring brings with it the return of the children's playground, the boys with their marbles, and the girls with their "jumping ropes."

The latter reminds me, how much I used to enjoy that sort of exercise, and doubtless many others may recall the same. We had various so called "stunts" in jumping rope. Individually, we had our own rope, which was of the proper length, that would swing well over our height. A good firm rope was the best, not a slimpsy one; often a piece cut from mother's discarded clothes line was popular. Ready made jumping ropes, with fancy painted handles could be purchased at the local stores but these were not in use as a rule. There were only two ways for one to use the rope, either by standing at one place to jump, or running along and keeping a stepping jump. This was also done by two girls clasping hands side by side, holding rope by outer hands, then jump at one place or run along. Another way, one girl would jump and one or perhaps two according to size would "run in," face to face, and all jump together. I think the most fun at jumping rope was usually at the school recess, when there were a large number to take part in it. This would need a long rope, a girl to hold each end, to twirl, as we called it, then the others one at a time would run in, while the rope was in motion, and usually four could jump at once. Other features of this game was to run through the rope, from one side to the other without a jump, or again, while jumping, run out without stopping the motion of the rope. We used to call "popper and salt," a certain speed of time for jumping. To jump temper was just as fast as possible, as the twirlers could swing and salt was uncomfortable slow, but of course the jumpers had to practice all these arts. I remember one we used to do, that was rather difficult. During the swing of the long rope, one girl would run in and turn to face one of the twirlers, and ask of her, "Will you do me a favor?" and she would reply, "go to my next door neighbor," which meant the jumper must turn completely around, and present her request to the other twirler, all the time keeping the jumping step, without a trip. It was considered quite an accomplishment to jump without skipping to a high number, and 100 was usually a good record. We thought it was great fun to jump rope in those days and I also remember that our shoes bore the results. The excessive strain would tear open the back seam and split crosswars each side. But these days are no different from those gone by, each song in turn, as the turns all are the same, with the "jumping rope."

Best wishes to all.

JENNIE.

PLENTY OF SNOW IN MAINE

Dear Cornerites: How do you do this bright and pleasant a.m.?

Our first March day and our first crust that we have had with all our snow.

Wind blowing 40 miles an hour and a tan toaster as some one has just remarked.

I was [illegible] yesterday. It was awful, but on the whole [illegible] snow drifts [illegible] high. Have been reading [illegible] and Dickens [illegible] on. All sending up [illegible] answers. But we must [illegible] the weather to be over.

Received letter [illegible] from Maine Colorado [illegible] Mexico [illegible] the town at last or just [illegible] Gin, with [illegible] the last states this winter. Both writes of her having [illegible] quite ill all winter. Even so many cases of pneumonia all around us but everybody quite well at Dew Mills.

Well, B., don't ask me to think of visiting you as well as I would love to make you [illegible] Wait until later, for I am seriously thinking of going back with Kurt when he comes to Lake Side this summer.

Cousin Ike: Trust this finds you and yours no worse. Suppose you are busy the reason I don't hear from you.

And, Crimson Rambler, I want to see you and ever and ever so many others but with snow two or three feet deep the 29th of March I dare to venture our spring will be late all right.

Curt: Trust you are feeling ever so much better.

And H. & K., are you so busy you cannot find time to write? The folks are coming on from Easton this summer. Come up and see them.

Cousin Sherm: How are you people? Well I trust the sick are more comfortable, and Mr. Foxglove has gotten home well over his illness.

Been looking for that letter you neglected to write to your friends at Lakeside Knobb. Trust you haven't gotten sick after being so good and thoughtful to your neighbors.

Must close now with best of wishes for one and all. Please to note so many new members.

Soon we will have to have a paper of our own. Would any want it, all the members would write at the same time. Sincerely,

BALSAM FIR.

THANKFUL TO HELPERS

Dear Social Corner Folks: Easter greetings one and all to the sick ones and shut ins. Just know spring will advance in garments glad and green outdoors soon; the bluebird, chickadee, song sparrow, and nuthatches have told me so.

We had many bird guests at our tree to get their daily rations, yesterday notes of spring song birds filled the air.

To all the dear sisters who helped me in giving the anniversary dinner I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation. So glad that Theoda reported the donation section of meeting and Jennie the social part.

I had hoped to write sooner, but I've been moving just as fast for somebody or something ever since.

As Jennie wished she might name all the helpers here they are as those who couldn't come would like to know: Honeysuckle, White Clover, Buttercup, Aunt Alicia, Wandering Jew, Maine Lover, Bobbie, Sis Hopkins, Effie M. Neighbor Eveready's Sister, Francis, Red Cedar, Elnora Gleda, Euchre also Sisters Hoxie and Bower, whose pen names I do not know.

The reporters of the day were Theoda and Jennie. Gleda deserves special mention for our dainty caps.

Scottie: Glad you and the crowd had such a crowd "Them's our sentiments tex." We had just such a good time when at your meeting.

The editor's cake was made by Eliza Jane, the March birthday cakes by Windham Blue Bell and Neighbor Eveready. Hoping to meet you all in April.

Cordially yours,

NEIGHBAR EVEREADY.

GREETINGS AND RECIPES FROM MAJESTIC

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Just think of it Easter is right here. How the time flies doesn't it? The churches certainly look pretty at Easter all decorated with the Easter lilies and other lovely flowers.

Rhody Louise: Sent a letter some time. Would like to hear from you.

Kitty Lou: How are you? Would love to see you. What a nice visit and long rest Neighbor is having. Hope she is enjoying herself in the big city.

Peggy Anne: How are you? Do not think that I would know your youngest if I should see her now.

Sweet Milk Bran Gems: One cup bran, one cup white flour, two teaspoons baking-powder, one teaspoon salt, two eggs, two cups milk, one-half cup molasses. Mix bran, flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs separately, combine yolks, molasses and milk with first mixture and fold in beaten whites last. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees to 400 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.

Steamed Graham Pudding: Two cups graham flour, 1-2 teaspoon grated nutmeg, one egg, one cup molasses, one cup milk, four teaspoons baking-powder, one teaspoon soda, one cup raisins, two tablespoons butter or other fat sift flour and baking powder, beat egg add molasses (with soda), melted fat, scalded milk and combine with dry ingredients. Dredge raisins with flour and add with nutmeg and salt. Steam, about three hours in buttered mold and serve with hard sauce.

Meat Loaf: One pound beef, 1-2 pound veal, one tablespoon suet, three tablespoons evaporated milk diluted with three tablespoons water, two cups breadcrumbs, one teaspoon salt, two eggs, one slice onion, 1-4 teaspoon celery salt.

Run meat and suet through a food chopper. Beat egg well, add meat, milk and seasonings, then bread crumbs which have been soaked in water and squeezed dry. Mix thoroughly and form into a loaf. Place in a roasting pan oiled with one tablespoon fat and with enough water to prevent burning. Bake in a 375 degrees F. oven for one hour, basting often to prevent drying out.

MAJESTIC.

DOM PEDRO'S BIRTHDAY

Dear Social Corner Editor, Sisters and Friends: I am going to tell you about my birthday last week. My niece invited me to take dinner with her over in Groton. We had chicken pie, peas, cocoanut pie and cake. She also invited some of my friends to take dinner with me and we had a fine time. Then in the afternoon some of my other Groton friends came in to see me and brought me some presents. Taking it altogether I had a very enjoyable time. I had birthday presents coming in for more than a week before the time. I had several nice handkerchiefs, two boxes of perfumed [illegible] one vase, one [illegible] and a box of candy [illegible] These are [illegible] worth keep. And I had a lovely sponge cake, and a box of cake, a bottle of grape juice, a jar of jelly and one of pears, a big pink silk apple that looks good enough to eat and 18 birthday cards. I went to church this morning and received the congratulations of many friends. I am not able to walk to church, so one of my friends who lives near our own car comes after me, and another brings me home and I can assure you their kindness is fully appreciated. I want to thank all the sisters who remembered me with birthday cards. I was told [illegible] that in the more years I should be too and that the second [illegible] was the first [illegible] I never come to the age now [illegible] I am only [illegible] of those years after all my people are [illegible]

I do a lot of fancy work am busy all the time. I make all colored cotton [illegible] for the table and to hang on the dresser and have sold over 150 dust caps. They sell like hot cakes. One man bought nine. They protect the hair, neck and ears and are very becoming to most everybody. I am sending an invitation to all the sisters to give one a call and see what an old timer can do. I have been in the Corner over 12 years and enjoy it just as much as ever, but only wish I lived where I could meet with Club No. 2 every time.

That this may be a prosperous year for the Corner and all those who are interested in it is the wish of DOM PEDRO.

KEEPS IN TOUCH WITH CORNER

Dear Editor and Cornerites: Haven't written in two or three weeks, but have kept an eye on our page just the same. Have been pretty busy trying some of the sisters' recipes and so far have found them all first-rate. Then a neighboring youngster of three years, Gregory by name, has been between the two and can keep on a treat. Coming warm now though and the tots can get out doors.

Vixen: Tried your one crust apple pie and it was delicious.

L. H. H.: You ask if you can use granulated sugar for skillet pie? I always do. Brown it a little first, then let it boil. Brown sugar is better, but hard to get.

Just a: Was it you that said I could send in good recipes and poetry? Many thanks, and it encourages one to try again.

Cookie: Remember those good old times at D. H.? How about coming home on a winter's night, snow blowing and then get stuck? Recalls many a laugh, even now when I think of some of those days, or rather nights.

Will send in more recipes later.

Best wishes to all.

PETER PROSE.

GREETINGS FROM E. L. M.

Dear Social Corner Members: This has been a beautiful day and I suppose many are house cleaning. I have the painters and paper hangers here this week so am quite upset.

Skipper: Your name fits you to a T, for you are always on the skip.

Rebecca: We are all looking forward to the 20th.

O. D.: I don't blame you for feeling out of sorts when you looked in the pan. It wasn't a nice thing to do.

Tafts: Thanks for your good wishes for the Shore Line club. You sure have some brown bread recipes but don't believe any of them beat the prize one. Every one who samples it thinks it is fine. Hope I can meet you some time.

Black Eyed Susie: Since you have discovered who Tafts is can't you get acquainted and bring her to the April meeting at the Odd Fellows hall. I have to be in Norwich one day soon so hope Cosmos and I can come that day and attend the meeting.

Interested Reader: Am glad to know "walking's good."

Cutie: Glad to see your letter.

Crimson Rambler: Don't stop for snow.

E. L. M.

HAPPY EASTER EVERYBODY

Dear Friends: Can I get you all interested in the new Sheltering Arms?

You know every one was very much interested in the new nurses' home. Why not do as much for the dear old ladies. Get in touch with the committee and see how you can help. Why not have a couple of Social Corner rooms. I mean to furnish them. One could give a pair of blankets, one could give a nice quilt, another could give draperies, and so on to furnish some of the room new. I myself am making rugs for one of the rooms. Just think how proud we would feel to go into a new home and have everything new. And we haven't a great deal of time now as they are to have the home finished in June. I do hope all the sick ones are better, as I have had the grip but am improving all the time. My sympathy for all the dear ones in trouble. Hoping you all have a happy Easter.

Robin: I received your letter. Glad you are well and busy. Glad you have your sister at last. Hoping to see you soon.

I am as ever

ARMITAGE.

HOUSE CLEANING ALL DONE

Dear Social Corner: This is the first day of April but I hope this letter won't be an April Fool. Every week I have thought I would write but did not get at it. We have been cleaning house and are all done I am glad to say. When we have nice weather I will be able to go out doors and not be thinking I must clean house. We have some chickens, 2,285 and 500 more are coming April 17, so you can all see there is work for some one. I don't do much only go look at them once in a while and worry a lot over the fires. Son has to have seven fires going to keep the little fellows warm and as he takes the best care of them there is no need for me to worry but "that's me" as Bug says. I am up a great deal nights walking around and looking out of windows seeing if things are all right. Bug says there is no need of a watchman at this end of the village for I will do as well. Any way I am a very poor sleeper. I get so nervous and get to thinking of everything that ever did happen or ever is likely to happen. But I know its foolish and am trying to overcome it. I want to come to the meeting every month and last time expected to come until the night before with Bug, but she had a terrible cold and she told me to go just the same but I didn't like to start all alone so said I would wait until she could go. So handy for us now the bus goes right by our door every hour. Hope she will feel like going the 7th or April. No one else seems to go from here. All have their trials and troubles. Nixie has the sympathy of the Corner in the loss of her oldest daughter a few weeks ago. Jack's Wife is in poor health and Free Air is way down south. I hope she is enjoying herself and hope the sun shines down there for it won't shine much here. Bird is not very well is doing a lot with music and had a bad chimney fire a short while ago and the other day her chicken house caught fire and burned down with some chickens and hens. It was too bad.

Deliah Deal asked for a recipe which I gave once but she had lost it, so will send it.

I have my sewing most all done. I sewed rags for several rugs, made two bedquilts and lots of clothes for all of us. I don't mean to sew much this summer time. I'm going to be out doors if I only walk around the yard or set on the veranda.

Maccaroons: 2 cups cornflakes, small cup sugar, whites 2 eggs beaten stiff, one cup shredded cocoanut, a tablespoon milk. Mix thoroughly, drop in pieces as big as a walnut far apart in a dripping pan; bake in oven until brown.

Oh, by the way Rural Aunty won a new dress in the birthday concert over the radio. I am so glad for her. We listened in too that night and sent in a letter but was not one of the lucky ones. We enjoy our radio very much. It's some thing new every day and when one can't go out it gets one in touch with the out side world and we certainly hear wonderful things some times. Guess I've written enough. Not much of interest but will help fill up the clear page. I remain yours as ever.

MA OF GREENE GABLES.

RECIPES BY TAFTS

Dear Editor and Sister Members of the Social Corner: Am sending a recipe for poinsettia salad.

Poinsettia Salad: One package cream cheese, 2 tablespoon cream, a little salt. Form into small round balls with the fingers, 6 rounds or pineapple, 4 maraschino cherries. Place rounds of pineapple in salad plates garnish with lettuce and put cheeseball in center of pineapple. Cut maraschino cherries in half then cut each half into narrow strips that resemble petals of a flower. Place 5 or six of these strips over the top of the cheese ball. With the points meeting in the center. Pass any kind of salad dressing with this butt do not add to the salad.

Grapefruit and Apricot Salad: 12 canned apricot halves, 2 large grapefruit, French dressing and lettuce. Drain the apricots, remove pulp from grapefruit, marinate the fruits separately in French dressing made with lemon juice in place of vinegar, use a larger proportion of acid with the apricots then with grapefruit. Let the fruit stand for several hours, then drain. Arrange apricot halves in lettuce. Using two for each serving and pile grapefruit pulp in center or cavities of apricots.

Snow Salad: Make a custard of 4 egg yolks, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoon of sugar. Cool remove stones from 1 can white cherries. Mix with 1 can crushed pineapple and 1 can pears cut in dice. Add 1 pound marshmallows cut in pieces and juice of one lemon. Stir in custard and fold in 1 pint of cream which has been whipped. Let stand in cool place for 24 hours. Scoop out individual servings to represent snow balls. Serve on lettuce or as a dessert without the lettuce.

Green Pepper and Pine Apple Salad: Two cups pineapple, cut in small cubes, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped walnut meats, chill and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Place cheese ball on side of the plate.

TAFTS.

GOOD RECIPES.

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner and Editor: Try these recipes and see how you like them. If they impress you favorably please report.

Shirred Eggs: Butter an egg shirrer, cover the bottom also the sides with fine bread crumbs. Break an egg into a cup, so to be sure it is all right, then slide it into a shirrer. Cover with seasoned buttered crumbs; bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set and the crumbs are brown. I always set my shirrer on an aluminum plate so that I can remove them from the oven.

Baked Beans: One-half pound of white yellow eyed beans, one teaspoon mustard, two quarts of corn beef liquor, one-half onion, one tablespoon brown sugar, one-quarter pound salt pork. Place beans in baking dish, after picking over and washing. (Do not soak over night. Add one teaspoon dry mustard, and the pork (with some lean in it) cover with boiling water and let bake slowly over night. The next morning add the corn beef liquor and let bake slowly for seven hours more, covered. Then remove the cover about two hours before they are done. In all they should bake about 14 hours. A man who used to bake his beans in a brick oven taught me this way.

GETTING APRIL DUTY DONE EARLY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Good morning sisters. I am starting early to avoid the rush in order to be on time that month of April. In getting my letter in early whether work is done or not all I will have to do now is to sit up and take notice.

Scottie: Give us time enough and we will get there all right.

I have been asked so many times when, where and how Club No. 1 was started. Aunty No. 1, planned a little Social Corner gathering at her home in Willimantic, in order to give me a lesson in tatting. Biddy, Theoda, Polly Wintergreen, Married and Happy, Aunty No. 1 as hostess and myself were present. Club No. 1 was formed that day and also the Social Corner color chosen. Yellow was chosen because the Social Corner checks were written on yellow paper and the first flower given to the first Social Corner gathering at Married and Happy's was a yellow chrysantheum by Samanthy. Now you all have it in a nutshell.

Nelly Bly: I am very sorry to hear you have been so sick. Not a pleasant ending for such a pleasant day.

Where are all the Leonard Bridge sisters. We had some very good times together.

Papa's Boy: I remember that great day and the baby.

J. E. P.: Hope to meet you soon. It is a long time since I met you, congratulations for a happy birthday.

Celia Louise: I will go any time you say. Call 2814.

Cecia: I was grieved to learn of the death of my neighbor Pleasant Guest.

Catnip: I was present at Club No. 2 when its flag was presented. It is lovely. The Star Bangled Banner is a great favorite of mine. Best wishes from.

SISTER READY, Club No. 2.

EASTER

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Do you not think that Easter runs very close to Christmas especially as far as the youngsters are concerned? Almost every child nowadays receives some little trinket, a box of candy or as least a colored egg. Easter morning—many thousands of eggs daintily decorated and modeled candy eggs are annually manufactured for the benefit of little folks and frequently for their elders also. And besides all these, it is great fun for the little folks to decorate their own eggs. This can be done with an ordinary box of paints or with some of the dye that comes for that purpose.

Giving presents of Easter eggs is a very ancient custom. And the practice seems to be almost universally followed among the nations of the east. The egg with them being symbolical of the resurrection, and the coloring of them being red in, "allusion to the blood of redemption".

In this country many centuries back the Easter eggs (I am told) were boiled hard and colored red, blue or violet and used as balls on Easter Monday not only by boys and girls but by their elders. In what appears to have been in those days the universal popular game of ball playing. For we read that both clergy and laity played a ball in the churches at Easter for "fancy cakes" even the bishops joining in the game, and throwing the ball to the choristers inside the sacred edifice. It is difficult—nay, well nigh impossible—in this year of grace to imagine the right reverend fathers of the church acting in such a fashion as did their predecessors in what some people are still inclined to call the good old times.

There is a game called egg rolling or egg pitting consists of striking them together until one is broken in which case it becomes the spoil of the owner. Another egg is then pitted against the victorious egg and so on, the last egg to remain whole is proclaimed victor.

I have been told that in Germany Easter, is an especially happy time for the children. All indulge in a grand egg-hunt and when colored eggs are found they are believed to have been laid by a white hare.

Each country seems to have had some Easter customs of a strictly local nature. In France they say at an early date the people on Easter Sunday carried the largest and most perfectly formed eggs to the church where they were arranged pyramid fashion then with elaborate ceremonies presented as an Easter tribute to the king. Afterward the priest blessed and distributed them among the people who preserved them as amulets during the year.

In Scotland an egg hunt upon the moors ushered in the dawn on Easter Sunday. A lucky hunt was a good omen.

Although, to quote the words of an old writers "there has never been any difference as to why Easter was kept, but there has been a good deal as to when it ought to be kept;" for unlike Christmas, Easter is a movable feast.

However there are also various suppositions as to the derivation of the name "Easter" some authorities think ing it was simply a corruption of the word "Eostre" the name of a Saxon goddess whose feast was celebrated in the spring of each year, much about the same time as was afterward the Christian festival. Other authorities however have the opinion that the name was derived from the word "ostee" which signifies rising. The only thing I can see that is certain about this matter appears to be that the month of April was called by our Saxon forefathers the oster month.

Lent is a time of sorrow and prayer and preparation. And for some Lent ends in the gloomy Good Friday as life ends in death. Here on earth are sorrow and temptation also storms of wind and rain. On the other hand why should we endure these merely to sow where we shall not reap? Why not step out of this strenous work and daily on the other side where there is leisure and sunshine and no burden of responsibility?

But the people of longer sight and stronger thought know of Easter beyond Lent, joyful well earned Easter which comes as a gracious reward to earth's pilgrim.

Let us sow our seed and have with "faith" they say "from hidden seeds, spring beautiful blossoms." The winters may be long and dreary but we must have winters if we would have springs.

We may rise to better things from our dead selves; mistakes may be made the means to win success. Sorrow is the mother of joy; our tears flow before our hearts peace rests with us; death comes that there may be life, and beyond the darkness shines the light for those who will work on with faith and hope and prayer.

Easters are the blossoms which crown our spiritual years and in Heaven are the glorious Easters that have grown from the sorrowful Lents spent on the world's high road.

ETHELYN.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE

Dear Editor and Members: I think that it is time I "dug out" and wrote a letter in order to keep my membership.

Was very sorry that I was unable to attend the meeting in Putnam. I am sure you all had a fine time, even if it did storm a bit. If it did not rain once in a while I am thinking that all would be pretty dry.

Mrs. Dan: Well, here it is at last. Had you given up hope? You must always remember that hope, faith and prayer will accomplish a great deal. And auntie says that she still has those pieces ready and waiting for you, if you still want them. So wade up along and see a person once in a blue Monday.

1492: Many thanks.

Last Rose of Summer: Thank you! It was very nice and I enjoyed it immensely. The next time I'll certainly have to be there, with all sails flying, and have a good time along with the rest of you.

Twice Twenty and Zara: How are you both this weather? Trying to keep well? Keeping well seems to be a pretty hard job at this time of the year, but this an ill wind that blows no one some good."

Where are Clara, Mary Gusta, Lilac Lady, Butterfly, Pep, and Tildy? I have not seen a letter from them in some time, but am certain they must be alive.

Chocolate Fudge: 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup confectioners' sugar, 1-2 cup evaporated milk, 2 squares chocolate, butter the size of large walnut, 1 large spoonful of marshmallow cream, 1 teaspoon flavoring, vanilla nuts or raisins.

Sift confectioners sugar, mix it with granulated sugar, add milk and melted chocolate. Boil until it forms a firm ball when dropped in a cup of water. Then add the butter, marshmallow cream, flavoring and nuts or raisins. Beat until it begins to thicken, then pour into buttered tin. Score when cool.

A happy Easter to all.

HONORAS.

SOMETHING TO TRY

Dear Corner Members: Some recipes to try.

A. P.: Here is the chocolate filling for cake. 1 1-2 cups of milk, put on the stove to scald. Into a saucepan or bowl break and beat up the yolks of an egg, then stir in 2-4 cup of sugar, 1-3 cup of flour, 2 tablespoons of cocoa, one half cup of milk. Stir all up together then stir into the scalded milk. Stir until it thickens, then add the stiffly beaten egg white and 1 teaspoon of vanilla.

Clam Pie: 18 soft shell clams, 3 potatoes, 1 onion, 2 1-2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons of butter.

Method — Separate the hard part from the soft, empty the bellies. Put hard part through the chopper and place these in the kettle with the potatoes, cut in dice, chopped onion and just a little sage or thyme. Add hot water to cover with the addition of the liquor. As soon as potatoes are cooked add milk and flour, rubbed with 2 tablespoons of butter. Stir all together thoroughly, then pour into a buttered casserole after having lined the rim with a pie crust. Take the soft part of the clams and drop in on this mixture. Cover with pie crust and bake.

Mackerel Hash Balls: 1 salt mackerel, cold boiled potatoes, 1 beaten egg, 1 tablespoon butter. Soak fish overnight. In the morning pour boiling water over it, pick it over carefully removing the bones, add an equal quantity of fish and potato, the beater, eggs and pepper. Shape in balls the size of an egg, put the butter in the frying pan and when hot place the balls in the frying pan; fry brown on each side, serve hot, garnished with parsley. This makes a nice dinner with tomato sauce. Sometimes when eggs are reasonable you can serve them with hard boiled eggs.

GUESS WHO.

DEATH OF DALMATIA

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: I am very glad as I read the letters each week to see so many new names meaning new members which shows there is still interest in the Social Corner.

Iola: I well remember the red tin peddler's wagon, and how the women would save their paper rags and hen's feathers to sell to them to buy for a new dust pan or basting tin or maybe a new water dipper. But times have changed and now with plenty of dimes one can go to the ten cent store and be supplied with all such things; yes and many more at less than was paid for them in those days.

I suppose many of you have heard that Dalmatia has gone to her heavenly home. I was my privilege to attend the funeral. She looked very nice and the flowers were beautiful, filling the house with their fragrance. We shall miss her pleasant face and sweet presence in the places we have often met her.

I am sure we are all glad to know spring is so near and the glad Easter at hand. As we enjoy this glad season let us each try to be more like Him whose resurrection we celebrate, and do some little act of kindness each day which will make some one happier as well as ourselves. Best wishes for all.

SISTER BARBAR.

SPRING BUSINESS

Dear Friends or the Social Corner: I feel quite negligent in not writing or attending the meeting of Club 4 last week. I got my basket packed ready to go when it poured so hard at half past eleven we decided not to make the trip but pick up a lunch down. Probably those who assembled didn't realize how showery the noon time was as the afternoon was clearing weather.

We are making maple syrup and tending little lambs besides cleaning and shop work. I am wondering if the ground will be ready for peas April 1st. I always commence gardening with my winter coat and gloves and we do have early results. There is lots of work waiting so I will send this on. With best Easter wishes.

MAISIE JOINS THE CORNER

Dear Sisters: I have been a reader of the Social Corner page since its organization and attended as a visitor meetings when held on Valley street, also been to a number of picnics. I want to became a member so I may meet with you whenever I can. I want to be an active member and do my share. I have gotten much help from recipes and household hints given. I use Taft's recipe for doughnuts, Jennie's suet pudding, Carolyn's devil cake and have tried many others. I know many of you, but there are some I would like to get acquainted with.

Every week the Corner is growing. What will the number be in a few years? Long may it live and grow is the wish of

ASKS SISTERS TO WRITE

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I wish to thank the editor for my pin, also the member who sent the pretty calendar to me. It was very nice of you to remember me. You must be very busy to remember so many for the new year.

Balsam Fir: I have misplaced your address. If you will send it again to me will try and write to you.

E. L. M.: I am very glad you have got your club started. Best wishes to you and all members for many happy times.

Lucinda: I will answer your letter, but I hope to see that promised visit realized ere this summer goes by.

Forget-me-not: Here is a good way to use up a few odds and ends of cereal. It makes your brown bread. Take one cup white corn meal, 1-2 cup white flour, one cup molasses, 1 teaspoon salt and one cup of cereal. [illegible] any kind you happen to have at hand. I use rolled oats, grape nuts, cold remains of shredded biscuit, 1 teaspoon of salt. Mix with sweet milk to make soft and cook three hours in double boiler. If a loaf is wanted double the quantity. Think this is so good for a baked brown bread; it must be steamed and mixed soft to be a success. In looking over the Social Corner roll call I see many names from whom we never see any letters. Come forth with your pen and paper and let us hear from you.

KENST.

REMEDY FOR FRECKLES

Dear Sisters: Here is a home remedy which is very simple. Scrape one teaspoon of horse radish into a cup of sour milk; let it stand six hours before using. Apply to the face three times a day. You must persist in the treatment. A cure can not be affected in a day or even a week. Patience is necessary to bring about good results.

Cucumber lotion is excellent for the skin at all seasons. This is the way I make it.

Take cucumbers cut in small pieces (do not peel them). Place in a bowl, pound with a wooden potato masher, until the mass is of a pulp consistency. Now filter this through a very coarse mesh cloth squeezing out as much juice as you can from the refuse. Put the refuse and filtered juice on and simmer, [illegible] for ten minutes. Then restrain and when cold add alcohol in the proportion of one tablespoon to 1 cup of liquid. Bottle and use in sponge bath for face instead of washing it dry in the day time.

WANTS CLUB NUMBER SIGNED

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: I am going to write a short letter just to remind the sisters not to forget to come to the Buckingham Memorial April 7th to Club No. 5's meeting. We are going to try to have a good time as we always do. I think it would be nice for every one that writes the Corner from Club No. 5 to sign the club number after their pen name. Thus if we do not all know your pen name we will know that you come to Club No. 5.

The March wind is blowing hard for March, to get out like a lion as it came in very fine like a lamb.

I hope a good many will attend April 7th we have a good time and a good meeting. Will stop now and see you all at the Buckingham Memorial April 7th.

FUDGE CAKE

Dear Sisters: [illegible] For the benefit of Roseland will say this recipe was sent in by Hazel E. sometime last summer.

Fudge Cake: Put into mixing bowl 1 cup flour and 1 cup sugar. Melt together 1 cup [illegible] 1 beaten egg yolk and 2 squares chocolate. Pour the melted mixture onto the flour and sugar and stir well. Then add butter-[illegible] size of an egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in a little hot water.

Keziah Dorcliffe: Ha! Ha! Don't you think you're going a bit fast?

Twice Twenty: Hazel: Sent Isaac Lady to tell me what you told me to.

Peggy Ann: Alicia: Marbles, flashlights and B. B.

Zara: Had a good time at P. Mint you?

Social Corner Editor: May I name a pen?

CLUB NO. 5 MEETS APRIL 7

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Do not forget our good time on April 7. Please do not forget to all bring something and to eat. There were some at our last meeting that did not bring anything for our dinner and all members are expected to bring something.

We all had a wonderful time at the last meeting of Club No. 5 at the Buckingham and surely will have another treat this month as well. All come that can and keep smell the ranks. We are so sorry to hear so many of our dear sisters are sick but hope they will soon all recover. When the beautiful weather comes we shall all feel the quickening of the spring and I know we shall all gain in health and strength. Best wishes for the success of our Corner.

ALTA.

BAY STATE ENTERS CORNER

Dear Social Corner Editor: Have been to some of the Social Corner gatherings and having enjoyed the good times as well as being interested in the Social Corner page in The Bulletin, I would like to be entrolled as a member if you have room for one more among the many members. Best wishes to all those members who have been desirous of having me become a member of the Social

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago this week, a large part of the business section of Norwich was under water, anywhere from one foot to six feet. A flood, the most disastrous in the history of the town according to The Bulletin, was responsible. People were using boats and rafts to get around, cellars were filled, mill property extensively damaged, and bridges carried away. The damage in this town was estimated at between $112,000 and $120,000. Extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of March, 1876, follow:

Monday, March 27, 1876—One of the most disastrous freshets known in the story of this section swept the valleys of the Quinnebaug, Yantic and the Shetucket yesterday, destroying bridges, mills, dams and houses and devastating the surrounding country. An immense amount of property was destroyed, how much cannot at present be stated, but undoubtedly to the value of several hundred thousands of dollars.

A heavy snow storm began early Saturday morning. Snow fell all the morning until noon and was followed by a violent rain, till about 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Nearly five inches of water had fallen within 24 hours. In the city the first warning of the freshet was the back flow of water from the Shetucket and the Franklin street brook. At 2:30 the water had risen so fast that the horses in the basement of I. W. Hagyer's stable on Bath street were turned loose for their lives. At 4 o'clock the Shetucket had risen above the rails of the railroad track southwest of the Worcester depot and was on a level with the foot of Rose alley. In the next hour it rose five feet and continued to rise with great rapidity.

The interior of the square in the rear of the Wauregan house was at this time covered with water to the depth of four feet. All the cellars along the west side of Franklin square were filled, and in some places the water was above the floors. The police endeavored to awaken residents in that vicinity by rapping on the doors, but finding this slow work, at six o'clock an alarm was ordered struck from box 23, in order to warn people of the disaster. The Worcester depot was soon under water, so that a couple of men went into the waiting room with a boat to rescue the agent's property from the ticket office. The gas works were injured by the water so that work will necessarily be suspended there for the present. No gas can be made before Wednesday. Most of the street lights were not lighted last night. At the Richmond stove works the foundry was filled with at least a foot of water and the barn used as a store house for new stoves with over six feet. There was so much water in the lecture room of the Broadway church that the Sunday school was held in the court house. On Chestnut street traveling was done chiefly by means of rafts. In Greeneville, with its extensive manufactories, the damage was immense. At Fitchville the stone bridge was carried away.

Tuesday, March 28, 1876—The rivers, though still much swollen, had subsided yesterday morning, so that no further damage was apprehended. With the retreat of the waters came the work of repairing the damage that was done. The selectmen were out all day ascertaining the damage done to the roads and bridges. The Greeneville bridge, which was carried away, cost $15,000. The damage to streets and sidewalks in the city will amount to about $5,000. Much damage was done on Franklin street. The washing away of the sidewalks was found to be a serious loss in many parts of the city. So far as can be ascertained the losses in the town of Norwich are from $112,000 to $120,000.

Capt. George W. Geer celebrated his 70th birthday anniversary yesterday by taking a small boat and going some distance down the Thames and back on the current and eddies.

Robert Geer of Albany, son of James L. Geer of this city, has contributed 1,250 bags of salt "to the little grocery around the corner" or distribution agency of the Albany provident association this winter.

Wednesday, March 29, 1876—Considerable excitement was created yesterday by the passage through the streets of a truck loaded with what was supposed to be 50 kegs of gunpowder. The driver was smoking a cigar and nervous people who saw him retired into the backwood for a season. The kegs, however, contained nothing more deadly than a poor quality of lard.

The alarm from box 35 at midnight last night, was caused by the burning of a small barn near Baltic street. Two wagons were saved but the building was entirely destroyed. The fire was set by an incendiary.

Patrick Nolan, for many years baggagemaster at the Worcester depot, and a faithful and obliging official, died Monday night. A meeting of the Catholic Benevolent society to arrange for attending his funeral will be held this morning.

Thursday, March 30, 1876—The loss by the burning of Mr. J. F. Sevin's barn was about $300. The necessity for more fire alarm boxes in the city is shown by this fire. Officer McCarty who discovered it was obliged to run from Baltic street to Chestnut street to give the alarm, while if there had been a station in the vicinity the building could easily have been saved.

At the annual meeting of the Central Baptist ecclesiastical society last evening the following officers were elected for the year ensuing:

L. W. Carroll, president; E. Ray, vice president; J. H. Powelson, clerk; J. C. Perkins, treasurer.

Friday, March 31, 1876—Charles C. Fuller, president of the Chaplin Paper company, who negotiated notes with forged endorsements to the amount of over $50,000, and absconded in June last, was brought to the city from Philadelphia last night, in charge of Captain Whaley of the police.

The funeral of the late Joseph G. Lamb took place yesterday, the services being conducted after the ritual of the Odd Fellows, the members of Uncas lodge attending in a body.

J. J. Cauley of this city, who is the only Yankee at the University of Bishops (medical) college, Montreal has taken all the prizes offered by the faculty, during the past session, one in descriptive and surgical anatomy and another in practical anatomy.

Saturday, April 1, 1876—The prohibitionists met last evening and nominated Mason Kinne and Garred G. Pitcher for representatives and appointed U. S. Gardner, Samuel Prentice and Sterry Bennett town committee for the ensuing year.

Mr. Charles W. Carter has been nominated for judge of probate in place of the Hon. W. L. Brewer. Mr. Carter states that he is unfamiliar with the duties of the office, but if elected, all wills left with him will be cleaned, repaired and warranted to keep good time at short notice. Mr. Carter is receiving man congratulations.

Charles C. Fuller, the forger, was brought before the city court yesterday, entered a demurrer, which was overruled and failing to give bonds in the sum of $10,000 he was locked up.

Itching, painful rash on hand yields to Resinol

Huntington, L. I., N. Y., Dec. 20: —"I want to tell you what your Resinol Ointment has done for me. Some time ago, I had a red, scaly rash between my fingers that came from using too much harsh soap and soap powder. It itched badly, especially at night. I am a housekeeper and every time I had to put my hands in water the pain was intense. One evening I read a Resinol advertisement in the paper and decided to buy a jar. I did and after I had used it for about two months, my trouble was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Ward Chapman, R. F. D. No. 1, c/o G. Jarsen.

WATCH FOR PHOENIX BANK ROBBERS MAINTAINED BY NEW LONDON COPS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 3—The New London police this forenoon were informed by the state police, Groton barracks, that a bank at Phoenix, R. I., had been held up by a gang in an automobile and it was believed that the robbers were headed toward New London. The car in which the bandits used away was a Cadillac and bore Rhode Island registration, 31702, it is believed. A watch of all cars coming into the city was made, but the car sought was not observed and is believed to have been operated in some other direction than toward New London.

WATERFORD FARMER DIES FROM HEART TROUBLE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 3—Death came to William E. Kenyon, 68, well known Waterford farmer, last night. Mr. Kenyon was stricken with an attack of heart trouble and died almost instantly. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Claude and Clinton Kenyon and two daughters, Mrs. Strong Gardner and Mrs. Frank DeWolf. He was a member of the Huntington Street Baptist church and had been a deacon of the church many years. Mr. Kenyon operated a farm many years in the Cohanzie district of Waterford, raising a varied stock of choice vegetables. He was about his daily duties yesterday and as far as was known was in his usual good health. During the night and while chatting with members of his family, Mr. Kenyon was stricken and died before a physician could be summoned.

JOY RIDER MANAGED TO WRECK BORROWED CAR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 3—An automobile owned by William Minnick, chief petty officer stationed at the United States Coast Guard sectional base, state pier, and residing at the Y. M. C. A., was stolen late last night and after it had been wrecked, was left abandoned on its side in the highway. Minnick did not know of his car having been wrecked until this forenoon when he appeared at the police station to make a report of his loss and was informed of the machine having been towed to a garage, after it had been found by the police.

Minnick left his machine parked on Captain street, between State and Church streets, about 1 o'clock and went to his lodging place. A short time after the car was stolen and the driver probably none too familiar with the operation of the machine, Ford Sedan, in attempting to drive it through Colt street, near the corner of Washington street, caused the automobile to be driven in such a manner that he undoubtedly lost control of the steering wheel, with the result that the machine crashed against a tree and fell over upon its side. Just before midnight Sergeant Patrick Murray and Patrolman Edward Riordan found the wrecked car and after righting it had the car taken to a garage to await being claimed by its owner.

Today was generally observed as a holiday, although there were many stores open throughout the day than has been the case on Good Friday in years gone by. The banks and post office observed the day, although floor weeks were on duty a half day at the post office, but none of the windows were open for business and but one delivery was made by carriers.

William H. McGuire, 78, a former resident of New London, died Wednesday at his home, at Cologne Falls, N. Y. He was a resident of New London the greater part of his life and was a machinist by occupation. Mr. McGuire was a member of Niagara Engine company, No. 1 and for many years was engineer of the company's steamer. He moved about 10 years ago to Cologne Falls, where his son is employed. This evening Niagara Engine will hold a special meeting and take action on the death of its member, as it did on the death of William G. Holdridge, another member. The death occurred at Preston yesterday morning.

Five rowdy sailors of the coast guard stationed at the Coast Guard base were in the police court this morning for intoxication and disorderly conduct on Federal street near the corner last night. The police were informed that the men were fighting and the woman had cowered when the men started the battle-ground. The coast guardsmen are supposed to refrain from drinking liquor and they established their reputation in that respect when found enough and drunk enough and quantity to be drunk in the afternoon and to be found in that condition. Each pleaded guilty when arraigned in court. With one exception the sailors are comparative recruits in the coast guard. Each has received leave of absence from quarters which means that all are to be disciplined when they get back to their posts as the court did not put on additional penalty upon them. That should have been imposing double punishment upon the men. They were given to understand, however, that they must change their course if they desire to escape serving a term in jail. The accused men from the pier are Svend Ungermann, William A. Gregory, Edward L. MacBurney, Waldo Orloff, Louis James Capella, from the Casin, was drunk on State street in a restaurant, when Policeman Operman was called to subdue him. Capella showed fight for a minute, but that was all. Tohy Bosil, another pier sailor, was sent back to his station for drunkenness for intoxication.

Palestine Commandery K. T., initiated several candidates this afternoon at Brainard lodge temple.

John J. DeCourcey died this morning at his residence, 9 Ray street after a brief illness. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Hiram Morgan and a brother, Frederick DeCourcey. Mr. DeCourcey was employed for a number of years by the Tarbox Manufacturing company.

Billy Ward, who resided most of 75 years in New London, died this morning at Lawrence hospital where he was taken from Hillside Home, the abiding place of the homeless in this city. Mr. Ward was a stone cutter by trade and worked at that calling for years. Then he sought employment on barges and followed the fortunes of the sea for years. But times changed with him and he sought a precarious living on shore. He was a cleaner about the city, practically homeless for years, his lodging place being in barns and like places. He was of rugged physique and an admirer of the men called fighters even in those days of the infancy of pugilism. He was of the days of Heenan and Sayers, of Collins, the cast iron man, and George Rourke and men of that class. Ward himself was not a boxer nor was he a pugilist, but he could take care of himself. In recent years, especially since prohibition days, his living has been of the scantiest sort. He was a frequent applicant for the hospitality of the tramp room in the police station. The police advised him to go to the almshouse, but he spurned that advice, claiming that he was too proud and that he was still able and willing to earn his own way in the world. Now considered that matter for a while and a week ago decided that he was entitled to the support the city would give him and he went to Hillside Home. That was his final abiding place. He was not in physical condition when he went there and a few days ago sickness overtook him. It was apparent that he needed the attention of a physician which he could not get at the almshouse and he was sent to the hospital. There his condition deteriorated for he was worn out. Death came to him Good Friday morning. Ward is said to have a son who is a locomotive engineer, and he has a brother somewhere, but where no one here knows.

Eight more drivers of automobiles are scheduled to be given hearings in the police court tomorrow morning of charges of violation of the city's traffic ordinances. Among them are Medical Examiner Charles Kaufman, Dr. J. M. Shaw, Water street, and Theodore R. Chappell of Gaddess Ave. Are accused of having passed on State street more than 20 minutes.

Two chief petty officers were taken into custody late this afternoon by Sergeant John Cavanaugh and Patrolman William Cosgrove, charged with intoxication and committing a nuisance. The men were picked up on North Bank street and their arrest followed their being abusive when remonstrated with for their conduct.

The hearing to consider the proposed improvement of Bank street scheduled to take place today in the council chamber, municipal building was postponed until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The hearing called for this morning was opened by City Manager William A. Hall, but an immediate adjournment took place as it was generally understood that because of the holiday the matter would go over until next week.

County Detective William Lewis of Georgiana Street, who sustained a fractured arm several weeks ago when his automobile he was driving collided with a stone wall on Williams St., is now able to use the injured member.

Miss Marjorie Smith, librarian at the Providence public library, is spending the week end at her home, 28 School street.

Mrs. Andrew J. Collins, Montauk avenue, is spending a few days at Atlantic City.

Emerson H. White Jr., clerk in the office of Tax Collector Allen C. Ward, ago married by his sister Miss Dorothy L. White, is in New York. They will remain over Sunday with friends of relatives.

A Ford automobile, bearing Connecticut registration, 4483 and owned by a resident of Stonington, was stolen from that place this evening. The New London police were requested to be on the lookout for the car.

Patrolman George Perkins was unable to report for patrol duty this evening being at at his residence on Norwood avenue.

An automobile owned and driven by Everett Eames of Salem street, in rounding the corner of Montauk avenue and Bank street this evening collided with a bicycle propelled by a youth turned the latter over on Main street. The boy received injury, but the cycle was damaged. The youth refused to be accompanied to the office of a physician for examination and refused to reveal his street address.

Earl Darrow of Niantic, received an ugly gash on the head yesterday afternoon while at his work at Golden Park Monument works, Niantic, a derrick boom striking him on the head and opening the flesh several inches. Darrow was removed to Lawrence hospital, where an X-ray picture was taken, but did not reveal any evidence of a fracture.

Fred A. and Carrie I. White have sold a house and lot on Colver street to James M. Doyle.

Mrs. Margaret M. Chapman, 54, wife of Edwin E. Chapman, died this morning at her residence, Eastern Point, Groton, following an illness of about a week with pneumonia. Besides her husband, Mrs. Chapman is survived by her mother, a resident of Ireland, two sisters and a brother Mrs. Chapman was born in Ireland, but had resided in this country since a young woman and had resided in Groton about 20 years.

ALLEGED TAKER OF $10,000 BRIBE WAIVES HEARING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 3—Former Chief Boatswain's Mate Joseph A. McGuire, 10 Norwood avenue, charged with having accepted a bribe of $10,000 to permit a rum-laden schooner to unload her cargo in Narragansett bay, will not face trial before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran. McGuire, through his counsel, G. Curtis Morgan, has waived hearing in this city and has agreed to appear for trial in Providence when his case and those of 22 others, indicted in a rum-ring appear for trials. McGuire is now at liberty on bail of $5,000, furnished by his father-in-law, Frederick Zepp, of this city. McGuire, it is alleged, was in charge of a patrol boat that was scouting the waters of Long Island and Block Island sound several months ago, when a rum-laden schooner was encountered. McGuire was approached, it is alleged, and accepted the money by allowing the crew of the schooner to unload the valuable cargo. McGuire, however, stoutly denies the accusation.

SHOPPER TOOK A DRESS— WAS CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 3—Mrs. Nora Potter Connor, 106 Green street, was taken into custody late this afternoon by Sergeant John Cavanaugh charged with shoplifting. She was later released when her son, Loren Potter furnished a cash bond of $100 for the appearance of his mother in the police court tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Connor, it is alleged went to the United Waist Co., store Bank St., shortly after 5 o'clock and accompanied by two women and there inspected stock. While Mrs. Connor's companions engaged salesmen in the place, Mrs. Connor was left alone, and it was at that time, it is alleged, that she did the shoplifting, taking a dress for a miss of about 10 and it is further claimed for the use of her daughter. Soon after the three women departed from the place, the proprietor of the establishment, I. Sarinsky, discovered the dress valued at $15, missing and at once lodged complaint with the police. He furnished Sergeant Cavanaugh with a description of the woman and a short time later the officer visited the home of the Connor woman. As he approached the inside entrance to the Connor apartment he overheard Mrs. Connor discussing the appearance of the dress and as he entered the apartment Mrs. Connor, it is claimed had the dress in her hand. She immediately turned the garment over to the officer and was placed under arrest.

to take place at the Immanuel church in Boston at noon, Saturday, April 17. After the ceremony there will be a breakfast at the Marlboro street home of Dr. and Mrs. Murray. The couple will leave for a wedding trip abroad soon after.

Miss Murray's engagement was announced several weeks ago; she is well known in Boston, where she made her debut several years ago. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. R. M. Clark, of Pomfret, and a sister of Edward Murray and Miss Rosamund Murray who are now in England. Dr. and Mrs. Murray maintain a summer home at Pomfret.

HUSBAND REQUESTS POLICE TO LOCATE MISSING WIFE

(Special to the Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 3—The police have been asked by Herbert J. Babbitt, aged 50, of East Thompson to find his wife, who left home a week ago and has not been seen or heard of since. Mr. Babbitt says that he does not want his wife located in order to induce her to return to him, but for an entirely different purpose. Before Mrs. Babbitt left home she sold four cows and 16 fowls, the whole for $95 and took the money with her. She also took a horse and wagon, with which she drove to Webster and which she abandoned there and presumably took the bus from there to Worcester and from there to Providence from what information Mr. Babbitt has received.

He says selling the four head of cattle and the hens for $95 was like giving them away and that he is ready to give $100 to locate Mrs. Babbitt. He declares that he will not allow her to return to the home at East Thompson to live, but will prosecute her in a court of law.

A brother of Mr. Babbitt, who has for some time been living in the home with them, is also missing, and the East Thompson farmer, who has lost a wife, cows, chickens and brother all at the same time, sees some connection between the disappearance of the two persons at the same time.

There is to be a special program for Easter Sunday at the Methodist church beginning at 7 o'clock p. m. It will be as follows: Hymn by congregation, with the choir; scripture reading and prayer, Rev. N. B. Burton; anthem, choir; recitation, Easter Morning, Francis Warren; recitation, Barbara Fox; recitation, Martha Shaw; song, Early Easter Morning, beginners and primaries; recitation, Easter Day is Coming, Margaret Evans; recitation 'Tis Easter Day Junior Devine; recitation, Resolve Ye Children, Bertha Smith; recitation, Russell McNally; song, God's Work, beginners and primaries; recitation Welcome Beautiful Easter William Stockdale; recitation, An Easter Emblem, Mabel Evans; Edith Evans; recitation, With Easter Roses, Kinds song, Bright Sunbeams beginners and primaries; The Resurrection, Rose DeCarlo; Who? The following members of Putnam Checker club went to Norwich this evening to participate in the Eastern Connecticut Checker tournament held at the Dowell club in that city: Harry Barton, Judge M. H. Geissler, William P. Warren, Frank Stanton, Edward Dubois and Henry Dubois.

All the textile mills and the most of the other industrial plants of the city closed on Thursday night for the remainder of the week. The retail stores kept open until noon and there seemed to be an unusual number of shoppers for the half day. The weather was unpleasantly cold the mercury staying below the freezing point.

At St. Mary's Catholic church and at St. Philip's Episcopal church special Good Friday services were held.

Master Wallace Brodner of North Grosvenordale celebrated his sixth birthday at his home by entertaining a number of little friends. Lunch was served at a table prettily decorated and holding two birthday cakes with candles. He received many gifts. Those present were: Doris Gustafson, Muriel Stone, Irene Trudeau, Harriet Gaskell, Rachel Rawson, Louise Larsdi, Junior Olsen, Wilfred Olsen, Herbert Sward Jr., Henry Supernant, Clinton Ormsby.

Members of Cargill council, K. of C. are to receive holy communion in a body, Easter Sunday morning. They will meet in front of St. Mary's church at 6:30 and are to receive communion at the seven o'clock mass.

The evening school will hold sessions all next week. This is to bring the closing day sooner, also to prevent a break and the necessity of bringing the pupils back to school for only a few sessions after a vacation.

A great many men reason in a circle. That's why there is no end to their arguments.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Rare Moving Pictures at Y. M. C. A.

Both men and women are invited to see the appropriate and interesting moving pictures at the local Y. M. C. A. on Easter Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The films will include the following: "Jerusalem, the Holy City" showing the modern Jerusalem in a fascinating mixture of the old and the new; the primitive and the modern. Through her narrow crowded streets, thronged with people of every nation, move processions of pilgrims, on their way to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. Jerusalem of today rises above the ruins of the past. Remains of ancient Zion may still be found on Zion Hill, now a part of Jerusalem, and here we may see Solomons quarries, the remains of the temple wall, the water system, installed by Solomon, and other relics of Old Testament days. A reel entitled "Temple Hill" will be of genuine interest.

A reel of intense interest portraying an immense sheep ranch will be shown. Here we see 20,000 sheep grazing. With the mountains, plains and forests of Oregon as a background this reel is at once a dramatic and scenic gem. It is spectacular and hugely interesting. The above pictures will prove of unusual interest and impressiveness. Boys and girls under fourteen must be accompanied by adults.

Bread Theater

Motion pictures for the most part are made for entertainment purposes. Once in a while a picture is made for scientific reasons but rarely is a feature made which combines both entertainment and scientific education.

An exception to the rule is The Lost World, the First National Watterson R. Rothacker production which comes to the Breed theater for four days starting Sunday.

Love, romance, adventure as well as education are embodied in the amazing film. Professors of Columbia and the University of California who saw the picture in the making declare that the greatest thing that has ever occurred to bring about a popular interest in archaeology was the production of this remarkable film.

Heretofore paleontologists have had to depend upon reconstructed skeletons of the dinosaurs for their studies. How they breathed, walked, ate, fought and slept was never actually seen. In many instances these important attributes were merely guesswork. In The Lost World they are amazingly and entertainingly revealed and added to this is a plausible and highly romantic story of adventure.

The cast of The Lost World is in keeping with the magnitude of the production, including such film luminaries as Bessie Love, Lloyd Hughes, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Alma Bennett, Virginia Brown Faire, Arthur Hoyt, Bull Montana, Margaret McWade, Finch Smiles and Jules Cowles.

Other pictures on the bill include Charlie Chase in Mamma Be Good and the Pathe news.

Today's bill consists of Dante's Inferno, the Green Archer, the Pathe news and an Educational comedy. Continuous show today 1:30 to 10:30 p. m.

Capitol Theater, Willimantic

Unusual interest is being manifested in the next attraction at the Capitol theater, Willimantic. The occasion will mark the first appearance of the latest of the Bringing Up Father series, entitled, Bringing Up Father in Gay New York. This is the same offering that was enthusiastically received at the Lyric theater, New York, a leading Broadway playhouse. All the beloved characters created by George McManus will be seen, including of course the immortal Jiggs Maggie, Dinty Moore and the rest of the mischievous "bunch" who have helped in making these world-famous comics an indisputed joy. The new play, with its unprecedented array of novelties, surprises, screams and other inimitable ingredients sound exclusively in Father shows will be interpreted by an exceptional cast. The piece, which is the joint work of Nat Lefkey and Seymour Furth, is in two acts and six scenes. Twenty pretty chorus ladies, all becomingly and resplendently gowned are one of the outstanding features. The offering will play an engagement matinee and night only.

Norwich Music Association

The Norwich Music association will hold its last meeting of the current season in Slater hall annex on Monday evening, April 5th at 8 p. m.

The evening will open with a brief business meeting to hear the annual reports of the officers of the association, to elect officers for the 1926-1927 season, and to do any other business properly presented.

The musical program has every appearance of being a fine one. Mr. Julius Eisman, from the first violin section of the Boston Symphony orchestra, will be the soloist, and it is claimed that Mr. Eisman is one of the best concert soloists in the orchestra. Mr. Eisman will be assisted at the piano by Mr. Paul Bregor, and it will be noted with pleasure that they will open their program with the Kreutzer Sonata.

The evening's program will be as follows:

Kreutzer Sonata ..... Beethoven

Art Lecture at Slater Hall

It is a matter of congratulation that the Norwich Art Students' association is again to give the public the opportunity of hearing Royal Cortissoz at Slater hall on the evening of April 12 at 8:15. Those who heard him lecture on Whistler last year, know well what a treat is in store for his audience. Mr. Cortissoz is acknowledged to be the best informed, the cleverest and wittiest lecturer on art in the country. That Scribner's Magazine and the New York Herald-Tribune continue to keep him on their staff year after year, and that the managers of the Metropolitan Museum of New York consider him their best lecturer, is certainly a guarantee of his standing and ability.

His subject is to be "The Modernists," which will, no doubt, give Mr. Cortissoz full play for his wit and humor, and also prove very enlightening. We do not often have the opportunity to hear an expert's views on the recent innovations in the field of art. Let us seize this chance and be no longer a "back number."

Broadway Theater

A tear, a smile, a sob, a chuckle! A page from the life-book of a simple family, a powerful portrayal of human emotions, is the heart-stirring story of His People, which starts at Broadway theater on Sunday.

This Universal presentation concerns the lives of Rabbi Cominsky, his wife, Rosie, and their sons, Samuel and Morris.

The "good" boy, bookish, with ambitions for the judiciary; the "bad" boy unlearned, a prizefighter, react differently to their father's attitude toward them. Morris, the lawyer, beloved of the rabbi for his studious leanings, is cold, cruel and selfish subverting parental and racial ties to further his own mercenary ambitions.

Sammy, the pugilist, who consorts with tough companions, is generous kindly and imbued with love for his parents.

Climax follows climax in this moving recital. How the favored son spurns his parents and denies his religion; how the younger son, who was disowned by his father, returns and unknown to the aged and broken man brings joy to the patriarch's last days; the sacrifice of the old rabbi for his ungrateful Morris and the eventual recognition of the wronged Sammy, all are artfully portrayed in this human document.

Scenes of squalor actually filmed in New York's lower East Side, a never-to-be-forgotten snow storm, a child's pneumonia prizefight, are but a few of the realistic sights awaiting one at the Broadway theater.

A never to be forgotten cast will be seen in this wonder film which is hailed by dramatic experts as an epic of humanism.

A new comedy and news make up the balance of the features.

EAGLEVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds entertained Sunday, Mrs. Lucy Tucker of South Willington and Mrs. Ira Wilcox and son Calvin, of Merrow.

Miss Ruth Bradley of Storrs spent the week end with her mother, Mrs Lillian Bradley.

Dr. Denlinger of Storrs gave a very interesting address to the Sunday school, Sunday morning.

Walter Adams and Paul Hamer assisted with the music. Merle Bradley led the singing and Adolph Warren conducted the Sunday school. The pupils from the day school sang the Violet Song.

Sheriff and Mrs. F. O. Vinton entertained at dinner Sunday, Dr. Denlinger of Storrs and several friends from New Haven.

Mrs. James Green and children spent Sunday with relatives at Storrs.

Preaching services and Sunday school are to be held next Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. There will be four baptized and communion services will be held.

Mrs. Myra Medbery and son Lewis visited Miss Esther Medbery in Willimantic Sunday.

Trout fishing has begun in earnest although no catches are reported yet.

Near the summit of Mt. Everest, climbers have been known to fall in the snow from sunstroke, though the air was below freezing.

COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ed. Daugherty, 1208 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY

Norwich grange, No. 172, will have degree work at its two meetings in April. The first and second degrees will be conferred at the meeting on April 14 and the second and third on the meeting night of the 28th. This will be followed by the harvest supper.

LADIES AUXILIARY, A. O. H.

At the last regular meeting of Division, No. 54, in A. O. H. hall, Mrs. Julia Brock presided. A letter of thanks was received from the Backus hospital for the cakes donated to the hospital on St. Patrick's day.

Miss Eva Hyde, local chairman of Irish history contest, reported much interest taken by the pupils of the 7th and 8th grades of the St. Patrick's and St. Mary's parochial schools the subject being Ireland's share in America's fight for independence.

At the close of the meeting a surprise shower was tendered Mrs. Mingoyne (Mary Caulfield). The bride received many useful and valuable gifts from the 50 members present. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Margaret Peterson, Mrs. Mary McGowan, Miss Catherine Connell and Mrs. Bridget Williams.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY

A well attended meeting of the R. E. Hourigan Auxiliary, V. F. W., was held Monday evening in the post rooms on Main street with the president, Mrs. Annie B. Turner presiding. Elaborate plans are underway for the state meeting which will be held in the Buckingham Memorial Sunday April 11th. All sisters of the R. E. Hourigan auxiliary are expected to attend.

ODD FELLOWS

Uncas lodge, No. 11, had its eagerly anticipated programme of a minstrel show after its regular meeting Monday evening in Odd Fellows' hall providing a highly enjoyable entertainment for the large attendance. Members of Uncas lodge and Shetucket lodge were included in the cast, which was as follows:

Interlocutor, Louis Waters; Allen, Carleton Bowers; Foley, Herbert Spencer; Dooley, Wm. Amburn; Butler, Mervin Lemingwell, Carter, Walter Kelly; Eno, Clarence Amburn; attendants—Myron Ladd, Carleton Morse, George Amburn, S. Howard Bishop and Leslie Fowler.

The minstrel met everything that had been promised for it and the cast proved itself well chosen to "do its stuff."

Shetucket lodge, No. 27, had routine business at its meeting Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows hall at which Past Grand John F. McNeely presided and the entertainment committee announced that it was considering having an open night later in the month at which the Uncas minstrels would be presented.

At the meeting next week Noble Grand Frank Jones and staff will work the initiatory degree on a class of candidates.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Word has been received by the state officers of the Knights of Columbus that owing to certain unforeseen circumstances in Ridgefield, the annual convention could not be held there. The state officers have decided to hold the convention at South Norwalk. At the convention, State Deputy William J. Mulligan, will preside.

TAFTVILLE

The final service of Holy week at the Taftville Congregational church was held Friday evening with the sermon by Rev. Edwin Gordon Crowell, the pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hindle and son Edmund H. Hindle of North Grant street, Providence are spending the holiday in Providence.

The music of the pre-sanctified was offered Friday morning at Sacred Heart church, and the blessed sacrament was restored to the high altar following which there was veneration of the cross. At 3 o'clock there were solemn stations of the cross, and in the evening, there was again veneration of the cross.

Arthur MacLennan, Jr. of Manchester is spending the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. MacLennan, of South A street.

On Easter Sunday the Congregational church will use the new Pilgrim Hymnal recently adopted by the church. This book has had very wide favor. It is very rich in its selection of hymns and very helpful in the responsive readings which contribute so much to the spirit and worshipful of the church service.

Prizes Paper 152 Years Old

A newspaper 152 years old is a rare thing even for a newspaper. That is the record of a paper owned by Frank Harrison, who lives on Ely Ashland and he prizes it highly. The newspaper issue is dated December 16 1772 and is called No. 11 of Volume 1 of the "Norwich, Connecticut, Packet and the Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island Weekly Advertiser." Quite a number of items in the paper would be considered valuable in Norwich and New England as it is an early publication.

The paper is in several pieces but the pieces are well preserved and can be put together.—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

CHAPMAN SENT INVITATIONS TO THREE NEWSPAPER MEN TO WITNESS EXECUTION

Condemned Man is Permitted to Do So By Law—Chapman Spent Easter Sunday Working on the Personal Plea He Will Make This Morning to the Board of Pardons—To Obtain Commutation to life Imprisonment, Which He Seeks, the Board of Pardons Must be Unanimously in His Favor—Execution is Set For Midnight Today—Governor Trumbull Will Not Permit Chapman to Appear Personally Before Board of Pardons.

WETHERSFIELD PRISON, Conn., April 4—(AP)—Gerald Chapman, facing execution for murder at midnight tomorrow, spent Easter Sunday in his [illegible] cell working on the personal plea for mercy that he will make in the morning to Connecticut's board of pardons which is headed by the governor who has refused him a reprieve [illegible] "even an hour."

Chapman realizes that to obtain the commutation to life imprisonment which he has asked, the board of pardons must be unanimously in his favor. He ate a hearty breakfast consisting of ham and eggs, buttered toast and coffee. Afterwards he was allowed to exercise in the death cell corridor under the watchful eyes of the prison guards. The slender, little mail robber and murderer smoked innumerable cigarettes and for the first time in recent weeks did not spend much time pacing.

When he learned that three newspapermen had failed to obtain permission to witness the death scene when he is executed, he lost them personal invitations to witness his hanging, as is permitted to do by law.

Regular Easter services were held in the prison chapel by the Catholic and Protestant chaplains but Chapman expressed no wish to attend and would have been granted permission if he did, since the chapel is in another part of the prison than the death cell.

It was said at the prison that Father Michael P. Barry, the Catholic priest who visited the condemned man in the prison chapel Easter services, Father Barry would not say [illegible] Chapman had been communicant [illegible]

Governor Trumbull is an ex-officio member as well as chairman of the board of pardons. He is entitled to one vote, the same as the other members of the executive board. It is he who must sign the death warrant, with a special session of the board of pardons to be held. Justice Ralph M. Mellitz of the supreme court of [illegible] Judge Isaac H. Parsons of Hartford, Clerk Frank H. Turkington of Meriden, Dr. Samuel B. Grossman of Bridgeport, Judge D. Arthur Tyler of New Britain, Robert H. Winslow of Litchfield and Hugh M. Alcorn, Jr., of Hartford.

Frederick J. Grosch, chief of Chapman's defense corps, said that the condemned man protested at signing the application for a commutation, as an admission of guilt.

"He told me," Mr. Grosch related Chapman as saying, "Why did you put that?" He said looking at the [illegible] offered for his signature. It means an admission of guilt," Mr. Grosch told him. "I want you to sign it." After presenting the paper through the bars Chapman's pen, together with a sheet of certain paper.

As soon as Chapman was reported to have said, "If I am given a commutation it would give me an opportunity to prove my innocence in time, perhaps." And with a flourish of green ink signed the name that he adopted [illegible] after his first conviction as a boy, [illegible] he was sent to the Elmira N. Y. reformatory for petty thievery. His right name is George Chartres.

No relatives of Chapman had appeared at the prison today although it is generally understood that he has a brother and sister living in New York city. The brother is said to have a responsible position. Years ago the Chartres children went to live with an aunt, after the death of their Irish immigrant parents, according to Connecticut investigators, who withheld their names. When Chapman became the black sheep of the family they severed all relations with him.

The office of State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn tonight announced that one of the men whom it had been understood had been designated to Chapman to attend the execution under the provision of the law which permits a condemned man to personally invite three persons, would not be admitted into the prison should he appear.

Inquiry revealed that there is an unwritten law at the state prison that no person who has once been committed to the institution under court order may again enter the prison except by commitment. In the present instance it was said that while the prison administration had had no information as to the identity of the persons whom Chapman may have invited, if he has already done so, none would be admitted if his antecedents conicted with the unwritten law of the institution.

It was further stated, with authority, that at all executions, not this one alone, careful inquiry was made as to the identity of all persons unknown to the prison officials who may have been designated under the law to be witnesses.

It was stated that before the three persons whom Chapman may have invited to attend his execution are admitted their history will be known and if objection is found to any one of these named he will be refused the privilege of attending the execution. If Chapman gives the prison sufficient notice time, it was stated further, any person objected to may be informed in advance so that the condemned man may name anoon ese.

WILL NOT PERMIT CHAPMAN TO APPEAR PERSONALLY

WETHERSFIELD PRISON, Conn., April 4—(AP)—Governor John H. Trumbull said tonight he would not permit Gerald Chapman to appear personally before the board of pardons when it convenes tomorrow to pass on the murderer's plea to be given life imprisonment instead of being hanged tomorrow midnight.

The Governor absolutely declined to convene the board of pardons unless Chapman was kept out of the room. The chief executive said that he was not taking any chances on the condemned man escaping, remote as the chances are.

"I was not required under the statutes even to call the special meeting of the board of pardons," Governor Trumbull said. "I am doing it so that Chapman's counsel may have no opportunity to say that there was not offered every chance to present any new evidence they may have gathered."

FIGHTING BETWEEN HINDUS AND MOSLEMS CONTINUES

CALCUTTA, India, April 4—(AP)—The fighting between the Hindus and Moslems, which has already caused the death or injury of many persons, was continued today. Twenty-two injured were removed to hospitals and numerous Mohammedan shops were looted.

Troops heavily armed patrolled the streets, and machine guns were placed at strategic points. In the early riots, which began Friday with the approach to a mosque of a procession of Hindus, when Moslem interfered with the parade, 20 were reported killed, and immediately large bodies of police were sent out to various sections to quell the disorders. Throughout the night the streets were deserted, but the fighting started afresh Saturday morning, with even greater severity.

The Burra bazaar area was particularly affected. In this quarter rich Hindus are in the majority, but their employes are largely Mohammedans. A deputation of Hindu merchants called at police headquarters and begged for more protection from the European officers who control the police forces.

The mosques and Hindu temples in the north part of Calcutta are very close to each other and there is always danger of attacks between the two sects. The European authorities have endeavored to bring peace, but the banging of drums and the blowing of trumpets by Hindus outside the big mosques while Moslems were at prayer within, had much to do with the recent outbreak, in which native clubs and knives were used.

FOUR PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE IN HARLEM

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—Four persons were burned to death and several were injured when they jumped to safety early today in two fires in the Harlem Negro section. The police recorded both blazes as of suspicious origin.

A daughter, Mrs. Harriet Raddke, whom he had visited earlier, witnessed the accident from a window of her home. He died within two hours.

BUSSES IN COLLISION ON PORTLAND PLAINS

PORTLAND, Conn., April 4.—(AP)—Two buses of the New England Transportation company, running from New Haven to Middletown and East Hampton, were in collision on Portland Plains, near the summer home of Charles Taylor, of New York today, but no one was injured. Both machines were damaged.

Because of the heavy Easter travel the service was being doubled, the busses running in pairs. A bus operated by J. J. Griswold, of New Haven, was following one operated by J. H. Austin also of New Haven.

At the scene of the accident there is said to be a depression in the highway, then a grade, a sharp turn and an underpass. Just before reaching the turn the bus operated by Austin slowed down and the driver of the bus following attempted to do the same thing.

According to Griswold, however, his brakes failed to check the momenum of the heavy machine and it crashed into the rear bus operated by Austin. There were passengers in Austin's machine but none in the car following.

The front axle, steering rod, bumper and radiator of Griswold's machine were smashed and bent and the rear end of the bus ahead was damaged.

The damaged cars were taken to Middletown.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP FIDDLING CONTEST TODAY

LEWISTON, Me., April 4—(AP)—While fiddlers of four countries wereg athering here tonight for the world's championship fiddling contest in the armory tomorrow, plans were being made to carry John Wiseman, the Irish entrant from Bantry to the hall and back in an ambulance.

Wiseman was taken ill several days ago, but today called for his pire and fiddle. That he may not miss the contest for which he travelled thousands of miles, hospital authorities have arranged to send him to the armory in charge of two nurses and a doctor.

A field of 194 fiddlers, all over 60 years of age, has entered the contest. To the winner will go the world title, a silver cup and $1,000 in gold. The contest will run for a week and has attracted entries from Ireland, Scotland, Canada and many parts of the United States.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 4.—(AP)—Manuel Barbosa, aged four, was burned to death when he upset an oil stove in his home here today. His mother returned from a trip to the corner grocery to find him dead.

Prohibition Battle To Begin This W[illegible]

[illegible] Will At[illegible] Prove That Pro[illegible] at Present is a Farc[illegible]

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP)—Prohibition will be put under the microscope this week at the first comprehensive congressional hearings on the subject since the celebrated Volstead act became a fact.

For four hours a day and for six days the wets will undertake to demonstrate to a senate committee that prohibition is a farce and must continue so until the law is modified to permit of the sale of beer if not wine and even stronger drink.

After that the drys will have the same hours a day for an equal number of days to defend operation of the enabling act under the eighteenth amendment and to urge the strengthening of it along the lines proposed by the administration in the recently introduced Goff bill.

The wets go into the battle without any illusions that they are going to get congress to pass any modification measures at this session. But they want to make a record with a view to letting the country know what they regard the facts to be.

The drys have expressed entire willingness to meet them on that ground and are confident that they can present a case which will demonstrate that prohibition has been of immense benefit to the nation despite the manifold difficulties of its enforcement and the flood of illicit liquor reaching the market.

Definite lines have been laid down for the hearing by Senator Means, republican, Colorado, who is the chairman of the committee. There is to be no cross table wrangling between wets and drys and no cross examination of witnesses except by members of the committees. Two of the ablest cross examiners in the senate, Reed of Missouri and Walsh of Montana, both democrats, are members of the committee. They are found on opposite sides of the prohibition question. Senator Reed is one of the foremost leaders of the wets and Senator Walsh holds as equally a prominent place with the drys.

While the hearings technically are on various prohibition bills before the sub-committee, the whole question of prohibition will be threshed out. The wets will call as their witnesses Assistant secretary Andrews, of the treasury, district Attorney Buckner of New York city, and a large number of social workers, ministers, doctors and others.

The wets still are hopeful that the committee will agree to summon a number of police chiefs, sheriffs, police and other state and municipal officers. The committee has refused to do this by a vote of four to one, but it will be asked to reconsider.

Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, author of a resolution proposing to amend the eighteenth amendment to permit of the sale of intoxicants in those states and municipalities that were wet before Volstead days, will open the case for the wets.

Julien Codman, of Boston, then will make a preliminary statement for various organizations opposed to the dry laws and will take over the presentation of the case for the wets.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the anti-saloon league, is expected to have general charge of the presentation of the case for the drys next week.

MOROCCAN CHIEF SHOWS DETERMINATION FOR WAR

PARIS, April 4.—(AP)—Abd-El-Krim, the Moraccan chief, who has had his choice between war and peace in the past wek weeks, while the French government has been marking time awaiting developments, has evidently chosen war. This is indicated by late despatches from Rabat which tell of a Riffian attack this morning against French outposts.

Premier Briand, War Minister Painleve and Marshal Petain, who is in supreme command of the French troops in Morocco, conferred today for an hour with Jules Steeg, resident general of Morocco, and while no official communique was issued, the presence at the conference of General Georges Simon, commanding the French troops in the field, lent color to the report that the Riffian chief's challenge will be met and that French troops will move against him in the spring offensive.

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, April 4.—(AP)—The Jugoslav cabinet, of which the premier is Nikola Pchitch, resigned today.

August Thyssen, Died In Mulheim

Was a Leading Figure in Germany's Industrial World—Was 85 Years Old.

MULHEIM, Germany, April 4—(AP)—August Thyssen, an outstanding figure in Germany's industrial world during the last decade, died today. He was 85 years old.

Herr Thyssen had been reported in failing health since early last month when an eye was removed in an operation to prevent total blindness. Three weeks ago he sustained attacks of pneumonia and brain fever and his recovery was declared doubtful. Born May 28, 1840, Thyssen was brought up in the neediest circumstance. At the age of 20, he opened a hardware store at Duisburg with limited capital but 11 years later was able to move his business to Mulheim, in the Ruhr, where he founded the firm of Thyssen & Co. It had a capital of $6,000 from which expanded the ramified industrial structure, under his direction with numerous holdings in coal and iron mines. The Gewerkschaft Deutscher Kaiser finally was absorbed to become the core of the present Thyssen possessions.

By the time the World war began, Thyssen was producing 1,000,000 tons of steel annually and employing 50,000 men. As a result of the conflict he lost his great plants in Lorraine and the harbor at Osen, Normandy but, on the whole, he managed to keep intact his fortune, estimated at $100,000,000.

Management of the business now falls to the eldest son, Fritz, born in 1873.

The family seat was at Lanshers Castle, near Ketwig. Built in 1260, it was purchased by Thyssen and restored in 1905.

WORCESTER YOUTH SHOT AND KILLED BY COUSIN

CLINTON, Mass., April 4—(AP)—Joseph Pellaszczyk, 16, who shot and killed his cousin, Stephen Pellaszczyk, 17, of Worcester, at the family home in Lancaster today. Stephen was arrested and placed under bail of $2,000 to appear in court tomorrow to answer to a charge of manslaughter. Stephen went to visit his cousin last night. Early this morning Stephen showed a revolver to Joe. He pulled the trigger several times to show that it wasn't loaded but on the last try a bullet was discharged. It entered Joseph's skull and he died three hours later. Stephen told the police he did not know the revolver was loaded.

Carlyle P. Barnes

BRISTOL, April 4—(AP)—Word was received here today of the death in San Diego, Calif., of Carlyle F. Barnes, 73, president of the Wallace Barnes company, spring manufacturers, of this city. Mr. Barnes was in California for the winter with his wife. He was taken ill Friday and his two sons, Fuller F. and Harry C. Barnes started immediately for the west coast. They were notified at Chicago today of their father's death, but will continue on to San Diego and return to this city with the body.

He was a member of the Masonic lodges of Bristol and Sphinx Temple, Mystic Shriners of Hartford. Mr. Barnes before his retirement was connected with several Bristol concerns as director, including the Bristol National bank, and was a director of the C. J. Root company, of this city at the time of his death.

Mr. Barnes is survived by his widow, two sons, five grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Willis C. Ladd, of Bristol.

RHODE ISLAND SEEKS EXTENSION OF GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM TO PROVIDENCE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 4—(AP)—The Rhode Island commission on foreign and domestic commerce is endeavoring to find a railway which will take over the charter of the Southern New England railroad, formed to extend the Grand Trunk system to this city. In the meantime officials and municipalities of the state are urging early completion of the line, or the restoration of the right of way to its former owners.

In 1912 the Southern New England railroad, a subsidiary of the Grand Trunk, began operations to connect Palmer, Mass., the southern extremity of the Central Vermont railway, with Providence. The purpose was to give the Grand Trunk, through its subsidiary, the Central Vermont, a Providence-Montreal line, and to make this city one of the winter seaports of Montreal.

The right of way from Palmer to Providence, a distance of 55 miles, is lined with cuts, embankments and crumbling masonry. About $8,000,000 has been expended on the work. It is estimated that $6,000,000 more would be required to complete it.

The work was suspended during the World war and during that period the Grand Trunk system became part of the Canadian National railways, owned by the Canadian government. It has been charged here that political pressure has been brought to bear in Canada to prevent competition of a line which would make Providence a competitor of Canadian ports, but Sir Henry Thornton president of the Canadian National railways, has maintained that the Grand Trunk was compelled to abandon the project through inability to finance it. He has stated further that if any other railroad wished to complete the line, he would be willing to enter into an operating arrangement in order to save the Montreal-Providence route.

Members of the foreign and domestic commerce commission have applied to the legislature for an extension of the Southern New England charter which expires July 1. They also have applied for the right to incorporate themselves so as to take over the charter until it can be sold to some railroad which will complete the line.

Mention has been made by the commission of two railways which might be possible purchasers of the charter. These were believed here to be the Canadian Pacific and the New York Central. President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific railway has denied that his line is interested, but there has been as yet no official declaration by the New York Central. The proposed line would connect at Palmer with the Boston and Albany, part of the New York Central system. Several days ago receivers were named by the federal court at the instance of the Southern New England railroad, and the line now is out of Canadian hands.

GENERAL PARTICIPATION IN OBSERVANCE OF EASTER

In Washington Crowds of Tourists Helped to Fill All the Churches, Joined in Fashion Parade and Crowded the Hotels—Throngs Waited to See President and Mrs. Coolidge Upon Their Arrival at and Departure From Church—Winter Furs and Overcoats Worn in New York's Easter Parade—300,000 at Coney Island, 250,000 at Atlantic City.

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP)—Record-breaking crowds of tourists joined in the Easter observance of the capital today, helping to fill all the churches, participating in the fashion parade on F street, crowding the hotels, appearing on the boulevards, and pursuing their sight-seeing.

Except for a chilly tang in the air and a gusty wind, the weather was all that could be desired, for there was not a cloud in the sky and fears of close to freezing temperatures were not realized.

The center of interest was the white house where the President and Mrs. Coolidge spent the entire day except for attending church in the morning with their son John, who is home from Amherst college for the holidays, and with Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, who are house guests.

Outside the First Congregational church crowds which stretched for blocks waited to glimpse the President and Mrs. Coolidge when they arrived and departed, while the pressure for admission was so great that two services in the morning were held and admission was by card.

The crowds, which included hundreds of students and teachers from throughout the country, was said to be the largest seen there on Easter for years. Quiet and orderly, the pressure from its mass at times was so great that patrolling police officers more than once were swept off their feet.

Mr. Coolidge was in conventional formal attire, while Mrs. Coolidge was dressed in tailored white and wore a medium brimmed white hat, the crown of which was draped in white veiling caught with a rhinestone pin. A single white rose broke the somberity of her black coat.

A sermon of the Resurrection from verses 5 and 23 of the 20th chapter of the Gospel of St. John was preached by the Reverend Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the church, while the service was marked by the reception of new members and the baptism of several babies.

The white house will continue its observance of the Easter season tomorrow when the grounds will be thrown open to the children of Washington for the annual egg-rolling fete.

COLD WEATHER MARRED NEW YORK EASTER PARADE

NEW YORK, April 4—(AP)—Spring hats topped winter furs and cutaways hid beneath overcoats, as Easter blew cold along Fifth avenue today. The thousands of promenaders were partly mollified by brilliant sunshine, which threw a sparkle over the crowded avenue and caused Easter's bonnets to bloom more brightly.

The chill in the air cancelled any real spring style-show, but brought out the smartest of mid-season styles, handsome fur wraps not quite concealing new spring gowns, with their matching hats, stockings and shoes.

By ten o'clock the avenue began to be crowded. At St. Thomas' Episcopal church, the broad flight of steps was filled by quarte past ten by non-parishioners, hoping to find standing room after 11 o'clock. St. Patrick's Cathedral filled by quarter past ten by non-parishioners, hoping to find standing room after 11 o'clock. St. Patrick's Cathedral filled by quarter past ten by non-parishioners, hoping to find standing room after 11 o'clock. St. Patrick's Cathedral filled by quarter past ten by non-parishioners, hoping to find standing room all morning during and between masses.

Chimes rang hallelujahs; traffic surged up and down the avenue; the sidewalks became jammed, as eleven o'clock arrived.

Flappers from the East Side, their gay straw bonnets freshening their worn winter coats, their escorts snappy in light overcoats and dolloras, crowded in close, to gape at fashionables stepping from their limousines.

An occasional Brougham or Victoria found its way through the automobile traffic, to bring the scion of an old family to church in the manner of the past 50 years.

Small grosgrain or felt hats outnumbered large hats, on feminine heads, while among men silk hats vied with derbies and the soft hat held its own. Women affected colored ensemble, such as: A light blue wool coat worn with a blue and navy grosgrain hat; a kid coat, painted to look like Baby leopard, worn with a blue and red grosgrain hat. Men contented their color sense in widening the black and white stripes on their wing collar cravats, and emphasized the fact that the cane is more fashionable than ever.

300,000 at Coney Island

A cold northwest wind this afternoon chilled Coney Island's 300,000 Easter promenaders and sent them in early.

The boardwalk held jostling paraders, including sailors from the Brooklyn Navy yard, East Side flappers and old couples from the country. Colors abounded, in abbreviated spring hosiery and gaudy spring footwear.

MORE THAN 250,000 IN PARADE IN ATLANTIC CITY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 4—(AP)—More than 250,000 persons strolled the famous boardwalk here today in the annual Easter parade and style revue, which was marked by warm air and cloudless skies.

Strolling began shortly after midday service in the churches and during the afternoon the throng had become so great that rolling chairs were soon involved in a traffic jam. Extra police were detailed to the boardwalk.

The sun was warm enough to permit the display of the new Easter frock and hat in the latest modes. Smart mannish suits, worn with a silken shirt and speckled necktie, were predominant.

Although the surf was far from warm, the air was comfortable enough to permit a few of the sturdier ones to flock to the beaches in the first colorful bathing suits of the year.

Mayor Walker, Mrs. George M. Cohan, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Harriman of New York city and Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick of Philadelphia were among those promenading the walk.

EASTER CELEBRATIONS IN JERUSALEM IMPRESSIVE

JERUSALEM, April 4.—(AP)—Easter day celebrations were carried out in Jerusalem with fitting solemnity. Two early morning services were held by Protestant denominations in the garden of the tomb below Gordon's Calvary. At an impressive service of Anglicans at St. George's cathedral Bishop Rivers officiated. An interesting feature of this was the attendance of Father Uyttl and numerous young students of the Armenian school of theology, marking a welcome extended by the Anglican to the Gregorian Eastern church.

Yesterday a mock service was held in the British military cemetery in honor of the soldiers who gave their lives for the conquest of Jerusalem. Field Marshal Lord Plumer high commissioner for Palestine, delivered a stirring address, and called for fellowship of service, which was exemplified by all the graves around them.

A spectacular solemn high mass in the church of the Holy Sepulchre was attended by a large number of worshippers, among them many foreign visitors. The service was conducted by the Franciscan father custodian of the holy land. The image of the Saviour which on Good Friday was placed in the coffin, was removed yesterday at the holy fire ceremony.

This afternoon the Rev. Harry E. Fosdick of New York, addressed a large gathering of tourists and members of the American colony; he delivered an Eastern message on the immortality of the soul.

Easter was celebrated in the delightful atmosphere of the Palestinian spring with its wonderful profusion of wild flowers.

Easter at St. Peters

ROME, April 4—(AP)—Easter Sunday was celebrated at St. Peters and other churches by crowds of Romans and visitors from abroad. It is said that 150,000 foreigners are here.

CHILD KILLED WHEN TRUCK OVERTURNED IN WALLINGFORD

MERIDEN, April 4.—(AP)—One child was killed and two others injured when a truck containing 11 persons was overturned one mile north of Wallingford center late today. All are from New Haven.

Evelyn Bidani, two years old, of New Haven, was fatally injured, dying soon after having been taken to the Meriden hospital.

Mrs. Angelina Bendati suffered a possible fracture of the skull. Her daughter Louise, was cut about the face and body. Eight other persons were taken to the hospital after the crash but were discharged, not having been injured seriously.

The truck was returning to New Haven late this afternoon when the accident occurred. A closed machine operated by an unidentified driver, is said to have cut in ahead of the truck forcing it from the highway. The larger machine overturned, pinning the 11 passengers in the wreckage.

Passing automobilists went to the assistance of the victims of the crash and they were brought to the hospital here.

The operator of the closed car who is said to have been the cause of the crash, drove away from the scene and his name had not been learned tonight.

FRANCE HAS SUCCEEDED IN BALANCING BUDGET

PARIS, April 4.—(AP)—Raoul Peret, the modest, unassuming minister of finance, has jamined through the chamber and senate in the course of one short week, by laboring in both houses night and day, financial measures designed to balance the budget of 1926. At an early hour this morning the measures were finally adopted by the French parliament.

These measures, or others along similar lines, caused the downfall of such renowned financiers as Caillaux, Loucheur and Doumer in the past six months. M. Peret's next step is to put the budget through the senate when it reconvenes April 12.

The 1926 budget figures as definitely established by yesterday's votes in the senate and chamber are 41,337,000,000 francs (approximately $1,500,000,000) expenditures, and 41,919,000,000 francs revenue. These figures, dependent as they are upon the behaviour of the franc in international exchange so far as purchases abroad for the state and the cost of public utilities are concerned, may be altered somewhat, but it is not expected that the expenditures will reach 42 billion francs.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS ARE BEING HELD IN GREECE

ATHENS, April 4—(AP)—Presidential elections were held in a number of districts today, and they appeared to favor General Theodorus Pangalos, premier and dictator of Greece, for the presidency. Only recently it was announced that the elections in 23 out of the 35 provinces had been postponed.

The elections are to choose a successor to Admiral Coundouriotis, who resigned March 19. General Pangalos declared that if elected he will act as his own premier until the election of a senate and chamber, and that he will then abandon the premiership and devote himself to the larger presidential power.

BODY FOUND IN WATER OF ABANDONED QUARRY

QQUINCY, Mass., April 4.—(AP)—The body of James L. MacLary of Milton, who disappeared from home last Thanksgiving day after leaving a dummy in his bed, was found floating in the water of an abandoned granite quarry here today. A weighted rope around the neck led the medical examiner to make a finding of suicidal drowning.

KICK ENOUGH IN BEER TO DRAW MINIMUM FINE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 4—Stating that he did not realize that the beer he had been selling was over the alcoholic percentage allowed by law, Frank Chiase, whose store at 47 John street was raided some time ago, pleaded guilty at the session of police court Saturday morning to having intoxicating beverages in his possession with intent to sell. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Frank P. Fenton informed the court that samples of the homebrew seized at Caiase's store had been tested by Professor Newton, chemist at Connecticut Agricultural college. One bottle proved 4.4 per cent alcoholic content and the other 4.7 per cent. The offense being the first, Judge Foss imposed the minimum fine of $100 and costs, amounting to $142.75 which was paid Caiase said that he had been a resident of this city for 47 years and had never gotten into trouble. He made the excuse that he suffered from lumbago and being unable to do more strenuous work, sold a little beer to keep himself from being a town charge.

DEATH OF CHAS. A. LEARNED. RESIDENT OF MANSFIELD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 4—Charles H Learned, 83, widely known and highly respected resident of Mansfield, died at his home there about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He was born in July 1843 and was a farmer by occupation and had resided in Mansfield for many years. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Pendleton, of New Jersey.

SIXTY ATTEND SESSIONS OF SCHOOL CONFERENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 4—The annual secondary school conference held at the residence hall of the Willimantic State Normal school with Friday as the opening day, closed at noon Saturday. Why Do High School Pupils Succeed? the topic of discussion for the Saturday forenoon session, was led by Egbert A. Case, principal of Windham high school, Clarence P. Quimby, principal of South Manchester high school, and Henry E. Cottle, principal of Bristol high school. The general subject of the conference was, What Are the Effects on the High School of Rapid Promotion? About 60 principals and other educators were in attendance.

Easter Sunday came as predicted, a fair but cold day with an occasional cloud blotting out the sunlight. With the combination of rain and cold preceding the holiday and the chill of Easter itself, new spring styles were not conspicuous this year. The customary Easter street parade was lacking. It was evident that the time had not yet arrived for winter coats to find their into moth-proof bags. What few new Easter ries were seen were attractive, the majority being ensemble suits with knee length skirts and hose to match or of the popular flesh tint. Most of the men, refusing to gamble style against an attack of grip stuck to their winter overcoats. Th spring coats seen were, as in the women's apparel, in light shades, gray or tan.

The churches of various denominations were largely attended. Union services introduced to Willimantic in the pre-Easter church programs assisted essentially in creating an increase in church attendance.

It is evident that Easter will be followed by an improvement in industrial conditions which have not been normal for some time. The courage of the business heads in the face of bitter industrial strife shows no sign of faltering and with the coming of a new spring season indications are for at least a normal year of prosperity and contentment. Although 1925 was a period of unusual depression a new high water mark was reached in the value of building permits and a rough estimate tends to show that Willimantic will continues to increase its building program during the coming months of 1926 weather.

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen K. Gibbs were held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the South Windham congregational church, many friends and relatives attending. Rev. Joseph F. Ahl and Rev. James C. Graham officiated. The Imperial Male Quartette of Willimantic sang during the service. Burial was in Windham Center cemetery. The bearers were James N. Larkin, Charles Backus, Percy Berliner and Charles Maynard. Avery and Van Arnam had charge of the arrangements.

Joseph J. Grimes, member of Engine company No. 1 of the fire department was tendered a stag party at the home of City Clerk James S. Donahue Jr., on Windham Road, Friday evening in anticipation of his marriage this (Monday) morning with Miss Rose Demers of this city. Hoseman Grimes received a substantial check, the gift being presented by Lt. Vincent Shea, on behalf of many friends. Luncheon was served. Others present were: Kinsley Brown, Donald Bartlett, Michael Longo, Frank Lynch, John W. Kotrous, Michael F. McCarthy, Luke C. Herrin and [illegible].

Funeral services for Miss Julia Winchester at St. Philip's church, Warrenville were held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The Rev. William J. Dunn, the pastor, officiating. Burial was in the family lot in S. Philip's cemetery. The committal prayers were read by Rev. Father Dunn. Arrangements were in charge of Kilfourey Brothers.

City Health Officer C. W. P. S. Keating states that the number of measles cases reported to him shows a notable decrease in weekly average. Local physicans reported a total of 72 cases of contagious diseases for March. They were: Measles 54, plus; chicken pox 6; lobar pneumonia 5; whooping cough 3; scarlet fever 2, diphtheria and mumps, one each.

At the Easter Vesper service at the First Methodist church Sunday evening the following numbers were given by a trio Mrs. Charles H. Beebe, pianist, Leslie Nichols, ute and Master Donald Nichols, violin: Trio, Serenade, Schubert; violin solo, Vocatina, by Riff, Donald Nichols; trio, chant, Du-Nord by Lanke; ute solo, Idylle Varbey, Leslie Nichols; trio, Auf-Hoher-Alp, by Andre. Several Easter hymns were sung by the audience.

Because of a concert to be under the auspices of the Catholic Women's Welfare council, Rev. Henry Quinn, pastor of St. Joseph's church and chairman of the committee in charge of the drive for a fund of $30,000 for redecorating the church has announced that the meeting of the canvassing teams will be postponed to Friday night.

Gerald Milstein and Antonio Lavigne, principals in a dispute which arose when Milstein is alleged to have backed his truck into Lavigne's house on Carey Hill, Friday forenoon, met at police headquarters and after a discussion of the matter Milstein agreed to pay damages to the owner of the house, bringing about a settlement of the incident.

Joseph F. Gaudreau choir leader, was in charge of special Easter musical programs carried out at St. Mary's church Sunday and Mrs. Edmund R. Portelance, church organist, had charge of similar programs at St. Joseph's church.

Norm on Babcock and Ernest Robarge who have been stationed at Newport Naval Training station are spending a ten-day furlough at their respective homes here previous to being assigned to the Battleship Wyoming, which leaves in May for a cruise of Pacific waters.

Mrs. Sadie E. Curley had charge of the regular meeting of Mary Todd Lincoln Tent No. 15, Daughters of Union Veterans, held in the G. A. R. rooms Friday evening. Mrs. Bert C. Hallock was awarded the mystery box.

Albert Thomas Grady of Ives street, was booked for a hearing on a charge of intoxication in police court this (Monday) morning after being arrested over the week-end. He was out on a $100 bond Sunday.

With Commander A. P. Benner in charge, seven of the twelve surviving members of Francis S. Long Post No. 20, G. A. R. attended the regular bimonthly meeting of the post at the town building Saturday evening.

William Mann, Jr., four year old son of William and Mary Jane McCabe Mann, formerly of this city, now of Hartford, died at their home Sunday morning. The child had been a patient at an observation hospital for about a week, with broncho-pneumonia. The body was brought to the home of Miss Elizabeth McCabe, of this city, Sunday afternoon.

GIRL GAINED 7 POUNDS NINE YEARS AN INVALID

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at Lee & Osgood Co. or any druggists.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength.

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 6 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues, I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

Bad Breath

Comes from Constipation

Don't try to cover up bad breath. Remove the cause. Get rid of constipation and your breath will become fresh and sweet. Even more important, you will notice immediate improvement in your health and spirits.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. Unlike laxatives, it does not form a habit and can be discontinued at any time.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

DANIELSON

TWO SPECIAL DEPUTIES WILL AID FISH WARDEN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 4.—Further protection against violation of the fishing laws on trout streams in this area is sought through the appointment of Charles Rapp and William M. Franklin as special deputies assisting Warden Gordon E. Withey, who is on regular duty guarding Snake Mountain brook and doing other work that the office he holds imposes. Mr Rapp, it was stated at the week end, will assist Warden Withey in the patrol of the state-leased Snake Meadow brook. Mr. Franklin will do other special work incident to insuring observation of fishing laws in this corener of the state. The officials will watch out for the takers of under-length trout, for people without fishing licenses, etc., etc. No such adequate protection of trout streams as is now afforded has previously been provided in Connecticut.

CHILLY FOR EASTER PARADE, BUT VANITY NOT DAUNTED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 4.—The Easter parade was a bit frost-bitten. Cloudy gloomy and cold weather kept the birds of paradise under cover for at least another week—that is, the great majority of them. A few braved the weather to display new gowns, hats and wraps and tightly set their teeth against a searching half-gale, that was fulminating them for so doing and with the plan of convincing the public that it was all great fun. But the public, cool in the face of the winter season, looked and marveled at the great sacrifice. STUDYING THE PHILIPPINES

Within the past few months attention has been especially directed to the Philippine Islands because of the rubber situation. This country has great need for this commodity, the bulk of the world's production being under the control of other countries and yet there is opportunity for the growing of rubber trees under the American flag. It is in the Philippines that there is a chance for this country to make itself independent of the world rubber market outside of what is controlled by American capital, and yet although the existence of restrictive and narrow laws in the islands there appears to be slight chance of such development until changes are made.

It is not solely the rubber situation which has caused due appreciation of the Philippines, but it has focused increased attention in that direction, so much so that the president has named Carmi A. Thompson to make an economic study of the islands and make a report on the possibilities there. There are reasons to anticipate an interesting report which should prove a matter of quite as deep concern in the islands as here, for it is time that the efforts of the islanders should be turned in a direction that will mean far more to them in every way than the continuation of the struggle to be set adrift.

Conditions have been disclosed there which indicated all too clearly that it is through remaining a part of the United States that the islands will undergo development that will be for the best interests of all concerned. There are great possibilities in the islands. They are large producers now but they can produce much more. They can vie with other sections of the world in the growing of rubber and that can be expected to be clearly set forth by Mr. Thompson in the report he makes as the result of his study of the islands. This is not the first study that has been made of the islands but it is the first since the rubber situation developed, and there is much at stake for this country and the islands in that respect.

FIGHTING MOSQUITOES

Not many efforts are being put forth in this clime at this season of the year for the prevention of mosquitoes, but it will soon be time, and such it is reported by Arthur Stringer of the Gorgas Memorial Institute that the sickness caused by mosquitoes last year cost $100,000,000 or 91 cents outlay per capita for mosquito bites it ought to arouse greater interest than ever.

This pest does not stay away just because it thinks it annoys or poisons those it harasses. It forages where it pleases and if it distributes disease at the same time it leaves the worrying to those afflicted.

But humanity should do something besides the worrying. Enough is known of the habits of the mosquito, its haunts and its breeding places to strike some telling blows. It isn't necessary to sit idly by and tolerate the 91 cents per capita tax each year, or to suffer the trespassing and the probing for which it has a great fondness. It isn't necessary to stand for the bad advertising which a community gets from the presence of the carriers of "chills and fever" for as Mr Stringer points out "The idea that the mosquito is as impregnable as the Rock of Gibraltar is passing. Those who believe the mosquito unconquerable are not acquainted with the facts."

The work of suppressing the mosquito has long been underway and it is contended that it always pays dividends. It will never be forgotten what benefits were attached to the elimination of the yellow fever through the fight which Dr Gorgas made in the canal region and elsewhere, and even where less serious conditions prevailed decided relief has been obtained through the prevention work.

Just as long as the breeding places are permitted to go without attention it can be expected that there will be mosquitoes and that they will prove an economic menace to state or city. The Gorgas Memorial institute envisions a mosquitoless United States. It is certainly not any more than is desirable but it is going to be obtained only through the full cooperation of all those who can help.

CAN DISARMAMENT PROGRESS

Since the outcome of the recent league meeting at Geneva much uncertainty has been felt concerning the preliminary disarmament conference called for next month in the same city and with many of the same participants. There was not the same spirit resulting from Geneva that there was from Locarno, and it was upon the latter that the disarmament move really got its start.

The conference next month is for the purpose of planning a program for a subsequent conference on disarmament at which it was hoped some definite action would be taken. There has been a strong effort made to create the impression that the Geneva fizzle has had no effect upon disarmament, or the attitude of the respective nations. Perhaps it hasn't but it rests with time to show it. On the other hand that attitude can be expected to swing the nations into the same channel if it happens to be unanimous.

Being a preliminary conference next month it is to be realized that nothing can be accomplished beyond the expression of views until the subsequent conference. By that time the league of nations will have had a chance to disclose what it is going to do in regard to the admission of Germany to the league and whether it can overcome the unfortunate situation which was recently created by the Geneva gathering.

Certainly if Germany does not enter the league there will be no disarmament. Possibly there will not be if it does, for there have been attitude disclosed which have indicated trouble from other directions. Something of the temper of the nations relative to disarmament should be disclosed at the preliminary gathering if carried through as planned. Likewise it will indicate whether there are echoes of the recent league meeting which have not been dulled by the claims that nothing has disrupted the spirit of Locarno. The world awaits with keen interest the outcome of the preliminary gathering now less than six weeks away.

FOOD MERGER BLOCKED

From the time the great baking merger was suggested it met with opposition. The claim is made that the aim was not to effect one great combination, but it was nevertheless viewed in that light and from the fact that it is to be abandoned without a fight it seems evident that there was full regard for he difficulties involved in endeavoring to prove that there was no combination intended.

The government has taken action in connection with the proposed two billion dollar merger which has produced results and which will be regarded as desirable by the great majority. There is the contention that the aim was to bring into one ownership various complimentary non-competitive enterprises, but to the consumer this is invariably regarded with suspicion. The opportunities for the bad as well as the good effects of a merger are duly sensed in such a matter. It has been shown that there are good combinations, that beneficial results have been obtained from them and it is even so now that the merging of certain railroads is being urged.

However much it is possible to see the value of big combinations up to a certain point, there are limits, and it is preferable that the interests of the people be considered than to take chances in the trying out of any such plan.

The government was not favorably impressed. Its opposition was so well directed that it obtained surrender without a battle. Not only is the projected combination to be abandoned but there can be no revival of it. The combination rose beautifully in the making but it fell flat during the baking.

JUDGE ENGLISH

From the evidence presented before the lower house of congress an overwhelming majority of that body calls for a trial by the senate of Judge English and if convicted his removal from the bench. The house hasn't convicted him, and hasn't the authority to convict him, but it has brought charges which it believes are such as to warrant his conviction.

Under the indictment, known in such proceedings as an impeachment, Judge English is charged with corrupt use of bankruptcy funds, unlawful appointment of receivers, unwarranted disbarment of lawyers and profanity on the bench.

Impeachments are happily not frequent, and in this instance a special session of the senate will probably be called for the trial, the senate acting as the trial court and the prosecutors will be designated members of the house. Judge English has indicated that he will stand trial and ot resign. It is not a pleasant situation for a judge to face and it is not believed that any congress looks with joy upon impeachment proceedings with pleasure.

When conditions get to a point where there is improper conduct in the federal courts there is a duty involved which must be discharged. We look to the courts for justice and most certainly proper conduct is expected of those presiding over them. No judge is guilty until he has been convicted. He will have a chance to set forth his position and to break down, if possible, the charges. It is the full evidence that must govern and that is what the senate must receive and duly weigh. Conviction under such circumstances involves not only removal from the bench but the loss of rights which no person wishes to lose.

EDITORIAL NOTES

With so many making plans for his summer vacation, how would you like to be the president?

WOMEN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Save tea leaves for washing varnished paint.

Always cook egg and milk mixtures at low temperature, to avoid separation or curdling.

To open a glass jar of fruit without cutting the rubber, let the tor stand in hot water several minutes.

When the glaze on cooking pottery has been broken food will get under the surface and make the utensil unfit for use.

When preparing mustard, instead of using water, mix with a little milk and a pinch of salt. It keeps the mustard soft and makes it go farther.

A very useful utensil for boiling eggs is a wire basket fitted into a saucepan. In this way the eggs may be lifted out without any trouble.

To remove rust from steel, rub the metal with plenty of linseed oil and let soak two or three days. Then wipe off and polish with powdered, unslaked lime until the rust disappears.

Sheets of newspaper spread between the flooring and the carpet are most effectual in keeping moths away. The destructive insects so dislike printer's ink that they will not approach it.

In making mayonnaise for fruit salad, I use pineapple juice with lemon or some other tart fruit juice, instead of vinegar. This gives a delicious flavor to the salad.

After filling a rubber water bottle with hot water, always press the sides before putting in the stopper. This expels the steam and there is little danger of the seams coming undone, no matter how hot the water may be.

HINTS ON CARE OF SAUCE PANS

It means little effort and is well worth while to take proper care of saucepans. An excellent plan to follow, when feasible, is to have a special pan for milk, several for sauces and others for vegetable. Because aluminum does not burn easily it is excellent for saucepans to be used for any kind of food.

As soon as the pan has been used, fill with water and let it soak. If a pan has been burned add several tablespoons of salt, let stand for a time and then add water and boil. The burnt substance can then be easily removed. This method is considered better than boiling with soda and water, for soda disposes the pan to burn again next time it is used.

FOR THE TALL WOMAN

If you are tall and your sink is low you are most uncomfortable during the dishwashing process. Having the sink raised is more or less expensive, but a small platform made from a wooden box is not. It can be made to elevate the dishpan to just the correct height by just sawing off the sides to the correct measurement.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

The best dry shampoo is powdered orris, which does not cling to the scalp and can be brushed out easily.

A nourishing skin food should be applied to wrinkled thin throats at least once a week. Two tablespoons fine oatmeal or cornmeal may be used. Mix with a commercial hand lotion or with milk to make a paste. Before putting on the mixture apply a little cold cream. Leave the pack on until dry.

Peroxide should not be used for whitening brittle nails, as it is too drying. Cold cream may be squeezed into the nails, then pushed out with a wisp of cotton on the end of a toothpick or orange wood stick. This will clean the free part of the nails where dirt collects.

Facial exercises are a form of beauty insurance that most women overlook until their faces become furrowed with wrinkles. Those who are wise, however, will begin early to train their facial muscles so that in later years they will not sag or grow flabby. Besides making the face firmer, the exercises stimulate the circulation of the blood, thus improving the color and general tone of the skin.

A DISCARDED CARD TABLE

In the nursery of a home where I visit there is a card table, discarded because of frayed felt and new recovered in oil cloth, when the kiddies use as a play table. Paints, etc. can be wiped up readily and the table is always ready without mother having to clear off a good one and trust to luck that it escapes unharmed.

LONG TAPERING CANDLES

Long, slender candels with a very noticeable taper are the choice today in candles. Such clear pastels as heliotrope and peach are being exhibited. The candlesticks are on the most part low with a tendency to be squatty.

THAT EMBARRASSING SEARCH

If you have a little change purse in your deep hand bag, sew one part of dress snap to the back of the small purse and the other part to a convenient place on the lining of the bag. Then you will be able to get at your change without upsetting the contents of the bag.

UMBRELLAS MATCH PURSES

It is safe to assume that umbrellas will be sorely needed by pedestrians before the month is over. Those are smartest which have handles matching the pocket book. Carried with them. Some sets are in snakeskin, some in sharkskin and some in pigskin.

BAGS OF HANDLOOM MATERIALS

Extremely smart are huge bags of handloom materials mounted on frames of Dutch silver. Many are large enough to use as knitting or sewing bags.

A USEFUL HINT

It is always annoying to go to your clothes closet and find several frocks and fine blouses have slipped from the hangers. Wind tightly a wide elastic band around each end of each hanger and the clothes will not slip off.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Taffeta, plain and floral prints, are forging way ahead this spring in the negligee field.

Bands of duck feathers are said to be the newest trimming for frocks and ensembles in Paris.

Metal laces in old gold and copper tones are frequently used for the smartest dinner dresses.

The double pleated flounce is seen on many of the spring frocks and gives the full hemline that is so much featured.

Handkerchiefs of cotton and rayon mixed in plaid designs, are among the newest conceits of Parisian fancies.—Dry Goods Economist.

In accord with the vogue for fringe, silk fringe, bead fringe and metal fringe—come fringed edges, taffeta and grosgrain being particularly adaptable.

To carry with the smart little jumper frocks in pastel colors are bags made of old-fashioned chintz and calico quilted in intricate designs.

Matching handkerchief to the neckerchief is the latest fad, a particularly effective one when both handkerchief are hand painted.

The newest coats of navy blue kashmir have collars of ermine and are lined with gay plaid taffeta, which also appears in the scarf ends.

The newest tailleurs have jackets fashioned exactly like a man's dinner coat. To be correct they must be complemented by white silk shirt, black waistcoat and black tie.

Slip-on gloves continue to be a non committant of every wearer. Washable kid is the favorite of the moment, although fabric gloves have thousands of enthusiastic advocates.

Even the smallest girls are wearing green and the prettiest party frocks are of apple green crepe de chine trimmed with narrow bands of the material put together with fagotting.

WAIST LINE RISES

Under the careful guiding of some of the more important foreign dress designers, the waist is slowly rising to its natural place. After years of hip length waist lines, the tendency seems strapped to some wearers, but charming effects are being obtained in this style by taffeta dresses with ample skirts. Unless the waist is slender, however, a corset is usually a necessary adjunct.

RIBBONS TRIM SPRING FROCKS

The silk manufacturers are busy today on ribbons, for ribbons promise to be a big feature of spring frocks. They are the trimmings which will give personality to simple gowns which otherwise would be lost in the crowd of two-piece frocks which are all ready to come "out of stock" for spring.

SPRING MILLINERY

The folds which have been a feature of the small hats have been adopted by the larger models for spring. The late English models are of ballihuntri straw with the crown creased and folded. The brim is wide in front and at the sides, but it disappears entirely in the back. The under side of the brim is trimmed with a folded band of black velvet and a big velvet bow is posed at one side of the crown.

LAUNDRY HINTS

Salt on a newspaper is splendid to rub flatirons on before ironing. It will save many an unsightly smear.

When drying flannel garments never hang them near a fire, or they will certainly shrink. The best way is to hang them in a warm room away from the fire, or in a shady windy place out of doors.

When colored blouses or dresses become faded and uninteresting make them white by boiling for 20 minutes in water to which cream of tartar has been added, one teaspoon to a pail of water.

Soak the very soiled clothes, curtains and blankets over night in borax water. It will loosen the dirt and warm soap suds will soon remove it entirely.

WASHING BLANKETS THE MODERN WAY

With the introduction of mild soap flakes the washing of blankets, heretofore a dreaded task, becomes a matter of but a few minutes.

Here is a well-tested recipe: A dash of flakes into hot water; then a splash of cold water until lukewarm. 100 degrees Fahrenheit. For all-wool blankets use 2 tablespoons or more of flakes to a gallon of water. It takes several gallons of water. When the water is hard or when the blankets are new or very dirty more soap flakes are necessary.

Make a good suds before putting the blanket in and then squeeze the suds repeatedly through it. Use a second suds when necessary, and it usually is. Rubbing, pulling, twisting should be avoided, as they are very harmful to the fabric, and when the right soap is used such hard work is absolutely unnecessary. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Put the blankets through a loose wringer.

It is best when hanging the blanket to keep the edges straight and to hang it double over two lines, thus allowing for circulation of air between the folds. It is important to choose a good drying day. Never hang blankets in the sun or out of doors on a cold day. The temperature for washing, rinsing and drying should be as nearly uniform as possible.

DECORATED BURLAP MATS NOW USED

Burlap mats about 11 inches in diameter are now being used under brass bowls, pewter jars, etc. These mats in some instances are highly decorated with bright stencil designs and appliqued pieces of oilcloth, chintz or cretonne. The edge is often finished with a flat piece of braid the same color as the burlap.

CAMOUFLAGE

If the floors you are planning to varnish have old-fashioned wide boards, draw a line through the center of each board with a lead pencil before applying the varnish and you will have the effect of narrow boards.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Paris has 137 women engaged in the practice of law.

Out of 7 583 members of the medical profession practicing in London about 12 per cent are women.

Lindenwood college, St. Louis, which is preparing for a celebration of its centennial next years is the oldest college for women in America.

The 20-bell set in the belfry of Grace church in New York city is regularly run by a woman, Miss Mary H. Gilles.

More than 70 per cent of all the persons employed in the manufacture of women's wear in the United States are women.

Mrs. Alfred Smith, wife of the late president of the New York Central railroad, posed for a figure that will adorn her husband's mausoleum.

A PENETRATING ODOR

Do not keep uncovered pineapple in the ice chest where other foods are stored. The food will absorb the odor of the pineapple.

LABEL THEM

As you pack away your winter things, label each wrapped bundle. It will save you lots of time and inconvenience next fall.

RECIPES

Cheese Cake: Mix one cup of cottage cheese, 2-3 cup of sugar, one-half cup of milk, two eggs, two tablespoons of cornstarch, one tablespoon of melted fat, a little salt and one-fourth teaspoon of lemon juice. Mace or nutmeg may be used for flavoring. Bake for 25 minutes in a moderate oven until brown. This makes a very firm custard.

Sweet Potatoes and Apples: Peel and slice some boiled sweet potatoes and put them into a buttered baking dish in layers, alternating with a layer of strained apple sauce. Sprinkle each layer of potatoes with a little sugar and dot with butter. Repeat until the dish is full, having potatoes, sugar and butter on top. Bake for an hour or more and serve very hot in the same dish.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Christian Science and Spiritualism

Mr. Editor: An article in your paper reporting a meeting of spiritualists, quotes Rev. Mrs. Moran as saying that Spiritualism is a force which has set in motion Christian Science. Such a statement is erroneous because of the fact that Christian Science teaches the oneness and allness of Spirit, God, and the nothingness of matter.

Because the basis of spiritualistic doctrine is that matter and corporealities are real, necessarily establishes an impassable gulf between it and Christian Science.

In order to make plain the distinction between Christian Science and Spiritualism, Mrs. Eddy devoted an entire chapter in her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," under the title "Christian Science versus Spiritualism." On page 71 of this book she writes: "Theb asis and structure of Spiritualism are alike material and physical. Its spirits are so many corporealities, limited and finite in character and quality. Spiritualism therefore presupposes spirit, which is ever infinite, to be a corporeal being, a finite form, a theory contrary to Christian Science."

From Small Beginnings

Thomas A. Edison, the Train Boy, the Great Inventor

What a blessing a train boy is! Up and down the train he goes, bringing all sorts of things that help to break the monotony of a long, hard journey. You can never tell what he will bring next. In 1859 Thomas A. Edison, 12 years old and proud of his job, was such a train boy—and now for 68 years he has been bringing along things to break the monotony of the hard journey of life—and no one can tell what he will bring next! He brought a box that talks and sings in the very voices of people who are dead and gone—and we call it the phonograph. He brought pictures that make the characters in stories actually move—and we call them "the movies." He brought a wonderful electric light that turns night into day. He has brought to us on our journey in life so many wonderful things that he is making the journey decidedly interesting. No one knows what he will bring next—so we are all willing to stay on the train a while longer and find out.

"Tom" Edison, who had to work for a living, made a lively train boy, even if he was only 12. In the intervals of peddling his wares he experimented in chemistry. People laughed at the boy and his "drugs," but they respected him for trying to learn something. Three years later at 15 he had picked up telegraphy something new—just as he is today. Then he worked as a telegraph operator. He had more time to sit still and think, and so he studied everything there was about the telegraph system, not to make money, but just because he wished to know more about it. As a result in some six years he was showing the experts how to improve the telegraph and leading the way to sending more than one message at a time. Still later he made a most workable telegraph ticker, such as the brokers worship all day long. They handed him $40 000 for that—and he kept on trying to learn something new.

Over in New Jersey are the great Edison laboratories where the "Wizard" works for fun, 75 years young, sleeping only a few hours of 24, working harder than any of his men, still trying to learn something new. All over the world men know the name Edison and are happy because of his work. His inventions are numberless and his financial fortune is great; but his real fortune is still in trying to learn something new. The boy experimenter is still a boy at heart—and long may he live!

Bread may be the staff of life, but what the average man wants is a fat pudding.

More of What the Quacks Saw

Whene'er the hunting list you scan
The most unfair you'll find is man.
—Old Mother Nature.

That ought not to be so, but it is if you doubt it, just you ask Mr. Quack or Mrs. Quack or Honker the Goose. They know. They have been hunted by fur-coated folk and feather folk, but the only one who has hunted them unfairly is man. Mrs. Quack never tires of talking about it. You see, she is constantly in fear of man during the long journey she must make each year when she has to go south to spend the winter.

"It isn't just that those two-legged creatures are unfair in the way they hunt us with terrible guns," explained Mrs. Quack to Peter Rabbit. "It isn't just that, though goodness knows that is bad enough. It is other things that they do. They actually make a lot of water in rivers and lakes and in the great ocean, too, unfit and unsafe for an honest duck. I've seen ever and ever so many ducks die because men had made the water unfit for them, and they didn't know it. They put all sorts of things in the water and do not seem to care when the fish die and the birds die. Yes, sir, it's bad enough to have to be watching out for hunters with terrible guns, but it is worse to never feel quite sure that the water will not make you sick and perhaps kill you. I have seen ducks and other swimming birds with their feathers so matted together and soaked with oil that was floating on the surface of the water that they could not fly. Yes, sir, I've seen some very terrible things of this kind, and so far as I can see it doesn't do anybody any good. It does us feathered folk and the fish folk a terrible amount of harm, yet doesn't do those two-legged folk called men the least bit of good that I can see."

"I suppose you find things that way in only a few places," said Peter Rabbit.

Mrs. Quack sighed. "I wish that were true," said she. "Oh, dear me, I wish that were true. But it isn't. It is getting so now that we are doubtful of every river and stream we see. It is only when we get up north beyond the homes of these two-legged creatures that we feel safe. Up there where we make our homes in the summer the water is clear and beautiful and safe. I dread leaving it in the fall. Yes, sir, I dread leaving that nice water. Once we reach the region where men live, we never know whether the water we are in the habit of visiting each year will be sweet the next time we set there or whether it will be poisoned. And men do not seem to care. No, sir, men do not seem to care. They seem to think we feathered folk have no rights. What, with smoke filling the air and oil on the water it is a wonder that any of us are alive today."

"You should change your habits and live on land," said Peter.

"That is all very well for Mrs. Grouse and Mrs. Bobwhite and Mrs. Pheasant," retorted Mrs. Quack. "But I wish you'd tell me, Peter Rabbit, how I'm going to run about on land with feet like were given me to swim with. My legs are too short; my feet are webbed, so that I cannot scratch as Mrs. Grouse and the others can, besides which my legs are too far back on my body. Mother Nature meant me to live on the water and in the water and it is no fault of mine that I am having such hard work trying to live. Why, Peter Rabbit, I can tell you some things that you wouldn't believe if I told them to you. I could tell you things I have seen that are worse than anything you ever heard of."

(Copywright, 1926, by T. W. Burgess)

"I suppose you find things that way in only a few places," Peter Rabbit said

OVER 1,500 CANDY EGGS SOLD BY CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Okiza and Pequot Camp Fire girls of the United Congregational church held a successful sale of candy Easter eggs in the vacant store of the Central building, Saturday afternoon. The use of the store was donated by the owner of the building, William H Murphy. The girls filled orders for 1,000 chocolate eggs, cocoanut-filled, besides selling about 500 at the store. This is the third year they have sold Easter candy for the benefit of their summer camp fund. Miss Dorothea Simpson was official "barker" for the sale, attracting customers by the bait of free samples of candy. The guardians of the Camp Fire are Misses Dorothy Holden and Beatrice Freeman.

Prize Trout Catch

What is considered as the prize string of trout caught this year was hooked Friday by Attorney Charles L. Stewart. There were four perfect specimens, the largest weighing two pounds and one ounce and the second largest weighed a pound, 15 ounces. The other two combine weighed a pound and three quarters. They were on exhibition Saturday in the windows of the Lee & Osgood company, Main street. This is the first catch of any size reported so far this season.

THREE PRIESTS SING MASSES AT ST. MARY'S

Beautifully decorated altars, special Easter music and the old gold vestments worn by the priests made the feast of the resurrection at St. Mary's Memorial church Sunday one of much joy and gladness. The three masses drew large congregations. They were celebrated at the usual hours, 7.30, 9 and 10.30 o'clock. Easter lilies predominated in the altar decorations, palms gracing the sanctuary, the decorations being in charge of the Altar society of the parish.

At the 7.30 and 9 o'clock masses a large number received the sacrament. The low mass at 7.30 was offered by the rector, Rev. William M. Keefe, and the 9 o'clock mass by Rev. Frederick M. Cobolan, and the 10.30 o'clock high mass was sung by Rev. Father McCormick, of Washington, D. C.

At the 9 o'clock mass the children's chorus of 40 voices sang hymns. The music was exceptionally good. At the 10.30 o'clock mass the chorus displayed the effects of good training. Mrs. M. J. Farrell of Willimantic is the organist and musical director.

Preaching at the three masses Rev. Father Keefe termed the resurrection as the cornerstone of Catholic faith. Faith in the divinity of Christ who foretold that He would rise from the grave and should reveal hope for us in the glory of His resurrection. We all share in this glory and become members of the mystical body of Christ. Following the resurrection Christ remained with His disciples for 40 days thereby giving them strength and courage to prepare the mfor their life's work. Peter was known to have converted 3,000 people at one time and at another 5,000. St. Paul says, that without the resurrection which proved the immortality of the soul, our faith and all good works would be in vain.

The annual Easter offering which was a diberal one, went for diocesan charities.

OBITUARY.

Charles F. Mehl.

Following an illness of about one week, Charles F. Mehl, 49, died Sunday morning about 6 o'clock at his home, No. 47 Bentley avenue. Mr. Mehl was born in Germany, June 19, 1877, and in Philadelphia, September 20, 1910, he was united in marriage with Emilly Wiedmann. He was a glassblower by trade and was employed by the Thermos bottle company on Laurel Hill. He was a member of the Central Baptist church, and had resided in Norwich for about ten years.

Mr. Mehl is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mehl of Baltimore, and three children, Elsa, Charles and Dorothy Mehl. There are also two brothers, Emil Mehl of Baltimore and Theodore Mehl of Long Island. Mr. Mehl was a devoted husband and father and was well known to many friends and acquaintances who are deeply grieved to learn of his death.

David Shereshevsky

David Shereshevsky, 58, one of the earliest Jewish residents in Norwich and widely known in this city and vicinity, died Sunday evening at six o'clock at his home, No. 54 Asylum street, following a short illness. Death was caused by pneumonia. Mr. Shereshevsky, proprietor of the National Clothing company, Main street, was born in Russia, October 5, 1863. About 35 years ago he was married in Russia to Rebecca Feldman and very shortly after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Shereshevsky came to this country, locating in Norwich. They had since made their home in this city. Mrs. Shereshevsky's death occurring about four months ago.

For 20 years Mr. Shereshevsky was connected with the Markoff shoe store on the West Side. Then he established his clothing busines under the name of the National Clothing Company, locating in the building on Franklin square now occupied by the Mohegan Lunch, which building he erected. Later he moved the business to its present location, at No. 139 Main street.

Mr. Shereshevsky was a charter member of practically every Jewish organization in the city. He was a charter member of the B'nai Brith, the Zion lodge, a member of the Brothers of Joseph synagogue, a member of the Norwich chamber of commerce, and of the Norwich Building and Loan association.

Surviving him are one son and six daughters, Mrs. Herman Sears, Mrs. Abraham Levine, Miss Lena Shereshevsky, Miss Augusta L. Shereshevsky, Miss Esther Shereshevsky, Miss Miriam Shereshevsky and Louis Shereshevsky, all of this city, four grandchildren, Francis and Sarah Sears and Rebecca and Sheldon Levine. There are also a brother, Moses Shereshevsky, Norwich, two sisters, Mrs. B. Levy and Mrs. Zeretsky of Norwich and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Shereshevsky was a loving father and husband and was devoted to his home. He was a man of sterling character and was widely known in local business circles. His many friends and acquaintances deeply regret to hear of his unexpected death.

Miss Martha A. Palmer

Miss Martha A. Palmer, the last member of her immediate family, died of a shock early Friday morning at The Haven in Abington, where she has been staying for some time past.

The daughter of Charles and Lucy Ann Hyde Palmer of Preston, she was born there November 17, 1848, and there her life has practically all been spent. Hers was the sixth generation in direct descent occupying the so-called Palmer homestead. Her life has been in the main a quiet one, especially in these latter shut-in years, but her interests have always centered in the activities of the Preston City Congregational church, of which from her youth she has been a valued and most helpful member.

Only nephews and nieces survive her. Incapitated by rheumatism, she bore her enforced inaction with a courage and cheerfulness that testified to the depth of her Christian character.

Charles J. Mott

Following a long illness Charles J. Mott, 65, died Sunday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock at his home, No. 12 St. Regis avenue. Mr. Mott was born in Tarrytown, N. Y., and was married twice. His second marriage took place 32 years ago in Jewett City when he was united in marriage with Mrs. Eugenia Langlais. For 15 years Mr. Mott had lived in this city and was employed as a painter.

He attended the Greeneville Congregational church. Surviving Mr. Mott are his wife, one son by his first marriage, Robert Mott and six stepchildren, Fred Langlais, Clifford Langlais, Malvina Langlais, Mrs. Claude Singer, and Charles Langlais of Norwich and Mrs. Martin Waldron of Chicopee, Mass. There is also a sister, Mrs. L. A. Thompson of this city.

FUNERAL

Miss Cynthia M. Fowler

The funeral of Miss Cynthia M. Fowler was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Mohegan Congregational church with a large attendance of relatives and friends. There were a number of very beautiful floral forms. Rev. J. Harlow Graham, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, conducted the service and Mrs. Helen M. T. Church sang several hymns. The bearers were Burrill H. Fielding, Edwin E. Fowler, Louis Dolbeare and James Strickland, and burial took place in Shantok cemetery where Rev. Mr. Graham conducted a committal service. Undertaker C. A. Gager had charge of the funeral arrangements.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS FILL CHURCHES FOR INSPINING EASTER SERVICES

Easter Sunday came with bright sunshine but a cutting wind, which however, operated little to deter the worshippers in Norwich churches and large congregations heard the well rendered music and the inspiring sermons and enjoyed the beauty of the special floral decorations which had been arranged in all the churches.

First Congregational Church

At the First Congregational church, the theme of the Easter sermon by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey was "The Life Eternal". The text referred to was John 10: 10. I am come that they might have life, and might have it more abundantly.

A choice programme of music was arranged by Organist Herbert L. Yerrington. During the morning worship a double quartette of mixed voices provided the singing. The participants were: Sopranos, Miss Bernice Underwood, Miss Mary Wattles; altos, Mrs. Charles E. Schwenk, Miss Louise P. Bailey; tenors, Frank E. Sterry, Frederic H. Wyant; bass, Clyde M. Beebe, and Harold Bailey.

As usual, for many years, the decorations on the platform were the gift of Mrs. Maurice Wallen of Hartford, in memory of her mother, Mrs. Walter H. Potter. The decorations comprised flowering Easter lilies, hyacinths, daffodils and spiraea, artistically arranged among a number of showering palms. In alluding to these, Rev. Mr. Bailey said: The Easter flowers this morning came to us as a memorial to our beloved friend, Mrs. Potter, a loyal and diligent worker in this parish for many years, and an old time friend. These emblems show that we are going to live in the memory of our friends; as memory is immortal and signifies that we will live ever after in their memory. Aside from the Potter memorial, intermingled with the other palms was a large flowering palm on a tabouret, the gift of Mrs. Charles E. Reeves' Sunday school class of young men. This also was acknowledged by Rev. Mr. Bailey in behalf of the church, who spoke in favorable comment of these boys in their interest in the church, and the inspiration that prompted the gift.

In his Easter sermon, the pastor said in part:

The quality of a man's life is determined to a large degree by his thought of the future. If this world were all, our plan of life would be on a much smaller scale. Since our life here is a part of the life which concerns the eternal ages our individual programs are more important affairs. The main consideration of life after death is not the mere continuance of that life. It is not quantity but quality which gives significance to the immortality of the soul.

We are told that this life is a preparation for the next world. In what does this preparation consist? In school the boy learns how to learn, and the method of learning is a part of his preparation for after life. In this school of the earthly life we are learning how to be generous, kind, helpful, just, true, and good. In what sense is this a preparation for the world to come? It cannot be to earn a passport to the celestial city. Heaven is a result rather than a reward. In ministering to our fellows here we are fitting ourselves to minister to them there.

We have doubtless overemphasized the element of rest and general inactivity in the life beyond. Our Easter hope loses its luster for valiant souls if it is viewed through the 16th century telescope of Milton, or even through the first century telescope of the Apocalyptic writers. It is only as we see the future life through the eyes of Jesus that we get it in true perspective. It is a life of ceaseless activity in service, a life of rich and rewarding fellowship and a life of unending development.

This is the abundant life which we may begin now and through the mercy and grace of Jesus Christ we may continue forever. This abundant life is the triumphant life, whether on this side of the grave or the other, for life is one continuous whole. Death does not interrupt life, nor change its direction. It is an important event in the soul's career. Every victory won here helps the soul to win victories there, and every victory won there is the consummation of campaigns begun below.

United Congregational Church

At the morning service at the United Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, preached upon the theme, Adventuring into Spirituality, and speaking from a text taken from the parable of the prodigal son, "This my son was dead and is alive again." In a penetrating and thought-compelling way he developed the main theme that if we are to find any immortality, we must find it here.

Two new members were received, Miss Rose Hodkinson by letter and Frederick J. Bielefield, Jr., by letter.

At the service, Rev. Mr. Abbott paid a deeply touching tribute to the late Frederick W. Lester, for so many years the organist who had directed the church music with so much acceptance to the congregation among whom he was a beloved member.

The floral decorations were beautifully arranged about the pulpit and the special Easter music was rendered most effectively.

At the church school hour a special Easter programme was conducted.

Park Congregational Church

Speaking before a large congregation at the morning service at Park Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Howe, gave his Easter sermon from the text of Philippians 3: 10; I count all things but loss, that I might know Him and the power of His resurrection and the fellowship of His sufferings if I might be made conformable unto His death.

In substance he spoke as follows:

We ask instinctively who said that? Personality is an important factor in so sweeping a statement. In answer, we have to state that it is the statement of the greatest man of his epoch. Next to his Master, the greatest of his century—great enough to crowd all other men out of the century to which he belonged.

First, he was great in intellect, call the roll of the intellectual Titans, Aristotle, Plato, Athanasius, Augustine, Newton, Bacon, Milton. He was greater than any of them for his thinking was cosmical, his outlook unhorizoned. He knew all human life for he had seen it in all the great cities of civilization and in addition he visualized the spiritual world as no uninspired mind had divined it. He dropped his dredges deeper in human nature than all the philosophers and he measured the heights of celestial friendships for which they would stake none of the savants and sages had ever attempted. He was a man of titanic will. He dared life at its worst. He faced hostility at its mightiest. He ventured on heroic tasks and adventures which might well have discouraged the bravest. He drove his furrow through environments from which common men would have recoiled.

Then he was a man of feeling. He loved man and he drew man into friendship for which they would stake their lives. And he drew men of the Olympian class as no other man has ever done. To win the homage of great men is the surest sign of greatness. The great religious thinkers have been his humble disciples. The great theologians have been at his feet. Great schools of theology have built upon him. Learned expositors have vainly essayed to fathom him and interpret him. They have one and all acknowledged his supreme mastership. Now it was this master of great men who is in my text, bringing the supreme homage of his own being to the feet of Jesus Christ. It is this superman who is jettisoning all his personal belongings in the interest of a profounder knowledge of his divine Master and Lord. I count all things but gross beside the knowledge of Christ—that I may know the power of His resurrection and the fellowship of His sufferings and the hope of sharing His risen life and note the order here that I may know Him. That I may find identity with Him for knowledge carries identities and unities and inseparatable ties which it is the passion of the Christian heart to know. And it is to know Him, a knowledge of a veritable interlocking of personalities so that the mind and life of his great Master may pass into His own.

And that he might know the power of His resurrection. The power of Christianity was one of St. Paul's strongest convictions. The gospel was power, power unto salvation. Christ was the power and the wisdom of God. Christianity was not a film, a thing of unconscious and invertebrate but a dynamic force for definite results, and the resurrection was not an incident in a career, a mere historic postulate in a gospel narrative, but a power for results, affecting God's relation to the world and for effecting concrete results in character, securing justification and standing for a soul, witnessing to and sealing the divine approval of the mission of the Son of God, but a power, a transformation to character and life. Witness the changes it wrought in the characters of the first disciples. How completely it moulded all their thinking and their conducts. They were new men after their Lord's resurrection, a new type, a new mintage, old things passed, all became new. It had this effect upon Paul. After he had seen the Risen Christ on the Damascus road all things became new. A new dawn broke out of the east, a new world swam out of the old night into the light of common day.

And that he might know the fellowship of His sufferings. That is the sure instinct of a soul's sharing in the risen life of His Lord. He wanted share in the sacrificial life of his Lord. To want a life of ease and comfort, shorn of sacrifice in a ghastly caricature of the Christian life, to want a lily hand and an unpassioned face after a vision of Calvary is a horrid reversion from the Christian spirit. If God seeks share with us in suffering, we are poor copyists if we are content with lotus lands and saunterings in meadows of daffodils. We will not be content to be off the fields where the conflict wages and our Lord is at the head of the advancing army of conquest. A suffering Lord and an unsacrificed disciple is a fatal and a tragic anomoly. So St. Paul wanted to be a crusader to the last. He wanted to be a soldier of conquest at his Master's side. He would be conformed to his death and to die in armour at the end of the battle day.

First Baptist Church

Rev. E. C Dunbar spoke on the theme, Realizing God's Power, in his sermon at the morning service at the First Baptist church. His text was Ephesians 1:19-20; and he spoke in part as follows:

Without question Easter is the one day in the church year when men and women instinctively feel that there is no substitute for what the church offers them. People who have been more or less indifferent to the church the rest of the year find themselves with little effort on their part in services of worship on this great day, which has meant so much to the world. It is not superstition which calls forth this sense of the need to worship. It is even deeper than a desire to listen to special music. On the day representing our Lord's resurrection from death fields and streams and woods do not tell us enough about God. The call of fellowship with the divine comes into hearts because the Easter day message is one of hope and unthankful as human can be at other times they feel that they must thank God for a risen Lord.

Easter is indeed a signal for victory. We enjoy victory. Wherever the victorious note is sounded we find happy people. Paul in thinking back to the first Easter Sunday sees in it a message of supreme victory. In that victory he sees the power of God revealed, and to those who likewise believe there will come to them the same power that was exercised in the resurrection of Jesus. "And what the exceeding greatness of His strength (power) toward us who places confidence in him, according to the working of the strength of his energy which he exercised in raising Christ from the dead." The power God shows here toward Jesus is, first His power to raise Jesus from the dead.

Second. His power to have Jesus ascend to be with Him, and third, giving to Jesus his supremacy over the whole universe and his Lordship over the church. Ever since Jesus came forth from the grave of death people have realized these expressions of God's power. To be sure it has perhaps been at times a blind faith. "Strong son of God, immortal love, Whom we that have not seen thy face, By faith and faith alone, embrace. But this is a better faith than no faith."

The truth is that much of the faith we accept in the physical world is upon the same foundations. Paul tells us in later sections that if we can believe these truths there will come to us a consciousness of God's power within the individual. Receiving that consciousness these comes a realization of God's mighty energy which resurrects the individual from a spiritual death, brings an ascension with Jesus to a spiritual sphere above the actual materialistic and too often selfish existence in a world with little sensing of the spiritual, and gives to the believer the power to do God's own good works and manifest God's grace through the coming ages. This is what Paul sees in Jesus' resurrection. This is what we see in Jesus' resurrection. It means to the believer a real victorious life. It is the realization of God's power, within the breast of the individual.

Christ Episcopal Church

The early service at Christ church, at 7.30 a. m. Easter morning was largely attended and the church was also well filled at the 10.30 choral eucharist. The Easter hymns sung in procession were most effective and with a large number of the members making their Easter communions and the great day in the parish life of Christ church parish was experienced. The rector, Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong, preached from the text "Arise! shine! for the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee." The key word of the sermon was "reflecting." Facing the dawn is what has kept the spirit of the noble characters in the world's history from despair all these centuries. There has always been some one facing the dawn to preach hope. The prophets preached hope when the nights were the darkest. They preached patience when everybody was losing patience. They preached comfort when there seemed to be no consolation. The prophets stood on the heights and facing the dawn saw the gleam of the new day, touch the east. Christianity when it came, entered life as a religion of happiness and of the dawn. There were new movements to prove the truths of God, new conditions to strengthen the truths of God, new phrases to explain the truths of God. How wonderful it is that a small beginning in Galilee is leading to the conquest of the world. The master said "I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." Lifted up above the heads of men where the sky begins to shine for His eyes were facing the dawn.

The optimist always has his face turned toward the dawn. So that first Easter morning Mary Magdelene started early for the tomb facing the dawn. She was also facing a problem, a difficulty, who would roll away the stone from the door of the sepulchre that Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus had put there? But by facing the dawn she saw the stone, that difficulty, removed and in that early eastern glow she saw the Master, then going quickly to his disciples house, her first greeting to them, that first Easter day was "He is risen!" Everyone has a stone that must be rolled away, but a way is provided if we truly seek our Lord's body. Christians must reflect Christ to get the full Easter joy.

Universalist Church

At the Church of the Good Shepherd (Universalist) the Easter sermon by the pastor, Rev. A. N. Foster, at the morning service was from the text Colossians 3. 1: If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above.

In brief he spoke as follows:

We are so prone to take the incidental for the main thing and so apt to treat the primary thing as though it were of secondary importance. It has been so commonly assumed that the main task of Christianity was to teach some doctrine regarding creation or nature or destiny. Whereas, in reality the main thing is the simple and great commandment to love God and to love man. Some will say, that we observe Easter because we believe in the immortality of the soul and add that such belief is confirmed and the truth demonstrated by the physical resurrection of Jesus. Strange to base so great a conclusion on so slight a promise. When we scrutinize the evidence for such physical resurrection we find there is no testimony of an eye witness with the possible exception of Paul. Paul was given to dreams and visions and it is very doubtful if he ever meant that he "saw Jesus" in the physical body.

Further, it is not at all clear how the resuscitation of a material body can demonstrate the reality of the continued spiritual life. There is abundant reason for belief in the immortality of the soul but to make such depend on the report ed physical resurrection of a remote past is to magnify an incidental and questioned particular into the primary element. The most significant element in religion is its power to revive and quicken a soul into newness of life. When the soul is all but lost in indifference and submerged in selfishness, religion gives incentive to altruistic service and inspiration to seek the truth and to know the will Divine. Such renewal of the spirit is rising with Christ into the higher life. New ambition and enlarged scope are thus witnessed. Such is primary in religious teaching and influence: such is the light of the beautiful Easter message.

Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church

"Immortality A Logical Necessity" formed the theme for the sermon by Rev. J. Harlow Graham at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church. His text was by John 14, 2. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so—, and he spoke in part as follows:

The human mind insists upon a consistent explanation of life. A system of doctrine must belong together as a living thing. The several parts must not only not contdict each other, they must require each other. A steel is a useful symbol of a theory of life. It has a hub, a centre to which all the other parts relate. It has unity; it is a single system.

Now if our Christian doctrine of immortality is a detached unrelated doctrine it may commend itself to our desires but it is not necessarily true. We are disposed to believe that the infinite Architect does not have afterthoughts in planning the house of life. We should be able therefore to begin with any great truth in the Christian system and arrive at this truth. It should have a certain completing function in the whole of the Christian explanation of life.

Suppose we examine therefore some of the universally accepted axioms of science and some of the fundamental teachings of Christianity and see how this truth "this most precious faith," this glorious hope relates itself to them.

There is the fundamental teaching about man, his sublime, inexplicable worth. The entire material universe is outweighed by him, says Jesus. Man is God's supreme earthly creation. Man is made in the image of the Eternal himself,—a little lower than the angels. He is made to have dominion, to share with God in rulership. Man is the object of God's prime solicitude. To serve and perfect men God spent his strength for ages to prepare for man's advent into this life. And He now devotes himself to advance man's progress. This is the Christian picture of man. Now if man's life be brief is it not a mockery? Are incomprehensible ages of preparation for the purposes of a brief instant of time. Strong men are moved to tears and despair when the work of lifetime crumbles. Men labor to preserve and perpetuate to earthly immortality things costly and worthy. So man himself.

Then consider man's fundamental instincts self preservation for example. This instinct has a long history. It runs down deep into our natures. We desire life for ourselves and for our friends. Death brings a shudder just so long as we think of it as cessation of existence. So if immortality be not true man's deepest instinct is a mockery. The maker of life is a mocker, a torturer, a fiend.

Suppose we could convince men that this life is all. Then the instinct of self-preservation would remain of course but it must be regarded as foolish and all exercise of foresight, becomes folly. The guiding star of all successful living is some worthy good. But take

ATTENDANCE PRIZES AT TRINITY EASTER FESTIVAL

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Easter festival for the Sunday school was held at Trinity Episcopal church. A carol service was conducted, there was a brief, interesting address by the rector, Rev. J. Eldred Brown and the usual prizes were distributed for perfect attendance during the year.

Those to receive the prizes were Dorothy Armstrong, Ruth Armstrong, Malda Wright, John Randall, Constance Chapman, William Sanders, Kenneth Sanders, Phyllis Brewer and Virginia Meech.

Geraniums were distributed to the children and the beautiful plants that ha dbeen used in the decorations were sent to sick and shut-in members of the congregation.

BUSY SEASON FOR LONG DISTANCE SWIMMERS IN THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

CAPE GRIS-NEZ, France, April 4—(AP)—The year 1926 promises to be the busiest season in cross-channel swimming this bleak shore has ever known. Four months must elapse before any swimmer dives off this rocky point to try and reach the English shore and already preparations are in progress for the housing of the numerous women and men who have announced their intention of making the attempt this year.

The United States will be well represented. Miss Gertrude Ederle, who failed after such a splendid effort last year, will again try to negotiate the "soup bowl." Miss Helen Wainwright, American Olympic champion, and Miss Ethel Cannon, who recently gave a splendid performance along the Florida coast, will be the other two feminine representatives of America. Norman Ross, Chicago, is expected here about the middle of June and will probably try about the end of July.

William T. Burgess, the veteran trainer and the second man to swim the channel in 1911, has rented a large villa near the lighthouse and will look after the American swimmers. Joe Costa of Boulogne is also having repairs made to his villa and will accommodate two or three of the amoiselle swimmers.

Isaac Hestor, the Egyptian giant who created a sensation last year by assisting both Lillian Harrison of Minnesota and Gertrude Ederle in leaving the water after they had collapsed and were in danger of drowning, will arrive here May 1, and will be one of the first to take the plunge. June 15 is the earliest date upon which any attempt can be made.

The water remains very cold until the June.

Madame Jane Slem of Dunkirk, who crossed with a couple of mules of the Doctor Griffe in 1925, has been training hard all winter, and is keen to be the first woman swimmer to cross the channel. Mlle Suzanne Wurtz, former French champion, will also start. She is a fast swimmer, but has never gone over fifteen miles.

Omer Perrault of Canada, Jean Denteville of Geneva and Georges Poumay of Belgium complete the list of swimmers who have already announced their intention to start. It is likely to be increased by four or five before the season is over.

FIRPO MAKES DISAPPOINTING SHOWING AGAINST SPALLA

BUENOS AIRES, April 4—(AP)—Luis Firpo proved a disappointment to his followers here last night in a 12 round bout with Ernesto Spalla, the Italian heavyweight champion.

The Argentine champion won on points, but failed to display anything like his former driving power. There was much clinching throughout the fight, and Spalla, who was 35 pounds lighter than Firpo (Firpo weighed 223) showed streaks of aggressiveness that might have spelled disaster for the South American had not the bell given him timely grace.

Only in the sixth and eighth rounds was there any outstanding action. In the sixth Firpo landed heavily to the body and head and had his opponent groggy. Spalla battled gamely to withstand the rain of blows, and for a few seconds it seemed as though he would not weather the storm.

In the eighth he landed on Firpo's jaw and with some hard swings and straight punches sent Firpo to the ropes. Firpo appeared dazed and took a lot of punishment before the bell.

After that the fight was tame, consisting largely of clinching. There were many catcalls from the crowd of 12,000 assembled at the ringside, and some cries of "Tongo," meaning fake. Neither fighter appeared willing to mix it in the last two round particularly. Of the two men Spalla appeared the fresher at the end.

INDOOR SPEED SWIMMERS START TITLE QUEST TODAY

CHICAGO, April 4—(AP)—America's indoor swimming champions, with the exception of the speedy Weissmuller are in the week-long National A. A. U. championships. The competitions start tomorrow afternoon.

The major battle is expected between Walter Spence, Brooklyn "Y", holder of the 220-yard breast stroke, pentathlon and medeyl swim titles, and Eric Rademacher, German star at back stroke swimming and holder of a handful of world's records.

Gustav Frochich, the other Teutonic splasher, has a less impressive record than his countryman but is expected to try the mettle of the American backstroke champion. Paul Wyatt, of Uniontown, Pa.

Weissmuller, 50-yard and 100-yard sprint champion, has just been released from a hospital and will probably be an onlooker to the race for his title. With the I. A. C. star out, Walter Spence is regarded as the likely leader in the dash events, the Brooklyn swimmer having finished second to Johnny in last year's trials. Spence in turn, is expected to be closely pushed for his pentathlon honors by Walter Laufer of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A., who finished second to Spence last year.

Schaefer Takes Title

NEW YORK, April 4—Young Jake Schaefer is the new world's 18.1 balkline billiard champion. Sweeping through the final two blocks yesterday at Dwyer's Broadway Academy with the same steadiness of stroke that has characterized his play all week, Schaefer wrested the crown from Willie Hoppe by a final score of 3,600 to 2,926. This is the first time the title has changed hands since 1912 when Hoppe beat Ora Morningstar.

VICTORIOUS FITCHBURG TEAMS REPRESENT MANY NATIONS

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP)—A league of nations from Fitchburg, Mass, started homeward today to receive the plaudits of homefolks for proving itself the best high school basketball team in the country.

Myllykangas, an Finn; Oliva and Faffeo, Italians; Panos, a Greek, and Allan, a Nova Scotian, made up the team which last night defeated Fargo, North Dakota, 25 to 14, in the final of the University of Chicago's nationaly interscholastic basketball tournament. And a Frenchman, Clarence Amiott, their coach, journey homeward with them, hoping that he would not be too sick to share in the welcome that awaits them. He arose from a sick-bed to bring his team here to take part in the national invitational event.

Fitchburg defeated Fargo last night because it had more stamina and a stouter defense after the four day grind to the finals. Fargo went home with the runner-up trophy.

Salem, South Dakota, took home a bronze basketball emblematic of third place, garnered in a 13 to 12 victory over Pueblo, Colo., the other defeated semi-finalist, which is ranked fourth.

Zanesville, Ohio, beat Latter Day Saints high of Salt Lake City, Utah, 36 to 35, to win the consolation prize, but the Utahans took the second consolation trophy. The third consolation prize went to Oak Ridge, La., while Canton, Illinois, ranked fourth, falling before Oak Ridge yesterday 22 to 13.

Fitchburg lost but one game during its regular 1925-26 playing season. Salem, South Dakota, lost its first contest in 40 when Fitchburg defeated it, 18 to 17, in a three minute overtime contest in the semi-finals. The other semi-final was won by Fargo from Pueblo 20 to 15.

FANS ANTICIPATE OPENING OF MAJORS NEXT WEEK

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—Major league baseball fans tonight viewed the opening of the 1926 campaign next week from the background of surprising training camp revelations which have given both races an entirely new aspect since the curtain dropped last October.

As the clubs return home this week the dope books show several entries which have compelled a sharp revision of the critics' calculations. In the American, the Yankees and Athletics have earned a higher appraisal, while the Giants, the Cardinals and the Braves have impressed followers of the National.

The rise of the New York Americans from a limping second division team to a potential pennant contender and the sensational winning streak of the St. Louis Nationals have been received by observers as the most startling results of the training season. But there has been a noticeable rise in the stock of the Philadelphia Athletics, resulting from the return of Hauser to first base and the improved pitching of Lefty Groves.

The Giants, virtually counted out as a pennant team last fall after the Pirates, a young club with a punch, had come through to defeat the Senators in the world's series, have played so impressively in the south as to be received as national league favorites in the east. Added pitching strength and the outfield improvement brought to the club by Ty Tyson are responsible.

Balancing the scales has been a disappointing preparatory test for the Red Sox, who have encountered too much unfavorable weather to get into condition. The Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers also have failed to come up to hopes of their followers thus far, despite efforts at reconstruction by their pilots.

Outstanding in the decline of prestige, however, rank the Pittsburgh Pirates, who have encountered some of the hard luck experienced last year by the Giants. Bad weather, injuries and sickness have given the champions a poor start in sharp contrast to the fortunate breaks which have thus far attended the training workouts of their chief rivals, the Giants.

AMATEUR BOXERS AWAIT OPENING OF NATIONAL BOUTS

BOSTON, April 4—(AP)—Amateur boxers from all parts of the country were gathering here today for the opening of the National Amateur Athletic union championships in the arena tomorrow night.

One hundred and eight entrants including two 1925 champions have signified their intention to contest for laurels. Bernard Barde, Dartmouth college boy, will defend his welterweight crown won last year, and Henry Lamar of the University of Virginia, 175 pound titleholder, will return. Lamar will forsake his lightheavyweight title and enter as a heavy.

Although the national champions will be the goals sought by all, the affair will resemble an Olympic elimination inasmuch as a team of the best men in the tournament will sail on April 10 for the Pan-American championships in Buenos Aires in May.

FITCHBURG TO WELCOME ITS CHAMPION SCHOOL TEAM

FITCHBURG, Mass., April 4—(AP)—The Fitchburg high school basketball team will get a warm welcome when it returns tomorrow morning from Chicago where it won the national interscholastic championship. Fitchburg beat Fargo, N. D., 25-15 in the finals Saturday.

Several thousand citizens will parade to the railroad station led by the high school and other bands.

The team ended its season by winning 29 out of 30 games played, including the New England and Chicago tournaments. The single lost game was droped to Brockton High in a semi-final at a Tufts college tournament in the absence of Coach C. N. Amiott.

YALE PLACES FIVE IN ALL-AMERICAN SWIMMING

NEW YORK, April 4—(AP)—Yale swimmers are named for five of eight events in the selection of candidates for the all-American college team of 1926, made by L. Deb Handley, chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association committee on swimming records, and head refere of the Intercollegiate Swimming association.

James D. Bronson, the Blue's great sprinter, is named for the 50, 100 and 220 yard free style fixtures. James M. House for the 150 yard back stroke test, and these two, with Philip Bunnell, captain of the football team, and W W Stage for the 200 yard relay race.

Representatives of Stanford university figure twice. Wallace O'Connor being picked for the 440 free style swim and Dave Fall for springboard fancy diving, while Halle C. Allan, of the U. S. Naval Academy, is the choice for the 200 yard breast stroke event.

The lineup of the all-American varsity team, with nominations for second and third places:

FOREIGN ATHLETES RETURN TO HOUSES WEARING CROWNS WON IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, April 4—(AP)—An echo of foreign triumph rolls back through the corridors of sportdom tonight as the contending forces in a comprehensive international indoor struggle withdraw from the North American athletic arena.

The score sheet for 31 outstanding international clashes between individual stars in seven branches of competition gives America a scant edge, with 41 triumphs against 40 defeats, but a major share of glory went to three athletes from distant lands—Rene LaCoste, French tennis ace; Charley Hoff, Norwegian pole vault wizard and Eric Hagenlacher, German billiard player.

One world's title long held in this country, one American indoor crown and a long string of records were carried off by the invading cohorts which included 16 European and South American champions.

Home defences in the billiard and tennis realms fell under the impact of the push. Jake Schaefer yielded the world's 18.2 balkline crown to Hagenlacher after having obtained an even break in two sensational matches with Edouard Horemans of Belgium, while Ary Bos of Holland annexed the junior national 18.2 crown.

LaCoste earned probably an even higher place on Europe's barnstorming honor roll, however, by lifting the national indoor tennis crown and with it, the net scalps of William T. Tilden and Vincent Richards.

United States athletic stars fell short of an even break in individual track tests by one point, as a result of Hoff's ten straight victories. Hubert Houben of Germany went down to four consecutive defeats in sprint events, Adrian Paulen of Holland likewise failed to post a triumph in four indoor middle distance starts and Gordon Goodwin, English Walker, was outstepped in his lone appearance on this side of the Atlantic.

North America presented her strongest front against a veritable army of invading pugilists from Europe the Orient and South America, winning ten out of 16 outstanding international fights. Stanislaus Loayza who reached the final round of a lightweight elimination championship here a year ago, was the leading scorer of the foreign host. The Chilean won three straight indoor victories including a thrilling encounter with the Detroit battler, Phil McGraw.

Loayza's successes were balanced by three setbacks administered to his compatriot, Luis Vicentini. Lucien Vinez, champion of France was beaten in his only match here against Charley Rosen. Roland Todd, English middleweight met decisive reverses at the hands of Dave Shade and Harry Greb, while Erne Jarvis, British flyweight king, could get no better than an even break.

The outstanding pugilistic disappointment, however, was Tommy Milligan of Scotland, who withdrew from a chance to fight Mickey Walker for the welterweight championship after an unexpected defeat at the hands of George Levine. Previously he split even with Jack Zivic in two bouts.

Clas Thunberg of Finland, Olympic speed skating champion closed with a rush to carry off several records and a series of victories over Charley Jewtraw but failed previously in his quest of titles. After being outstroked by Joe Moore and Charley Gorman in two indoor tests here, Thunberg failed to win a single race at championship meets in St. John, N. B., and Binghamton, N. Y., in 20 starts, however, he won nine events.

Ivan Podlubny of Russia earned the right to wrestle Joe Stecher in a match for heavyweight grappling honors, but failed to pin the American wrestler's shoulder to the mat.

The sensational breast stroke swimming of Eric Rademacher, German champion has been offset by six successive defeats administered to his backstroking team mate Gus Froelich.

YANKEES TO HAVE TEAM OF POWERFUL HITTERS

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—The New York Yankees, who plunged last year from an American League pennant contender to a second division outfit, have apparently come back with a reconstructed line-up of greater home run potentiality than any club in the major leagues.

Critics in the southland claim their recent burst of terrific hitting, the return to form of veteran pitchers and a general improvement in club morale is no mere spring flash. Strengthened by the inclusion of Mark Koenig and Tony Lazzeri in the infield, the team of Miller Huggins has braced its defense and developed a powerful attack, which, observers say, threatens to establish new records for extra-base hitting in spite of assertions that the "jack-rabbit" ball has departed.

Babe Ruth, major league record-holder, and Bob Meusel, American League home run champion of 1925, have not yet reached the top of their circuit-clouting stride, but Lou Gehrig, Earl Cooms, Koenig and Lazzeri have been hammering the ball at a terrific clip. With six fence-busters ready to enter the race, Huggins is confident his rebuilt Yankees will have considerably more to say about the disposition of the flag than they did last season.

The early gloom which settled over the erstwhile American League champions as a result of defeats at the hands of the Boston Braves has been dispelled by their impressive showing against the Brooklyn Robins. Eight straight victories were rolled up by the decisive triumph of the Huggmen yesterday over the Dodgers.

Critics consider the club stronger defensively this year not only through the new keystone combination of Koenig and Lazzeri in the infield, but due in great measure to improved form at first base by Gehrig. Veteran pitchers also have rallied to uncommon spring effectiveness, with Shocker, Pennock, Jones and Hoyt apparently in excellent condition to open the campaign.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Rhode Island, where boxing has flourished continuously for many years has now decided to put the sport under the control of a state commission.

With seven former major league players on its roster, the Portland team should be able to keep in the running for the Pacific Coast League title this season.

Since no two football coaches seem to agree in their opinions of the new forward pass rule, the only thing the fans can do is to wait and see how it works out.

The Greenwood Archers, an organization of bowmen of Oakland, Calif. are jubilant over the exploit of one of their members in bringing down a big coyotte with his bow and arrow.

Pal Moran, New Orleans lightweight, declares he is in better condition than for many months and confidently expects to defeat Champion Rocky Kansas in their coming meeting in the Crescent City.

That hockey has caught the popular fancy in New York is evidenced by the fact that nearly half a million persons attended the games held in Madison Square Garden during the season just ended.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

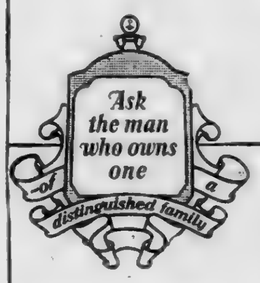
Andy High is understood does not intend to report to the Columbus club of the American Association. He is supposed to have a pretty good job in St. Louis and his friends say he is satisfied to give up baseball as a regular thing. You can never tell about these baseball boys in the spring, however.

Lincoln of the Western League has obtained Outfielder George Bliss from the Syracuse club of the International League. He was on option with the St. Joseph club last season and led the league in batting for several weeks finishing seventh in the standings with an average of .358. The Lincoln club is supposed to have paid $2,500 for him.

Buzz Arlett of the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League was a co-defendant in a divorce suit brought last week in Oakland. Mrs. Arlett charges cruelty, and claims that Buzz nagged and scolded her, stayed away from home without giving any explanation and that for days he would not speak to her. The Arletts were married March 1, 1920, and separated September 1, 1925.

They are having quite a time with their schedule in the Western Association. After several ineffectual attempts to satisfy the club owners, President Seabough decided to let Doak Roberts, president of the Texas League, draft a programme. This was presented at another meeting last week and it went into the basket with the rest of the efforts. Seabough is now trying his hand again.

The Price of the Packard Six



Considering its beauty, its comfort and its distinction, the Packard Six is not high in price.

For example, the five-passenger Sedan costs but $2789 delivered at your door with all necessary accessories, freight and tax paid

The accessories include, in addition to those usually furnished, front and rear bumpers, automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, electric cigar lighter and spare tire and tube and cover.

Many prefer to buy on the payment plan, knowing it is much better to buy a long life car that way than a short life car for cash.

Under our plan you may have a new Packard Six five-passenger Sedan for $950 down and $169 a month.

If your present car has a market value, we will buy it from you and apply its price on the down payment on the new car.

Quite likely you would not have to write a check for more than one or two hundred dollars to have a new car—a Packard Six—at once.

Those who buy Packard cars this year, either for cash or on the payment plan, will not have to buy again for years to come.

Packard has offered no yearly models for more than ten years and has preserved the traditional beauty of Packard lines.

Packard cars are improved from time to time as occasion warrants. Progress could not be made otherwise.

But the owner of a three, four or five year old Packard is never ashamed in the company of the latest purchaser.

Rather, he feels the pride of possession that comes only with long attachment and association.

You must live with a car to love it.

May we examine your present car and tell you how easily you may have a new Packard?

Packard cars are now being sold on the basis of the new tax rate

NEW LONDON CITY COURT JUDGE MAKES NEW RULING IN AUTO CASES

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 4.—While authorities are insistent that the city's ordinances relative to the parking of cars in the highways be strictly enforced, in order to relieve congestion, there will be no more wholesale presentation of alleged violators in the police court, as has been the case for a number of weeks during the early spring. This was made known Saturday with the edict of Judge S. Victor Prince, of the police court, that in the future when violators are found parking their cars in restricted territory or parking over time, the offenders be summoned to court. But if the violator is not an old offender that he be released upon appearing at the police station, but with a warning that future violations will result in the accused being presented in court with the probability that a penalty be imposed. The police, Saturday, caused nearly a score of violators to visit the police station where the warning, in accordance with the ruling of Judge Prince, was given.

MISS MARGARET WILSON IN TOWN FOR A FEW DAYS

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 4. — Mrs. Nott, wife of President Nott of the Knott, wife of President Knott of the which includes the Crocker house, this city, and the Wauregan house, Norwich, in the chain of hotels, together with Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson, is spending a few days in New London, occupying a suite at the Crocker house. Miss Wilson has been a frequent visitor to New London and one season occupied a cottage at Oswegatchie for the summer.

LEONARD WEISENCIE IS WANTED IN THREE STATES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 4.—Leonard Weisencie, alias Thomas DeVol, wanted by the New London police, who hold a warrant charging him with larceny, will probably never reach a police court trial, at least not for a long time, it has developed that Weisencie is serving an indeterminate sentence of from three to six years at Sing Sing, New York, as a result of his conviction for larceny. When that sentence is served Weisencie is wanted by the authorities of Trenton, N. J., for violation of parole. Weisencie broke out of jail several months ago where he was serving a long sentence. The New Jersey authorities have already caused extradition papers to be issued that the prisoner can be obtained by them whenever the Sing Sing term is concluded. Weisencie undoubtedly is a confirmed crook for he has no less than five convictions for larceny.

Thomas Murphy, a member of the crew of the United States coast guard destroyer Ericcson, state pier, was taken into custody early this morning by Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Patrolman George Cockell charged with violation of the automobile law in operating his machine, a Star sedan, while under the influence of liquor, also with reckless driving and having no operator's license. He will be given a hearing in the police court Monday morning. Murphy was operating his car shortly after 4 o'clock and when at the corner of State and Bank street the attention of the officers was attracted to the auto because of its irregular movements. The driver of the car was held up and it was then determined that Murphy had been drinking.

Rock Zekos, 195 North Bank street, a frequent offender against the law, principally for intoxication and breach of the peace, will be in the police court Monday morning on those charges. Zekos was arrested on North Bank street Saturday night by Patrolman Edward Riordan, where he was drunk and creating a disturbance. He secured a surety on his bond of $50 for his court appearance.

Nine violators of traffic laws in that they parked their automobiles in restricted areas about the city, were before the court Saturday. They were first offenders and for that reason they received lenience they need not expect, it is believed, if they are accused again. Every one of the nine pleaded guilty as charged. One woman was in the lot and the others were chiefly business men who should be and probably are aware of the provisions of the parking ordinance. They were simply indifferent and heedless as to whether they inconvenienced others.

Nora Potter, O'Connor was in the police court Saturday forenoon charged with the theft of a dress valued at $24.50 from a Bank street store. The owner of the store was there to claim the goods, but he was not anxious to prosecute, inasmuch as he was fortunate enough to recover what was stolen from him. Detective John J. Cavanaugh was notified as soon as the theft was committed and was given facts that assisted him in ferreting out the crook who stole the dress. Officer Cavanaugh went to the woman's home and there he heard women in another room discussing the stolen dress. He entered the room immediately and demanded the dress. It was handed over to him. Mrs. O'Connor was represented to the court as a woman seized with a sudden impulse to steal. Probation Officer Mansfield told the court that the woman was penitent and humiliated because of what she had done. The prosecutor had interviewed Mr. O'Connor and the man who lost the dress and decided that the ends of justice would be subserved if the case was continued for six months, that the accused might not have a record of thieving against her. The dress was returned to the owner and the complaint went over till the 2nd of October.

The Easter services of Brainard lodge of Masons was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Church of Christ, Huntington street, the members of the lodge appearing in full uniform and marching in a body from the Temple, Green street, to the church. At the church a large assemblage of members of the families of the members and friends listened to a brief sermon by Rev. Charles E. Spaulding, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, and a splendid musical program.

Patrolman George Cockell in making his rounds through Bank street late Saturday night discovered the plate glass window of the jewelry store of J. Slavin, 201 Bank street, smashed and in a condition to make it easy for articles displayed in the window to be removed. Cockell communicated his discovery to the police station and Patrolman Michael Dorsey was sent to the store to guard the place until the proprietor, who was notified of the window having been broken, arrived at the store and removed the jewelry from the window. It was later discovered that a family moving from a nearby apartment had let a piece of furniture to remain on the sidewalk and during a high wind, the article was carried across the sidewalk and against the window.

Drunken sailors were again in the police court Saturday. They were arrested as intoxicated and disorderly Friday night and four police officers were the witnesses against them. Notwithstanding this fact the sailors set up a defense that they were not intoxicated, that in three of them did, and they were the fellows who were ugly and abusive to the policemen who took them into custody. John J. MacSally, Jr., was fined $20 and Charles A. Benzel was ordered to pay a fine of $10. They had the money to comply with the order of the court. The sailors represented that they had drank no liquor, but finally they did admit that they had drank some alcohol.

John Fallon, an employe of the Robert Gair company, at Montville, was fined $5 for intoxication. He has not been in the court for many months, though prior to that time he was frequently accused.

Private funeral services for John J. DeCourcey were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his residence, 9 Ray street. Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, pastor of St. James' Episcopal church, read the service. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

The funeral of William E. Holdridge, formerly of New London, whose death occurred several days ago at Preston, was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of his son, Frederick I. Holdridge, Fairview avenue and Buell place, Groton, and was attended by a large number of mourners. Rev. Charles E. Spaulding, pastor of New London Methodist church, officiated. The bearers were Cornelius Twomey, Andrew J. Collins and Alvin Darling, members of Niagara Engine company, and Herbert Avery, Emory Locke and Forrest Cutler. Burial was in West Mystic cemetery.

Mrs. Osmon Neff, of Groton: Mrs. Charles Torry and infant son, Groton: Stephen Torry, members of the crew of the barge Puritan; Mrs. Carl Lindquist and infant son, 220 Huntington street; Miss Catherine Sullivan, Westerly; Charles Fish, 115 Shaw street; Mrs. Harry Brogan, Groton; Miss Ashley Johnson, Essex; Mrs. James Gray, Mystic; Mrs. William Bromley, Jewett City; Russell Stokes, United States coast guard destroyer Ericcson, state pier, and Miss Ruby Francis, Noank, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were dismissed Saturday.

The funeral of William E. Kenyon, former well known Waterford farmer, was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at his residence at Cohanzie. The services were conducted by Rev. Joseph A. Elder and were attended by a large gathering of mourners. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Gladys B. Heffion has sold to Joseph J. Silva a building lot on Crescent street.

Daniel E. Carroll has sold to Albert A. and Frances E. Beach a parcel of land on Squire street.

Ethel May Turley has sold to John and Pauline Yarvets a house and lot on Willetts avenue.

Henry J. Welson has sold to Pauline Dutcoff a house and lot on Ocean beach.

John and Mary Perry have sold to Frank and Sarah P. Muscarella a house and lot on Moore avenue.

Jennie C. Fitzpatrick has sold to Charles J. W. Mulvey a house and lot on Ocean avenue.

Pearl Smith, 18, wife of Asa H. Perkins, died Saturday morning at her home on Briar Hill, Groton, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Perkins formerly resided in New London, having been born in this city. She moved to Groton when she married Mr. Perkins, in 1924. Mrs. Perkins is survived, besides her husband, by her mother, Mrs. William Whelan, of Gales Ferry and four sisters, Mrs. Laurison Avery, Mrs. John Garvey, Mrs. Phyllis Bateman and Miss Hazel Smith.

Mrs. Flora E. Croft, widow of Albert Croft, died late Friday at her residence, Niantic. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. H. B. Hanson of Niantic.

Three patients at Norwich State hospital, Brewster's Neck, made their escape from the institution late this afternoon and this evening the New London police were requested by the hospital authorities to be on the lookout for the men, as it was believed that they might put in an appearance in New London. James Kyley, one of the three, is described as being about 40, is five feet, four inches in height, weighing about 160 pounds. He has brown hair, brown eyes and had on a dark coat and soft hat. His home is in New Haven. Edward Ormond is 44, about five feet, six inches in height and weighs about 155 pounds. He wore a blue shirt and trousers and brown shoes. The third, William Powers, is 44 and has light gray hair and blue eyes, had a dark cap, light shirt and brown shoes. A watch for the escaped men was maintained here, but they were not observed passing through the city.

Nelson Lemoine, 78 Brainard street, complained to the police this evening that while his automobile was parked on Sherman street earlier in the evening and with the owner sitting in the car, the machine was struck by another car. The driver of the colliding car was guilty of evasion of responsibility as he did not stop to determine the extent of the damage occasioned. Lemoine stated that he was unable to obtain the registration of the colliding auto.

Lucius E. Whiton, head of the D. E. Whiton Machine Co., Howard street, communicated with the police late this afternoon stating that he had received a telephone message that a man was in the rear of the establishment and had broken a window in an endeavor to gain entrance to the place. Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray was sent to the place and upon his arrival there found a window broken, but no one inside the plant nor about the place. A youth, however, informed the officer that he had seen a tall man in the rear of the machine shop, trying to open a window. No trace of the fellow was found, however.

OFFICER JOHN HOGAN DIES—TAKEN ILL ON HIS BEAT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 4.—Patrolman John Hogan, about 52, residing at 327 Montauk avenue, died suddenly this evening at his home, immediately after being taken there by Acting Lieut. James Gaffney. Death resulted from an affection of the heart, although the officer was not aware of the fact that the vital organ was in a weakened condition. He had been a member of the police force about 15 years and was unmarried.

Patrolman Hogan appeared for duty this evening for his patrol in the Pequot section with the 7 o'clock detail. He was in good spirits and had remarked that he had never felt in better health. About 9:45 o'clock Acting Lieutenant Gaffney was making a tour of beats and found Officer Hogan on Pequot avenue. Hogan complained of not feeling well and continually held his hand to his head. Acting Lieutenant Gaffney insisted that the patrolman go to his home, which was but a short distance away and hardly had the two officers reached the interior of the residence when Patrolman Hogan collapsed dying instantly.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Motor Operates in Polo Blast

If your engine were chilled to a temperature of 40 or 50 degrees below zero could you start it? Would the starting motor crank it? Could the carburetor supply the right kind of mixture of fuel and air? Would there be the right kind of mixture of fuel and air? Would there be sufficient heat in the ignition spark to fire the charge?

Some manufacturers have done this sort of testing during a few of the coldest days in winter or have taken their equipment for test to some place many miles nearer the north pole. Dodge Brothers engineers, in their constant effort to refine and improve each detail of their already well tried out power plant and chassis, as shown by a paper read before the recent meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, have designed and are using a low temperature testing laboratory which leaves nothing to chance.

Think of stepping from a room at 70 degrees through doorways fitted with double refrigerator doors and finding yourself in a blast of air blowing 30 or 40 miles per hour at a temperature so low that the mercury in an ordinary thermometer would freeze solid and fall to indicate—mercury freezes at—39 degees F. To insure accurate measurement of these low temperatures Dodge Brothers engineers have installed special electric resistance thermometers which will indicate and record automatically temperatures so low that mercury freezes and bursts the glass of the ordinary thermometer for the column of red liquid in the spirit type thermometer gives trouble with separating. The test proves, in reality, to be not only of the characteristics of the car but of the endurance of the engineers. To resist the terrific cold they wear aviation suits, made of waterproof, almost air tight material, lined with heavy fur.

The enviable reputation which Dodge Brothers Motor Cars have always enjoyed for prompt starting and dependable service under the most severe cold weather conditions are the result of the effort which their engineers have made to secure these desirable characteristics. Although cold weather conditions afforded by nature have severely tested Dodge Brothers starting system, carburetor, ignition equipment and engine lubrication and found them always dependable much more severe tests have been made possible by the cold room, in conformity with Dodge Brothers traditional policy any changes which might affect ease of starting or dependability of operation under severe cold must survive strenuous tests in this cold room before being approved.

The Benevolent society of the Congregational church met with Mrs. Leroy Pearl Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bolles is the guest of her son, Herman Lathrop, Mrs. Bolles spent the winter with her daughter in Brookline, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Baker and Robert Kerr have returned to their homes here after a winter spent in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. James of Newton, Mass., were week end guests of Mr. James' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. James. It was a sort of farewell visit as Mr. James is soon to end his engagement with Washburn Crosby Co., of Boston and enter the employ of H. T. Cushman Mfg. Co., of North Bennington, Vt., as assistant production manager.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Cappitol Theater, Willimantic

The Capitol theater, Willimantic, with the usual matinees the off quoted "Let joy be unconfined" should be the rule of the entertainment, Wednesday matinee and night, April 7. The attraction will be none other than that evergreen, yet highly diverting American institution Bringing Up Father fashioned for the stage after the famous cartoons of George McManus. This time "Father" will confine his adventures to New York gayety as a consequence should run "riot" so to speak. "Bringing Up Father in Gay New York" as the play has been christened in an up-to-the-minute American comedy in two acts and six scenes, authored by Nat LeRoy and Seymour Furth. A merry musical affair employing a champion chorus of 20 pert and vivacious young women, a corps of experienced and dependable comedians, singers, dancers engaged in the always spirited pursuit of dispensing bright and effervescent fun. Bringing up Father in Gay New York enjoyed a long and prosperous run in New York at the Lyric theater and in Chicago at the Olympic theatre. The present production has been brought here intact.

Breed Theater

Blood-thirsty human despots such as Nero were gentle lambs compared to Tyrannosaurus Rex, which is the scientist's way of saying King of the Tyrant Reptiles.

Tyrannosaurus Rex is one of the prehistoric dinosaur species which First National and Watterson R. Rothacker bring to life in The Lost World, now playing at the Breed theater.

Paleontologists say he was the most fearsome meat-eater of all time. Bigger than eight or nine elephants, more powerful than 25, he spread terror among other species of dinosaur when he started out to get a meal. He required a ton of meat a day to keep from barely starving.

In the photoplay he tries to devour Bessie Love. But Lewis Stone and Lloyd Hughes are both in love with Miss Love—and between them they save her.

Charlie Chase in Mamma Behave and the Pathe news make up the remainder of the bill.

Broadway Theatre

One of the most extraordinary programs that has ever been seen in any local theater opens today at the Broadway theater.

The management promises some real surprises in the Keith-Albee vaudeville program that has been especially selected for Easter week. It will be a revelation to all local theatregoers.

A truly masterful production will be seen on the screen which is the greatest heart picture of a generation, "His People" is a thrilling, throbbing drama of life today that will astound you because of its realism and human appeal.

His people were from Russia, her people were from Ireland, and here in America under a tolerant banner of freedom, opportunity and progress they lived as next door neighbors. Yes, they fell in love! A splendid love that fought and conquered age old tradition. You'll love them yourself! Your heart will go out to the old pushcart peddler with his two sons, one a "box-fighter" and the other a "slicker."

Only America could have produced this picture, but the world will love it!

Only you could enjoy it so much, because his people and her people—are your people.

Never cried at a movie? Cheer up—you'll cry at this one and be proud of it! "His People," with a distinguished cast, including Rudolph Schildkraut, Virginia Brown Faire, Blanche Mehaffey, Arthur Lubin, George Lewis, Kate Price and Rosa Rosanova.

Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works

Those desiring an evening of pure fun and unusual entertainment should not fail to be present at the presentation of Mrs Jarley's Wax Works given at the Community house on Tuesday evening this week. Those attending will recognize in the wax figures presented many figures prominent in professional and church life and will note the marvel of animate beings becoming mechanical and needing frequent oilings and adjustments. The antics of the stage hands whose business it will be to move and keep in running order the several figures will alone be worth the price of admision, while the descriptions of the figures as given by Mr. Jarley Jr. will be a rare treat for all who are fortunate to attend the evening's entertainment.

WEST KINGSTON

Robert Matthews of Providence, gave a very interesting talk at West Kingston church on his travels and life in the North. Mrs. Aikens, of Wakefield, real several selections, which were greatly enjoyed. At the close of the entertainment cake and coffee were served.

R. H. Bristow was in Providence on Wednesday.

T. T. Knowles is recovering slowly after a severe illness with pneumonia.

Mrs. Annie K. Webster and Mrs. W. Shannon spent Tuesday in Providence.

Henry Taylor, an aged resident, died Monday morning at the residence of his nephew, Elisha Taylor, with whom he has made his home for several years. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Burial was in Fernwood cemetery.

It is vacation for the schools in town this week.

Miss Hannah Grinell, primary teacher, is spending this week at her home in Little Crompton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bristow, and Miss Mary, Mrs. A. K. Webster and Miss Mildred Webster, spent Tuesday afternoon with relatives in Westerly.

The finance committe of the church met with Mrs. E. P. Tucker Wednesday afternoon.

Erroll K. Wilcox, high school principal, is spending the Easter vacation at his home in Norwich Town, Conn.

Mrs. Frances Crandall, of Kingston, spent April 1, her birthday, with her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Kenyon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson visited relatives at Narragansett, Sunday afternoon. They visited Mrs. Johnson's nephew, who has been in the hospital for several weeks.

Harris Carr, of Moorsfield, was a recent caller in this village.

Edward C. Kenyon was at Arcadia, Wednesday afternoon.

GURLEYVILLE

Measles are still traveling around here, calling at one home after another.

Mrs. Jones of Chaplin is assisting at Dwight Hanks' while Mrs. Hanks is caring for her little son in Willimantic.

The public and high school students are having a vacation until April 6th.

F. C. Smith of Willimantic and Arthur Wood of this place were Norwich visitors one day recently.

Love makes time fly and time frequently makes love fly.

LIFE'S SUNNY AFTERNOON

With her children grown up, the middle aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this old reliable root and herb medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

OLD MYSTIC

The sudden death of Miss Minnie F. Welles at her home at the west end of the village removes from the village a woman of noble character, and pleasing personality. Miss Welles was the youngest daughter of the late Russell Welles and Fanny A. Peabody and was born in 1865 in the house where she died, known as the Welles homestead, where her life was been spent. Of the family of four sons and four daughters four are living. Lillian, widow of Rev. Augustus Babcock of New Jersey, Miss Dora Alden, George G., and William Peckham Welles of Old Mystic. There are several nephews and nieces and grandnephews and grandnieces. This family on the Peabody side are lineal descendants of John Alden of the Mayflower. Three generations of the Peabody and Welles descendants, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Welles died near the present site of the Peabody home. The funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. B. U. Hathaway of West Mystic, pastor of the First Baptist church. Interment was in the Lakeside cemetery. There were numerous floral tributes. Miss Callie Campbell was the organist for the funeral services. In the house of the late Lucretia Main for many years she played the same organ in the same cottage in the home Lucia Haley's home.

BOMBARDMENT OF PEKING GROWING IN INTENSITY

PEKING, April 5—(AP)—Air bombardment of this city grew more intense today and in some quarters was interpreted as the beginning of the real siege of the Chinese capital by the attacking armies of Chang Tao Lin Manchurian leader, and Marshal Wu Pei Fu, his powerful ally.

According to certain reports these forces now have drawn a complete cordon about Peking. But there is word also of impending dissension between Chang and Wu, with the latter inactive in expectation of an alliance with the Kuominchun (National armies) who are still in control of Peking.

While the air bombardment did not accomplish much damage, it added considerable confusion and distraction to the already harrassed population. Chinese residents are indignantly asking why the foreign legations are not protesting against the air raids.

The military situation appears for the moment confused.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK: April 3—(AP)—This has been a week of contracts in the financial and securities markets. Stock prices crashed to new low levels for the year almost coincident with reports of record-breaking first quarter earnings by several large industrial companies. The decline, which was a continuation of the sharp readjustment in quoted values necessitated by the greatly over-extended speculation for the rise last fall and winter, was followed by a brisk rally which appeared to be holding as the week closed.

French francs sank to the lowest level ever recorded on the eve of the French chamber of deputies adoption of a tax bill, practically bringing to an end a two year struggle over the finances of the country which has brought about several changes of government. Belgian francs also touched a new bottom.

RULES FOR YOUNG WRITERS

2—Use pen and ink, not pencil.

3—Short and pointed articles will be given preference. Do not use over 200 words.

4—Original stories or letters only will be used.

5—Write your name, age and address plainly at the bottom of the story.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

An Easter Vision

Whene'er I hear the Easter bells
Ring out their carols gay,
The graves from all the hills and dells
Dissolve from sight away,
I see the mighty planet left
Without a marble stone
To tell of death, or one bereft
Who comes to weep alone.

Dear hands, long folded to their rest,
Return to touch my own,
And voices memory has blessed
In each familiar tone
Speak as in other days to me:
While on the springtime's breath
Is borne to every land and sea
The news: "There is no death."

When April Smiles

Behold! When April smiles at me
Her muddied dress I cannot see,
Nor tears upon her face.
For radiant tenderness is here,
The pussywillow in his furs,
The moss's fragile lace:
The baby rabbit's sunning ways,
Blue skies foretelling summer days,
Blue flowers every place.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

A boy or girl is never too little to learn how to do things. In fact it is while we are young that we learn how to do a great many things. If we study history we will discover that many of our greatest men had to work hard for a living when they were small, even as young as eight years. Hard work did them no harm; on the contrary they rose to prominence and success through it. Work does not hurt us: it is idleness, love of leisure that does the damage.

It is the ablest men the most successful men, that work the longest hours. They take real interest in their work and their purpose in life, their aim, does not give them time to be idle. They are not clamoring for an eight hour day and Saturdays off. On the other hand they are trying to find how they can make the days longer to give them more time to do their work.

You cannot be wide awake and want to play all the time. If you have a desire to play all the time, that is all you will know how to do, and that will set tiresome. Learn while you are young, don't be afraid to tackle new things, new problems, and thus prepare yourself for your future life. Service is what we are in the world for, service for others. In serving others, we will find that we are serving ourselves.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

India

Dear Uncle Jed: I thought I would write to you about the empire of India. India is south of Tibet. The Ganges is the main river of India. This river rises in the highland of Tibet. The Brahmaputra also rises in Tibet and flows to join the Ganges.

These rivers are making a great delta. A delta is a tract of land between two mouths of a river. The Indus river flows across the west side of India. This river also is making a delta, but not so large as that of the Ganges. The great rivers of India often overflow their banks.

The water then spreads out for several miles. Fine mud settles on the land, and thus new soil is given to the plants. A large part of India is in the torrid zone. The northern part is only a little outside of this zone.

The seasons are hot all the year. Half the year there is but little rain. The other half has plenty of rain. In fact, so much rain falls that the air is damp a large part of the time.

The heat and dampness make trees and smaller plants grow very fast. They form dense jungles in which many wild beasts live. One fifth of all the people in the world live in India.

This shows that the soil is very rich as the people must have food. Rice and wheat are leading crops. There are many fruits and spices. The opium poppy grows in India and other warm parts of southeast Asia.

Calcutta and Bombay are the chief ports of India. Calcutta is in the delta of the Ganges. This city is the capital of India. This great port ships the products in India. Some of these are floated down the Ganges to Calcutta.

Others are carried there on railroads or on wagons. At the port they are put aboard ocean steamers and sent to England or other countries. No large river flows to Bombay but railroads from many parts of India run to it.

This port is on the west coast. Bombay is a noted cotton market. Madras is a large port of southern India. Most of the natives of India are Hindus. They belong to the white race but their skin is dark. The Hindus have many temples noted for their beauty. Some of them are built along the banks of the Ganges. India produces cotton and has many mills for making cotton cloth. Cotton fibre is also shipped to the mills in the British Isles.

The British people send back cotton cloth to India. Ceylon is noted for tea. This island also sells cinnamon and other spices. Most of the trade of India is with the British and Chinese people. The British nation rules over India. There are many native kings but the British ruler is over all. India is part of the British empire.

Long ago people used to go from Europe to trade with the dark skinned people in the valley of the Indus. It is easy to see why these people came to be called Hindus (or Hindoos,) and their keen the game name today.

The country is call India. Columbus was trying to reach India when he discovered America. He thought the red men lived in India and he called them Indians.

The Tortoise and the Ducks

Dear Uncle Jed: A tortoise once lived in a pond with some wild ducks. They grew very fond of one another and spent many happy years together. At length there came so dry a season that all the water disappeared from the pond and the ducks had to find a new home.

When the ducks went to the tortoise to say good bye to him he scolded them harshly. "We are sorry to leave you," replied the ducks, "but, as you cannot fly, there is nothing else for us to do, unless you agree to this plan. If you promise not to speak one

GREENEVILLE

St. Andrew's Church

"Then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord," a text from John 20:20 was the theme of the sermon by Rev. R. Jones at the morning service at St. Andrew's Episcopal church. The sermon in part as follows:

"This was Easter day. Ten disciples had gathered themselves up in Jerusalem. They were the remnant of our Lord. Originally there were but Judas had participated at Thomas for some reason was absent. With the ten a few other disciples had come together. They had armed and with good reason. Christ's bitter enemies had been active. They had seen Caiaphas laid low, and unprincipled men bear witness. Watched one of their number become a traitor.

"All these things triumphed over Christ in their hands. Sentence had been pronounced upon Him by Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor. They had crucified Him and when they were sure He was dead they were careful to have Him completely and to install a guard. For the moment they were safe. By whose death they had hoped would protect them no more.

"There was great satisfaction. The day of Passover (Easter Day) dawned and disappointing reports began reported an earthquake had been seen, and that the tomb was empty. Jesus had risen again. Suspicious Man had appeared among the disciples and declared today that the disciples had come by night and stolen the body. Naturally they were afraid and locked themselves up for safety.

"The appearance of the Lord Himself was timely and reassuring. "Then were the disciples glad." The scripture. No doubt of the fact, no lurking remorse or darkness, yet assurance had come in. It was the Lord standing in a central position, speaking to them and showing them His hands and His feet. No room for doubt when were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord."

"It was a threefold gladness. Gladness of forgiveness. Generally they had forsaken Him. Under great stress they denied Him. For a moment, three had gone to sleep and at His arrest all forsook Him and fled. Only one could at the Cross. Now He appears again and they know all is well. They say nothing of their past shortcomings and faithlessness. His gracious greeting is "Peace be unto you." He reminds and. Naturally "the disciples were glad when they saw whether Lord." There is true gladness of heart and peace of conscience must ever rest on receipt of God's pardon.

"Gladness of victory. The last hours of our Lord's Passion had been the scene of the bitter war between light and darkness. To human eyes Christ appeared to have been vanquished and His cause lost. The principalities and powers of darkness appeared to have conquered. His Resurrection was a complete victory for the Truth, the Way, and the Life.

"Gladness of Certainty. The disciples had passed through a day of terrible suspense. The appearance of Christ among them put an end to this mental agony. The certainty which Christ has brought into the world is one of the highest privileges of the Christian life. Hearing of Him from others did not satisfy the disciples, but when they saw Him with their own eyes, and heard Him with their own ears, then their souls were at rest. It is not an acquaintance with the dry facts of history, not in the knowledge of the discoveries of scientific research, not in any abstruse theory of the philosophic mind that the human heart can come to find a gladness of certainty with regard to life and immortality. It is rather by the personal touch and the personal response to His invitation "Come unto me" which bursts forth on Easter Day and throughout life in the soul. I look for the Resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come."

Suit Withdrawn From Court

The $3,000 damage suit brought by Frank Sullivan of New London vs. James Francis McGarrity of Norwich, administrator of the estate of Catherine M. Sullivan, late of Norwich, has been withdrawn from the superior court without costs. The plaintiff sued for services rendered during the life of Mrs. Sullivan and her husband during their declining years.

OPERATORS OF THE PALACE THEATER TEMPORARILY CLOSE THE HOUSE

Saturday night after the close of the performance at the Palace theatre, the officers of the Norwich Amusement Co., which has been operating the theatre, paid off the employes, closed the house and locked it up. Herbert M. Lerou, vice president of the company, was on hand in person during the evening and took charge of the financial affairs, as he has done ever since Wednesday when the company secured an injunction which ousted Edward L. McEvoy as manager.

A ticket seller from the Broadway theatre was on duty in the box office, having been kindly loaned to the Palace theatre management by A. Davidson of the Broadway to help in the emergency. When the business was over for the night, a supply of locks and padlocks was secured and the place was thoroughly secured against any intrusion. A policeman was on duty during the night and will be kept there until the theatre is reopened.

Deputy Sheriff George H. Stanton came to the theatre to serve attachments in two suits for which he held writs, but was unable to make the attachments as there was no money upon which it was worth while for him to levy, as one of the suits was in a claim for about $2,000.

Patrons who came to the theatre Sunday evening found the house dark and a "Closed for Repairs" sign giving the information that there would be no showing of pictures.

Vice President Lerou stated Sunday night that the company expected to reopen the house probably within a few days, but it needed a little time for adjustment and making plans. Besides the two suits for which the deputy sheriff had been ready to make attachments he spoke of a number of other bills, which he said the officers of the company had learned of which had been contracted, he said, by the former manager and which were unpaid. The very thorough fastening up of the house, he said, had been done because the former manager had not surrendered all his keys under the court order and they desired to protect their property thoroughly.

Mr. Lerou spoke with confidence of the future of the house, said they had done a good business in the last three days of last week and spoke with much appreciation of the helpful spirit shown by Mr. Davidson of the Broadway theatre in supplying them vaudeville for the closing days of last week. The company had discharged its current obligations to its employes, he said, and he indicated that the theatre would be opened again as soon as a running plan had been decided upon which he was not at liberty to divulge now.

TELEPHONE IMPROVEMENTS TO COST $105,000 HERE

New aerial and underground cables, extensive switchboard additions and other improvements to the local telephone plant, to be undertaken during the year by the Southern New England Telephone company, represent an outlay of $105,000 according to announcement made Sunday by Exchange Manager Henry S. Lynch. This total represents only the cost of new material and the cost of installing additional facilities.

The largest item of expenditure in the company's construction program for the Norwich exchange is one of $40,000 for new aerial and underground cable together with the necessary conduit. These new cables will provide additional facilities in various parts of the exchange including, among others, Greeneville, Taftville, Yantic and Norwich Town.

Another large item is for poles and wire. These details of the new work will cost about $27,000. The pole work is for three purposes: in connection with the new cable, to replace old poles and for extension of the service to new areas. The expenditure for wire is in connection with extending the service to new sections of the city and surrounding towns within this exchange area.

Two positions will be added to the switchboard at the telephone office here to care for the constantly growing demand for telephone service. This work will cost about $26,000 and will make 26 positions on the boards here, including the toll positions. About 500 lines will be added to the multiple of each position.

About $20,000 will be spent at subscribers' premises for telephone equipment and the cost of installing the same.

Norwich is having a steady and substantial increase in the number of its telephones and it now is estimated by the telephone company that during 1926 about 800 new telephones will be installed, while about 500 will be removed for one reason or another, leaving a gain for the year of about 300 telephones. This growth indicates that Norwich is having its share of the business development going on within the state, for the telephone development of a community is regarded generally as a very good barometer of business conditions within that community.

IS GIVEN FINE FOR AUTO LAW VIOLATION

At the Saturday morning city court session Judge H. H. Bettis fined Irving E. Burdick, 19, No. 84 River avenue, $25 and costs on a charge of not having an operator's license while operating his automobile. He pleaded guilty to the charge but entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of reckless driving. Burdick was involved in an accident on Laurel hill early Friday evening when his machine crashed into a machine driven and owned by Louis E. Vincent of No. 2 Hinckley street.

EASTER FLOWERS AT UNCAS-ON-THAMES

On Easter even the Get-together members of Christ church who have been working through Lent for the Needlework Guild, visited Uncas-on-Thames and distributed spring flowers to all the patients.

This was done in memory of the late Edward R. Graham, beloved rector of Christ church, whose devotion to the sanatorium is well known.

Charity Offering $83,987.83

The annual collection for diocesan charities was taken up in all the Catholic churches of the diocese Easter Sunday. A report showing the amount received from each parish last Easter, together with a statement of the expenditures sent out by Bishop Nilan, showed that the amount received was $83,987.83, and the chief items of expense were: Repairs and improvements on buildings for dependent children $11,693.38; maintenance of dependent children $18,943.26; payment on building debt $17,000.00; deaf mutes $3,300; aged blind and infirm $2,640; National Catholic Welfare council $7,209; Little Sisters of the Poor $5,000; House of the Good Shepherd $5,000; Orphan Asylum in New Britain $5,000.

The total receipts were considerably in excess of those of the previous year.

At Spiritual Academy

Rev. Lucy B. Moran of Providence was the lecturer and medium at the Spiritual academy at both services Sunday and gave two brilliant lectures on Easter topics to a very much interested congregation.

At the evening service, a twilight musical hour, arranged by Charles A. Dowsett, organist, preceded the regular program. Included on this program was Mrs. Herbert Steward, the new and charming soprano soloist, who was heard in an artistic rendition of "The Light from Heaven," Gounod, with violin obligato by Mrs. Dowsett; also "The Heavenly Song," Gray, and a beautifully rendered hymn, entitled "Invocation". Mrs. Charles A. Dowsett, violinist gave "Andante Cantabile", Vogt, and "Cavatina," Neil; also "Berceuse" by Schytte to the great pleasure of her hearers. This twilight musical hour, it is hoped is the first of a series of these hours, which held the undivided attention of the large Congregation Sunday evening.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS FOR EASTER SERVICES

away heaven and life has no worthy goal. The man of culture and brains must become a cynic as regards everything beyond today.

And how about the defeated people, life's failures. Frustrated here, all hope must die. There is no further chance. Hope dead, no incentive to effort is left. Life a failure today and as for tomorrow there is none! Life is journeying, interesting perhaps, but ending in emptiness.

No life is a journey with many an interesting episode but its chief charm is a harbor whither it is bound.

Then the Christian teaching about God. God is the Creator and Father of men. Can we imagine a Being creating children for moral fellowship with himself and consigning them to dust and ashes? "A more incongruous outcome could not be imagined." So the Christian teaching about heaven has always placed him in its centre and men in near and ever nearer fellowship with God.

Then there is the thought of the great seers and thinkers of the human race. We trust our great men our master minds. And the master minds which have grappled with this question speak in a chorus here that should convince us.

And most of all the word of Christ—the world's teacher. He who by common consent knows most about how to live today speaks most confidently of all about tomorrow. Jesus the world's hope for the present offers hope that ripens into assurance about tomorrow. Jesus who has the last word with thinking men about how to live on earth gives us our best word about the life prepared for us in the future.

So if man must give up immorality he must revise his thinking about man, about his primal instincts, about God, about the findings of master minds and about the pressaging statements of Jesus Christ.

But immortality is more than a logical necessity; it is a practical human necessity. Men whose logical processes are dormant still need this doctrine to make life glorious in prosperity or bearable in defeat. On Christmas and on Easter morning the millions linger by the gravesides and then go to hear the anthem of assurance. Their hearts are opened wide to hear angelic voices speak the sweet truth of that new life when sin shall be no more.

Trinity Episcopal Church

In his sermon at the morning service at Trinity Episcopal church, Archdeacon J. Eldred Brown spoke upon the proofs of the resurrection of Christ and drew helpful lessons of the bearing which the claims of Christ have upon human hopes and destinies in particular he spoke as follows:

The domain of the a priori impossible is steadily narrowing. We used to hear a great deal about things that were pronounced to be scientifically impossible, as impossible from their very nature, thus rendering any evidence or testimony to the contrary entirely worthless. But too many things have been discovered or revealed within the last fifty years, which would have formerly been ruled out as miracles, to make the old attitude any longer tenable. So much is this the case that it is doubtful whether you could get a reputable scientist of our day to assert that anything is impossible. Even Huxley came to affirm that no one was entitled to say that anything was antecedently impossible. And it is certainly a marked sign of the new attitude of scientific leaders to find such a notable leader of an age as Sir Oliver Lodge writing a book with a scientific plea for immortality. Now this new attitude simplifies the argument for the resurrection of Christ, for the resurrection has come down to us as a fact of history, to be tested, as is every other historic fact, by the weight of the evidence or testimony for and against it. We used to hear the argument that the resurrection was antecedently impossible and therefore that the witnesses in its favor must have been deceived or were under the spell of the illustrious. But even such destructive critics of the Gospel incidents as Ewald and DeWette—and they were two of the ablest intellects Germany has ever produced—were convinced by the evidence that "nothing can be more historical than the resurrection of Christ" and that "the fact of the resurrection cannot itself be called in question, any more than the historical certainty of the assassination of Julius Caesar." But once established as a fact, the resurrection is seen to be wonderful in its bearings, both on the character and teachings of Christ and on the hopes and destinies of men. For, manifestly, the resurrection of Christ proved Him to be the Son of God. It established His teaching as authoritative and divine. It was a convincing evidence that He knew whereof He spoke. It demonstrated that His teaching and claims has the sanction of God. It established His title and right to the confidence and affection of men. It gave assurance that He was as familiar with the heavenly world as with this. It thus vindicated His right to speak of a world key and verified His teaching about heaven and the future. It established His superiority to death and His lordship over it.

Such were the bearings of the resurrection on the character and claims of Christ. What are its bearings on human hopes and destinies? Not only do all peoples now living on the earth believe that there is a life beyond the grave, but this has been true in every age of the history of the race. One of the most colossal facts disclosed to us by science is that this belief in a life after death is a hundred thousand years old.

For in tracing up the remains of the prehistoric tribes of more than 100,000 years ago, science has discovered in the graves trinkets and utensils for the use of those whose spirits had left their bodies. And that belief is just as persistent today. For, the higher a man rises in the scale of being, the greater the breadth of his thoughts and the depth of his affection—the more he is convinced that death does not end his life. Men who are betrial, who live close to earth's lowest pleasures and passions, feel no certainty about a future world. But look up in every civilized portion of the race the men who have thought and written about immortality and you will find that they occupy the same position of eminence in their nation that Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle did in Greece, or Shakespeare, Milton and Gladstone in England. Immortality has of course been doubted in every age, for, in the nature of things, it cannot be demonstrated. You cannot prove by experiment a thing which is yet in the future. The only proof possible is moral or probable proof. And it is this moral or probable evidence on which we live and act in the vast majority of our purposes and needs. The only guarantee you can have that you will be able to fulfil tomorrow the promise you make today is the probability, never the certainty that you will be here tomorrow.

So it is that when we consult the highest and best thought of our day, we find it full of the hope; it is basilfe. It is a reasoned hope; it is based on our reading of the universe, our persistent instincts, cravings and needs, and our innate sense of the fitness and fairness of things. While, for example, we feel and know that in our part of our being we are of the same material as the animals, yet in another part of our being we have feelings, aspirations, ideas and conviction which enables us to live on a plane incomparably superior to that of the animals. In other words, we know, by experiences as real as any we have, that we belong to a spiritual realm, and we are convinced that this realm is not founded by this earth. The spiritual development of man can only be fairly estimated as it has embodied itself in the highest and best men. And as we contemplate such outstanding examples as a Wilberforce or Garrison, or a Bishop Selwin or Rowe, we cannot convince ourselves that death ends it all.

Great stress is laid today upon values, and especially upon those moral and spiritual values which are not to be bought in the world's market. Purity and truth and honor and self-sacrifice and devoted service to others are not only of priceless value to the world, but the best thought of our day is convinced that human life is worth while only as it rises to some measure of these higher values. But if this high estimate is just and true, these values demand more time and a higher sphere for their full development than life on this earth affords.

Then, further, man has an innate sense of justice. It is one of the purest, holiest and most unselfish of all our native qualities, and it calls for a chance for those who have never had a chance here, for the righting of wrongs that have never been righted here, for a great balancing up to the inequities and inequalities of the present.

We have learned to think of the universe as full of purposes. The only terms on which we can live at peace with the world is that it is an ordered system, an intelligible plan. Must not the profound facts of human personality belong to the universe? Can the universe be relied on ordinarily, but when it comes to deal with man, must it simply delude him and play with him for a brief span and then throw him aside, like a broken and useless toy? God forbid! Says a distinguished writer, "The fact that the hope of immortality quickens the plan of all our interests and makes life seem worth while, the fact that the man with this hope in his heart is more alive and effective and that the denial of the great hope lowers the moral temperature, does not demonstrate immortality. But the fact is very significant. So far as we believe in the intellectual integrity of the world, here is another point where it is really easier to believe that nature is true in stirring hopes in us and making them essential to our best life, than that she is playing false with us. Do not the biologists tell us to trust in whatever makes life richer or more effective."

NORWICH TOWN

Easter Sunday morning, at the Norwich Town Methodist church, before holy communion was administered by Rev. James B. Aldrich, the pastor, he said in the course of his sermon:

Pilate's question was: "Shall I crucify Him?" We all ask at certain times, what shall I do with Him? Today as then, some utter crucify Him, if not in words, in acts and by not allowing Him to take possession of the soul and receive the blessings He is able to give. Jesus wept over Jerusalem because of its sin, sin is present now, we see and feel it about us. Easter is the great morning of the world. Illness and death come and one cannot bolt the door against them. Must one linger with no hope beside the grave of a loved one? Jesus answers this question: Whosoever liveth and believeth on Me, shall never die. Easter is the greatest day in all history, so with sincerity of life and a desire for it, communion is taken. A discussion is now in progress, as to how the body shall come forth. What became of Christ's body? Some day we'll stand on the other shore in a resurrected life and know as we are known. All power is His in heaven and on earth.

The church was decorated with pussy willows, potted plants, daffodils and lilies, by the Christian Endeavor flower committee. The anthem by the choir was Christ Arose, accompanied by Miss Hazelbruthers, organist.

Included in the congregation was Millard F. Mannings, a member of the parish, also a student at Trinity college, Hartford, who is spending the Easter recess at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Manning.

For the Easter concert given at the Methodist church Sunday evening, the programme was as follows: Song, The Day of Resurrection, junior choir; prayer, Rev. James B. Aldrich; recitation, An Easter Lily, Dorothy Lindstrom; exercises Happy Thoughts nine primary children, Ruth Miller, Norma Rose, John Yetke, Betty Yetke, Marion Cripps, Willard Wilbur, Blossom Ward, Marion Maller, Freddie Miller; reading, A Message of Joy, Isabel Gimball; recitation, When It Comes Easter Day, Mary Scovell; song by junior choir, Christ Arose; recitation, All Little Ones Love Easter, Clarence Smith; Love, Marion Cripps; reading, Easter, Doris Rose; solo, Alone, Lewis Aldriche; recitation, Easter, Clayton Rose; exercises, The Floral Cross, four girls, Muriel Rose, Virginia Ward, Mildred Carter, Florence Gimball; reading, Childrens Praise and Prayer, Claude Stanton; recitation, Easter, May Irah Smith; solo, The Old Rugged Cross, Mr. Frank Rose; recitation, Joys After Tears, Robert Ringland; reading, There Is a Sweet and Blessed Story, Bulah Rogers; musical recitation, The Garden of Easter, Edna Judson; recitation, Christ Is Risen, Arthur Bennett; reading, They Came In the Night, Westerly Gifford; recitation, The Easter Hope, Virginia Ward; song, trio, The Wayside Cross, Frank Rose, Harold Rose, Rev. Mr. Webb; reading, Take Him Down from the Cross Mark Aldriche; recitation, A Little Lily, Mildred Carter; song, Rise Glorious Conqueror, Rise, junior choir.

The business meeting of the C. E. society of the First M. E. church was held in the vestry Saturday evening, the president, Mrs. R. Carter, presiding. Each community gave an encouraging report. Mr. Lewis Aldriche was appointed chairman for the young people's rally, to be held April 23. After the meeting closed, Mr. Lewis Aldriche and Mrs. Gilbert Rogers sang several pleasing solos. Mrs. Albert Miner presented Mrs. Aldriche a gift from the Dorcas Missionary society. Miss Florence Bennett presented Rev. Mr. Aldriche a gift of gold, as an expression of the love and esteem of the members of the church. Mr. Aldriche was greatly surprised. Games and a social time were given by the social committee, chairman, Miss Florence Brown. Salad, rolls, cake and coffee were served. Mrs. Carter was in charge of the affair. Those assisting her were Misses Inez Eddiston, Ettie Ladd Edna Judson, Doris Rose Isabell Gimball, Josephine Rogers, Mabel Rogers.

Owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. Charles W. Freeman, both masses at the Sacred Heart church Easter morning were celebrated by visiting priests. The first mass at 8:30, when the children's choir sang Easter hymns was read by Rev. U. O. Bellerose, of the Sacred Heart church, Taftville. At the 10 o'clock mass, Rev. Frederick W. Coholan of St. Mary's church, Greeneville, officiated. The gospel of the day was read at both masses, followed by brief sermons. During the festival music under the direction of the organist, Mrs. William A. Murphy, the chorus choir sang at the last mass, with Miss Mary Buckley and Henry Jarvis, soloists. Nearly everyone present received Easter holy communion.

The altar was adorned with Easter and calla lilies, roses and carnations. In the sanctuary were potted plants showering palms, and a large basket of roses and carnations, intermingled with evergreen. Conspicuous at the gospel side of the altar, was the paschal candle, indicating the light that shows among the Gentiles. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament concluded the services. The floral decorations were arranged by the Altar society.

CRIMINAL LIFE OF GERALD CHAPMAN CLOSED ON GALLOWS AT 12:13 THIS A. M.

The Condemned Man Walked to the Gibbet in Full Strength —Died Without Religious Consolation—Before the Board of Pardons, Where He Made His Supplication For Mercy, the Condemned Man Showed No Signs of Nervousness or Worry—The Board Unanimously Declined His Plea For Commutation of Sentence to Life Imprisonment.

WETHERSFIELD PRISON, April 6—(AP)—Gerald Chapman, notorious robber, who waged a bitter fight to the end to escape the noose for the murder of a New Britain policeman during a robbery October 17, 1924, died on Connecticut's new hanging machine at 12:13 o'clock this morning.

Calm and unmoved to the end, the man whose career of crime had become almost legendary, marked to his death without even the consolation of dying within sight of a crucifix.

Chapman, whose real name was George Chartres, the son of a respectable family, walked quietly to his place in the blue chalk circle on the trap where the noose was adjusted. A few moments later life which had encompassed some of the most sensational crimes of the last decade, was ended.

The stethoscope was applied by the physician who listened several minutes for signs of heart action. Then turning he nodded to the medical examiner who came forward and taking his own stethoscope from his pocket affixed it and listened for a moment or two. Then he indicated that the man was dead and whispered to the deputy warden. Chapman was officially dead seven minutes and five seconds after the second jerk.

Father Michael P. Barry, the spiritual advisor of his last weeks on earth, accompanied Chapman to his death after spending the last four hours alone with him in the death cell.

Chapman walked to the blue chalk line on the floor in full strength. He looked quietly around his silence lingering an instant on the closet in which the mechanism of the hanging machine was hidden.

Father Barry did not explain why he did not carry a crucifix according to ecclesiastical custom.

Scene of the Execution.

The witnesses took their seat shortly before Chapman entered the death room but the medical examiner and the physician moved over to the gallows and stood beside the warden. There was a moment's delay only when the door of the chamber across the room opened as Chapman with a guard on each side came out followed by Father Barry and other guards. The latter was led to the side of the room and uttered no sound. He looked straight ahead. His eyes swept first the ceiling, the warden's corner, then the witnesses on the benches and finally rested on the right hand corner where the enclosure which hides the dying wordless is hidden. Those eyes were piercing. They suggested those of a wounded animal at bay. For an instant, for the noose was looped up on the wall behind him, and which he could not see, was taken down by a guard, as the black cap was drawn over the head from behind shutting out the upper parts of the room and the faces of those in front of him, his legs were pinioned. Almost the same instant, the guards stepped back and the harsh sound of the plunger was heard simultaneously with the whirr of the hanging rope. Chapman's body was shot upward as the slack rope became taut.

Guards Steadied the Body

A guard on either side seized the body and steadied the body until it came almost motionless. A nod was given by Deputy Warden Starr to the two waitless closet and inch by inch the body was slowly lowered until the feet were near the floor. The guards held the body perfectly still, grasping a wrist.

The room was in absolute silence for a minute and then the tension was broken by enough by one of the witnesses. With the relief from tension came the faint sound of pencils scratching on paper as the witnesses in the press made notes.

Warden Barry folded his arms and looked slightly to the right. There was an exchange of nods between officers and guards and two of the latter removed the straps from the dead man's legs and arms. The deputy warden looked at the warden, and the two physicians walked to the body and opened Chapman's shirt.

A few minutes before Chapman's neck was broken by the automatic working machine the third reprieve given him by Gov. John H. Trumbull to permit counsel to battle in the courts for the man's life expired. The governor in final appeals for still another reprieve refused to grant "even another hour," the courts, federal and state, for lack of evidence or legal reasons having declined to grant a new trial. Chapman's hope for delay in execution, waning as his counsel lost in the courts, faded when the board of pardons rejected his application for commutation to life imprisonment.

In the death chamber were the officials required by law, representatives of seven daily newspapers in Hartford county who under the same law were permissive witnesses and three persons personally selected by the condemned man. The officials were Warden Henry K. W. Scott, of the prison, Deputy Warden George H. Starr, Dr. P. B. Batty, the prison physician, Dr. E. G. Fox, medical examiner of the town representing Coroner J. Gilbert of Calhoun, George H. Bradley, parole clerk of the prison and a number of guards.

Chapman walked from the death cell to the death chamber, a distance of about ten feet, across a narrow entry into the death chamber, a guard on either side of the noose, the dangling end of a new, well stretched rope which disappeared in the ceiling, the other end being attached to the noose which was not within sight of the witnesses.

Chapman was in the clothing of a free man, the prison garb having been replaced while he was in the death cell, but he wore felt slippers. He wore a dark suit and low white collar.

The condemned man had been conducted from his cell occupied for a year on the second floor of the hospital wing of the prison to the room in which is the death cell, during the forenoon. His last meal was in this cell. A guard sat in front of the cell until others came to get him. Down the same flight of stairs from the first floor of the hospital ward to the entry which separated the room in which Chapman was and the death chamber walked the group of witnesses, in cadence which awakened an echo in the high ceiling passage. The building is a new one and this was the first execution in the chamber.

The witnesses and prison officials passed into the death chamber. The midnight hour had come and the reprieve was ended. The door was closed. All save the parole clerk and the warden passed by the dangling noose and took seats on benches in the rear of the room ten feet from the rope, while the parole clerk and the warden passing to the left, stopped at a metal coverlet into the floor in the extreme left hand corner, their figures masking a plunger which protruded from the cover much like an automobile foot brake.

It required but a minute to seat the witnesses. The chamber door opened and Chapman with his arms bound by a leather strap, a guard on either side, walked in without stopping to the noose, five feet from the door sill. A guard passed a strap around the man's legs above the knees and in almost simultaneous motion other guards slipped a black satin cap over his head and the noose, drawing the latter taut. A signal was given, a foot pressed the plunger, noiselessly the slack of the rope was taken up and a second jerk carried Chapman straight upwards several feet.

After a very brief interval the body was lowered so that the feet were a few inches from the floor. The prison physician and medical examiner rose from their seats and opening the coat and shirt of the dead man applied their stethescopes. When Chapman had been pronounced dead the chamber door opened again, a man wheeled in an undertaker's basket and the body was placed in it and removed to the room which Chapman had left in life a few minutes before.

The witnesses left their chairs, formed again in a column and walked back to their starting point.

Funeral This Morning.

Father Barry, who claimed the body, ordered it removed at once to Dillon's mortuary chapel on Main street.

Chapman's funeral will be held from there this morning.

STATE OFFICERS GUARD GOVERNOR TRUMBULL

HARTFORD, Conn., April 5—(AP)—Governor John H. Trumbull, who refused to further reprieve Gerald Chapman was under guard of state officers today and his home in Plainville was also protected. One state trooper was on duty at the door of the executive chambers in the state capitol, four citizens were outside his home and an officer rode with him in his automobile during the day.

CHAPMAN LED CRIMINAL LIFE SINCE A YOUTH OF 16

Gerald Chapman led a varied criminal life for 19 years, starting when he was a mere youth of 16. He became known to the police of the nation as a "super bandit."

His earlier crimes, however, were mostly petty larcenies and it was not until 1921 when he engineered the daring "million dollar" mail robbery in the heart of New York city, that he staged his biggest "job." His arrest followed a few months later and then came two sensational escapes from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, where he had been sentenced for 25 years.

After his final escape, he eluded a nation-wide hunt until 1924 when he was captured after shooting and killing a New Britain, Conn., policeman.

Possessed of an intelligence higher than that of the criminal of his type, and fairly well read, he aided his counsel in carrying his appeal from a conviction through the high court.

He was born George Chartres, the son of Irish parents who died when he was a boy. Under that name in 1907, he was first convicted of petty thievery and was sent to Elmira reformatory. From that time he spent more than one-third of his life behind prison walls.

Released from Elmira in 1908, he was sentenced the following year to Auburn prison for two years for theft. In 1912 he went to Sing Sing prison to serve ten years for grand larceny, but obtained a parole in 1919. He left the prison with George ("Dutch") Anderson, of Rochester, N. Y., who became his partner in crime.

After illicit liquor ventures in the west, the two, together with Charles Loerber, held up a New York post office truck laden with a rich shipment of registered mail while it was en route from a downtown sub-station to the general post office uptown. It was one of the boldest, as well as one of the richest mail robberies in the annals of the post office. The loot totaled $1,454,129 in cash and securities.

Chapman and Anderson were arrested on July 3, 1922, in Chapman's studio-apartment in fashionable Grammercy Park, in New York. On the testimony of Loerber, who was arrested and turned state's evidence, the two were sentenced to 25 years each in Atlanta.

During the trial Chapman made one break for liberty, but was captured on a narrow ledge of a building high above Broadway. He made two different escapes from Atlanta, and it was while at liberty after the latter jail break that he was charged with having killed Patrolman James Skelly, during a store robbery in New Britain.

His first escape from Atlanta was on March 27, 1923, when he and Frank Gray, a forger, eluded the guards. Two days later they were surrounded about 50 miles away. In the gun battle which followed Chapman was shot three times. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital at Athens, Ga., but escaped within a month.

He was reported in various parts of the country at different times but nothing definite became known until October 10, 1924, when the New Britain policeman was killed. The policeman had surprised two safe blowers. One of them, who proved to be Chapman, shot his way to liberty, killing Skelly, and the other, Walter E. Shean, son of a Springfield, Mass., hotel man, was captured. Shean confessed that Chapman was his accomplice.

Chapman was arrested in Muncie, Ind., and returned to Atlanta. The state of Connecticut, however, extradited him to stand trial for Skelly's murder. He was sentenced to die on June 25, 1925. His attorneys obtained a stay of execution until December 3, when they appealed the case, but the Connecticut supreme court affirmed the death sentence. The point was then raised that Chapman was a federal prisoner and could not be executed until his term for mail robbery was completed.

Meanwhile, late in 1925, Chapman's pal, Anderson, had killed Ben Hance and his wife, on whose farm near Muncie Chapman and Anderson once lived, presumably because they had testified against Chapman in his murder trial. Anderson himself was killed a few weeks later by a Muskegon, Mich., policeman.

President Coolidge commuted Chapman's 25 year sentence in an executive order issued November 23, 1925, but three days later Chapman in cell in Wethersfield prison refused to accept the order.

So that Chapman might have time to carry the commutation order into the courts, Governor Trumbull reprieved him on November 27 postponing the execution until March 3.

Chapman's next move was to seek a writ of habeas corpus which would have transferred him back into federal custody. That was denied on December 14, 1925 by Federal Judge Thomas of Hartford. The United States circuit court at New York upheld his ruling on February 15, 1926.

NARRATIVE OF CHAPMAN'S LIFE AT WETHERSFIELD

WETHERSFIELD PRISON, April 6—(AP)—Gerald Chapman's life in state prison was a period of comparative silence insofar as mention by him of personal affairs to those who came into contact with him in course of prison administration. It was stated with authority, Chapman said nothing about himself, his former life, or his family connections.

As a prisoner he was known as Gerald Chapman, and the records bear the name with the aliases which were on the writ of commitment as a prisoner under sentence of death and in the custody of the court which ordered the warden of the prison to execute him. The names in the court orders were Gerald Chapman, alias Waldo W. Miller, alias George Lawrence Shelbourne, alias George Chartres, alias G. V. Colwell, alias C. W. Eldridge, alias Edward Bryce.

While Chapman had often been referred to outside the prison walls as "the silent prisoner," he was not so spoken of within them, as his reticence upon a natural trait combined with the fact that he seldom had any one at his cell to talk with in whom he had interest.

In the opinion of prison officials, whose duties and experience qualified them to judge of the man, Chapman was unlike any other prisoner ever held here under life or death sentence. He was spoken of by those who looked after his comfort as an exemplary prisoner, courteous, gentlemanly, considerate, at all times. He never offered complaint at any time about his cell, its furnishings or his food. His requests were few and of the simplist kind. It was stated that he never had a demand of any kind.

At no time during his year's imprisonment under sentence did anyone see him at his cell aside from those in some way connected with the prison administration such as the official members of the prison board, Rev. Father Michael P. Barry, his counsel and the guards detailed to watch him.

Chapman communicated with no person outside the prison who was not directly connected with his case which was pending. Prison officers were of the opinion that he had no desire to communicate with any outsiders.

Up till the last day Chapman made no will, indicated no intention of doing so or showed any interest in any possible belongings he may have had while a free man. The prison officials were not informed of any possible instructions he may have given to counsel at their last meeting in case he had such belongings.

The personal effects of Chapman which were indexed and filed away when he entered the prison, were two

Princess Victoria is Improving

LONDON, April 5—(AP)—Princess Victoria, sister of King George, who is suffering from influenzal pneumonia, continues to improve, her physicians announced tonight. The evening bulletin said: "There has been further slight and satisfactory progress in Princess Victoria's condition during the day."

BRIDGEPORT REPORTER ENDS LIFE BY SHOOTING

BRIDGEPORT, April 5 (AP)—Standing on the short of a small pond near the Sylvan avenue pumping station in the North End, Frederick A. Boardman, 43, city hall reporter of the Bridgeport Star, committed suicide sometime between Saturday afternoon and this afternoon by placing the muzzle of a 32 calibre rifle against his forehead, and giving a short kick with his foot which he had slipped through a noose made of his pocket handkerchief and which had been attached to the trigger of the rifle. As the bullet entered his forehead his body pitched forward into the pond, where it was found this afternoon, head and shoulders submerged, by Salvatore De Zenzio, Bridgeport Hydraulic company laborer, of 245 Harlem avenue.

Whittemore Trembles As He Faces Justice

Erstwhile "Fearless Gunman" Becomes a Nervous, Frightened Youth in Buffalo Court.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 5.—(AP)—Richard Reese Whittemore, bandit gang leader, trembled and repeatedly wetted his dry lips as he stood before the bar of justice today and heard Walter Hofheins, assistant district attorney, read two indictments charging him with murder.

He may have been a dashing, dapper, fearless gunman at one time, but today he was just a nervous, frightened, slightly flat-nosed youth. Detective Sergeant James Quigley, to whom Whittemore was handcuffed during today's court proceedings said the erstwhile gang captain trembled like a leaf during the ceremony.

Whittemore pleaded not guilty in a low voice after the indictments were read. In reply to questions he said he had no funds with which to retain counsel at the present time and asked that attorneys be assigned to defend him. Supreme Court Justice Thomas Noonan named W. Bart Sumner, a former assistant district attorney, and Melvin Green. Whittemore's statement that he had no funds "at present" was interpreted as indicating that the man whose admitted robberies have netted loot of nearly $1,000,000 may yet be defended by counsel of his own choosing.

Within 15 minutes after Whittemore had been brought from detective headquarters under heavy guard he was remanded to the Erie county jail. He was escorted to the jail by way of the underground tunnel, recently renovated.

"This reminds me of what I have read of the catacombs of Paris," the prisoner remarked.

The prisoner was placed under double lock and will be guarded at all times.

The indictments read charged Whittemore with killing Lewis Yarlington, bank car guard, and Charles Clifford, driver of the car, during the robbery of the bank of Buffalo's armored machine last October. The loot in this robbery was $93,000.

BYRD ARCTIC EXPEDITION STARTED FROM BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—The Byrd arctic expedition, like the wild grey goose sensing the advance of spring, started northward from Brooklyn navy yard today for the frozen north and the land of the midnight sun.

The steamship Chantier sailed after Commander Richard E. Byrd and the 46 members of the expedition, aided by bluejackets from the navy yard, had labored at high speed to stow below decks the two airplanes with which the explorers plan to fly over the north pole.

A huge throng, including many prominent persons, cheered the expedition on its way. The navy yard band rendered the Star Spangled Banner and Auld Lang Syne, and vessels in the harbor, with whistle and siren, paid parting respects to the wayfarers.

A humble, but memory-stirring witness to the Chantier's departure was the former steamship President Roosevelt which carried Admiral Peary into the arctic when he discovered the north pole. The Roosevelt now is a lowly tugboat, stationed at Tompkinsville, Staten Island.

The Chantier's destination was King's bay, Spitzbergen, when the first flight will be made, to Peary Landing, 400 miles to the northwest. There a flying base will be established, and from that base the explorers hope to make an 850 mile flight to and around the pole, and back to the base.

URGE REVISION OF SECOND CLASS POSTAL RATES

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—Immediate revision of second class postal rates, preferably to the 1920 scale, was urged upon the joint congressional postal committee today by representatives of newspaper and magazine publishers.

Elisha Hanson, representing the American Newspaper Publishers' association, and George C. Lucas, representing the National Publishers' association, American Publishers' Conference of Trade and Farm Papers, Southern Newspaper association and National Editorial association, both told that the present rates had diverted a large portion of second class mail into other channels such as express, freight or transportation by automobile bus or truck.

Mr. Hanson, contending that under the new rates the post office department was less efficient, due mainly to diminuation of railroad service, said truck and bus facilities should be used to overcome the deficiency of trains. If the department utilized bus and truck transportation more, he predicted, railroads, instead of appealing for increased rates on postal matter, would insist on lower schedules to meet competition.

In an effort to expedite its report to the house and senate, the committee held its first night session tonight.

SHORTER SKIRTS, LONGER SLEEVES, NEW FASHION

PARIS, April 5—(AP)—Shortened skirts and lengthened sleeves marked the new fashions in women's dresses displayed today at the grand opening of the Longchamp racetrack for the flat racing season, one of Paris' great annual occasions for display of the new modes.

Dressmakers evidently have made up their minds that whatever cloth is saved in the skirts must be used up in the rest of the frocks, and the arms of the modishly gowned women were completely hidden under elaborate sleeves. Legs were as visible as arms were hidden.

WORCESTER FUGITIVE HELD IN $50,000 BAIL IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—Walter J. Hitchens was held in $50,000 bail today when he was arraigned as a fugitive from justice wanted in Worcester, Mass., for a $35,000 robbery. The hearing was adjourned until April 10 to await the arrival of extradition papers.

Hitchens was arrested on advice from Worcester that he was sought for the theft of goods from E. G. Higgins and company last November. He said he was willing to return and face the charges.

Pensions for Spanish-American War Vets

Bill Authorizing Annual Increase of $28,000,000 Passed by the House and Sent to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—A bill to authorize an annual increase of $28,555,000 in pensions for Spanish-American war veterans was passed today by the house, and sent to the senate.

Under the measure which also would provide increased rates for veterans of the Boxer rebellion, it is estimated that pensions of 114,724 would be increased $11 each a month and that $3,300,000 additional would be paid 21,933 widows and 14,000 children.

The vote on a roll call was unanimous, 364 members voting for the increase.

HEARING ON "BOOTLEG MILK" OPERATIONS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—The Bronx April grand jury heard testimony today concerning the alleged activities of Harry Danziger, now under $110,000 bail charged with extortion in connection with "bootleg milk" operations. Health Commissioner Harris was the first witness.

It was reported he testified that when he took office he had discovered there was "bootlegging" of milk and cream into the city from western shippers and other sources, that milk was adulterated here, that protection had been given dealers and that they in turn had been "framed" by Danziger with the connivance of employes of the health department.

Attorney McGeehan of the Bronx announced the beginning of an investigation in reports that former Health Commissioner Monaghan had been tendered a dinner by milk dealers and given a purse which he said the dinner had been tendered him by friends, not milk dealers, and that it took place before he took office as health commissioner.

STILLMANS ARE MAKING STUDY OF PSYCHOANALYSIS

LONDON, April 5—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman, who recently came across the ocean on a "reconciliation honeymoon" after the calling off of divorce proceedings lasting several years, are said by the Daily Express to be in London at the present time, making daily visits to the office of Dr. H. G. Baynes, "where the fundamentals of psychoanalysis are being applied to help them retain harmonious minds."

The course of instruction is to last three weeks. According to the newspaper, Mrs. Stillman is approaching her studies fervently, but Mr. Stillman is described as "more cautious."

300 POUND SAFE STOLEN WITH $20,000 IN JEWELS

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—The theft of a table coat and 300 pound safe containing $20,000 in jewels, from the Park avenue apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington Norton, who are in White Sulphur Springs, W. V., was revealed today.

The apartment house, at 375 Park avenue, from which the safe was taken is one of the most expensive and most closely guarded in the city. Fifty-eight uniformed men watch its three entrances. The safe and coat were stolen in broad daylight while the apartment was unoccupied. Mr. Norton, who is a broker, went to White Sulphur Springs with his wife last Thursday.

HARTFORD FIREMAN WAS OVERCOME BY SMOKE

HARTFORD, April 5—(AP)—Fireman Joseph H. Burns, of 115 Bond street, chief's driver attached to Engine company, Number 2, was overcome, by smoke today during a fire of undetermined origin which swept the paint shop over McNamara's garage at 1214 Main street and badly damaged or destroyed eight automobiles at a loss estimated by Chief John C. Moran at $9,000 to $10,000. Burns was taken to St. Francis hospital in the police ambulance after he regained consciousness. His condition is not serious.

DAYLIGHT TIME TO BEGIN SUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 25

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 5—(AP)—According to orders issued from the headquarters of the New Haven railroad this morning, the road will operate under daylight saving time on and after 12.01 o'clock, Sunday morning, April 25. This time schedule will hold until Sunday, September 26.

The road will adhere to its eastern standard time, but will set its trains back an hour. It was said at headquarters here that the change in schedule was no creation of the road, but rather a condition that the road had to meet because of conditions at the two terminals, New York and Boston.

TELLS OF "TEA HIGHBALL" WITH ALCOHOLIC RESULTS

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—Sir Charles Higham, British publicist who came to America in 1924 to propagandize for tea drinking, arrived on the Leviathan today with the formula for a "neat drink" is the tea highball.

Sir Charles said that in tropical countries where alcohone drinks "are quite impossible because they heat the blood" a drink is made by using four times the ordinary amount of tea to water, bottling and serving with carbonated water. Anyone who tried this for a week he asserted would have no interest in bootlegging.

PANGALOS LEADING IN ELECTION IN GREECE

ATHENS, April 5—(AP)—General Theodorus Pangalos received about 90 per cent. of the votes cast in the twelve electoral districts yesterday for the office of president.

Voting was conducted in only about a third of the districts, but indications are that the elections of the present premier and dictator of Greece is assured.

CROSS FOUND BURNING ON GREEN IN WINDSOR

WINDSOR, April 5—(AP)—Considerable excitement was caused here tonight by a large cross found burning on the ancient and historic green. The cross was heavily constructed being made of iron and standing six feet high. It was rapped with burlap which had been soaked in oil. The cross burned for more than a half hour.

No one was seen placing the cross on the green and no one was near it when it first started burning.

SENATE ORATORS OPEN FIRE AGAINST 18TH AMENDMENT

Bruce of Maryland and Edge of New Jersey Made Statements Before Senate Sub-Committee—Chief Enforcement Officer Andrews Was Called as the First Witness—Hearing Was Cut Short Because of Important Business in the Senate—Hearing Room Was Packed and Hundreds Were Unable to Gain Admission.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(AP)—Arguments against the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act rolled in today upon the senate judiciary sub-committee at the opening of the first real congressional inquiry into the workings of statutory prohibition. A flood of oratory was furnished largely by such wet leaders as Senators Bruce, democrat, Maryland, and Edge, republican, New Jersey. It preceded testimony which will be offered during the next five days in the effort to convince the committee that modification of the law is essential to the public welfare.

After Senators Bruce and Edge, and Julian Codman, of Boston, who has charge of the wets' case, had made statements to the sub-committee, Assistant Secretary Andrews, of the treasury, upon whose shoulders rests responsibility for dry law enforcement, was called as the first witness. His examination had scarcely begun, however, before the committee recessed until tomorrow, cutting short the hearing by an hour because of important business in the senate.

The initial session furnished little of the spectacular. There were a few sharp passages between some of the senators on the committee, presaging what probably is to come during the two weeks of the hearings. The hearing room was packed almost to suffocation and hundreds crowded the halls outside in the vain hope of eventually gaining admission.

Police guarded the doors and were scattered about the room. There was one attempt at a demonstration and Senator Means, republican, Colorado, the committee chairman, quickly quelled that with a threat to clear the room.

As the committeemen filed into the hearing room they found it turned temporarily into a movie picture studio with Klieg lights flanking the long committee table and a group of cameramen waiting to take close-ups of the committee and witnesses before the hearing got under way.

After sitting through two hours of wet oratory, Assistant Secretary Andrews took the oath and submitted to questioning by Mr. Codman. The prohibition field marshal made clear his policy to dry up the sources of supply, but conceded that would have to have a largely increased force to do it.

The federal forces are not concerning themselves much with distributors, Mr. Andrews said, saying that task to the local police. He said it was useless to arrest a bootlegger because "his brother or his uncle" would take up the traffic where the arrested man left off.

Disclosing a plan for a patrol of 1,500 to 1,600 men on the Canadian and Mexican borders, General Andrews said he believed this force would break up any organized smuggling traffic.

"Smuggling from Canada and Mexico does not furnish the supply," he explained. "Alcohol diverted, moonshining and smuggling from the sea furnish the real sources."

Increased forces to handle all of these problems are being sought and the assistant secretary expressed hope that with additional men he could reduce to a minimum the illegal diversion of alcohol from industrial channels. Explaining that he did not want to crowd court dockets with minor cases, he said his agents and the district attorneys picked out big cases in each district for trial.

"In other words you don't arrest all who are guilty, do you?" Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, "You just arrest those of the kind you select."

"We do not begin to arrest all guilty of small offenses," returned the witness. "We want to have that to the federal enforcement officers."

Senator Bruce opened the presentation for the wets with an argument for modification in the course of which he brought more than a score of indictments against the Volstead act, the operation of which he declared to be farcial. He also assailed the treasury proposal that the government be allowed to search homes where liquor is being distilled for commercial uses.

Senator Edge and Mr. Codman denounced the Volstead act and both declared the time had come when congress must take cognizance of conditions that had become intolerable and seek to apply a remedy.

Senator Bruce suggested as a remedy an amendment so as to permit government manufacture and sale of intoxicants in localities that were wet when national prohibition became operative or that might vote wet hereafter.

Amendments of the Volstead act so as to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine "containing alcohol in fact" was urged by Senator Edge and Mr. Codman. They stressed that this would save the workingmen's beer and thus remove the discrimination in the law which permits farmers to ferment fruit juices "for personal use in fact."

EGG ROLLING ON GROUNDS OF THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—Frolicking children took possession of the grounds of the white house today and under the smiling faces of President and Mrs. Coolidge made merry with their egg-rolling and other Easter games as has been their custom annually at the executive mansion for 50 years.

Thousands were present for the fun-making. The only condition of admission being that a child should be not more than ten years of age and should be in care of an adult. In the late afternoon the grounds were thrown open to the general public for a closing concert by the Marine band.

Mrs. Coolidge was early a center of attraction for the children, in the forenoon walking among them about the grounds. The president, who had glanced frequently out of office windows during the morning, appeared on the south portico of the executive mansion in the early afternoon with Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John and waved a greeting to the football crowd, which answered with a shout but vigorous cheer.

FRANCE READY FOR PEACE OR WAR IN MOROCCO

PARIS, April 5—(AP)—The French government is ready for either peace or war in Morocco and while its leaders have made known their preference for peace they are counting about equally on the chances of peace and war.

However, reports of progress toward cessation of the war come from Morocco. The persistent efforts of Abd-El-Krim, leader of the insurgent Riffians, to get into negotiations with the French finally have come to a point where it is likely that his emissaries will soon meet representatives of the sultan and the French protectorate at Rabat.

How to begin negotiations is the first question to be settled. French spokesmen say that if the Riffian leaders peace intentions are serious there should be contact between his representatives and those of the sultan and the French within a day or two.

There is some skepticism here, however, regarding Abd-El-Krim's desire for peace.

WOULD INVESTIGATE THE CANADIAN "DRY" SYSTEM

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5—(AP)—A new phase of the prohibition situation was presented to the legislature tonight when Senator Courtlandt Nicoll, republican, New York, introduced a resolution proposing a legislative investigation of various Canadian systems of controlling alcoholic beverages.

45 EAST INDIANS FACE DEPORTATION CHARGES

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—Forty-five East Indians were taken to Ellis Island today to face deportation hearings on charges of having entered this country illegally. They were agrested in raids conducted by immigration inspectors last Saturday.

East Indians are classed as "barred zone natives". None have been permitted to enter the country since 1917.

TRIBUTE TO TILSON ON HIS 60TH BIRTHDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, April 5—Leaving his chair as speaker for the first time since elected to the office, Speaker of the House Longworth for the four hours of the morning business of the house today and paid a high compliment to the character and [illegible] integrity of Congressman John Q. Tilson, Connecticut republican leader of the house, who celebrated the 60th birthday anniversary.

At the close of the tribute Speaker Longworth [illegible] speech from the floor was surrounded by members who came to congratulations.

Tilson's office was crowded with great vases of pink roses sent him by friends and colleagues.

EX-GOV. DAVIS SUES HIS ACCUSERS FOR $5,000,000

TOPEKA, Kas., April 5—(AP)—Jonathan M. Davis, ex-governor of Kansas, returned to the district court room where he was freed Saturday, with his son, Russell, on a bribery charge, and filed today, a $5,000,000 damage suit against his accusers.

Defendants named in the action are Walter S. Dickey, publisher of the Kansas City Journal-Post, Dick Smith, Walter G. Heren, and W. G. Clugston, employes of the newspaper; W. H. West, public stenographer, and Glenn A. Davis, Fred Pollman and Ben Johnson, former convicts, who were state witnesses in the trial of the Davises.

Publication of a copyrighted story in the Kansas Journal of January 10, 1925, exposing what was alleged to have been the sale of a pardon by the governor and the son to Fred Pollman, is made the basis of the libel suit.

CHIEF M'ARTHUR DIES FROM PTOMAINE POISONING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 5—Allan McArthur, 54, chief of Willimantic Police department, died at his home, 254 Walnut street at 10:55 o'clock Monday morning after 36 hours of illness with ptomaine poisoning. The community received a shock as the news of his death spread rapidly and spread sorrow throughout the city.

Mayor John C. Tracy immediately made expression of official sympathy to the bereaved family. He announced later in the afternoon that Captain Thomas F. Grady would be acting chief of the department until further notice.

The cause of the poisoning which had fatal effect is laid to a dinner of which he partook in a restaurant in Springfield Mass., at noon Saturday. He had ridden to Springfield in an open automobile with City Clerk James S. Donahue Jr., returning here later in the afternoon. Upon his arrival here he complained of being chilly but otherwise appeared in good health. He spoke with considerable enthusiasm of the repast of which he had partaken in Springfield, stating that as the most enjoyable incident of his brief trip. Upon reaching his home after leaving police headquarters Saturday afternoon he complained of not feeling well and immediately retired to his bed. Although he resumed his duties at headquarters on Sunday morning, Customary Sunday morning visitors at the police station found that the chief did not appear in his usual good spirits. His condition gradually grew worse and about noon he summoned a taxi and returned home. His wife advised him to remain in bed and he did so.

Monday morning Chief McArthur rose shortly before seven o'clock with the intension of resuming his duties at police headquarters, but his weakened condition would not permit and he returned to bed. Dr. M. D. Riordan and Dr. Walter Packham were called, but despite treatment had no marked effect against the poisoning which had spread throughout his system. Chief McArthur retained consciousness until about three-quarters of an hour before death. He died with members of the family surrounding his bed. A graduate nurse, Miss Alice Healy of this city, was in attendance.

Chief McArthur, always courteous and a keen student of human nature, had McArthur led a life that inspired lasting friendships. He was a strong upholder of law and order. He had adopted a slogan "Be sure you are right — then go ahead," and he maintained an unflinching faith in this in the performance of his duties. Faithful, cautious, impartial and energetic, he qualified as an ideal officer of the law.

Chief McArthur was born in Midlothian, Scotland, July 28, 1871, a son of Duncan and Allison McKinna McArthur. In 1891, when he was 10 his parents came to this city, making their residence in Lower village. Chief McArthur attended Natchaug Grammar school and later was employed at the old Willimantic Linen company plant, in the dyeing department, later in the inspecting department. Afterwards he secured employment at the local freight station of the New Haven railroad and while there became connected with the police department, being assigned as supernumerary officer, February 1, 1902. May 14, 1906 he was promoted to regular patrolman, and three years later, June 17, 1917 he was advanced to lieutenant, August 22, 1924 he was made chief, to succeed Daniel J. Hennessey who had been retired on a pension. With the exception of Captain Thomas F. Grady, Chief McArthur was the oldest member of the department in point of service, Captain Grady having been appointed to the department, December 23, 1901.

Chief McArthur was Windham county vice-president of the State Policemen's association. He was a member of Willimantic Lodge No. 1311, B. P. O. E., and of Natchaug Lodge No. 23, Knights of Pythias.

Surviving him are his wife Mrs. Margaret McArthur, two sons, William and Duncan McArthur of this city, two brothers, Duncan McArthur of this city and Peter McArthur of North Adams, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. Belle Gilmas, of Hooper.

MARRIED TWENTY-SIX YEARS WIFE SUES LYMAN MAINE

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 5—The case of Lyman Maine, charged with abandoning his wife and minor child and cohabitation with another woman was being heard in police court Monday morning when news of the death of Chief of Police Allan McArthur caused court to adjourn. The adjournment of the case came as a source of relief to Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher who had left a sick-bed to be present at the trial. Attorney Harvey, for the defense, waived the reading of the complaint.

In the evidence taken, Mrs. Flora Maine and her husband, Lyman Maine exposed the nature of their domestic difficulties. Mrs. Maine claimed that her husband had paid but very little attention to her and had denied her suitable support. She said that he had at times threatened her, although they had conversed but very little since last October. Mention was made of another woman, whose name was withheld.

Mr. and Mrs. Maine have been married 26 years and have one child, nine years old. Mrs. Maine testified that she had found little cause to complain until last October when she was taken sick and her husband became very distant in his attitude toward her. Finally he refused to talk to her at all, she claimed and he later denied her the right to order the necessities of life. He posted her in the month of March. Matters apparently grew from bad to worse according to the testimony. During one argument he said that he would place her on a weekly allowance, but later refused to do so. In the meantime Mrs. Maine states that she was under the care of physicians, naming among those who had treated her several local doctors, two specialists in Hartford and a Stonington physician, who gave her treatment while she visited in that place, coming home shortly before Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Maine said that her suspicions that there was another woman later were confirmed. On one occasion she became desperate over her troubles and went to telephone to the police, but her husband drew a revolver and she desisted. Several weeks ago she found an old wallet belonging to her husband and in it was the address, "K. K. Foster, Moliar, Ontario, Canada."

During the early part of March her husband took some of his belongings and made his home with his sister, Mrs. Nichols of High street. She said that after throwing a $20 bill on the table and two dollars for their son, her husband remarked that he was going away for good and left for Canada, March 10. She learned later of his whereabouts and after a conference with Prosecuting Attorney Gaucher, steps were taken for her husband's arrest. She said that the attorney with whom she had consulted last October at the outset of the trouble, had told her that her husband should support her. Later she returned to the attorney and found him with her husband. She was accused on the spot of causing trouble and then and there her husband asked for a divorce, but she refused to accept his plan. He then told her he would give her three days in which to make up her mind; she insisted that she was not seeking divorce, but rather support for herself and child.

It was later brought out that the second woman in the triangle was Mrs. Margaret Howse. During a cross-examination Mrs. Maine said that her husband had left her six years ago but troubles had been patched up since then.

A domestic employed at the Maine home since Mrs. Maine returned about Thanksgiving time corroborated testimony given by Mrs. Maine, that her husband refused to give his wife money. She said that Mr. Maine was out late nearly every night and would not speak to his wife. Witness said that when Mr. Maine went away, March 10, there was a good supply of food in the house. She was paid for her services and told that he would be back in ten days.

Stokes Watson, a public service driver, testified that on two or three occasions Maine had hired him to take himself (Maine) and a strange woman from a house on High street to one at the corner of Prospect and Walnut streets. There the woman got out and Maine rode on to his own home.

Lyman Maine testified that he was living with his sister, Mrs. Nichols on High street but that his home was at 254 Pleasant street. He said that the trouble with his wife had extended over a period of 20 years.

He admitted that March 10, he went away with Mrs. Margaret Howse, going to the home of her relative, Kenneth Foster at Moliar, Canada. He told of the trip, stating that it started from Columbus avenue by jitney to Hartford where he called on relatives. He and Mrs. Howse rode in a day coach of the New York express out of Hartford at 11 p. m. arriving at Montreal the next morning at 8:30 o'clock. A two hour stop was made there and the trip resumed by train to Belleville and from there a distance of six miles to Mohair, the rest being the snow-covered road. He said that he spent his evenings at the home of his sister because the other members of his own home was so inhospitable. Mrs. Howse was there, being a friend of his sister and on two or three occasions when the weather was bad he hired a taxi, taking Mrs. Howse to her home and then continuing to his own residence. Maine said that he met the Howse woman while she was domestic in a house in which he worked as a painter.

At this point court was adjourned until Wednesday morning.

CORONER BILL HOLDS COUSIN RESPONSIBLE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 5.—Coroner Arthur G. Bill of Danielson recently filed with Grand Juror Joseph N. Charbe of the Columbia town court, his findings at the inquest on the death of Manuel Rodriquez of Hartford, killed in an automobile accident on Route 6 during the night of Friday, March 26th. Coroner Bill sets forth that the driver of the car, Manuel P. Camacho, also of Hartford, a cousin of the deceased, was responsible for the death of Rodriquez.

The coroner's finding in substance follows: "I viewed the body of said Rodriquez at Killourey Brothers' undertaking rooms in Willimantic and ordered Medical Examiner Dr. Louis E. Mason to perform an autopsy which revealed that Rodriquez died from a ruptured liver and internal hemorrhages caused by being struck by a section of fence leading to the bridge over the Willimantic river in the town of Columbia in a collision with the car in which the deceased was riding and driven by Manuel P. Camacho. I further find that said death was caused by the criminal carelessness and negligence of Camacho in the operation of said automobile."

Camacho, the day following the accident was arrested on a charge of manslaughter and presented before the Columbia town court by State Policemen Harrison Hulburt and Henry Helmold, pleaded not guilty and had his case continued until yesterday, under bonds of $1000. He was again presented before the court yesterday afternoon. Probable cause was found by Justice of the Peace Hubert P. Collins and the accused was bound over to the next criminal session of the Tolland county superior court, under the same amount of bonds, which were furnished by Antonia Mendes of Hartford.

Miss Rose M. Demers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Demers, of 46 High street, became the bride of Joseph J. Grimes, son of Mrs. George Grimes of 11 Bellevue street at 8 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Mary's church in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hormisdas C. Belec, who was also celebrant of the nuptial high mass. The maid of honor was Miss Edna L. Demers, sister of the bride and the best man was Wilfred Coutu. Special music was sung by a quartet, Joseph F. Gaudreau, Arthur Roy, Mrs. Marceline Goodwin and Miss Florence Coutu. During the ceremony, Miss Coutu sang "O Promise Me" and at the offertory Arthur Roy rendered Rosewig's "Ave Maria". The bride was attired in white georgette with iridiscent beads. She wore a hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Her maid of honor wore a frock of yellow georgette with hat to match and carried yellow roses. Following the ceremony, the bridal party motored to Hartford for a breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Grimes left later in the day on a honeymoon trip to Montreal. Mrs. Grimes' going-away gown was in a tint of bois de rose. They will be at home about May 1st in a newly furnished apartment at No. 31 Bellevue street. The bride received many beautiful gifts. Mrs. Grimes has been employed in clerical work here recently and formerly was in Hartford. The groom is a veteran of the World war, having served overseas as a member of Company L, 102nd Infantry, 26th Division. Later he served one enlistment in the U. S. navy. At present he is a permanent member of Engine Company No. 1 of the local fire department.

At St. Mary's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Miss Anna Roberge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roberge of 112 Ives street, became the bride of Arthur Ferland of New Britain. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. J. Pagilion, who also was the celebrant of the nuptial high mass. The attendants were Arthur Roberge and Ernest Roberge, father and brother of the bride respectively. The best man was Hormisdas Beaudrin and the maid of honor was Miss Rachel Roberge, sister of the bride. A reception followed at the home of the bride. Relatives were present from Montreal, Ontario, and Light Lake, Canada, Sanford, Me., Lowell, Mass., and Manchester, N. H. Mr. and Mrs. Ferland will reside at 74 Seymour street, New Britain, following a brief honeymoon. The bride received many presents.

Alfred Dube and Miss Yvonne Robitaille were united in marriage Monday morning at 7 o'clock at St. Mary's church by Rev E. A. Mathieu, who was also celebrant of the nuptial mass. The witnesses were William Dube and Joseph Dumais. The wedding was largely attended. Mr. and Mrs. Dube were residents of Lowell, Mass., until recently.

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Willet of 98 Lewiston avenue, Mrs. Willet's friend, Miss Lois Agatha Frye of Marcushook, Pa., became the bride of Oliver Charles Sullivan of the same town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock. The members of the Willet family and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Waite of Providence, Mrs. Waite being a sister of the bride, witnessed the ceremony.

Members of the Club of the Open Door presented an Easter play, "He Is the Son of God", in the First Congregational church house Sunday evening before a capacity audience. Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock directed the presentation. Maurice Hanna was stage manager. The cast follows: Judith, a blind woman, Katherine Smith; Esther, her daughter, Marian Branch; Sarah a bond-servant, Janet Scripture; Athanan, son of Judith, recently escaped from the galleys, Francis Turney; Cleon, his friend, John Buck; Israelite, a rich man, neighbor to Judith, helpless with the palsy, Ralph Wolmer; leader of the mob, Mason Lincoln.

WESTERLY

BIG SMELT FISHING NET SLASHED AT LOSS OF $100

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 5. — The large seining net used for smelt fishing in the Pawcatuck river during the past season by James E. Thompson, Eugene Larkin, Prentice Lanphear and George Brayman was found last night to have been cut in six or eight places with cuts eight to ten feet in length. The net is stored on the Westerly side of the Pawcatuck river where it is spread out nightly above the Sherman lumber dock on the river bank, just above the docking place of tug Westerly. The loss by this malicious damage is said to amount to nearly $100. The cutting of the nets has been reported to Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown.

It was a year ago that rival smelt fishermen on the Pawcatuck river "manoeuvred" to such an extent that it was reported at the time that a smelt war was on. The appointment of Chief of Police Brown and Dr. E. R. Lewis as harbor masters and action on their part in removing obstructions placed in the way of the fishermen, at length brought peace, or at least armed neutrality. The cutting of the fish net suggests another possible war game.

WOULD OPEN OAKS INN WHICH WAS RAIDED IN FALL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 5. — John E. Kinderis, Bond Mere hotel, Hartford, appeared before the town council today to ask for a license to operate the Oaks Inn on the Shore road, near Watch Hill. He said he was got connected with Mr. Gotis, who ran the place when it was raided last fall. He presented recommendations from the City Bank and Trust Co., the chief of police, Newton and Burnet and the Garde, all of Hartford. He was anxious to get going as soon as possible and had with the approval of Westerly Chief of Police Brown and the approval of the police committee a conditional tavern license will be issued him.

STILLMANVILLE SECTION INSPECTED BY COUNCIL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 5. — The April session of Westerly town council was held Monday morning the council chamber of Westerly town hall, President John D. Nichols, Councilmen Rogers E. Trainer, Harry H. Coleman, Peter Nardone, Isaac G. Smith, A. Clifford Holdsworth and Thomas F Moore, attending. Also present were Council Clerk Everett E. Whipple and Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr. At 12 o'clock the council went into executive session and in the afternoon planned a trip to Stillmanville, to view unsanitary conditions which have become aggravated since the Rhode Island state board of public roads turned the surface water of High street, where the new cement road was constructed, into the brook that flows back of Pierce and Canal streets into the Pawcatuck river. "A dirty filthy place," said Councilman A. Clifford Holdsworth, who visited the section last week, and continued, "A serious blot on our town, which paid money for advertising and which could have been better spent on abating this nuisance," and he concluded, "A serious menace to the health of the town of Westerly and a breeding place for pestilence and epidemic."

Walter C. Hiscox and Howard E. Thorp, Westerly tax assessors, appeared before the council, and following the reading of the minutes of the last council session, Mr. Hiscox presented the bill of the Stedman Press for 24,000 real estate cards, printed on both sides, amounting to $78, which was voted paid when other bills were later voted approved and paid. He said that the Westerly board of tax assessors had engaged the services of George W. Woodward, a Westerly man qualified to do civil engineering work, to work on tax assessors' plats. His services began March 15th at the rate of $100 a month or $1200 per year to be paid every two weeks. Action was taken by the council, as recommended by the assessors and a formal vote prepared by Town Solicitor Ferguson, was passed directing the town clerk to issue his order on the town treasury for the payment of $46.50 every two weeks to Mr. Woodward. Mr. Thorp said the money for this payment should be taken from the assessors' plat fund in the town budget, for which a certain sum has been appropriated every year for a number of years back and which has just begun to be made use of.

The action of Town Treasurer James M. Pendleton, in issuing town notes to the amount of $125,000, dated May 1, 1926, and due Nov. 1, 1926, for the construction of main sewer drains and public sewers, was voted approved.

Authority was voted for the re-issuing of a school committee order for $23.30 payable to Pasquale Terranova, reported lost or destroyed.

Invitation was received from the Rhode Island state board of public utilities by its secretary, George Carmichael, to attend a public hearing Wednesday April 7th in the state house in Providence on the auto bus bill for the Boston and New York Coach company of the Copley Square hotel, Boston and the Portland-Worcester-New York company, 184 Boylston street, Boston. Both companies desire to cross the Massachusetts-Rhode Island state line at Pawtucket and the Connecticut-Rhode Island state line at Westerly.

A bill for a broken spring, reported to have occurred on the uneven highway surface of Granite street, amounting to $9.95 was received from Joseph Pickering of the Union Taxi company No action was taken.

The following bills were voted paid: For water works accounts $5,398.96; sewer bills, $393.37 and poor department, $730.46.

Town officers—Dr. S. C. Webster, salary, $25.

Salaries paid were police, $1,008; town hall, $140; town officers, $633.94.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown made his report for March, which was voted approved, showing 14 arrests, divided as follows: Lewd and wanton person, 1; theft, 1; intoxication, 3, violent assault, 3; assault with a dangerous weapon, 1; assault with intent to kill, 1; sending threatening communication, 1; breaking, entering and larceny, 3. One raid was made to secure stolen goods.

Dr. Samuel C. Webster, as a board of health, reported 21 cases of contageous disease for the month of March. They were divided: Diphtheria 1, lobar pneumonia 1, and measles 19.

Joseph T. Grills applied for a license to conduct open air professional boxing contests at Grills arena, White Rock road, in the evenings beginning after May 15th. Attorney Walter Flynn, Jr., appeared to represent the petitioner and said that no specific dates had been asked for and the fixing of dates was desired left to the police committee of the council. He said that a law regulating boxing in Rhode Island was pending in the legislature, which left such matters to a boxing commission and if passed in this case the Westerly council had jurisdiction. The matter was voted referred to the police commission with power to act with the usual requirements.

Milk dealers' licenses were granted H. C. Lewis and Son, Pasquale DePlacito, Varium B. York, Louis Panciera, William Segar and company, Amos S. Burdick, A. E. Ralston, Elmer Barnes, Thomas J. Bannon, Charles Zanella, A. M. Cottrell, Charles E. Whitely, James Lansdowne, Daniel Cronin Tristam D. Babcock, John D. Avery, John Wels, Herbert H. Crandall, Harvey C. Perry, Thomas Burdick, Henry H. Blackler, Walter Frazier and James E. Lanphere.

W. Ward Sherman was voted a victualizing license for the Haversham Inn, Boston Post road and the council were of the opinion that he needed no further license to conduct dinner dances there.

Victualing licenses were granted Joseph Serio Canal street; the Brown Betty, Rhode Island Hotel and Harriet L. Sisson, Watch Hill.

Russell Lee Slocum was re-elected dog officer for Westerly to act under the Rhode Island statute.

Sheffield Greene was re-elected forest fire warden, having stated that he would name the same deputies, C. Palmer Chapman, Avondale; George E. Egger, Westerly, and Simon P. Nicholas, Potter Hill road.

On application, Town Clerk Whipple was given authority to give a quit claim deed for the town of Westerly to Amos P Chapman camp, Sons of Veterans, for the two brass cannon on the lawn at the Westerly railroad station which were given into the keeping of the town by Budlong post, G. A. R., from the Memorial building when the corps thought the guns would be placed in front of the Westerly town hall.

Mrs. Nicholas Tribisicci, 67 Pleasant street, and Mrs. Peter M. Rose of Rose avenue, in the Pierce street section of Westerly, appeared before the council to urge the necessity of the council taking action to abate the nuisance of an open brook in that section.

Mrs. Tribisicci who has been before the council on previous occasions said that she was unable to keep tenants in her property and she could not blame them because of the stench that arose from conditions about the brook of which she was complaining and she would go herself if she did not own the property. She said that property owners there paid taxes and would even contribute partially to the expense of drain construction. A promise of a personal survey by the council was given her.

Much discussion was devoted to parking laws for automobiles on the business streets, it being voted generally to extend the time of stop from the present 15 minutes to 30 minutes. On Canal and High streets, west side, from the north side of the Martin House the new limit is set. With no parking or "stop" in front of the United theatre and the New Park hotel, from the latter point to Dixon square, it was the opinion that a longer period should be given and was voted. The longer period also covers from post office easterly on Broad street and in front of the Fisher block.

Frank W. Coy came before the council a second time relative to levied taxes on property for the payment of town and fire district taxes. Before going into executive session the president appointed A. Clifford Holdsworth a committee of one to go into charges made in a letter presented to the council by Mr. Coy relative to what he termed illegal and excessive charges made by the collectors of the town and fire district. Mr. Coy said that he personally had no financial interest at stake but thought the council should take up the matter in their duty to the town.

The council proceeded to canvass the voting lists of the town for the purpose of making up the list of persons qualified for jury duty.

Michael J Burke was named a constable, with power to serve writs and then the executive session was on.

The Westerly fire department responded shortly before 1 o'clock Monday afternoon for a grass and brush fire at the rear of the house of Theodore D Picard 64 Beach street. The alarm was given from Box No. 46, Beach street near Clark street. It was found that the fire caught from rubbish being burned in an incinerator. It was not long before the firemen had the blaze out, it being the first of the grass fires responded to in this open season.

John Morrill Langworthy, 77, who was taken Friday from his home in Lower Pawcatuck to the Westerly hospital, died there Sunday afternoon. Mr. Langworthy was obliged to retire from active work last June because of his infirmities, and since that time had been in failing health. Mr. Langworthy, a native of Hopkinton, was a carriage painter by trade, but much of his life was devoted to other pursuits. He was engaged in farming for a long period and during the later years of his life served as a watchman at the plant of C. B. Cottrell & Sons company. He owned and resided in what was formerly the Dr. Murphy homestead in Lower Pawcatuck. His wife, who was Sarah Elizabeth Potter, died three years ago last month, and an only son, David F. Langworthy died about eight years ago. The only near relatives are two grandchildren David Langworthy of Lower Pawcatuck and Mrs. Fred F. Clark of 141 High street.

Funeral services ofr Mrs. Millard F. Clark, were held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the funeral home on Granite street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. A. L. Schoning, pastor of the Pricad Street Christian church. Burial was in River Bend cemetery. The bearers were Henry Clark, George Clark, William MacDonald and Harry Potter.

Tapping a Rubber Tree on a U. S. Rubber Company Plantation

The United States Rubber Company now owns over 7,000,000 rubber trees—more than 5,000,000 of them are already producing rubber for U. S. Tires and 20,000 employees are engaged in caring for them.

Here are the Answers to Your Questions on the American Rubber Supply and Automobile Tires

Q—Where does America get its rubber?

A—The only important source of rubber for all the world is the rubber plantations in the Far Eastern possessions of Great Britain and Holland.

Q—Is America represented among the Far Eastern rubber planters?

A—Yes, the largest of all these Far Eastern plantations is owned and operated by the UNITED STATES RUBBER COMPANY.

Q—Do the United States Rubber Company Plantations produce any considerable quantity of rubber?

A—Yes, they produced 20,000,000 lbs. of rubber in 1925, and in the next few years the output will be increased about 75%.

Q—Then the growing of rubber by Americans for Americans is not a new thing?

A—No. In 1909, this company acquired their vast tracts of ideal rubber growing land in Sumatra and Malaya.

A—The U. S. Rubber Company Plantations now comprise about 136,000 acres, with over 7,000,000 rubber trees, sixty miles of narrow-gauge railway, and 200 miles of motor roads. They give employment to 20,000 people.

Q—What does all this mean to me as a buyer and user of United States Tires?

A—The United States Rubber Plantations and their results have brought many benefits to every user of U. S. Rubber products of all kinds. For instance:

1. Latex-treated Web Cord, one of the outstanding major improvements in tire-building, announced by this Company in 1922.
2. Sprayed Rubber, the new standard of purity in crude rubber, of direct benefit to every user of any U. S. Rubber product.
3. In addition, during the past 17 years, the U. S. Rubber Plantation Experts have conducted thousands of successful researches into improving rubber by improving the rubber trees.

Q—What is Latex-treated Web Cord?

A—This is the new cord structure for cord tires, combining maximum strength with maximum flexibility. Questions and Answers on Latex-treated Web Cord will be published shortly.

Q—What is Sprayed Rubber?

A—Sprayed Rubber is the new pure rubber. It is free from both acid and smoke. Questions and Answers on Sprayed Rubber will also be published at an early date.

Q—Will America ever be reasonably independent in its rubber supply?

A—Probably so, in the course of time. For instance, the U. S. Rubber Plantations will probably yield 15 per cent more rubber in 1926 than in the past year.

DANIELSON

BROTHER AND SISTER BURIED THE SAME DAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 5—Monday morning the funeral of Richard Whalen was held from his home on the Wauregan road with a high mass of requiem of which Rev. James McCarthy, M. S., was the celebrant at St. James church at 9.30. Relatives and members of friends from Danielson and surrounding communities attended the service. At St. James cemetery the bodies of Mr. Whalen and his sister, Miss Catherine Whalen, who died in June of the year, the bodies since disinterred at Holy Cross cemetery, were buried. The committal service at the double interment was conducted by Rev. F. X. Richards, M. S. The bearers were John Doyle, John Whalen, Martin Dooley, Thomas Dooley, James Mortimer and Albert Grennon. Funeral Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

A CHECK FOR 61 CENTS COMES IN AS OVERDUE TAX

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 5—Sidney H. Perry, borough tax collector, is making a very good job of gathering in the arrears due the community on the taxes that have been in his hands for collection. He is as earnest in getting small overdue amounts as is going after the larger sums. As illustrating this statement may be made of the fact that only a few days since he received from a western state a check for 61 cents. This tax had been due for a number of years. It was not so much the amount as the intent and desire of Mr. Perry to get the books clear of back taxes that made the trouble of collecting this and many other delinquents possible. Taxes, placed in place for a long period, and not very large amounts, property, particularly in the outlying sections, will be sold at auction unless the tax claims are satisfied.

PUTNAM

SCHOOL PUPILS TO HEAR INFORMING LECTURES

(Special to the Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 5—The pupils of the Israel Putnam school in the fourth fifth, sixth and seventh grades, are to be given a series of lectures each Monday morning after the Easter vacation, by different speakers on Topics of the Day. These lectures are under the supervision of Principal J. Vey Merrill. The first speaker is to be Rev. James F. English, pastor of the Second Congregational church and the next will be Superintendent of Schools Ralph C. Jenkins. The others have not yet been definitely decided upon.

TWO WEDDINGS THE 12TH IN THE BERNIER FAMILY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 5—Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Dora Bernier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bernier of Providence St., and Armand J. Valade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Valade of Walnut street. The ceremony will take place at St. Mary's church Monday morning, April 12 at 8 o'clock. There will be a reception at St. John's hall after the services at the church after which Mr. and Mrs. Valade will leave on a wedding trip. Mr. Valade is a former Putnam resident but is now boss carder for the H. W. Hall Knitting company at Lakeport, N. H., where he and his bride will make their home.

At St. Mary's church on Monday morning, April 12, Miss Edoulida Benoit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benoit will be married to Leroy Bernier. Mr. Bernier is a brother of Miss Dora Bernier, who will be married at St. Mary's church on the same morning and a reception will be held for both couples at St. John's hall.

Following is the honor roll of the Thompson Hill school for the term ending with the Easter vacation: Ninety to one hundred per cent, Mary Law, Sarah Ballard, Esther Stevens. Eighty to eighty-nine per cent, Elois Logee, Theresa Auger, Betty Maitland, Elna Law and Donald Johnson.

There will be no post-lenten observance in St. John's hall. This annual custom was abandoned and in its place a French drama will be presented by a cast that has been here before and was well received.

Members of Cargill council, K. of C., received Holy Communion at St. Mary's church, on Easter morning, in a body. They met in front of the church at 6.30 o'clock in the morning and marched in, receiving communion at the seven o'clock mass.

The employes of the various state departments at Hartford have a club called the Connecticut Capitol club and as part of its activities will issue a four page paper once a month. The name of the paper is The Capitol News and the first number has just made its appearance. Michael Dalgle, formerly of Putnam is treasurer of the the organization.

"The Man Nobody Knows" a film story of the life of Christ, is to be shown at the Second Congregational church Wednesday, April 7, at 7.30 p. m. under the auspices of the combined Sunday schools of the city. This is a six-reel picture made in the Holy Land by Bruce Barton and musical settings by Alexander Savine. There is an unusual blending of titles, scenes and music that makes the master more vivid and real than any actor, playing the part, could make him. One of the remarkable things that had commended the picture to so many people is the fact that Christ appears as depicted in the great paintings with no attempt at dramatize him at any point. The public is privileged to see this film.

Miss Lucielle Beauregard, daughter of Lawrence Beauregard of this city was one of the thirty-six prize winners in a contest sponsored by a Springfield paper. Mr. Beauregard is proprietor of the Cargill hotel in this city and his daughter is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Hector Lenoir of Springfield, formerly of Putnam and is attending school in Springfield. The contest was in the branches of home economics and Miss Beauregard was second in the home improvement enterprise section for beginners. She is a member of the Roll-o'-Pep club. The prize for which the young people worked is a sightseeing trip to Boston. The trip is to be made April 24 in a large motor coach, and places of interest in and urrounding Boston are to be, visited.

Mrs. T. H. deCoudres and daughters, Miss Rhea and Ruth, who have been spending the winter in Providence are at their home on Woodstock avenue for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Andrews have moved from Railroad street to 136 Grove street.

Mrs. Thomas J. Spellacy is visiting her sister in Rutland, Vermont for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Breen have returned from a six week's trip to Florida and Cuba.

Miss Marion Wilcox, a freshman at the woman's college, Brown University, is spending her Easter vacation at the home of her parents, on Walnut street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smithson of Grove street have returned from Pawtucket, R. I. where they attended the funeral of a relatives.

CRIMINAL LIFE OF GERALD CHAPMAN CLOSED

Chapman said little to prison officials who went to his cell. Rev. Father Barry called at the cell frequently, had many conversations and Chapman was pleased with the visits. He looked forward to his calls. Father Barry never spoke to the prison officers as to the conversations and the officials never knew of Chapman's attitude towards religion, whether he had religious belief or none. He was not allowed to go to prison service and the chapel was too far removed, with too many intervening doors to permit him to hear the service there. Chapman up till his last day never asked for a clergyman. Guards who did duty at the cell door, did not talk with him, prison discipline requiring that they not speak unless spoken to.

The prison will be one hundred years old next year. Chapman's was the 49th execution in it, the death penalty having formerly been carried out in county jails. The law was changed in 1894.

Warden Scott had a great many letters asking for permission to attend the execution, many coming from a distance and from persons who believed that executions in Connecticut were open to the public. The law specifically states who may be present and the warden provided that seven daily papers in Hartford county should have representatives in the death chamber, that through them, the story of the death of a man who attained widespread notoriety might be told the public. In other respects only those persons were present who were required, the law saying "and no others."

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE STATE BOARD OF PARDONS

Rejected at the last door of escape, Gerald Chapman awaited death in Wethersfield prison tonight for the murder of Policeman James Skelly in New Britain, Conn.

Months of increasing effort for clemency or for the privilege of a new trial with hope of escaping the moose, ended today when the state board of pardons flatly refused to interfere, despite a dramatic plea from this prisoner and his counsel.

Chapman's fight for life has embodied every recourse known to jurisprudence, from the police court to the United States supreme bench.

With the spectre of death, reaching out for him, seemingly sounded his own death knell this afternoon when, to the board of pardons, he was asking for clemency, he exclaimed:

"I have acquired a sense of futility of the whole proceedings."

The board unanimously, as the law requires, declined to commute the man's sentence to live imprisonment. It listened for 32 minutes to Chapman's appeal which was dramatic. His low, but pentrating voice, broken at times by a cough, sounded throughout the room which otherwise was so still that the murmur of the gentle springtime breeze outside was audible.

As the supplicant for mercy stood and made his plea he showed no signs of nervousness or worry. It was as if staid teacher was lecturing a class of boys.

For the first time in nearly two years, on the eve of his execution for the murder of Patrolman James Skelly, of New Britain, he was able to exchange opinions with his enemy, State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn.

With rapier-like thrusts of sarcasm, sometimes subtle and which passed almost unnoticed, he impelled the state's attorney so effectively that his assistant R. L. Gideon, once jumped to his feet.

"If your excellency please," he said, "if Mr. Alcorn will not object, I must do so. This is no place to exchange personalities."

"Objection sustained," snapped Governor John H. Trumbull, who presided.

Chapman's Contention

Chapman continued in his even voice. "I did not come prepared this morning to say anything that Mr. Groehl has not already told you. It was only at Judge Groehl's request that I came before you, because," he drawled slowly, looking straight at the chief executive, "I have acquired a sense of futility of the whole proceedings."

"If you have ever been confronted by a lie so monstrous that you have not the sensibility to protest, you know that it has the effect often of stupifying.

"I know nothing of the legal aspect; I can only express the human side. I thought," he said slowly, allowing his eyes to roam in an abstract way about the ceiling over Governor Trumbull's head, "that I would go over what has transpired since the day of my arrest at Muncie; I also might recite some of the marvelous side-stepping of the supreme court—but I don't have to use any of thos hypocritical phrases in speaking of the court."

"Some of Mr. Alcorn's statements cannot be overlooked." Chapman said.

"I have been asked why I did not protest my innocence before. Well, I don't think my voice was probably loud enough under solitary confinement to be heard any great distance.

"When I was brought to Atlanta, I was immediately put into solitary confinement. I was allowed no newspapers, no mail, absolutely no communication whatsoever. I was put on bread and water for five days, but my health became so endangered that I was taken to the hospital.

"I was brought back later into solitary confinement, and never a word was spoken to me of Connecticut. One officer did speak jestingly, asking me whether I would rather go to Connecticut than stay at Atlanta. Well, I told them that it was perfectly all right to go to Connecticut, provided that I received a commutation from Atlanta first. I had nothing to fear in Connecticut.

"There had been too many other accusations before, that I had killed policemen, and none of the others amounted to anything. I put this in the same category as the others.

"They had a prison sense of humor. I don't think you know what that is," he drawled. "It's inconceivable that you should. I was rushed to Connecticut. I was given no word of it. I was told to make ready, and 15 minutes later was on my way to Connecticut.

"I appreciate the reason I have not dwelled on my innocence. My voice cannot be heard outside the cell. I received no papers and mail here, except from Judge Groehl.

"Why, if I was half the actor Mr. Alcorn is, I might address with abuse and reference to past performances. And Alcorn has his prophecies of the future. Well, I suppose he considers them ethical, they may be legal, but humanly they're pretty light.

"During the trial, one of the busiest men in the court room was that fellow back there," Chapman said, turning to point at John J. Kelleher, now federal prohibition agent, but who was at that time attached to Alcorn's office. "He sat one day with one witness and the next day with another. He sat with the lady from Steubenville, and talked to her first. Shean then got between the two and both talked to her, while she kept gaping and gaping and taking it all in. That was kept up, first on one witness and then on another.

"This fellow," he said, pointing at Kelleher, "is employed by some one. It is strange that a man can walk upright and speak splendidly of things governmental and patriotic, yet be working—well, ther is no such things as a conscienceless existence—do anything to gain ends.

"I don't think that Mr. Alcorn thought me guilty when he first heard of the murder. But when the Lincoln car was discovered as belonging to me, here was an opportunity. Well, something that you might call an opportunity distorted or something distorted into to an opportunity to advance one's self—well, I don't need to go into details.

"There was a clamor. Here's a notorious character that deserves to be killed anyhow. The most contemptible thing I know of is this case of Hance being pinned on me. The charge left me speechless."

The board of pardons room was absolutely silent. Chapman paused for a moment.

"I realize I'm not speaking orderly because my mind is not in an orderly state; you can probably understand why it isn't," he said glancing at the huge clock on the side of the wall which ticked off the minutes of his third and last reprieve.

"I heard of the confession of guilt of another in the Muncie crime. If ever there was a confession which lay bare a man's mind, that was it. That should settle the Muncie murder. The warden will tell you how well I was able to communicate with the outside. I was in this cell here," indicated the direction of the death cell, by jerking his thumb over his shoulder. "I was kept so close that I was not even bothered by mosquitoes." And a ghost of a grin softened his face for a moment. "Here I am charged with moral guilt for that crime, by Mr. Alcorn. I have never done anything in my life I'm te so ashamed of as that. And yet, I suppose, that's legal.

"Well I don't know if it is proper for me to go over the case, or to introduce things already introduced but they were not introduced from my viewpoint.

"On that Saturday—let's see was it? —On that Saturday I had this car washed in Springfield. Mr. Alcorn said it was strange that I didn't go to Holyoke. It wasn't strange for Shean had the car. He kept it in his garage for his use and another's. It is not my purpose to introduce names here. I was with a Holyoke furniture dealer at 3 o'clock that afternoon and Alcorn did not question that man at all.

"One of Alcorn's witnesses was a man who attends to cars for the Sheans. He concealed half and revealed half the truth. But a reputable citizen and Shean have testified as to who was in possession of that car that afternoon. Which are you going to believe?

"I know that anything that I would say as to my innocence knowing the character that has been given me. I don't blame the press for that," he added quickly, glancing toward the press table, "I blame the officials who give out these statements to the press. This Hance case serves to keep me in character"—you understand that. Any man that would be capable of that would be capable of anything; I agree to that. I know I wasn't there, you'll agree to that. I was up here," again indicating the direction of the death cell.

"All the argument against me has been built upon passion and prejudice and as such, is unanswerable. I cannot grasp anything which is non-existent. I cannot grasp the phantoms of Mr. Alcorn's rich imagination. I am not constructed so that I would argue passion for passion. There are things that are even too rotten for me."

Here assistant state attorney interposed an objection "against this abuse." It was sustained by the governor.

"I have been called a murderer and other similar things so many times that perhaps it doesn't matter. I appeared here because I thought that you might perhaps go down deeper into the issues and leave aside all passion and prejudice. My only purpose, my only hope was that I might achieve justice. I think that is all I have to say."

And the slender little outlaw slouched back into his seat and assumed the characteristic pose so familiar to those who attended his trial. A kind of slouching forward and resting his chin in his palm, two fingers spread across his cheek.

Governor Trumbull promptly adjourned the board of pardons meeting. Chapman spoke for 32 minutes. He was soon led back to the death house, never to return again.

Modern dental science now has found a way that restores "off-color" teeth to clearness, that gives toneless gums a healthy coral tint.

Famous movie stars use this way before going on a scene. That's why movie smiles glisten so. Leading dentists urge it widely. For it protects the teeth and firms tender gums.

It is called Pepsodent—a new-type tooth paste that works by removing the dingy film coat from teeth that old-time dentifrices did not clear off successfully. That's why brushing fails you.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel that film. A slippery coating that absorbs discolorations and keeps your teeth off color, that breeds bacteria by the millions and invites tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea.

Remove it and you will be amazed at what you see. Discard old ways now. Get Pepsodent at any drug store. Or send coupon for 10-day tube to try.

ANTHRACITE FUEL

Just what the coal situation is going to develop into seems rather uncertain. Bituminous coal production is showing a decrease as might be expected and there are efforts being made by the operators to impress upon the users that anthracite is much better than any other fuel. There are also those who are advertising their anthracite at figures which prevailed previous to the strike, and there are those who are maintaining that there will be no spring reduction and prices will not get down to the pre-strike level.

Those who have used anthracite know that it is cleaner than the bituminous coal. But they have been getting some valuable experience in the last several months and know that it is no longer necessary for them to have anthracite. They know substitutes are available and in many instances will be employed rather than submit to the price gouging which is not believed necessary and which is therefore resented.

While it can be advanced that anthracite is cleaner than bituminous it can likewise be set forth that oil is much cleaner than anthracite. Also far less work is involved if oil is used and the annual expense is probably no greater. Compared with higher anthracite prices it would be cheaper.

Thus when it comes to setting forth the desirability of anthracite, it is a case where money, or price talks. If high prices are to be maintained the advantages of some other form of fuel are going to get more consideration. If favorable prices can be combined with the advocacy of anthracite the effectiveness of the double appeal can be anticipated.

Getting back to anthracite is desired by the coal industry of Pennsylvania but in the past several years the users of it have been gradually drifting away. Some are not going back to it regardless of the price. Others can see the position of continuing to use coal to resort to something else. Price is going to be the governing factor to a decided degree made and it isn't to be expected that higher anthracite prices are going to make friends for that fuel, or the producers of it.

PALMER TO PROVIDENCE

Those who have been deeply concerned in the building of the Southern New England railroad from Palmer to Providence, for the purpose of providing a new railroad outlet for the anthracite coal fields, are not to be blamed for their utmost to put the project through after it was been indicated by the Central Vermont and the Canadian Pacific that it is their purpose to build a line of their own. There have been hopes entertained in certain quarters of the states of Rhode Island and Massachusetts for extensions of the charter for the road. Little prospect has been discernible for the building of the connecting road chiefly because the necessary money could not be found and because the cost of the line is less impressive than it was during the days and controversy that prompted it.

Naturally the question arises as to whether the line would pay. In the opinion of the Springfield Republican the completion of the road "will require as much money as has been expended already, and even if the right of way were now to be sold for its land value alone, the promise of return on the additional expenditure would not be very promising."

In connection with the suggested sale of the property to the New York Central, the same paper says, "It is doubtful whether the New York Central will pay the price for a newcomer's footing in Rhode Island, and it is very doubtful whether the interstate commerce commission would authorize that company to acquire and operate a merely competitive line in a section of the country which is struggling to restore its railroads to a healthy financial condition."

Those observations must naturally confront those who are asked to provide the funds for the purchase of the property. The New York Central isn't going to buy what it cannot use and it doesn't appear that the demands for such a line are such as to make it possible to dispose of the property for railroad purposes. Perhaps Rhode Island can, however, see more hope in it than in its coal mine.

CONFERRING ON THE COURT

It has been maintained that there was a desire on the part of the other nations which make up the league of nations that the United States should be a member of the league. It has been pretty conclusively shown that there is no chance of Uncle Sam being initiated.

The same feeling has been expressed in connection with the desirability of having this country adhere to the world court. The willingness of other countries to accept the United States under any terms it might set forth has been expressed.

This country has decided that it should adhere to the world court and it has set forth to the other nations what reservations it makes in taking such a step. That gives them a chance to show whether they are as eager to get the United States as a court member as it has been said they were.

When this country is asked to join in a conference which is called for September to consider the reservations made by this country it is found necessary to decline. We have taken up the reservations separately with the various nations and have already received the consent of Cuba to our terms. We are ready to consider or explain them for any other of the nations but when we are asked to send delegates to Geneva, or elsewhere, it is to be realized that the reservations are fixed and not tentative. It would not be possible for the delegates to change them or to modify them. This government has set forth the terms whereby it will become a court member and the proposed conference could not alter those terms. There is no advantage to be gained through the conference.

Whether the nations confer among themselves or whether they consider our reservations individually is outside of the province of this country to say. It may be that we covered the ground too thoroughly in making our reservations but we have spoken. If there is not the willingness to give consent under such reservations it can be made known and we will have to be governed accordingly.

THE CHAPMAN CASE

In keeping with the verdict of the Connecticut could which heard the evidence and convicted him Gerald Chapman paid the penalty for his crime at Wethersfield. Fairly and carefully tried for the killing of a policeman at New Britain, who had interrupted him in a robbery, he found Connecticut justice stern and unrelenting, but of a character that is needed to deal with those members of the criminal class who believe that they should be allowed to prey upon the public and who value human life so cheaply.

Chapman's execution closes a notorious career. His life was devoted to crime. Nothing was too desperate and nothing too big. He had no consideration for law or the rights of others and yet when it got to the point where he was caught and convicted few others have made a more desperate attempt to use the law for his benefit. Every possible avenue has been tried and it cannot be said that opportunity was not given him to get through loopholes, to profit by flaws in the law or to seek mercy.

Chapman's life stands out as a conspicuous example of what should be avoided. It is folly to think that success can be attained through a life of criminality. Yet there were too many others who had preceded Chapman and it is feared there will be too many who will follow him in just such a throwing away of their lives. With an intellectuality that might have been devoted to some good purpose his career ended as it might have been anticipated it would when it was started on such a course. It has been one of the conspicuous cases in the criminal history of the state and it is well that it is over.

REGISTRATION

Among those who have raised their opposition to the idea of registration of aliens is the immigration committee of the United States chamber of commerce, and among the objections raised to it are those it would cost too much money and instead of Americanizing the aliens it would make them feel like enemies.

Possibly the view is taken that we ought to encourage the aliens to sneak in to the country in violation of the law, to pay for being smuggled across the border and to begin their careers as residents in this country by defying and breaking the law. No matter how large the number of aliens here at the present time is, it will be be made steadily larger unless some effective means of checking it is started.

In voicing its opposition to the registration idea no means of meeting the situation is suggested. The idea is apparently to let conditions go on as they are and to thus invite those who cannot get in under the quota restrictions to disregard such provisions and hotfoot in across the border or get landed on some secluded point along the coast and do as they please thereafter.

Possibly there is some better means of dealing with the smuggled alien than by registration, but thus far none seems to have been put forth. There has been the suggestion that they ought to be allowed to remain, which of course would be an imposition upon those who obeyed the immigration laws in getting into the country and those who remained away because they could not get in under the law. We are not quite ready to grant a premium to those who flagrantly violate our immigration laws.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—Much has been recently said and written about the white house bi-weekly press conferences, and why the term "spokesman for the president" or "on the highest white house authority" are used instead of directly quoting the president.

First let's see just what these conferences are and to whom they are accorded, so there may be no misunderstanding as to the matter in question.

President Taft for a few months met correspondents in a body, but with vacation interruptions and other matters breaking in, the custom discontinued before the close of his term. President Roosevelt did not take up the "conference" programme but frequently talked with correspondents singly or in small groups according to his fancy.

Until the incoming of the Wilson administration there had been no fixed regular conferences between a president and the press. There had been frequent opportunity to get information, and often a president received and talked to members of the press as individuals, but not in a body. Mr. Wilson established a series of biweekly get-togethers between himself and members of the capitol press gallery and that method of news giving has continued to the present day with no material change, except that in the earlier days all questions asked the president were verbal, while now they are written and handed to the secretary before the conference begins. They run the gauntlet from purely local to great international events. The first question may be regarding a postmastership at Squedunk and the last concerning the world court.

There is but one rule governing the conferences and that is that the president must never be directly quoted. When he wants to be quoted he will give out a formal statement.

The purpose of the conferences is to give a correct background to the news sent out by accredited members of the press gallery, which is composed of representatives of every recognized press associations, or large daily newspaper in the United States, and which also includes representatives of the great dailies of England, Japan and other foreign countries. There are approximately 300 members.

It can easily be understood that while a president may talk freely to such a group of newspapermen, he could not permit himself to be quoted unless he made a formal statement intended for publication. Every official utterance of a president carries weight in every country in the world, and the press conferences at the white house are granted for the purpose of official quotation but to give information which the correspondents may absorb and use within discretion but not by direct quotation.

The whole responsibility of telling the news as obtained at the white house, rests on the correspondent himself. He and he alone must interpret replies to questions and use his own judgment. The interviews are merely matters of courtesy and for the convenience of correspondents, and to aid them in their work, and are not accorded because the president wants to air his views.

The terms "spokesman for the president" or "on the highest white house authority it was today learned" were coined by the newspapermen and neither originated with the administration nor has their use ever been sanctioned, though not protested against. The correspondents wanted to make it clear that they had first hand information but as they could not quote the president they invented a few phases to cover the ground. President Coolidge does not hide behind a subterfuge or the terms "spokesman for the president" "on high authority," etc., etc. When he wants to be quoted he will assume the responsibility and speak for himself.

Every correspondent present hears the questions and replies; they are not veiled; and nothing is left in doubt; he is permitted to give his understanding of what the president proposes to do in certain instances but, beyond that he cannot go. A correspondent who broke the one rule "the president cannot be directly quoted" would immediately become "an undesirable" so far as the white house was concerned, for no person could break it except with intention, as it is known to all press gallery members.

The conferences are conducted somewhat along this line: From 50 to 150 members of the capitol press gallery go to the white house on Tuesday and Friday of each week; they foregather in the great marble lobby and exchange gossip and news till a clap of hands from Pat McKenna, chief doorkeeper, is the signal for the men to make a rush for the president's office. As they pass through the door each man is closely scrutinized by Mr. McKenna and a member of the staff of detectives that guard the president and always are on duty. This is done to make sure no unauthorized person attempts to slip in under the guise of being "a newspaper man." Once inside the president's room the men form a semi-circle sometimes three and four deep. At a great mahogany desk, in the bay window overlooking the white house grounds sits the president. He looks up as the men gather, nods pleasantly, then rises and stands during the interview which usually lasts 20 minutes.

On the desk are a few papers, a vase of roses and the usual desk equipments. At the right is a standard with a beautiful silk American flag, which drapes itself in soft, natural folds. Near the president stand Secretary to the the President Sanders and Rudolph Forester, executive clerk; there is a moment of silence then President Coolidge reads and replies to the first question on the list. Almost without looking up he reads and replies to the next, unless it is of special interest, in which case he "talks" to the group in front of him giving full details when expedient. When the list is completed he scans the surrounding group and waits for less formal queries that may have been suggested by the previous question or replies.

The president never ignores a question, if he feels it can not be properly answered he so states. He never shows impatience or offense; sometimes his replies are brief, sometimes he talks at length, as the query requires. To bring the conference to a close Mr. Coolidge merely resumes his seat at his desk and goes on with his work. His typical "Coolidge traits" are never more clearly shown than at these conferences. There is no formal greeting or formal termination. He evidently regards them as a part of the day's work and a matter of routine business. While entirely amiable, courteous and attentive Mr. Coolidge wastes no time or words, beyond what is necessary to carry out the purposes of the interview. To permit a couple of hundred men to quote him from memory would subject any president to the grave danger of misquotation, in a way that might lead to national or international complications of a serious nature. So the ban on direct quotation has always existed and each correspondent must bear the responsibility of what he writes. The interviews or conferences as they are commonly called, are for the purpose of giving proper information on great national matter or answering questions affecting certain localities; they are a courtesy granted the press, and not in any sense intended to put the president or his opinions in the limelight. When Mr. Coolidge wants to accomplish that, he will do it in his own time, place and manner, and not through the unofficial term "a white house spokesman."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Kindness to Animals

Dear Mr. Editor: Sunday, April 11th, will be Humane Sunday. Be Kind to Animals week to and including April 17th. I hope your valuable publication will give space to this very worthy cause. I think the readers of your publication will be interested in the following facts. It is not generally known that many saints of the Roman Catholic church have been great friends of animals, birds and fishes. Saint Francis of Assissi was much associated with birds and animals. He used to preach to the birds. Saint Anthony of Padua is said to have preached to the fish, and Saint Jerome was known as a companion of animals. Saint Hubert was converted through a deer. While hunting in the forest of Ardennes he encountered a milk white stag, with a crucifix between its horns. He dropped his gun, fell on his knees and began to pray. He renounced hunting and became a hermit in this same forest. Saint Marcus, A. D. 462 was a protector of animals. Pope Saint Pius V in 1567 issued a formal condemnation of bull fights and the torture of wild beasts, and demanded that such exhibitions be abolished. He threatened excommunication for all those who took part in such performances and declared all bets connected with such performances null and void. He forbade Christian burial for all those who were killed in bull fights. No one has ever condemned bull fights more vigorously than Monsignor Besson, bishop of Nismes. Pope Paul II became illustrious as the friend of animals. Pope Benedict XV contributed 200 lire to the Italian society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The gift was accompanied by a letter from Cardinal Gasparri, the cardinal secretary of state, written by the pope's instructions condemning all wanton destruction of animal life by unscrupulous sportsmen, especially by the use of traps, which inflict needless pain and untold suffering on the animal taken in them. Pope Benedict XV had a particular fondness for birds and caused a circular letter to be addressed to all parish priests instructing them to use their influence to dissuade boys from the evil practice of robbing bird's nests. He further instructed all priests to preach sermons denouncing cruelty to animals in all its forms. This humane pope sent his apostolic benediction to the Arezzo society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He was the third holy father to bless such society, the others being Leo XIII and Pius X. The devotion to the cause of animal protection by great Catholic leaders, like Cardinal Manning of England, and Cardinal Gibbons of America, is too well known to require comment. Both of these cardinals were ardent anti-vivisectionists. Cardinal Gibbons was an honorary vice president of the Maryland Anti-Vivisection society and many others. I could add scores of distinguished names among Catholics to those above mentioned who believe in kindness to animals.

Yours for the greater education,
GUSTAV STRYKER

THE PUMPKIN WIRELESS

"And we'll have a garden, too, Jack!"

"And I'll get up early, Madge, and work in it before I go to school. Good for me, too, when I'm teaching all day!"

"And I'll work in it, too!"

"We-ll—perhaps some of the very easiest work."

"I love to plant seeds! And, oh sprinkling with the hose is such fun. Can't you just hear it now, plopping and pattering and how the garden will just smile! Oh, Jackie boy!"

"You bet! And the flowers—I don't know their names, but I know you'll have some—they'll brighten things up, and there'll be the peas and the potatoes and radishes and the lettuce and the carrots and the beets, and the cucumbers and, oh, Madge, think we can have a few pumpkin vines? Pies, you know! Mmmmmmm!"

"We'll be married in March, dear! What day?"

"Oh, Jack late April will be quite soon enough!"

"No, Madge, March! I'll have the Easter vacation then. I can manage to have 10 days at least. We can go to New York or even Washington if you prefer that. I'm told it's fine in Washington the latter part of March—really summerlike."

"Oh, Jack, I can't get ready so soon!"

"Give up your office position and go to getting ready now!"

"Jack dear, I can't! I must have time to earn more money. I want to get such lots of things—things for the—the house, you know! You know, dear, I've only myself to look to for the 'wherewithal' as grandfather used to call it."

"You'll have me to look to, and—"

"But not till we're—married! And I won't come to you empty-handed, Jack—I won't!"

"But I want you empty-handed! I want you now! I want—"

Nothing so sudden had ever happened to Jack Mariner. He was alone in the boarding house parlor, with a diamond sparkling on the floor in front of him. Like a man in a dream he picked it up. Then he smiled. Of course, it would be all right in the morning. He would call for her, as usual, and they would go to work together, and he went home and slept.

But in the morning when he called for Madge, the landlady met him at the door with the announcement that Miss Allen had gone. No, not just gone to her work—gone away! Just paid up and left. No work left.

At the end of the month he had put the pretty suburban cottage that he had bought into the hands of an agent. A little later, tired of the familiar faces, he gave up his rooms and took others, in another part of the city. He found, however, that faces were just as tiresome there!

The months went by. The Easter vacation passed. April—May was far along. It was beautiful weather for gardening. But—"Oh, what's the use!" he exclaimed leaning listlessly on his bedroom sill early one evening and looking out over the back yards.

Suddenly he sat upright, alert. For several weeks he had noticed a roof garden on an ell roof of the house opposite his own lodging, but had never seen anyone working there. It was a roof which, by some happy quirk, had the sun nearly all day, and the garden was almost miraculously "forward." But not until today, after a week of a moist warmth had he noted what was growing there. He had not happened to look out during the week, and that green things had leaped up like Jack's beanstalk. In one box some cheerful looking leaves shone vividly under the late rays of the sun. Jack Mariner leaned out of the window and stared. "Pumpkin vines!" he breathed.

It was a long shot, he admitted to himself, but was worth trying. Pumpkin vines were certainly unusual in a roof garden. He siezed his hat. In about five minutes he was ringing the bell of the house with the ell. Queer, how happy he felt.

"Yessir, she's in," cheerfully answered the little maid who came to the door. "Step right in, sir. She's right there in the parlor, sir!"

There was no escape! The parlor door was open and he saw her.

"Madge! To find you! Why—" Oh, yes, she tried to be dignified and distant, but it was no use—no use whatever. "Forordination" had got to work again! The house was too small for their happiness. They strolled out together into the sweet spring evening. Such an evening!

"Maybe the house isn't let or sold yet, Madge! It wasn't a day or two ago. Let's take a car out."

"Oh, let's!" said Madge.

It seemed too good to believe that the "For Sale or To Let" sign was still up. Jack removed it with a triumphant twist!"

"It's not too late for the garden, either!" he chortled.

"And we can have my boxes brought! I've such lots of things started! Peas and beets and carrots and radishes and cucumbers and—"

"And pumpkins!" climaxed Jack. It was getting dusk, too dusk for blushes to be seen. Anyway, her face was hidden. "Jack!" in a muffled voice.

"Yes, wonderful girl!"

"Jack dear, would you think it very awful if I told you that I planted the garden on purpose!"

"I don't suppose you did it wholly by accident, girlie."

"I mean I saw you at your window when you first came there and—and I started the garden as soon as I could! I started some of the things—the pumpkins specially—on the kitchen window sill. The landlady is so good. And when I got to working on the roof I never got up courage to let you see me—I worked early before I went to the office, and I had to go pretty early in my new place. But oh, I was so afraid you'd go away. At best I only dared hope you'd see them when they blossomed—or even perhaps not even till they were ripe! And that would have been so long! And oh, Jackie, I don't think I could have stood it much longer! You looked so lonesome when I saw you at the window sometimes!"

"It was a great scheme—that pumpkin wireless. Will tomorrow be too soon for the wedding?"

"Not a bit, Jack"—Detroit News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The new Bourbon Pretender to the French throne is Jean Pierre Clement Marie, Duke of Guise, a first cousin of the late Pretender, the Duke of Orleans. Both were great-grandsons of Louis Philippe. The father of the Duke of Orleans was the Count of Paris and the father of the Duke of Guise was the Duke of Chartres. The Count of Paris and the Duke of Chartres, who were brothers, came to the United States with their uncle, the Prince de Joinville and all three fought on the union side during the early period of the war between the states. The Duke of Guise is now in his 52nd year. He was married to his cousin, Princess Marie Isabelle of France, in 1899. The new Pretender has two sisters, one of whom married Prince Waldemar of Denmark, while the other became the wife of the Duke of Magenta.

Stories That Recall Others

A Slide for Life

One day last summer as a couple was enjoying an automobile ride through a section of hills and ravines it was with wonder that they noticed a man climbing out from beneath a clump of thickly foliaged shrubs.

Immediately they stopped their car and anxiously inquired of the stranger. "What do you think you are doing?"

How to Get One

She had come to the school from the country with splendid recommendations. She was initiated into one of the sororities but her taste for men was striking for she was immediately and repeatedly seen in company with the school joke. But to the ill advised comments of her sisters she was invulnerable. "You could have gotten him, too," she told them, "if you had just coquetted him as I did."

From Small Beginnings

"Sam" Jones, the Welsh Boy, a Remarkable Mayor

"Do others before they do you," is the motto that many people seem to believe in, but it is not the motto that "Sam" Jones took for himself. In his work as a business man and as mayor of the city of Toledo, Ohio, he set forward again and again for the guidance of all, that beautiful old rule, "Whatsoever ye would that men do unto you, do ye even so unto them." It is the following that rule that made him so successful a man, and that brought him into prominence before the American people.

Like his father and mother, he was born in Wales, where the family had a humble home. The opportunities in Wales were so few, and the needs of the family were so many that the father decided to go, bag and baggage, to the United States. "Sam" Jones was only a small child when he shared the discomforts of the cheap quarters of a slow-going vessel, but he heard from his people so often the story of that weary voyage that he remembered it vividly.

In the United States money was not to be found without great difficulty. There was little if any time for schooling or for amusement. The boy was put to work earning money as soon as he was strong enough to do work of any kind. He lived through those hard days without losing his good spirit but he never forgot the hardships he experienced, and he resolved to do what he could to make life easier for others.

When he grew old enough to leave home and go out into the world for himself he drifted into the Pennsylvania oil fields, where work was likely to be found. In searching for work "Sam" Jones found a fortune. Beginning at first as an assistant to others, he ended by becoming an owner of oil wells, and an employer of others. From the very first he remembered his hardships and tried to make friends of his workmen. When he invented a patent oil pump and set about its manufacture he made every person in his employ a sort of partner. He saw to the living conditions of all; he gave allowances of extra money to all; he provided for amusement and recreation and the protection of the family. His influence naturally went far beyond his own factory, and reforms elsewhere. As a result, he was made mayor of Toledo, and in that position also applied his principles. He himself had suffered, and he wished to help others.

How I Get My Week's Wash Snow White —without a washboard!

I HAVE a way of washing that makes my clothes whiter, sweeter, cleaner than they have ever been before—in half the time, with half the work. And this method actually saves the clothes—and my hands, too!

I just soak my whole week's wash for an hour or two, or sometimes I put it to soak the night before, in rich Rinso suds. Then I rinse the clothes in clear water — and they come out spotless, cleaner than I could rub them. Yet I don't even touch a washboard. Rinso does all the work—loosens the dirt so that it floats away in rinsing. I don't even have to boil the clothes, because Rinso whitens and sterilizes without boiling.

Since using Rinso my hands are white, soft and smooth instead of parboiled from bar-soap scrubbing. And I find that my clothes last much longer, because I don't have to rub them threadbare against a washboard. I just rub cuffs, hems, collars, etc., gently between my fingers—and all the ground-in dirt vanishes. It's wonderful. Ask your grocer today for

WEDDINGS
Bresnahan-Corcoran

At a nuptial high mass at Sacred Heart church, Taftville, Monday morning at 8 o'clock, the pastor Rev. U. O. Bellerose united in marriage Miss Mary Corcoran of Hunters avenue and Neil Bresnahan of Norwich, in the presence of many relatives and friends of the young couple. The bride was gowned in blue georgette crepe with hat to match, and carried Killarney roses. Her maid, Miss Elizabeth Corcoran, a sister, wore bois de rose crepe, with hat to match and carried Ophelia roses and carnations.

A reception and breakfast was held after the ceremony at the bride's home. There were many beautiful gifts. The bride's gift to her maid was a rosary, and the groom presented his best man, Patrick Sheen, gold cuff links. He gave his bride pearls and the bride presented the groom a diamond stick pin.

Mrs. Bresnahan is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Corcoran, and is popular in the younger set of the village. The groom is also well known in this locality and is employed by the water department of the city of Norwich. Following a wedding tour, they will be at home to their friends in a newly furnished apartment on Twelfth street.

Le Clair-Boisvert

Henry LeClair and Mrs. Marie Louise Boisvert, both of South Third avenue, were united in marriage Monday morning at 10:30 at the rectory of Sacred Heart church, Taftville, by the pastor, Rev. U. O. Bellerose. They were unattended. The bride wore a brown ensemble suit trimmed with fur. Later there was a wedding breakfast for members of the immediate families at the bride's home. Mr. LeClair is employed as a truck driver for the Ponemah Mills. After a wedding trip to Springfield, Mass., the happy couple will reside on South C street.

Lukowski—Stefanowski

Frank J. Lukowski of No. 98 Hobart avenue and Miss Helen Stefanowski of Occum were united in marriage Monday morning at 8 o'clock by Rev. Frederick H. DesSureault at a nuptial high mass in St. Joseph's church, Occum. Many relatives and friends of the couple were present and the altar was beautifully decorated with Easter flowers. Among the guests were people from Long Island, New Britain, Hartford, New London, Stamford and other places.

The best man was Walter A. Lukowski, a brother of the groom, and the maid of honor was Miss Rose Kalinowski. The bridesmaids were Misses Gladys Lawton and Frances Stefanowski and the ushers were John Swierupski and Frank Stefanowski.

The bride was charmingly gowned in poudre blue georgette with tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was gowned in poudre blue georgette and carried a shower bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were also charmingly gowned and carried bouquets.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The home was prettily decorated. The bride received many beautiful wedding gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and the bride's gift to the groom was a pair of white gold cuff links.

During the day the bride and groom left for a wedding tour to New York city and Long Island and on their return will make their home on Union street, this city. The bride is the daughter of Frank and Mary Stefanowski and is a graduate of Stamford high school. The groom has been employed as a foreman at the plant of the Union Paperboard company and is the son of Mr and Mrs. Joseph Lukowski. He attended the Natick high school, Natick, R. I. The many friends of the bride and groom extend them hearty good wishes for a happy married life.

Hussey—Peloquin.

At St. Mary's church Monday morning at 8 o'clock, Samuel J. Hussey of No. 85 Broad street and Miss Rosanna M. Peloquin of No. 26 Fowler avenue were united in marriage by Rev William A. Keefe, rector of the church. Only relatives and immediate friends of the family were present. The church was prettily decorated with palms, ferns and Easter lilies and Mrs. William A. Murphy presided at the organ. There were vocal solos by Miss Elinor Donovan, Miss Lucy Woods and Edward T. Connelly.

The best man was Walter J. Hussey brother of the groom, and the bridesmaid was Miss Rita Peloquin, a sister of the bride. The bride was charmingly gowned in white ivory satin with a veil of tulle caught with old Irish lace and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies. The bridesmaid was gowned in honeydew georgette with hat to match and carried Ophelia roses.

Following the wedding ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peloquin, No. 26 Fowler avenue, and during the day the bride and groom left for an extensive wedding trip. On their return they will be at home to their many friends after May 1st in a newly furnished apartment, No. 10 River avenue. The bride's traveling gown is of poudre blue ensemble with squirrel trimmings. She received many beautiful and useful gifts.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peloquin, is a graduate of St. Mary's school and a graduate of the Jewett business college. She has been employed for several years as stenographer at the office of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce. Mr Hussey is the son of Mr. and Mrs John A. Hussey and attended the Norwich Free Academy. He is employed as a carpenter. Both the bride and groom are well known and popular with their many friends who wish them happiness and prosperity in their future life.

ADVISES WATER BOARD TO DO WORK LAYING PIPE IN TOWN LIMITS

At the regular monthly meeting of the court of common council held Monday evening in the council chamber, Mayor Milo R. Waters expressed the opinion that the board of water commissioners should lay their own pipes within the town limits, in connection with the construction of the Deep River brook reservoir. This the mayor pointed out would give employment to many local men who are out of work at the present time. He favored employment of local men, thus leaving the money in Norwich, rather than letting the pipe laying work out at contract to out of town concerns.

The meeting was called to order at 8:15 o'clock by His Honor, Mayor Milo R. Waters, and the minutes of the previous meeting were accepted without reading according to custom. Return of the notice of order for the payment of the sewer assessments recently voted was accepted, after which the meeting proceeded to the disposal of petitions. They were disposed of as follows:

Petitions Presented

From W. A. J. Sinay, No. 55 Spring Garden avenue, for a catch basin at the corner of Woodmansee avenue and Spring Garden avenue to be raised to a level with the sidewalk; referred to the public works committee with power.

ALEXANDER JORDAN
New Appointment as Park Commissioner

From Joseph Lorello, for permission to connect his premises, No. 354-340 Boswell avenue with the public sewer in Boswell avenue; referred to the public works committee.

From John A. Holland, for a sidewalk grade on Asylum street, westerly side, from Starr street to the bridge at the foot of Sherman street; referred to the public works committee with power.

From Philip Baumgartner, et al., for a catch basin and drain on Russell road; referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

From John C. Donovan, et. al., for removal of trees in front of No. 72 Oak street, No. 15 Hamlin street and No. 56 Oak street; referred to the street commissioner and public works committee.

From John C. Donovan for a drain and two catch basins in Linden parkway, so as to drain the surface water in the pond nearby; referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

From Dennis V. Kerouack, asking for improvements on St. Regis avenue, including a drain and the filling in of holes in the street; referred to the public works committee.

From Aleck Kashell asking that a tree in front of No. 154 Central avenue be trimmed; referred to the public works committee.

From T. M. Shields, et. al., asking that Hickory be included in the estimates a sum sufficient to provide for a tarbound macadam on Crescent street from Broad street to Broadway; referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

From Park Congregational church society for a sidewalk grade on the easterly side of Broadway from Williams avenue to Rockwell street; referred to the public works committee.

Petition for the improvement of Boswell avenue to provide for a macadam road referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

Monthly reports of the street commissioner and city treasurer were received and accepted.

The public works committee reported that they had investigated the petition of Joseph Lorello for permission to connect his premises on Boswell avenue with the sewer in Boswell avenue and recommended that the petition be granted. The recommendation was adopted by the council.

Vote Sums Authorized

The finance committee presented resolutions authorizing the appropriating of $4,000 for oiling and sprinkling the city streets for the remainder of the city's fiscal year and $16,000 for the general expenses of the public works department for the remainder of the fiscal year and authorizing the borrowing of the money. The resolutions were adopted. These sums ward authorized at the special city meeting on March 15th.

The quarterly report of the fire marshal and the quarterly cash statement of the water department were received and accepted.

Parking Changes Proposed

The police commissioners presented recommendations which if adopted will prohibit parking on a section of Chestnut street and in front of the Otis library on the southerly side of Union square.

It is proposed to amend the traffic ordinances adopted Dec. 1, 1924 by providing that there shall be no parking of any kind on the southerly side of Union square in front of the Otis library building premises between Broadway and the cross-walk from the entrance to the Otis library to the entrance to the court house building; also, to prohibit parking on Chestnut street alongside the city barn and on Bath street in front of the city barn, except for vehicles owned by the city or used in the work of said public works department. A fine of not exceeding $50 is the penalty for violations.

Report On Sewer Costs

The public works committee reported that the sewers in Orchard street, Mowry avenue and Oakridge street have been completed. The cost of the sewers is given as follows:

Oakridge street sewer, $8,697.51; Mowry street sewer, $1,797.19; Orchard street sewer, $1,363.11. Along with the report the following resolutions were submitted and a hearing was set for 7:30 p. m. on May 3rd:

Resolved—That the following named persons are or may be especially benefitted in their lands by the layout and construction of a sewer in Oakridge street from Boswell avenue to a point in front of the premises Nos. 35 and 36 Oakridge street, opposite or near their respective lands, to wit:

Northerly side of Oakridge street—Daniel Izzarelli, Elizabeth Bowen Dailey, Timothy Connolly, Fred Schneider, Frank G. Gelino and Fanny Gelina, Jan Danilowics, Sergej Pobol and Anna Pobol, Mary Duggan, Catherine S. Lumsden, Elias J. A. Courey and Shadan Courey.

Southerly side of Oakridge street—Herman H. Rosiene, and Clara E. Rosiene, Dominick Wojciechowski and Katarzyna Smurkowska, Anastasia Counihan, Augusta Levitsky, Delia Sliss, Antony Domelseky, and Rosalia Domelsesky.

Resolved—That the following named persons are or may be especially benefitted in their lands by the layout and construction of a sewer in Mowry avenue from Roosevelt avenue to a point nearly in front of the premises No. 54 Mowry avenue opposite or near their respective lands, to wit:

Northeasterly side of Mowry avenue—Harriet E. Palmer Douglass and John W. Bowker, William J. Carroll, William J. Dilworth, John Page, William H. Dempski and Ida Dempski.

Southwesterly side of Mowry avenue—The Peck McWilliams company, Gilbert A. Church, Jessie Gibson.

Resolved—That the following named persons are or may be especially benefitted in their lands by the layout and construction of a sewer in Orchard street from Baltic street to a point nearly in front of the premises Nos. 17 and 18 Orchard street, opposite or near their respective lands, to wit:

Northerly side of Orchard street—Fred Zerull and Mary P. Zerull, Eliza A. Fells, James Dennis.

Southerly side of Orchard street—Lucia Quarto, Elise Boyer, Thomas Vitagliano and Pasqualina Vitagliano.

Milo R. Waters, Henry Gebrath, Nicholas J. Spellman and Maurice Looby are constituted the committee to conduct the sewer hearings and to report said proposed assessment to the court of common council for its action thereon.

The report was accepted and the resolutions adopted. On recommendation of the public works committee the council, with reference to the petition of the Connecticut company for permission to relocate its poles on Franklin street from the square to Boswell avenue, voted to hold a hearing on the matter at the next council meeting, May 3rd.

Claims Presented

Two claims were received as follows:

From Charles A. Dowsett, No. 6 Walnut street, for injuries received in a fall on Cliff street, February 15th. Claimant claims he stumbled on a raised water shutoff on the sidewalk. Claim was referred to the corporation counsel and finance committee.

From W. K. Tingley, M. D., who presented a bill for $13.05 for repairs to his machine which received a broken spring March 9 on Boswell avenue. Referred to the finance committee and corporation counsel.

The council received and accepted an invitation from C. W. Pearson, secretary of Norwich council, No. 309, U. C. T. to attend a joint meeting of the U. C. T. and courts of common council of Norwich and New London at the Mohican hotel, New London, evening of April 15th. This is a meeting similar to the one held recently in this city and aims for the development of the Thames river valley.

The following resolution was presented to the council for adoption:

RESOLVED, That the vote of the board of water commissioners of the City of Norwich as follows: "Voted, That a contract be awarded to the two lowest bidders," adopted by the board of water commissioners of the City of Norwich at a meeting of said board held April 2nd 1926 be approved by this court of common council insofar as it may apply to the laying of pipe outside the limits of the town of Norwich to the new reservoir to be constructed by the city on the Deep River watershed in the town of Colchester; and be it further resolved that the board of water commissioners be and they are hereby advised by this court of common council to continue the laying of that part of the pipe line to said new reservoir that is within the limits of the town of Norwich in the same manner as it has been started by said board of water commissioners and not by contract; and be it further resolved that the clerk transmit to the board of water commissioners of the City of Norwich notice of the adoption of this resolution by the court of commos council.

Mayor Speaks For Motion

Just before action was taken on the resolution Mayor Waters took occasion to call attention to the fact that the city is spending a million dollars on the construction of the new reservoir and that he does not favor outside concerns laying the pipe within the town limits. The mayor called attention to the existing unemployment in the city and said there are a number of men in the city who can be employed on the work. I believe the water department should continue as they started and lay their own pipes within the town limits. He said he feels that this should be done even if it does cost a little more than by letting the work out on contract. The mayor said that outside concerns would take the money from Norwich and he expressed the opinion that the money should be used in Norwich and that local labor be used in laying the pipe.

Councilman Lee Clegg wanted to know if the water department could give any idea of the cost of laying the pipe in this manner. He was informed that last fall, when the work was started, and when the men had to work standing in water, with pumps going to keep the ditch dry, the cost was about $5 a foot. Councilman Frank H. Quimley, who imparted this information, said he believes that under present weather conditions the cost can be cut to $3 a foot.

The resolution was then adopted.

Park Commissioners Appointed

Mayor Waters announced his appointments of Harry M. Land and Alexander Jordan as park commissioners for three years from April 1st.

Mr. Jordan is a new appointee to the board, succeeding James C. Macpherson while Mr. Land is re-appointed to succeed himself.

Bills were approved as follows:

Police, $5,863.87; water, $3,271.59; fire, $7,879.96; cemetery dept. $420.00; finance dept. $13,049.73; park dept. $259.75; gas and electric dept. $54,647.10; Deep River reservoir, $4,463.30; public works dept., regular bills, $11,237.45.

The council adjourned about 8:45 o'clock.

MUSIC ASSOCIATION HOLDS ITS CLOSING PROGRAMME

Julius Risman, violinist, and Paul Bregor as pianist and accompanist were the artists who presented an excellent programme in Monday night at Slater hall annex for the final meeting for the season of the Norwich Music association. Their programme opened with the Kreutzer Sonata by Beethoven which was rendered with brilliance and finish. Mr. Risman followed this with a Kornkold Suite of four numbers which he played fine expression and understanding. The selections were Song in Bridal Array, Grotesque, Funeral March, Garden Scene and Hornpipe.

Mr. Bregor contributed four piano numbers which were gems of the evening's programme. His numbers were Prelude in D minor (Rachmaninoff), Gavot in A flat minor (Scambati), Scherso in B flat minor (Chopin).

The concluding numbers were violin selections by Mr. Risman which gave his audience rare pleasure. These were Ave Maria (Schubert-Wilhelmj), Short Story (Gershwin-Dushkin), Tambourin Chinois (Kreisler), concluding one of the finest programmes that this association has enjoyed this season.

At this was the annual meeting, the reports for the year were made by Mrs. Allyn L. Brown, secretary and William H. Collins, treasurer.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Frederick H. Cranston; vice president, Henry J. LaFontaine; treasurer, William H. Collins; secretary, Mrs. Olive Roberts.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH MEETINGS ARE HELD

At the annual meeting of the Church of the Good Shepherd (Universalist) which was held Monday evening at 7.30 at the church reports were presented and Mrs. C. A. Gager was elected church clerk and Miss Hattie Fowler church treasurer.

This was followed by the annual parish meeting at which Charles W Barnes was chairman and Walter A Bussey clerk.

The following were elected: Clerk, Walter A. Bussey; treasurer, John H Bell; trustees, W. A. Bussey, J. A Peck (one year); Miss Bertrice Green, Mrs. W. B. Young (two years), Charles W. Barnes, Sumner W. Armstrong (three years); collectors, Sumner W. Armstrong, W. A. Bussey, John H. Bell; collector of pledges, Charles W. Parsons; auditor, A. L. Comstock; delegates to state convention, Mrs. C. B. Woodworth, Mrs. Nellie Bailey with privilege of substitution.

The annual reports were given, all showing an encouraging year of activity and a promising outlook for the year to come.

The department reports were given as follows: Sunday school, Miss Jessie E. Hill; Young People's Christian union, Miss Virginia Disque; Women's Mission circle, Mrs. W. B. Young; Ladies' Aid society, Mrs. Thomas Wilson.

In conclusion, the pastor, Rev. A. N. Foster, summed up a report for the year and all reports were accepted and approved as presented.

PAGEANT WAS GIVEN AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A pageant entitled "The Living Christ" was finely given at the evening service Sunday at the First Baptist church with the assistance of the choir. The scenes of the pageant were given in five parts: Jesus wins love of friends, the faith of His disciples, Jesus' power changes men, Jesus' Spirit Gives Zeal, spirit of Christianity.

Those taking the characters in the presentation were the following:

Salome, Marguerite Copeland; Joanna, Celeste Copeland; Mary, Mazie Stamm; Angel, Althea Lewis; Peter, Oliver Hargraves; John, Marvin Leffingwell; James, Alfred Lillibridge; Thomas, Lawrence Browning; Jonas, Lloyd Rathbun; Cleopas, Albert Brand; Saul (Paul) Herbert Nielsen; First Companion, John Rogers; Second Companion, Oliver Hargraves; Festus, Lawrence Browning; Agrippa, Mervin Leffingwell; Bernice, Mildred Tucker; Witnesses, Alice Sandberg, Edna Sandberg, Thelma Marsh; spirit of Christianity, Mrs. Grace Langlois; Guard, Thomas Farrell; Evangels: Courage, Doris Pulsifer; Confidence, Edith Pulsifer; Mercy, Olive Rathbun; Healing, Edna Jones; Peace, Ellen Snow; Love, Myrtle Greiner; Spirit of Youth, Ellen Nielsen; Spirit of the Cross, Lucinda Howard; Spirit of the Flag, Gladys Thornes; Soloist, Marion Browning.

RHO ALPHA MU IN 41ST ANNUAL BANQUET

The 41st annual banquet of Delta chapter of Rho Alpha Mu, the oldest fraternity at the Norwich Free Academy, was held Monday evening at seven o'clock at the Wauregan hotel when present and alumni members of the fraternity enjoyed a delightful reunion as they discussed the following menu that was served:

Hearts of Celery — Queen Olives
Grapefruit Cardinal
Vegetable Soup
Roast Philadelphia Capon, Stuffed
Cranberry Sauce
Rosette Potatoes — June Peas
Fruit Salad
French Bread
Ice Cream — Assorted Cakes
Coffee

Charles E. Sargent was toastmaster and, the speaker of the evening was Weston C. Pullen, one of the alumni members, while others to speak were Clayton D. Sharples, Frank L. Mousley upon "School Activities" and Alfred Anderson upon "Initiations". The arrangements were successfully carried out by the committee consisting of Charles E. Sargent, Frank L. Mousley, Donald A. Gilbert, F. Samuel Wilcox, Jr., Clayton D. Sharples and Jesse E. Armstrong.

CHANGES IN EFFECT IN AUCTION BRIDGE RULES

The new code of laws governing the play of auction bridge, compiled by joint committees of the leading bridge organizations, went into effect Monday. The drastic change in the honor count and alteration of the laws governing revokes are the principal changes.

Geoffrey Mott-Smith, associate of Wilbur C. Whitehead, who collaborated with Mr. Whitehead in the preparation of the latter's new book on the game, explains the changed honor count and suggests that it might prove an opening wedge in agitation for the abolition of honor scoring.

Mr. Mott-Smith said:

"Special interest attaches to the new code of laws for two reasons: First, because of the changes in the laws themselves, and second, because for the first time in the history of bridge-playing in America a code of laws has been produced by a consensus instead of by the single club whose laws have hitherto been accepted as authoritative.

"As in past years, the actual writing of the laws was left to the Whist club of New York, but the provisions of the present code were the outcome of extended discussion by committees from the Whist club, the Knickerbocker Whist club and the American Whist league. On February 6 representatives of these committees met in joint conference for a final revision of the tentative codes that had been advanced.

Suit Honors Uniform

"The outstanding change in the new code is the new honor count, making uniform for all suits the scoring of suit honors. Proposals have frequently been made in the past to make the value of honors the same for all suits. The logic back of this idea is that in effect the honor score is a potential offset against possible loss from overbidding and being set. Since the penalty for a set is the same whatever the declaration—fifty points per trick, undoubled—there is no logical reason why the value of the honors should differ with each suit.

"Since the immutable 'task' whereby this new honor count was published in advance of the release date, the 'Auction Bridge Bulletin,' as well as the various authorities connected with formulating the laws, has been deluged with letters. It may be said that the inauguration of any change augurs well for that happy day when the authorities will face courageously the question, 'Should honors be counted at all?'

Explains Revoke Change

"The second principal change under the new code is in the revoke penalty—one of the few penalties actually enforced in the 'social bridge' played in most circles. The 50-point penalty and declarer's choice between this penalty and the taking of two tricks have both been abolished. Now the penalty is two tricks straight, for either side, and these tricks are treated precisely as though won in actual play.

"The change leaves the revoke penalty no more nor less severe than formerly. While a straight penalty of two tricks for the adversaries is more severe against the declarer than 50 points in the honor column, still if he can stand the loss he has the compensating privilege of being able to score for tricks.

"The purpose of the change in the penalty, therefore, appears to be to make it uniform and avoid the confusion that formerly arose from the existence of an option when the adversaries of declarer revoked—an option that many players would try to exercise when the declarer revoked.

"The anomalous reversals of rank in the cards when drawing for deal and seats have been ironed out, the cards and suits now ranking the same in drawing as in play. The ace is always high; spades are always high. But a reversal has been made, for now the high instead of the low wins the choice.

"The word 'auction' has at last been admitted to polite usage. The bidding was formerly called 'the declaration,' the word 'auction' evidently being barred as too shoppy a word. The new laws define the bidding as 'the auction,' at last giving the title of the game an evident raison d'etre.'

Other Penalties Simplified

"Other changes in the laws clarify and simplify the penalties for errors in procedure, and also cover situations heretofore left to particular legislation by card committee. A welcome amelioration has been made in the penalty for exposing a card during the auction. The partner of the offender was obliged to pass forever after. Now this extreme penalty is enforceable only if the card is as high as a ten-spot.

"Another departure is the permitting of the examination of the last trick even though turned and quitted, by a side that has not led or played to the succeeding trick. This change goes hand in hand with permitting a revoke to be claimed immediately instead of at the end of a hand."

Gargle Aspirin for Tonsilitis or Sore Throat

A harmless and effective gargle is to dissolve two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in four tablespoonfuls of water, and gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets for few cents.

Now You Can End Constipation In 10 Days or Less

We Mean The Chronic Kind — The Habitual Kind That Calls For Daily Purging—Guaranteed, Too

Now what do you think, good folks? Remember we told you the other day in this paper about McCoy's Rinolin and how in ten days it would conquer the most stubborn kind of constipation and after that the bowels would function normally and regularly.

Remember how we invited all who wanted to get rid of constipation and that vicious habit of taking salts and violent cathartics to go to Lee & Osgood Co. or any drug store and get a bottle of Rinolin with the distinct understanding that it would do just what we said it would do or money back.

A whole lot of people must read this paper, because hardly before the ink is dry on our notice of invitation druggists in this city and towns nearby commenced to have a brisk demand for this effective Emulsion.

And best of all—according to the druggists—everyone who bought seems satisfied and of course they are, for McCoy's Rinolin was tried on thousands of slaves of habitual constipation before it was offered direct through druggists to the people. And how do you think it established regular bowel movements? The answer is simple; It overcame the chronic condition by thoroughly cleaning the walls of the intestines of all accumulated deposits and toxins which prevented active and normal peristalsis—no other preparations have been able to do this.

Besides that—it lubricated and put tone into the entire intestinal track so that it will be many a day before these now happy people will think of purgatives again.

Without active peristalsis, the bowels cannot function properly.—McCoy's Rinolin increases the peristaltic action. Rinolin tonight—Pep tomorrow.

SUSIE TAKES IN CHECKER TOURNEY AT DUWELL CLUB ROOMS LAST WEEK

Susie besides struggling through a long list of votes for mayor found time to attend the Eastern Connecticut checker tournament at the Duwell club last week and writes as follows:

Dear Sports:

Gosh, yours truely is sure what is called the well known wreck, and I am on the ragged edge of nervous prostestion, if you know what I mean. And it's all 'cause of that darned Eastern Connecticut checker championship. Gosh, I never saw nothin' like it and I hope the good Lord don't let me see a nother one, my constitution couldn't stand the strain. Say didja ever sit in church and have a ticklin' feelin' in your nose and wanta sneeze but didn't dare? Or did something the preacher say make you wanta laff but you dasn't? Well, if you ever did know just how I felt watchin' them slow motion checker players.

Me and the boy friend attends them checkers doin's seein's how they ain't chargin' no admissions. The boy friend is gettin' pretty Scotchy lately and hates to loosen up on any of his shekels. Seein' how it didn't cost us nothin' I guess we got our money's worth all right, but we didn't get no more'n that. Me an' the boy friend breezes over to the East Side all het up over thinkin' we is goin' to see something excitin' but believe me, a checker contest is the flattest tire that ever come outa Akron, O., and then some. If your lookin' for kicks don't never go near no checker tite 'cause the only kick you get is kicked out. No, I didn't get kicked out but it warnt my fault 'cause I guess I broke all the rules of etitket when it comes to checkers.

Well, me an' the boy friend gets in and right away I sees they ain't goin' to be no cheerin' squad on them sidelines. Them checker wizards is all collected 'round the boards on which is laid 'waged-a mammoth battle of wits. As I se makin' for a ringside seat I happens to kick over a chair and in that deathly silence it sounds like the Woolworth tower had fallen down. They is a chorus of sh-sh-sh-sh-shes and I starts to ask who they think they is shaine whep that Pedro feller taps me on the shoulder and says if I don't make less commotion I'm gunna get out. I sees there's gunna be gonna have a wild time.

We takes our seats and right in front of us is a coupla fellers what is just goin' to tangle brains on the boards. They hauls outta pack o' cards and starts to cut 'em. I turns to the boy friend and says this ain't no checker match, they is gonna play pitch or pinacle. Then somebody starts shaming me again so I sh. I finds they ain't gonna play cards but is cuttin' for first play. Them cards has got a lotta number on 'em like the combination to a safe but they don't mean nothin' to us morons. Well when they get goin' I thinks there's goin' to be some action but they ain't. That turtle and rabbit handicap what we hear so much about was the world's greatest speed contest side of them checker pushers.

One feller moves a checker all the time lookin' at the other feller like he was seein' right through him. The other watches the move with a gaze like cat watchin' a mouse. After the move is complete they both look at each other then at the checker board and then back at each other again. No, they don't say nothin' to each other just look that's all. They looked like coupla cats that's all set for a fight and are eying each other just before the fur flies. But there ain't no flyin' in checkers, nothin' but dirty looks flyin' in my direction when I coughs or speaks to the boy. This snail movin' checker drama goes on for a half hour, seems like coupla weeks to me, when one feller cops three of the other fellers men in one move. Gosh I can't refrain from a cheer so I says "Atta boy, old timer," but I is speedily abased into silence. Finally they declare the match a draw and starts over again. Gosh, but it's a exciting game.

The only kick I got outa the game was when two fellers after every each other for 'bout half a hour decides it's a draw. The other feller says "You derned fool, it's been a draw for the last 20 minutes." Gosh that was sure rough talk for a checker player and if I'd been referee I'd have disqualified the feller for unnecessary roughness. Well, we sits and watches for a time, me feelin' like I was goin' to bust the silence in that it'ngle was so heavy.

When it comes time for the wizards to lay off the game and feed up I pays let's get out but the boy friend says he wants to hear the orchestra. Well, I thinks that may help take the strain offa my nerves but I don't no, after I hear the openin' overshoe. If that collection of instruments is a orchestra then I'm one of Georgia's dancin' girls. I didn't know till I hear that orchestra that there was so many funny noises in all the world. Believe me if you wants hear some new kinds of sound you wants hear that orchestra. Even at that it ain't so bad and it was a relief after the awful quietness of the checker players. A concert by a coupla boilermakers on a big boiler would have been a welcome relief after them checker games. The orchestra plays a coupla numbers and the leader says: "Now boys we'll play Show Me the Way to Go Home." A feller what's been coaxin' some weird sounds out of a cornet pipes up and says, "Mr. Leader, I just played that last time." Gosh can you beat that but I guess it don't make no difference what he played as long as he kept blowin' into the old horn.

Well I guess it was a good time for all as them checker players was havin' a wild time. As I was goin' out some feller says how's it the best tournament he was ever in and some other feller says, yes. If these foolish rappers would only keep quiet and he looks right at me. You can believe me I gave him a dirty look and if looks could kill they'd be holdin' a wake for him and he wouldn't been the chief object of interest with everybody sayin' how natural he looks there, but it was a relief to get outa that chamber of deep silences. No I ain't never goin' to go to no more checker parties 'cause I can't stand the din it gets on my nerves.

Oh yes I almost forgot that we was runnin' a election, checkers and the renewal of the theatrical war has taken up my one way mind. To date the race is gettin' a little closer. Able is runnin' Tip Yee a close second and that China boy had better show something or he is gonna be eatin' the dust from Able's shoes. I guess Able must be out collectin' votes and tellin' what his politics are. He writ me a letter tellin' what he would do if he got elected. Gosh Able I'd like to print your letter but I don't wanta get the cops down on me. I guess Able must run a tailor's shop 'cause in his letter he says he thinks some of the uniforms on the cops outta be cleaned and pressed. The vote today stands:

Yip Yee	221
Able	194
The General	123
Tony	100
The Scribe	41
Susie	31

Gosh them women ain't standin' back of me 'cause I didn't get no more votes last week but they can't get my goat that way.

Yours as ever,

SUSIE

CELTICS HAVE BRILLIANT BASKETBALL SEASON

The Taftville Celtics have just closed their basketball season, which without a doubt was one of the best of any team in Eastern Conn., winning 13 and losing 5 games, all by very close scores. The team was badly handicapped this season because Gauthier, star of last year's team, played with the Taftville Five and later in the season was joined by Eccleston and Yerrington, who also played good basketball for the Taftville boys. When these boys could not be seen in the Celtic uniform their places were taken by two newcomers, Lefty Dugas and Lloyd Jarvis, who by next season should win a place as regulars on the team. The team started the season by being defeated by an all star team of the best in Norwich known as Red Burelle's Stars by the score of 25 to 24 and then winning four games only to be defeated by both the Bantams and the Buddies. The Plainfield Buddies was the only team that showed the fans that they were as fast as the Celtics by winning 3 out of 4 games played, winning the first 22 to 2 but the Celtics won the second by 31 to 16 score only to lose the series by being defeated on the Plainfield floor 26 to 20.

The Celtics were managed by Emile Raymond with P. Sullivan as assistant manager, and composed of the following players, Gautrier, Yerrington and Lloyd Jarvis, forwards; Pingree and St. Germaine, center; Eccleston, Phaneuf, Lamothe and Dugas guards.

Following is the record:

Celtics	Opps
24—Red's All Stars	25
38—West Side Ramblers	33
37—Nordics	11
42—Jewett City	8
48—Baltic Bantams	14
32—Baltic Bantams	21
20—Plainfield	22
36—Red's All Stars	20
31—Plainfield	16
35—Jewett City 2nds	20
48—Jewett City 2nds	18
20—Plainfield	26
50—J. W. C.	10
38—Y Emps	23
36—Battery E Westerly	14
32—Plainfield	26
26—Nordics	25
16—Baltic Stars	25

The Celtics tried to arrange a series of games with the C. F. C. team claimant of the city championship but were not successful because the C. F. C. manager wanting to tell the Taftville manager what rules they were to play when they played on the Taftville floor but in which he was not successful.

The Celtics claim the junior championship of the town of Norwich by virtue of their win over the well known Y Emps.

CHECKER PLAYERS PLEASED WITH RECENT TOURNAMENT

Those the players who participated in the recent checker tournament held at the Duwell club are very much pleased with the way the tournament was conducted and the very fine entertainment received from the Duwell club as evidenced by the letter which was written to the sports editor and signed by all the players.

In the letter the players say that many of them have competed in Boston tournaments and other tournaments in other cities but they have yet to be treated with such consideration as they received at the Duwell club rooms last Friday. They are very appreciative of the courtesy extended them as everything possible was done for their entertainment. They are indeed pleased with the refreshments served and the fine orchestra music furnished during the evening. They conclude their letter by saying that the tournament was a credit to the Duwell club and express the hope that this checker tournament will become an annual event.

ACADEMY BASEBALL SQUAD TO PRACTICE TODAY

The first outdoor baseball practice of the Academy baseball candidates will be held today providing the weather proves favorable. The Academy opens the season Saturday afternoon against the Alumni team and as the Alumni team is reported to be very strong the Academy team feels the need of as much outdoor practice as possible.

The pitchers have been getting into condition during the past few weeks in indoor workouts but the batting eyes of the team have not been sharpened owing to lack of space. The prospects this year are very bright and it would seem that the local high school boys should be well out in front in the ranking in the state at the close of the season.

ATHLETICS WIN CITY TITLE BEATING PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—(AP)—Connie Mack's Athletics by defeating the Philadelphia Nationals today 8 to 6, clinched the city championship for the American League representatives. It was the Athletics' fourth straight victory, two games of the seven game series having been won during the training period in the south.

The Phillies outhit the Athletics today, but were unable to overcome an early lead piled up by the American Leaguers.

Dyke's two bagger with the bases full in the third inning and Cy Williams' home run in the ninth with one man on base were features.

Rommel pitched the full game for the Athletics. He was hit freely but tightened in the pinches.

Score:

Phila. (Am.)	0	0	5	0	0	0	3	0	0	—8
Phila. (Nat.)	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	1	2	—6

PINEHURST, N. C., April 5.—(AP)—Arthur W. Yates, Rochester, N. Y., defending his title today led the qualifying field over the first 18 holes of the 36 of play in the annual North and South Amateur Golf tournament. His score was 36-35—71, equaling par. Nearest to Yates was C. Ross Somerville, Jr., of London, Canada, 38-36—74.

Among the first five leaders were three 17 year old aspirants for the title, George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, was one of them and had a 37-38—75. The others were Richard Wilson of Southern Pines, N. C., with a 37-38—75, and Eugene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., with a 36-40—76.

Other leaders included H. T. Curtiss, Greenwich, Conn., 39-40—79.

LIPTON ARRIVES TO CHALLENGE FOR YACHT CUP

NEW YORK, April 5.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton arrived today on the Leviathan with confirmation of his purpose to file his fifth challenge for the American cup, international yachting trophy.

Although efforts to obtain definite statements regarding the Lipton syndicate man's plans were subordinated to the ripple of good-natured interest which crossed the Atlantic with the genial challenger, the elusive sportsman admitted he had "the finest collection of cups in the world, but I'll give them all for the America's cup."

MISS WILLS DISAPPOINTS CROWD IN PARIS

PARIS, April 5.—(AP)—Helen Wills America's woman tennis champion disappointed a crowd which gathered today to witness her scheduled exhibition in the Easter covered courts tournament of the tennis club of Paris.

A telegram was received saying the American champion had delayed her departure from Italy.

Miss Wills now is expected to play play in Milan tomorrow and Wednesday, going later to the Lake Como region for a rest.

BERLENBACH GETS DECISION OVER NEWMAN IN 10-ROUNDER AT HARTFORD

HARTFORD, April 5.—(AP)—Paul Berlenbach, of Astoria, L. I., world's light heavyweight champion, was given a decision over Ray Neuman, of Jersey City in a ten round bout here tonight. Berlenbach's title was not at stake. Berlenbach weighed 175½ and Neuman 177½.

Berlenbach won eight of the ten rounds the first being even and the sixth going to the New Jersey fighter by a shade. The light heavyweight champion hurt his right hand in the fourth round and from then did all his effective scoring with his left.

The fight failed to please the large crowd which had been aroused to an enthusiastic pitch by the sizzling semi-final in which Bobby Garcia, of Baltimore, won the decision over Johnny Drew of Worcester.

Drew clearly outboxed the Mexican in the early part of the fish but Garcia kept boring in with a two fisted show of aggressiveness that slowly wore Drew down. In the latter stages of the scrap Drew tired and Garcia jumped into the lead that brought him the decision.

Willie Lamotte, of Jersey City, won on a technical knockout from Pinkey Silverberg, of Ansonia, in the third round of what was to be an eight-round bout. His seconds threw in the towel.

In the opening bout Jack Katkisch of Pittsburgh was given the decision over Sammy Cooper of New Haven in an eight round affair. Cooper's left eye was closed tight in the first round.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

President Seabough of the Western Association, has the right idea. He has named the official scorers this year. This may result in a little more efficiency and less of the "plum" grabbing zeal that characterizes the appointment of scorers by the club presidents. Official scorers should be made to know that their business is a trifle more important than "When do I get my check?"

William F. Hutchinson, a ball player of years ago, died at Kansas City, Mo., March 19. He was 67 years old. Hutchinson pitched for Chicago under Cap Anson from 1889 to 1895, leading the old National League in effectiveness in 1891. That year he pitched in 63 games, with an average of .323. Hutchinson carried the nick-name of "Willie Bill."

Kentucky can now have Sunday baseball. Although Louisville has been winking at the old blue law for years, until last week it was against the law to participate in sports where an admission was charged on the Sabbath. It was necessary for the legislature to pass on the bill for Sunday sports over the veto of Governor Field, but the assembly put it over with lots of speed the day before adjournment.

Frank (Lerty) O'Doul is no longer with the Chicago Cubs. The reformed pitcher, who was personally purchased by Owner Wrigley of the Cubs last summer from Salt Lake, has been turned back to Bill Lane, who now controls the Hollywood club. Manager McCarthy of the National League team, decided he had too many outfielders and it is understood was none too impressed with O'Doul's throwing arm.

Hughey Jennings is coming along nicely at the sanatorium in Asheville, N. C. A representative of The Associated Press was permitted to visit him last week and he made his first statement since being confined for the rest cure. His physician said: "He is climbing the hill as rapidly as possible and his condition is very satisfactory." Jennings still hopes to be able to join the Giants later on in the season.

Scotty Perry, former Philadelphia American pitcher, who has been out of organized baseball several years, is in Dallas, where it is understood efforts are being made to get the fat boy restored to good standing. Perry was a real star for Connie Mack in 1920, but did not appreciate his job. He has found out that it is not so easy to pound out a good living outside of organized society.

DISMISSES APPEAL IN WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Judgment confirming the award and dismissing the appeal has been given by Judge C. L. Avery of the superior court in a decision handed down Monday in the workmen's compensation case of William Witchewski of this city vs. the Falls Co., in which an appeal from Compensation Commissioner J. J. Donohue was taken by the American Mutual Liability Co., of Hartford.

The case presented the unusual situation where one insurance company was carrying the Falls Co. risk at the time the employe, Witchewski, was injured, but another company, which is the appellant, was carrying the risk when the assured had to stop work, about seven months after the injury had been received. Witchewski had two toes broken when a truck ran over his foot on May 25, 1923. He was obliged to give up work Sept. 19, 1923.

When Witchewski was injured the compensation risk of the Falls Co. was with the Liberty Mutual Ins. Co. of Providence, but when he gave up work the risk was carried by the American Mutual Liability Co. of Hartford. Commissioner Donohue made a finding that the two insurance companies should pay the claim on a 50-50 basis. From this the Hartford company appealed.

In his memorandum of decision Judge Avery says:

The appeal in this case is taken by the American Mutual Liability company of Hartford, Connecticut. It appears that this company assumed the Falls company risk August 1st, 1923 and that the policy was in force on Sept. 19, 1923, when the claimant was first disabled. Said policy was also in force on Dec. 15, 1924, when claimant was disabled for the second time. That company was still carrying the risk at the time of the hearing before said commissioner.

Although the claimant was injured on May 25, 1923, it is found by the commissioner that he didn't become disabled until Sept. 19, 1923, after the date when the American Mutual Liability Insurance company assumed the Falls Co. risk, to wit, August 1st, 1923.

In Esposito vs. Marlin-Rockwell corporation our supreme court said: "A compensable injury is an injury for which compensation is payable, and the date of such an injury is not the time of the accident or occurrence causing the injury, but the time, under section 5348, when the right to compensation accrues."

General statutes, section 5406, being part D of the workmen's compensation act, provides "as between any such injured employe, or his dependent, and the insurer, every such contract of insurance shall be conclusively presumed to cover the entire liability for the insured, and no question as to breach of warranty, coverage or misrepresentation by the insured shall be raised by the insurer in any proceeding before the compensation commissioner, or an appeal therefrom."

See also sections 5369, 5370, 5371, 5372 and 5403.

As regards the claimant, the appellant may well have been held liable for the entire award. Doubtless the Liberty Mutual Insurance company is also liable jointly and severally with the appellant to pay the entire award, but as no appeal has been taken by the Liberty Mutual Insurance company, or by the claimant, but on the contrary the claimant has moved for judgment on the record, the appellant is in no way aggrieved by the award as made.

Judgment may be entered confirming the award and dismissing the appeal.

PALESTINE SHOWN IN PICTURES AT Y. M. C. A.

Most of the chairs were occupied at the 4 o'clock service at the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Sunday afternoon. The meeting was opened by the singing by the audience of "All hail the power of Jesus name". Secretary Hill read the scriptures and Emery H. Davis, the boys secretary, offered prayer. Hugh Kinder rendered as a solo the hymn "More love to Thee O Christ." The moving pictures were of real interest, including as they did a reel on Jerusalem, one on Zion City, and one on Temple Hill. The scenes pictured true to life the habits and customs of the people and many of the historical Biblical places of great interest, which brought to those who saw them pleasure and profit. An interesting reel entitled "Fleeced for gold" showed a very large sheep ranch, where thousands of sheep are raised.

During the service Secretary Hill gave a brief talk on 'Learning to love Christ more." He pictured vividly in words the sacrifices made for boys and girls by father and mother and suggested that if they would often remember these sacrifices they would have a great love for their parents. So the Christian would have a more profound respect and a deeper affection for Christ if he keeps constantly in mind the sacrifice on the Cross which was commemorated last Friday as we thought of the crucifixion.

20 MUNICIPALITIES OWN FORESTS AROUND RESERVOIRS

The State Forestry association has prepared a booklet giving details as to the amount of woodland owned by cities and towns in the state, according to this report. Twenty Connecticut cities and towns own forests about their municipal reservoirs, the total area so owned being approximately 12,000 acres. Hartford, with 4,000 acres has the largest area, while New Britain, with 2,700 acres and Bristol with 1,000, come next. The average acreage per town is 65—a trifle more than a square mile. Thirteen of the 20 towns and cities have done forest planting on their forests. Private water companies, such as those at New Haven and Bridgeport have in some cases done more planting than the cities themselves. Four cities, New Haven, Meriden, Hartford and Norwich, have large forest parks upon which forestry is practiced. The total woodland areas owned by cities and towns in the state is about 20,000 acres, this being about the same as that owned by the state itself. Connecticut cities and large villages are however, not as well supplied with public parks as they should be. Several of the cities of the state, including Danbury, Derby, Ansonia, Putnam and Farmington, have, excepting for small city squares, no public parks.

The bulletin may be obtained free through the office of the Association, 205 Prospect street, New Haven, Conn.

BISHOP MURRAY LEARNS VASTNESS OF NEW DIOCESE

Right Rev. Bishop John G. Murray of Portland, Me., formerly auxiliary bishop of the Hartford diocese and rector of St. Patrick's church, Hartford, is fast making new friends in Portland and is also striving to grasp the vastness of his new diocese, according to the Lewiston Journal.

The Journal quotes Bishop Murray as follows:—"Yes, I am beginning to have just a little idea where its parishes begin and where they leave off. Everybody has been very considerate and endeavored to aid me to get acquainted with the state. I had known for many years that Maine was a great state, but I am just beginning to grasp its size."

Continuing, the Journal says:

"Among the things which the new bishop of the diocese has done has been to secure definite information as to the bounds of all the Catholic parishes in the state. He has practically completed at Portland a map of Maine in which is shown the lines of each parish, so that he can quickly inform himself, when occasion arises, of the jurisdiction in which any event has occurred."

BOZRAH GRANGE WILL HAVE POMONA MEETING

The April meeting of New London County Pomona grange, No. 6, Patrons of Husbandry, is to be held with Bozrah grange, No. 161 on Thursday, April 15, after the morning business session, dinner will be provided by Bozrah grange.

The programme for the lecturer's hour in the afternoon has been arranged by the lecturer, Mrs. L. B. Whitham, as follows:

Address: "Our Responsibility in the Moral Situation of Our Day." Rev. Chester H. Howe, New London; Sixteen, Members of Bozrah grange, original paper, "A House or a Home by the Side of the Road". Sister Lola Croucn, Groton, musical selections, Bozrah grange; discussion of question: "That good Business Methods are of More Value to the Farmer than Great Soil Fertility," by everybody.

Rulings By Judge Brown.

On a motion by the plaintiff in the divorce suit of Annie S. L. Perkins against Edwin W. Perkins of Waterford for permission that she be permitted to withdraw her reply to the second paragraph of the defendant's answer and the a motion that the defendant be required to amend paragraph two of his answer by stating specifically how and when he paid the plaintiff as alleged in said paragraph, Judge Allyn L. Brown has handed the ruling that the reply may be withdrawn provided the motion referred to herein has been filed on or before April 8, 1926. If not the within motion stands denied.

The same ruling is made on a motion for permission to file motion to make more specific in the suit of Louis E. Perkins vs. Edwin W. Perkins and Jessie A. Clancy, a demurrer is overruled.

Give your pipe a chance!

SOME pipes were "born with two strikes on 'em." Just never had a chance to offer their best. You can judge your pipe only by the tobacco you put in it. If you haven't smoked P. A., your pipe hasn't had its chance. To those men who know the keenest pipe-enjoyment, Prince Albert stands out like a beacon of cheer on a moonless night.

Prince Albert has put pipes into the mouths of more men than any other tobacco that ever came down the pike . . . and has kept them there! Because no other tobacco is like P. A. Cool and fragrant as mountain air murmuring through the pines. Sweet as the breath of spring.

P. A. won't bite your tongue or parch your throat, because the Prince Albert process cut out bite and parch right at the outset of P. A.'s brilliant career. This means that you can hit it up with your jimmy-pipe and P. A. from the minute breakfast is over until you nestle down between the sheets at night. You not only can, but will!

If you're looking for proof, you needn't search beyond the nearest shop where they hand out smoke-gladness in tidy red tins marked "Prince Albert." Give your pipe a chance. Pack it with P. A. and light up. That first wonderful pull will tell you P. A. was simply made-to-order for you!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

BANK BUSINESS EXCUSE FREES NORWICH MAN IN NEW LONDON COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 5—Traffic offenders were among the men presented in the police court this morning. So it would appear that prosecutions did not carry the weight of prudence to automobile drivers. Meredith Lee, of Norwich, and Michael Mahaney of New London were presented, both represented that they were doing bank business, when the cases were tagged. Judge Prince fined them against farther violation of the law and they were released on penalty.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks firm; rail and public utility issues advance.
Bonds higher; French and Belgian issues extend recovery.
Foreign exchanges steady; Belgian franc higher.
Cotton lower; favorable weather.
Sugar: Steady; firmer Brazilian market.

Chicago

Wheat: Firm; bullish visible.
Corn: Barely steady; stop loss selling.
Cattle: Dull.
Hogs: Lower.

STOCK PRICES FIRM

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—Stock prices displayed a firm undertone in the market. Flurries of professional selling took place, at intervals, in supposedly vulnerable stocks, but they failed to cause unsettlement in other issues. On the other hand, bullish demonstrations were confined to a selected list of shippings, local tractions, oil, rails and public utilities.

The market showed a marked reduction in volume, total sales being 1,030,709 shares, the smallest full session this year. This was due in part, to the absence of many traders who were prolonging their Easter holiday and to the further declination of small traders and brokers to re-enter the market after a sharp decline such as occurred last month until the general trend became more clearly established.

Technical conditions showed further improvement. Despite the large deficit in bank clearings shown in last Saturday's clearing house statement, call money remained at 4 per cent., and dropped to 3½ when sums of money began to flow here from the interior institutions. Time money rates also softened due to the belief in some quarters that a period of easy rates was in prospect. The stock loan on brokers' loans, issued after March 25, closed, showed a shrinkage of $24,151 during March—a striking confirmation of the enormous liquidation of stocks during that period.

Definite abandonment of the proposed merger of the California petroleum and Texas companies started a wave of selling in some of the oil stocks, but gathered strength later on the reaction of some unusually good earnings reports and the announcements of higher gasoline prices in eastern territory. California Petroleum sold as high as 27 1-8 last Saturday was driven down to 33 1-2 and snapped back to 34 1-4, off 3-4 net. The company closed fractionally off 1/4 after moving within a narrow range. Changes in the other oil issues were largely fractional.

The preferred was in brisk demand on reports that English interests were seeking control, the stock closing at 2 points higher at 38 1-2 after touching 39 3-8. Atlantic Gulf & West Indies and New York Dock closed 2 points higher at 37 and 37 1-2 respectively.

The brisk demand for the local tractions apparently was in anticipation of more favorable consideration from the public authorities. Third Avenue advanced nearly 5 points to 38 7-8 and Interborough-Manhattan Transit and Interborough Rapid Transit each closed 2 3-4 higher at 61 1-4 and 23 1-2, respectively.

A run-in of the shorts brought about sharp rallies in Nash and Jordan motors. Substantial gains also were made by California Packing Dunham Commercial Solvents issues, Coca Cola Bottling company, Remington Typewriter, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, United Drug, Investment preferred and Western Union.

Rails were well supported with buying apparently influenced by the continued heavy car loadings. Special attention was given to the "Granger Belt" which advanced 1 to 3 points to 65 1-2 was accompanied by unconfirmed rumors of dividends to be placed on a 5 per cent. dividend basis of the eastern coalers showed a good showing.

Commodity markets were mixed. Activity futures advanced nearly 2 cents a bushel on more favorable weather reports. The sugar market was firm, with prices up 10 to 12 points on more active buying of the product in American ports.

Cotton opened at 4 1-2 per cent higher, equal to 4 per cent closing basis. Time money was unchanged at 4 1-2 per cent basis, as was 4 5-8 and 4 3-4, last week. Call money rates were unchanged at 3 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 5—(AP)—Last minute rushes in the wheat market today helped to rally corn which had fallen to a new low price record for the season. Wheat showed 1,630,000 bushels decrease in the United States visible supply total, a larger falling off than had been looked for, and there were also reports which indicated that seeding of the domestic spring wheat crop is being delayed.

Wheat closed firm, 1 3-8 to 2 cents net higher. May (new) $1.57 3-4 to $1.58 and July $1.35 5-8 to $1.35 7-8. Corn finished unchanged to 3-8c off, oats at 1-8 to 5-8c gain, and provisions a shade to 10 cents down.

Chicago wheat stocks as well as the United States visible supply showed curtailment and throughout nearly the entire day, the majority of speculators gave evidence of a distinct leaning toward the buying side of the wheat market. Only at the onset did sellers have any advantage. A transient decline then was ascribed to pressure from foreigners. Corn weakness tended also to bring about some reactions in wheat, but there proved to be of a temporary sort, with wheat afterward re-asserting leadership, especially at the last.

Most of the selling under which corn worked to new low levels was from Chicago traders, but included a considerable amount of sales due to standing orders to stop losses at various fixed limits.

Oats like wheat, were influenced by reports of delayed seeding.

Provisions reflected weakness of corn and hogs.

CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—Some irregularity developed in today's curb market, but the main trend was again upward. A jump of about 7 points in Continental Baking A, bringing it over 30 points above last week's low figure, was one of the outstanding features of the session. Trading was relatively light.

Oils failed to make much response to the announcement of higher gasoline prices in eastern territory. Vacuum closed a point lower at 99 1-2, and most of the other active issues showed fractional changes. Abandonment of the proposed merger of two large independent companies may have acted as a restraining influence.

Public utilities presented several strong spots. American Light and Traction was the leader, soaring 11 1-2 points to 218, largely on odd-lot transactions. American Power and Light advanced 2 1-2 points to 55 and Engineers Public Service and United Light and Power each closed about a point higher. Electric investors was heavy.

Backing and filling movements characterized the general industrial list, net gains of a point or more in such issues as Land Company of Florida, Foundation Company Foreign, For Theatres A and Gillette Safety Razor being counteracted by corresponding losses in Electric Refrigeration, Stromberg and Wilson company preferred (new).

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The disturbance that was central north of Nova Scotia Sunday night is now central over northern Newfoundland with increased intensity. An area of high pressure is advancing rapidly eastward over the upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the lake region.

The high pressure area now over the middlewest will move rapidly eastward to the Atlantic coast and it will be followed by an extensive area of low pressure now over the Canadian northwest and the western half of the United States. As a result, rain will fall Tuesday afternoon in southern New England, the middle Atlantic states and the northern portions of the south Atlantic and east gulf states, and snow or rain in the lower lake region, northern New York and northern New England Tuesday night or Wednesday.

The temperature will be lower Tuesday in the Atlantic states as far south as the northern portions of Georgia and South Carolina, and it will rise during Wednesday in the Atlantic states north of Virginia.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Fresh west and northwest, fair weather Tuesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh probably strong northwest shifting north and northeast, weather mostly overcast Tuesday.

Forecast

For southern New England: Fair and colder Tuesday; Wednesday rain, with slowly rising temperature.

TAFTVILLE

There was a large attendance at the morning service of the Taftville Congregational church on Sunday. Hyacinths, Easter lilies, daffodils, tulips, ferns and palms were banked in front of the chancel; flowering azaleas ornamented the choir rail, and a large bouquet of red and white carnations stood near the baptismal font. The choir, greatly enlarged for the occasion, sang two anthems, Lift Your Glad Voices (Van Ider) and Lord Over All Forever Blest (Heyser). The offertory, Hosanna (Granier) was sung by Miss Gertrude M. Young, soprano. Our Living Hope, was the topic of the sermon by the pastor, Rev. Edwin Gordon Crowdis.

The Pilgrim hymnal, recently adopted by the church was in use for the first time at this service, and hymns selected from this book were also used at the session of the church school which followed that of the morning service of the church. In the evening, the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor met at the church, the meeting being in charge of the lookout committee, and the topic considered was, Thoughts suggested by Easter.

During the afternoon, the choir furnished the music at the William W. Backus hospital in Norwich. On Monday, the flowers used in the decorations of the church were distributed to the sick and shut-ins of the parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hindle and son, Edmund H. Hindle have returned to their home on North Third avenue, after spending the holidays in Providence, R. I.

Miss Vivian Atkins of Brown university, Providence, and Elmer Atkins of New York have been spending a few days at the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Atkins of South Second avenue.

Miss Dorothy Wood of Coventry spent the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wood and family of South Second avenue.

Sacred Heart church was crowded at the four masses, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30 and 10:45 on Easter Sunday. The floral decorations of the altar and sanctuary were very beautiful, daffodils, carnations and Easter lilies being used profusely. The children's choir rang at the 8:30 mass; at the 9:30 mass the soloists were Miss Rosella Murphy and William T. Delaney, and the organist, Miss Mayrne Hasler. At the high mass, the soloists were Omer Tellier; Omer Tellier, Jr.; Mrs. Philip Dugas, Miss Laura St. George and the organist was Miss Alice Frechette. On Saturday, there was the ceremony of blessing of the Paschal candle, the Easter water and the new fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Addison of Norwich avenue have been recent guests of friends in Fall River, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tarbuck and son Wallace of Norwich avenue have been spending several days in Pawtucket.

After passing the Easter holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Mathewson of South A street; Oscar Mathewson, Jr. has returned to his home in Manchester.

A number of the members of Castle Perilous, K. O. K. A. went to Groton Sunday afternoon to assist at a public ceremonial of Castle Devonshire.

The regular monthly meeting of the G. G. club was held at the home of Miss Mildred Phillips. After a short business meeting, a buffet lunch was served by the hostess. The April Fool game was won by Miss Gladys Carlson. Miss Erna Seifert won the anatomy game and Miss Vanda Burszta won the donkey game. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Cora Tarbox.

The committee in charge of the decorating for the charity dance to be given for the benefit of the William W. Backus hospital is already at work. Tickets are going fast for the affair. It is reported, and there is no doubt but what it will be a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Noyes and family of South C street left Monday for Saginaw, Michigan, where they are to make their home.

Love finds the way in, but it has to be thrown out.

Women Dispose

Of this new hygienic pad as easily as tissue —no laundry

COUNTLESS women have discarded old-time "sanitary" pads for a new and better way.

A way that offers far greater protection. A way, too, that banishes the old-time problem of disposal.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

KOTEX

No laundry—discard like tissue

CONTRACTS ARE LET FOR LAYING PIPE LINE TO THE NEW RESERVOIR

Contracts were signed Monday afternoon at the office of Chandler & Palmer, civil engineers, for two contracts for the laying of pipe for the city new reservoir which is to be constructed this year on the Deep River brook watershed in the town of Colchester.

On the competitive bids submitted, the contracts were awarded to the lowest bidders, one going to H. W. Golden & Son, Inc., of Troy, N. Y., on a total bid of $32,805, and the other to A. W. Byrne & Son, Hartford, on a total bid of $35,170.

Each is for approximately the same distance, about 15,000 feet, or three miles, and the six miles of pipe to be laid will carry the line from Fitchville to the dam. The pipe to be laid is of the 30 inch size, and the contract provides for coverage of 3 feet, which will make it necessary to dig a ditch about 5 1-2 feet deep. It is understood that the contractors will use a trenching machine to excavate the ditch.

Section No. 2 on which the Troy firm got the contract runs from Fitchville northerly to Bozrahville. Except for about 1,500 feet which will be in the highway, the pipe will be laid off the road where rights of way have been secured.

The following were the bids on this section:

H. W. Golden & Son Inc., Troy, N. Y., $1.85 per foot, total bid $32,805.

A. W. Byrne & Son, Hartford, $2.20 per foot, total bid $37,870.

Louis Petrossi, Hartford, $3.00 per foot, total bid $51,630.

Fred D. Miller & Co. Norwich, $3.37 per foot, total bid $56,477.

Connecticut Engineering & Contracting Co., Norwich, $3.40 per foot, total bid $60,702.50.

Archibald Torrance, Norwich, $4.14 per foot, total bid $68,306.50.

Section No. 3 on which the contracts goes to the Hartford firm is from Bozrahville to the dam. This also is all in rights of way acquired over private land, except for about 1,500 feet in the highway. A short distance west of the bridge where Elias Glaubinger was killed in an automobile accident several weeks ago the pipe line leaves the course of the highway and strikes off through the fields to reach the reservoir site.

The bids on this section were as follows:

A. W. Byrne & Son, Hartford, $2.00 per foot, total bid $35,170.

H. W. Golden & Son, Inc., Troy, N. Y., $2.75 per foot, total bid $46,545.

Louis Petrossi, Hartford, $2.75 per foot, total bid $46,580.

Fred D. Miller & Co., Norwich, $3.37 per foot, total bid $56,325.

Connecticut Engineering & Contracting Co., Norwich $4.03 per foot, total bid $78,012.50.

Archibald Torrance, Norwich, $4.76 per foot, total bid $78,262.50.

The work can be begun as soon as a shipment of the 30-inch pipe reaches here from France.

There remain yet about 3 1-2 miles of pipe line laying to be arranged for, this being the section that extends from Fitchville to connect with the present city water main at Harland corner. This is 24 inch pipe and will be in the town of Norwich where a vote of the common council Monday night gave it as the council's opinion that the water board ought to do the work itself instead of letting it out by contract.

BAPTISMS AT SERVICE AT CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

A text from I Peter 3, 15: Being always ready to give answer to every man that asketh you a reason concerning the hope that is within you, yet with meekness and fear, furnished the basis for the theme for the sermon for Rev David A. Pitt, D. D., at the morning service Easter Sunday at the Central Baptist church when he spoke upon the Reasonableness of the Easter Hope.

It is interesting to note reason and hope brought so closely together within the confines of a single verse. The early church had a reason for its hope and was prepared to give that reason to any who were willing to listen. Today the friendly discussion of great religious questions is too largely a lost art. We have discussion enough, but is not friendly, and is left mostly to extremists. Hope means the joyous and confident expectation of eternal salvation and is always used in no lower sense in the scriptures. Christian hope is based on the love and power of eternal God, giving us for this life comfort and strength for the life to come. There is a two-fold reason for holding the Christian hope. First it is found in the human heart, it is a universal longing, this hope of immortality, but ours is more than a human hope. Ours is a Christian hope that is founded on the resurrection of Jesus Christ, who brought immortality to light, when He rose from the dead. We see many timid, frightened men changed to brave and courageous lives that are ready to follow Him to the death. Then we have the testimony of all the centuries since, but most important is your own personal experience. If it stops short of this it is of no value whatever. Let us cherish the Christian hope. Let us live in it and die in it. And as this hope makes its home in our hearts, more and more shall we desire to share it with the world, the world in Norwich and the world in the ends of the earth. Then shall we have Easter not one day in the year but all the days. Then shall we be sure that Christ is risen and alive for evermore and because he lives we shall live also.

Five persons were baptized at the service by the pastor.

SUIT IS WITHDRAWN AGAINST SEASLED CO.

Withdrawal without costs from the superior court docket was filed Monday with Clerk George E. Parsons in the case of the American Agricultural Co., of New London against the Sea Sled Co., Ltd., of Mystic, in which the plaintiff claimed damages of $10,000.

The suit arose over a sea sled which was to be used by the plaintiff company to convey passengers from Tampa, Fla., to Boke-Grande, on the Gasparilla Island, Fla., in order to interest them in the purchase of land there.

It was alleged that on Dec. 19, 1924 a trial of the sea sled in Mystic waters proved it to have engine trouble. The defendant company agreed to remedy and the plaintiff paid or the sum of $8,500. It was claimed by the plaintiff but when the sea sled was received in Florida and tried out it still did not function properly.

FORTY HOURS DEVOTION AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

Sunday at St. Patrick's church had double significance, since in conjunction with the celebration of Easter there began, following the high mass, the Forty Hours' Devotion, the annual commemoration of the period during which the body of the Saviour remained in the tomb. Palms, ferns, white azaleas, hyacinths and daffodils adorned the sanctuary, while the three ornate marble altars were decorated with carnations, roses and other blooms in tall gold vases.

At the 7.30 low mass read by the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May, the Children of Mary society members were among the great number and received holy communion in a body. The mass for the Italian Catholics, read at 8 in the basement chapel, was largely attended, as was also the children's mass at 9. For this latter service the organist, Henry J. LaFontaine had rehearsed special music, including the hymns by the junior choir, "Today He's Risen," "Hail, the Holy Day of Days," "Praise Ye the Lord," and the "Hymn to St. Therese, the Little Flower of Jesus," in which Miss Alice Murphy carried the solo part very pleasingly.

At the 10:30 high mass, Missa pro Pace, by Theo Von La Hache was most successfully given by the regular volunteer choir, the soloists being Mrs. Bernard M. Coyle, Mrs. Edward McKeon, Misses Isabelle Petroni, Bianca LaPre and Loretta Belleteur; Roderick F. Sullivan, Walter F. LaFontaine, the organist and William F. Farmer. The quartet sang with harmony and a fine understanding of the beauties of the different numbers. Particularly was this true of the exquisite melody of Sanctus, the flowing harmony through the Creed, also in the majestic offertory, which was Lamblilotte's Alleluia, while during the Forty Hours' procession after the mass, especially well rounded out work in "Pange, Lingua" and Tantum Ergo" (Roswig) characterized the singing. For the procession, Mr. LaFontaine showed his initiative by alternating voice with instrumental interludes, in the latter employing the chimes effectively. Mrs. Coyle, Mr. Sullivan and Mrs. McKeon sustained the responsibility of the more important numbers, their careful high-grade work making a most favorable impression.

In the solemn high mass Rev. Myles P. Galvin was celebrant, Rev. John J. Reilly deacon and Monsignor May subdeacon. The 140 little girls in white each bearing a lily stalk and marching in the procession of the Forty Hours, when the Host was preceded by several score or more of altar boys carrying lighted candles again showed the admirable training given them by the Sisters of Mercy, who contribute so much to the progress of religion in this large parish, as instructors of the children. The canopy in the procession was borne by Alexander Kilroy, Andrew Deneff, Thaddeus Leahy and Michael J. Murphy.

The day's gospel in all the Catholic churches throughout the world was Mark 16, 1-7, narrating the visit of the holy women to the tomb. No young prophet whose lips had been touched by a burning coal could have more eloquently enunciated the lesson to be derived from this gospel than did Rev. Father Reilly, who chose as his text the words of the angel, "You seek Jesus of Nazarth, Who was crucified: He is risen, He is not here."

The women were disappointed, but this was the most important bit of information ever given in the history of mankind. Had they found the Saviour still in the tomb they would have gone back to the city and to the Pharisees and doubters with confirmation of the scoffs and unbelief of the crowd. From the accumulation of facts during more than two thousand years since then the prencher discriminatingly selected proof after proof, in his limited time, to show that while the world has been frequently tricked and civilization duped, countless early followers, martyrs, knights and princes and kings, virgins and mothers and babes, the poor and the forlorn and the sorrowful, from that first Easter morn until now, and the world around have borne testimony in their lives and professions of their faith in Jesus Christ and His victory over death, for the reason that He was the Son of God.

And what of Christ's church? It stands or falls with its founder. On this glorious Easter the Catholic church was never greater in its influence and its spread. Because its founder promised it that it would have perpetual youth, it has withstood attacks from without and within, yet has continued to flourish, assisting perpetually at the requiems of its persecutors. For it there could have been no Easter had there not been a Good Friday. The preacher set forth graphically the obligation of each individual Catholic, by an apt change in his text to read "He is risen; He is here," proving that the risen Christ was to be specially with His people as the Eucharistic King exposed on the altar during the Forty Hours. In Bethlehem Christ had His mother. He had her with Him even on Calvary; but in Gethsemane He suffered alone, finally asking reproachfully of His drowsy followers, "Could ye not watch with me one hour?" The speaker condemned that indifference which leaves the Lord too often in loneliness in the tabernacle; urged his hearers to new love for getting closer to the sacred heart, sharing Christ's suffering for the sins of mankind by additional acts of love for Him. The climax of the magnificent sermon was the quotation of a child's simple hymn of faith in and love for the Redeemer, in the sacrament of the Eucharist.

Continuing Monday the masses during the Forty Hours were at 5:30 and 8; on Tuesday at 5:30, 7 and 8. Visiting priests continuing assisted the resident clergyman Monday as on Sunday in hearing confessions, speaking in a number of languages.

One of the beautiful new organ numbers played by Mr. LaFontaine during the procession of the Forty Hours was "The Bells of Our Lady of Lourdes." A notably good rendering of "Et Incarnatus" was given by Mrs. Edward McKeon, during the singing of the Creed.

Monday morning the low mass at 5:30 was read by Father Galvin, there being many communicants. At 7, communion was administered by Monsignor May. Rev. Father Reilly offered mass at St. Joseph's altar at 8, Father Galvin administering communion.

Visiting priests assisting with hearing confessions during Monday afternoon and evening were Rev. Dr. P. J. McCormick, Washington, D. C., Rev. Fathers Wm. A. Keefe and F. M. Cohoian, St. Mary's, John J. McCabe and John Landry, Jewett City, R. P. Morrissey, Plainfield, James E. May, Mt. Carmel, Conn., Matthew Brady, Hartford, P. O. Bellerose, Taftville, B. M. Donnelley, No. Grosvenordale, Wm. T. O'Brein, Occum and Father Brophy, Baltic.

The devotion will conclude with high mass and procession at 8 this (Tuesday) morning. Monday evening Monsignor May and his assistants considered the solemn exercises a great spiritual success, judging by the many hundred confessions and communions.

EASTER CONCERT BY PARK CHURCH SCHOOL

The members of the Sunday school of Park Congregational church held their annual Easter concert Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the church. The school, assembled in the chapel and marched in a body into the church where they took pews reserved for them in the front of the church. Superintendent Samuel E. Smiley was in charge of the programme which was given as follows:

Potted plants were distributed to the members of the infant class.

CUTTING DOWN ACCIDENTS FROM DEFECTIVE EQUIPMENT

Defective equipment caused 4 1-2 per cent of 43,349 motor vehicle accidents which occurred in Connecticut in the past two years, according to an analysis completed at the state motor vehicle department.

Considerable headway appears to have been made in the past year in combatting the menace of unsound steering apparatus and glaring headlights. The number of drivers who venture forth in powerful motor vehicles, and often at high rates of speed, without taking the time to make even a cursory examination of the steering gear, is surprising, but the persistent campaign in the state against defective equipment is evidently bringing a response. At any rate, there were one-third less accidents ascribed to that cause in 1925 than in 1924, and the number of 1925 accidents recorded to have been caused by glaring headlights was considerably less than half the 1924 total.

The same was true, to a lesser extent, with respect to defective brakes. On the other hand, however, less attention was given to the condition of motor vehicle tires, "or accidents said to be due to blowouts made a decided advance in 1925 over 1924.

Operators were blamed for 73 1-2 per cent of the accidents last year, other persons for 21 1-2 per cent, and defective equipment for 5 1-2 per cent, miscellaneous causes for the remainder. The classification "other persons" includes bicyclists riding into the path of motor vehicles, children playing in the street, pedestrians stepping from behind objects and into the path of approaching automobiles, and causes of that general nature.

ARTIST AT LYME SELLS HIS EXTENSIVE PROPERTY

A considerable real estate transaction has just been consummated in East Lyme in which the Clinton Trading Co., comes into possession of a 500-acre tract of land, including 14-room house, a studio building, a 10-room guest house and numerous outbuildings.

Louis Paul Dessar, a noted artist, disposed of the property to John Kenneth Ryard of New York, president of the Clinton Trading Co., who has deeded the property to that concern.

The tract, which is one of the largest in the section, commands extensive views of Long Island sound and the Connecticut river and includes, besides the buildings a frontage of about a half mile on the north side of Rogers Lake and the same on Hog pond. The sale also includes two small islands in the lake, about a half acre each.

Tax stamps attached to the deed indicated $50,000 cash was paid for the property. It is understood, however, that other valuable considerations were included in the sale.

The estate was purchased in 1902 by Mr. Dessar and has been extensively developed as a fruit and stock farm. The deed has been recorded in the town clerk's office of Lyme, according to William Marvin, the town clerk. The consideration was not reported.

Mr. Dessar was born at Indianapolis Jan. 29, 1867. He was a student at the College of the City of New York and left to take up art at the National Academy of Design. He studied under M. I. M. Bouguereau and Tony Robert Fluery and at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris. He married Elizabeth Coombe of New York in September, 1891.

He received a medal at the Chicago exposition, 1893 and a picture of his was purchased by the French government the same year. He received mention by the Carnegie Institute in 1897 and the first Hallgarten prize from the National Academy of Design in 1900.

Easter Music At Poquetanuck

Easter day at Saint James' church, Poquetanuck, was marked by good congregations at the services, appropriate music and attractive floral decorations.

Mrs. Frederick D. Miller sang as an offertory solo, "How in the Lovely Spring, My God", words by Rt. Rev. A. C. Coxe, D. D., music by Bradbury. "Let Us Join Our Voices", music by Dr. Muhlenberg, was the offertory of the children's Easter service, sung as a duet by Mrs. Arthur C. Smith and Mrs. Frederick D. Miller. The organist, Miss Olive E. McKelvey, rendered appropriate voluntaries at the services and the good work of the choir and organist did much toward making the services convey the Easter message.

WATERFORD SUIT HEARD IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Judge Charles B. Waller in the court of common pleas at New London took the papers and reserved decision in the damage suit of Charles Edward Leary against Theodore Tucker, both of Waterford. Attorney C. Hadlai Hull appeared for the plaintiff while Attorney Marion Davis represented the defendant.

Leary, is alleged to have loaned Tucker a sum amounting to $101, consisting of $51 in small loans and a $50 Liberty bond. Tucker in counter claim set up that Leary owed him for the rental of dock space where the plaintiff is alleged to have kept his speed boat for three months.

GOOD HEALTH NECESSARY

Many Busy Women Owe Their Health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 300 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

WETS EXPOSE DISHONESTY CREATED BY PROHIBITION

Senator Reed at Hearing in Washington Called Attention to the Fact That 875 Employes of the Enforcement Unit Had Been Dismissed For Law Violations—Fact Disclosed That There is No Such Thing as a "Non-Fillable" Bottle—Meaning of 'Split Whiskey Was Explained to Senator Walsh—Enforcement Officer Andrews Was Queried.

WASHINGTON, April 6— (AP) — Crookedness among prohibition officers, the "splitting" of whiskey for the bootleg and druggist trade and the misnomer of 'non-refillable' as applied to whiskey bottles were a few of the subjects touched upon today as the wets pressed their case at the senate prohibition hearings.

Others included the "unpleasant duty" of enforcement agents to drink part of the evidence they gather, the "reclaiming of anti-freeze" and even embalming fluid for the bootleg trade, alcohol diversion and proposed legislation to tighten up enforcement.

Assistant Secretary Andrews, the field marshal of prohibition enforcement, again was the witness, buttressed at times by James E. Jones, director of prohibition, who sat across the table from his chief and who was sworn in the midst of the proceedings after General Andrews had called upon him several times to furnish information which he did not have at his finger tips.

Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, the one avowed wet on the committee of five, conducted the cross examination during most of the two hours of the hearing and the crowd which jammed the committee room appeared to get plenty of kick out of his questions and observations and the replies of the witnesses. Again and again laughter swept the room and there was no admonition, for senators themselves could not refrain from joining in the demonstration.

But the hearing was not all hilarity. Senator Reed bore down seriously as Secretary Andrews suggested a law that would give the prohibition unit the right to refuse to reissue permits without appeals to the courts being permitted. The senator declared this would give "arbitrary" power to officials to destroy a "legitimate" business depending for its life on industrial alcohol.

General Andrews finally conceded that an appeal to the courts should be allowed in the case of refusal of renewal permits just as it is provided for when permits are revoked. Chairman Means cut short the argument with a declaration that congress never would give such authority as proposed to any executive branch of the government.

Before this subject was disposed of, however, Senator Reed called attention to the fact that 875 employes of the enforcement unit had been dismissed for law violations and he suggested that certainly a number should not be vested in the right turn out to be dishonest.

This led to the field of who recommended enforcement officers. General Andrews said the Women's Christian Temperance union and the Anti-Saloon league had done so in the past.

"But I will say Wayne B. Wheeler never has made any recommendations," added, referring to the general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league.

"You stopped him, didn't you?" queried Senator Reed.

"He never started," returned Mr. Andrews.

Senator Harreld, republican, Oklahoma, suggested that administrators might well employing their own men should look to the friends of the bureau for recommendations.

"Then you would have just as many spies in the future as you have had in the past," said Senator Reed.

Prohibitor Jones, as the expert witness on non-refillable whiskey bottles, testified that there was no such thing.

"You're right," returned Senator Reed. "You can refill a non-refillable bottle. It's a little longer operation and rather trying on the nerves of the man who is waiting for a drink."

A reference to "split" whiskey aroused the curiosity of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, an avowed dry, who asked what it was.

"Alcohol colored with whiskey," explained General Andrews.

That didn't satisfy Senator Reed who said he spectators again laughed:

"Since Senator Walsh doesn't know anything about this, I will say that it has been stated to me—I have never performed the operation myself—that you take a gallon of whiskey and then two gallons of water and make several gallons."

"I'm told alcohol is as wholesome as whiskey," interjected General Andrews with a grin. "That's a gratifying bit of information," said Senator Reed.

Adverting to the number of employes dismissed for improper conduct, General Andrews said his men were subject to great and constant temptations. He added that it was an "unpleasant duty" for them to have to drink liquor in order to get evidence.

That observation brought a laugh and the witness himself smiled broadly adding:

"It's no poor, most of it, that no man drinks it willingly."

"No man?" queried Julien Codman, of Boston, counsel for the wets.

"I mean none of our men," amended General Andrews.

"Coming back to the 'unpleasant duty,' pursued Colonel Codman, "unless I am misinformed some of them had considerable drinking when they lived at the Mayflower hotel here in Washington in getting evidence."

"That was a rare instance," retorted General Andrews.

ATTACK ON PROHIBITION BY REPRESENTATIVE CULLEN

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—Calling attention to the expense of enforcing prohibition in the house today, Representative Cullen, democrat, New York, urged repeal or modification of the Volstead law. He said the millions spent in "futile" effort at enforcement should be used to build up the merchant marine and on other constructive enterprises.

Mr Cullen termed the dry law "the most brutal assault on personal liberty ever heard of" and said it could be enforced "only by the most stringent and repulsive of methods."

Taking up the discussion, Representative O'Connell, democrat, New York, said New York republicans were "falling over themselves" to give the voters of that state a referendum because of the obvious change in sentiment.

Until the newspaper polls on prohibition were tabulated, he added, New York republicans were "completely under the domination of the Anti-Saloon league."

POLICE PREVENT PASSAIC STRIKERS FROM PICKETING

PASSAIC, N. J., April 6—(AP)—Gera mills today became the storm center of the textile strike when 2,000 idle workers were prevented by fifty Passaic police from picketing the plant. Eleven strikers were arrested, including four of the leaders. Patrolman William Lucas received a gash on the head from a stone in the hands of a striker, John Plantus, who was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $50 by Judge Lavidson.

Today's outbreak marked the first disturbance of the eleventh week of the strike. Picketing was permitted at Botany mill and at the Garfield plant of the Forstmann and Huffmann company. From these plants the strikers paraded toward Gera mills converging from opposite directions. At Eighth and South streets the Botany line was stopped and warned by police that no picketing would be allowed. The strikers, claiming they were bound for Wallington across the Eighth street bridge, were allowed to pass and cross the river.

In Wallington they were met by the other picket line and attempted to return past the police. The rear lines of strikers surged forward as the leaders were stopped and four arrested. Sticks and stones were hurled by strikers and police clubs swung to stop the rush. Sporadic fights continued for nearly two hours as the picket line was repeatedly broken and reformed at the bridge. Those arrested were charged with assault and battery and disorderly conduct.

The United Piece Dye Works in Lodi reported today that enough workers were still in the plant to handle all the orders on hand.

The mass meetings in Passaic and Garfield today were addressed by Organizer Welsbord and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn.

MEXICO HAS REPLIED TO AMERICAN NOTE

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—Ambassador Tellez handed Secretary Kellogg today the Mexican reply to the latest American note of protest regarding Mexico's petroleum and land laws, presumably concluding the protracted diplomatic exchanges which have passed between Washington and Mexico City in the last several months and which were initiated by Secretary Kellogg in an attempt to safeguard American interests in Mexico from retroactive provisions of the two laws.

Should Mr. Kellogg decide after he has studied the contents of the new communication that the correspondence should be continued, it necessarily would have to be confined to the application of the statutes as decreed by their promulgation since the laws themselves are no longer subjects against which protest may be made.

It is not thought that Secretary Kellogg will desire to extend diplomatic treatment to the point which will include a discussion of that phase of the controversy.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM OVER BUSINESS OUTLOOK

NEWARK, N. J., April 6—(AP)—An optimistic outlook on business conditions was taken by Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation at the annual stockholders' meeting of the corporation here today.

"I can see no cause for alarm over business conditions," Mr. Grace said. "So far as I can see the business outlook is good and we have every reason to look forward to a bright future."

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors, spoke of corporation affairs. He said officers were deeply appreciative of the trust placed in them. "We have never taken advantage of that trust for personal gain and we never will," he added. "We have no personal axes to grind. Everything we do is for the good of the corporation and the stockholders."

CONFLICT IN GERMANY OVER THE DAWES PLAN

BERLIN, April 6.—(AP)—For the first time since the Dawes plan became operative a conflict has arisen between the German government and Sir Andrew McFadyean, the commissioner of controlled revenues under the plan. The commissioner has raised objection to the measure adopted by the reichstag providing for postponement of the increase in the beer tax until January 1, 1927. He asserted this might cause a deficit in the controlled revenues for next year, when Germany must meet heavy reparation payments.

Sir Andrew agreed to postponement of the increase until July, 1926, but Germany now proposes to submit the dispute to international arbitration in accordance with the London agreement, which established the Dawes plan. Should the decision go against Germany it is believed probable that the entire budget, of which the beer tax is a part, will have to be resubmitted to the reichstag.

TWO HARVARD STUDENTS HELD UP BY A BANDIT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 6.—(AP)—An armed hold-up man invaded the Harvard yard today ransacked two rooms, backed down two students with a revolver and escaped despite howls of "stop thief," and "watch that door, get him," from two excited victims.

Flight of Spanish Planes

TRIPOLI, North Africa, April 6.—(AP)—Two planes of three Spanish air squadrons, flying from Madrid to Manila, landed at the Tripoli airdrome this afternoon. They were piloted by Captain Gonzalez-Gallarza and Captain Loriga.

Princess Victoria Improves

LONDON, April 6—(AP)—The anxieties of the royal family on account of the illness of Princess Victoria, sister of the king, and the prince of Wales has been removed, and Queen Maud of Norway, who came to London hastily on account of her sister's attack of influenzal pneumonia, expects to return home shortly.

LIBERALIST DEFEATED FUNDAMENTALIST FOR MAYOR

CLARENCE, Mo., April 6.—(AP)—Liberalism triumphed over fundamentalism in Clarence's mayoralty election today when J. C. Maupin, former Baptist preacher, whose stand on biblical interpretations had been made an issue, defeated I. J. Peterman by a majority of 110 votes.

The final vote as tabulated showed Maupin with 465 and his opponent with 255.

The campaign for the office, which preceded today's election had stirred this little Shelby county town since the religious issue was raised because of Maupin's defense in 1922 of the liberal views of Dr. A. Wakefield Staten, who was ousted from the faculty of William Jewell college at Liberty, Mo., for what was termed too liberal terms in his book "What Jesus Taught." Maupin led a body of students which demanded Statea's retention.

When the issue was raised on him in the mayoralty campaign he reiterated his support of Dr Staten and his views in liberaly interpreting certain sections of the Bible. As an opponent the fundamentalists rallied about L. J. Peterman, a retired farmer and the contest attracted considerable attention. Both candidates received numerous letters and telegrams from leaders of fundamentalism and liberalism in all parts of the nation.

ABOUT TO BE ARRESTED, BROKER ENDS LIFE WITH POISON

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—The hand of the law reached out today for Alexander DeHalenap, but the former Watertown, N. Y., broker escaped it by seeking refuge in death.

DeHalenap, a familiar figure in the city's night life, variously known among his acquaintances as colonel, count, and general, and reputed to have been an officer in the former Russian czarist regime, was wanted for grand larceny. He was charged with having been entrusted with several thousand dollars worth of bonds by a Mrs. Warren of Watertown which he sold and kept the proceeds.

Detectives went to the hotel where DeHalenap had lived for about a year, since leaving Watertown where he had brokerage offices, and knocked at the door.

"The police of Watertown want you for grand larceny," they told him, and he nodded that he knew.

"Come along," they said.

"I can't," he replied and fell to the floor.

A detective ran to a telephone to summon an ambulance.

"Never mind that," DeHalenap instructed him. "I've taken poison and you can't save me." He was dead before a doctor arrived.

CINDERELLA ROMANCE TAKEN TO THE COURTS

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP) — The society for the prevention of cruelty to children and the children's court were the two step-sisters which today threatened the romance of the Cinderella girl, Frances Heenan, and her 51 year old prince charming, Edward W. Browning.

A summons was issued today calling for Frances' appearance in children's court Thursday, with her mother, Mrs. Katherine Heenan, to answer an action today brought by the S. P. C. C. to have Mrs. Heenan removed as her daughter's guardian. Vincent T. Pisarra, superintendent of the society, announced that he would present affidavits to show that Mrs. Heenan is not a fit guardian for the 15 year old girl, who has declared her intention of marrying the wealthy real estate operator as soon as she has passed her 16th birthday.

Browning's adoption of Mary Louise Spas ended in the courts last year when it was revealed that the girl was not a minor. At that time Browning declared that he was "through with trying to adopt girls."

SLIGHT PROSPECT OF PEACE WITH THE RIFFS

PARIS, April 6.—(AP)—A semi-official announcement from Madrid to the effect that the Spanish government could not consider peace in Morocco on the terms offered by the tribal leader Abd-El-Krim, and the belligerent disposition being shown by the tribesmen around Taza, have sent the prospects of peace with the Riff to the background. Negotiations on the basis of autonomy for the Riffans are now regarded in official circles as useless, in view of the attitude of the Spanish government.

The impression current now is that the conflict can be shortened only by vigorous military action. It is understood that Marshal Petain, supervising the Moroccan campaign, has advised a powerful drive, as soon as weather permits, should Krim be unwilling to consider new terms presented by the French and Spanish.

POLICE FORCED PARTY OF JOY RIDERS TO WALK

MERIDEN, April 6.—(AP)—Caught at three o'clock this morning by the police in a machine, the use of which they said had been granted them, three men and a woman giving their names as Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hamlin, 431 Farmington avenue, Hartford, and Fred Moore of 79 Union street, and Michael Fay, 627 Glen street, New Britain had the machine taken from them as punishment and were left to get home as best they could.

Harry Bishoff, 12 Florence street, Hartford, owner of the machine, admitted knowing the parties, but denied having given them permission to use his car as they claimed. He did not wish to prosecute them, but wished them punished and decided taking the machine away was a good method.

Preparing For Trial Of Judge English

The House Yesterday Appointed Nine Managers to Prosecute the Case in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—The house today appointed nine managers to prosecute the case against Federal Judge English, of Illinois, and formally notified the senate of his impeachment on charge of "high misdemeanors" in office.

The senate, which is to try the case promptly adopted a resolution directing its secretary to notify the house that it is ready to receive the managers. They are not expected to appear for several days, however, as they first will hold sessions to map out procedure.

Besides naming the prosecutors—five republicans and four democrats of the judiciary committee—the house adopted a resolution instructing its clerk to notify the senate and demanding the conviction of Judge English in the name of the house and "the people of the United States."

Moreover, the house authorized its managers to subpoena witnesses and documents and to bring in witnesses in addition to those heard by the judiciary committee. This would permit the summoning of Charles B. Thomas, referee in bankruptcy under Judge English, if that should be desirable as the senate trial proceeds.

After the managers formally present the indictment against Judge English, the senate will then at which the latter must appear in person before the senate bar. Upon his appearance he will be given a week or more in which to make written reply to the charges against him.

Meanwhile the senate judiciary subcommittee will pursue its inquiry into the question whether the senate can try the case at a special session, which President Coolidge is stated he would call immediately after the adjournment of congress, probably next month.

Representative Michener of Michigan, is expected to head the house board of managers, although he is not senior in point of service among the five republicans named as prosecutors.

The managers will hold their first meeting to discuss procedure tomorrow morning.

TARIFF COMMISSION A DEBATING SOCIETY

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP) — The tariff commission is unable to function because it has devolved into a debating society, Commissioner Dennis, democrat, testified today before the senate investigating committee. He charged responsibility to Chairman Marvin and Commissioner Glassie, who, he said, have adopted methods the equivalent to discussions of whether an angel is material and can dance on the point of a needle.

Commissioner Glassie, he declared, is an "adroit learned lawyer" lacking in "horse sense", who consumed two fifths of the time allotted by the commission to discussion of cases.

Another one fifth is taken by Chairman Marvin, he added, and another by Commissioner Costigan, leaving only one fifth to be divided between the other three commissioners.

Mr. Dennis told the committee the Mailbut case, publication of which has been held up because of international complications until permission is obtained from the state department, represented the "most flagrant distortion of facts" that has ever come up in the commission. He asserted the difference in production costs did not warrant a two cent per pound duty to equalize them.

MORE PROPOSALS FOR LEASING MUSCLE SHOALS

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—With counter bid, a group of southern power companies came forward today with proposals for leasing Muscle Shoals.

Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power company, acted as spokesman for the power interests and for more than two hours discussed with the joint Muscle Shoals congressional committee the merits of a bid which they expect to submit by Saturday, the dead line set by the committee.

Mr. Ford was reported as having already prepared a bid but that he might withhold offering it until the recommendations of the committee are placed before the senate and house. There it could be offered as a substitute for the power companies' proposal.

The power companies, represented as controlling a capital of $150,000,000, included the Alabama Power company, Arkansas Light and Power company, Louisiana Power and Light company, Mississippi Light and Power company, Mississippi Power company, Tennessee Power company, Kentucky Utilities company, Gulf Electric company of Florida, Georgia Railway Light and Power company, Memphis Power and Light company and Kentucky Power company.

PROPOSALS FOR INCREASED IMPORTATION OF WINE

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—Proposals for increased importation of wine were presented to Keith Weeks, newly appointed supervisor of wine, by importers and domestic dealers at a conference here today.

Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, recently forbid importations although the treasury has authority to grant permits for the use of medicinal and sacramental wine.

Mr. Weeks took under advisement the suggestions for continued and even increased importations.

HELD FOR COMPLICITY IN MURDER AT WALTHAM

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Peter J. McLoughlin, alias Peter Murphy, was arrested today on information received from the Waltham, Mass., police, on a charge of complicity in the murder of James Ferneau and the robbery of the Boston and Middlesex Street Railway company office at Waltham last October 4.

Ferneau, an employe of the railway company, was shot down when he accidentally discovered the lookout for the four robbers who were looting the office. The men fled with $1,361 of the $5,000 that was in the safe.

Hartford Re-Elects Republican Mayor

N. G. Stevens Defeated His Democratic Opponent, E. W. Broder, by 1,413 Plurality.

HARTFORD, April 6—(AP)—Mayor Norman C. Stevens, was re-elected mayor of Hartford today defeating ex-Senator Edward W. Broder, 17,561 to 16,148. The republicans elected aldermen in eleven of the fifteen wards, making the council 23 republicans and seven democrats, the same proportion as during the past year. Other members of the republican ticket went into office with the mayor so that for the next two years the city will have a republican city marshal, city marshal and republican majorities in the board of selectmen, high school committee and board of education. Voters approved appropriations for $362,000, including $30,000 for a new municipal golf course. Mayor Stevens is the first mayor of Hartford since 1906 to be elected to succeed himself.

AIR MAIL PILOT LOST IN WILDERNESS OF NEVADA

BOISE, Idaho, April 6.—(AP)—Franklin Rose, pilot of the first northbound airplane of the Elko, Nevada-Pasco, Washington contract air mail route, was lost tonight somewhere in the wilderness of Idaho and Nevada. He, with about 150 pounds of mail left Elko at 2.20 o'clock, Pacific time, and was due here about six o'clock, Mountain time. So far as has been learned here his plane had not been sighted after leaving Elko.

Officials of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company at eight o'clock started a systematic wire search for the missing plane. No other planes were sent out because the darkness made such search impracticable.

A telephone call to Brueneau, Idaho, revealed that Rose had not been sighted there. This is the only town on the route.

MARCONI DENIES THAT HE IS "FED UP" ON RADIO

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Guglielmo Marconi, in a wireless message today denied the recent story from London that he had become "fed up" on radio.

The London Dispatch reported that while recuperating in a hospital from a slight operation, the wireless inventor had become so bored by the broadcast programs that he had called for a phonograph. His message today said:

"Entirely deny report. Have always considered radio broadcasting a wonderful development which has come to stay."

SAILED A 34-FOOT YAWL AROUND THE WORLD

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—Harry Pigeon, who single-handed sailed a 34-foot yawl around the world, arrived here tonight with his small craft aboard the steamship Virginia. He will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Cruising club on April 14.

Pidgeon left Los Angeles on November 18, 1921, on his round-the-world trip, and returned last October 31, having covered 35,000 miles. His yawl, The Islander, has a 10-foot 6 inch beam and 5 foot draft.

STEAMSHIP CLEARS WITH BYRD ARCTIC EXPEDITION

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—After several delays, the steamship Chantier cleared the bar tonight and started for the open sea with the Byrd arctic expedition.

At dusk the ship weighed anchor off Rosebank, Staten Island, where it had stopped yesterday to allow the crew to secure loose cargo.

At 8 o'clock tonight the Chantier passed Sandy Hook and disappeared in the dark on its way to Spitzbergen.

A PURSUED DEER DASHED INTO WINSTED BARBER SHOP

WINSTED, April 6—(AP)—A deer, pursued by dogs, crashed through the plate glass window of a barber shop and landed in a barber chair on Main street, here this morning. It then dashed out of the broken window, across the street and leaped a fence into a building excavation and after attempts to lasso the animal with lariats had failed, it was cornered and captured and returned to the woods only slightly scratched.

MONARCHISTS ARE PLANNING RESURRECTION OF RUSSIA

Measures Were Adopted by the Congress of Russian Emigres Now in Session in Paris—Will Support Grand Duke Nicholas Against the Claims of Other Grand Dukes—Distributor of Communist Literature Was Removed by the Police.

PARIS, April 6—(AP)—Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaevitch, uncle of the late Czar Nicholas II, was chosen today as leader of the Russian monarchists by the unanimous vote of the congress of Russian emigres now in session here.

The congress immediately sent messengers to the grand duke at his Chateau de Choigny, near Paris, asking him to accept "the supreme labor of resurrecting the fatherland."

The congress has been known to support Grand Duke Nicholas against the claims of all the other grand dukes since its first meeting last Sunday, but today's action was the first gesture to symbolize the unity of the monarchist party. The address to the grand duke follows:

"Monseigneur: The Russian congress, which unites all the patriots aspiring to the reestablishment of the Russian nation, who come from all over the world, acclaims in the person of your imperial highness the foreordained representative of the nationalist idea as well as the glorious supreme chief of the army and defender of the fatherland since the first days of our calvary.

"The congress is unanimous in sharing the patriotic hopes of the masses within and without Russia. It expresses equally its full confidence in your wisdom as a statesman and your valor as supreme military chief. The congress is firmly convinced that upon the issuance of your appeal all Russians without exception will take up unhesitatingly the glorious task of liberating the fatherland.

"May the most high sustain you in the supreme labor of resurrecting the fatherland."

The grand duke received the delegation from the congress at his chateau this afternoon and promised to send a reply by messenger tomorrow.

The hand of the soviet regime appeared for the first time in connection with the congress, this afternoon. A neatly dressed man waised into the lobbies outside the meeting and took his stand beside a counter where were offered for sale portraits of the late czar in uniform, postcard views of St. Petersburg (new Leningrad) and Moscow before the revolution and monarchist literature. There be offered for sale communist newspapers and Marxian pamphlets. He was politely but firmly removed by the police without a struggle.

DECISION AWAITED ON OBSCENE LITERATURE

BOSTON, April 6—(AP)—The fate of an editor charged with selling obscene literature depended tonight on the literary taste of a judge.

The case of H. L. Mencken arrested yesterday for selling a copy of his magazine, the American Mercury, on Boston Common, was adjourned today so that Chief Justice Wilfred Bolsted of the municipal court, presiding at the trial, might read an article in the April issue of the magazine on which the charge was based. The judge will deliver his decision tomorrow.

While the proceedings against Mencken were in progress in municipal court Judge Anderson in the federal court set next Monday as the date for hearing a petition filed by Mencken for an injunction to restrain Rev. J. Frank Chase of the New England Watch and Ward society from interfering with the distribution of the magazine in New England. In both courts the allegation was made that Chase was moved by "private malice and revenge" in bringing about the editor's arrest. An article in a previous number of the American Mercury in which the Watch and Ward society was attacked, provided the motive, Mencken alleged.

When he appeared in municipal court charged with possessing and selling "certain indecent and impure printing manifestly tending to corrupt the morals of youths" Mencken made a statement denying that he had come to Boston in quest of publicity.

"It would do me no good," he said. "I should not want the prosperity of the magazine to depend on its being obscene. It appeals to the intelligent and decent people and assumes that such matters are open to discussion and debate."

REPORT OF GREAT GOLD DISCOVERY IN PANAMA

LONDON, April 6.—(AP)—Elliott Alves, chairman of the Panama Corporation, today made public some of the details of the reported gold discoveries in Panama. The concessions granted by the Panama government cover an area of more than 4,000 square miles and are declared to be the first concessions of this nature ever granted to British interests in that country, a decree having been promulgated by congress forbidding similar concessions at any time again.

One concession is in the north and others are in the south of Panama. The northern concession has an area of 1,100 square miles; it is in the state of Veragua.

The southern concessions have an area of about 3,500 square miles and adjoin the frontier of Columbia.

It is provided that after ten years' exploration of all the areas selected by the concessionaries, they shall continue their absolute ownership in perpetuenty, neither municipal nor national taxes will be levied, and the president of a royalty of two per cent. on the gold exported and the construction of necessary roads and bridges are the only obligations on the concessionaires.

Panama, continued Mr Alvas will give the fullest assistant and co operation. There is a prospect that great silver and zinc mines will also be opened.

ARGUMENT ABOUT PET DOGS RESULTS IN DOUBLE MURDER

FREEPORT, N. Y., April 6—(AP)—Mrs. William Watson, whose recent affairs have been marked by wrangles over alimony with her burlesque-actor husband, "Sliding Billy" Watson, was shot to death today in an argument with a discharged waiter about two pet dogs. Henry Kothe, joint proprietor with her of the Three Hundred club, a roadhouse, was killed with her.

Just after police received word of the double killing Karl Kirsche, a waiter at the roadhouse, walked into police headquarters and announced that he had just shot Mrs. Watson and Kothe. His principal concern seemed to be that he had caused the police extra work.

"I'm very sorry I have made you so much trouble," he said. "But I lost my temper."

He said that he had come to work in the roadhouse about three weeks ago from Jersey City, N. J., and that last night he had been discharged after siding with a customer in an argument against the proprietors. He packed his clothes this morning and was passing his employers as they sat down to breakfast when he was greeted with "a sarcastic remark" about two pet Pomeranian dogs and lost his temper.

There were no witnesses to the killing, the police being first notified by a telephone repair man who had been working outside and who heard the shots. Mrs. Watson and Kothe were found lying face down beside the breakfast table on which the food was still steaming when police arrived. Both had bullet wounds through the head.

The Watsons were separated in June, 1924. In the agreement it was decided that the actor should pay $75 per week alimony and his wife might keep their Freeport home. Alleging that he had fallen behind in his alimony, Mrs. Watson obtained a judgment for $3,175 against the actor last year. The judgment covered both alimony and a $2,000 loan Mrs. Watson said she made her husband just prior to their separation.

"Sliding Billy" Watson is one of the leading figures in the burlesque field and has a company of his own. He is at present playing in Columbia, O.

It was said at the district attorney's office today that the case would be presented to the grand jury Friday.

CHAPMAN'S BODY BURIED IN MT. BENEDICT CEMETERY

HARTFORD, April 6—(AP)—Gerald Chapman, murderer, whose life the state took by law's decree early today, is in a grave in Mount St. Benedict cemetery. What he did and how he did it was still the uppermost topic of discussion all day among people in this city who knew more of Chapman and followed his fights for freedom closer than those in any other place.

Newsboys hawking their papers on the street found eager customers to whom the sidelights in the career of the man gave added interest.

Chapman's body claimed by the Rev. Father Michael P. Barry, prison chaplain, under the law which gives a friend the right to take the body of a felon and give it decent burial to save it from the knife of an anatomist, was buried soon after sunrise.

Father Barry had signed a permit so that the body might be placed in consecrated ground. All but a small section of the cemetery which lies partly in this city and mostly over the Bloomfield town line is consecrated. Chapman was born to Catholic parents.

He had been baptized in that faith and had served as an altar boy. Father Barry had said that he would give Christian burial to Chapman as a friend. He was not at the grave. Before that hour, leaving to the undertaker the arrangements, he had departed on a two months' vacation from his labors as pastor of Sacred Heart church in Wethersfield.

His destination was unknown to close friends and brother priests.

KELLOGG ADVISES CHILIAN AND PERUVIAN DIPLOMATS

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—Plenipotentiaries of the Chilean and Peruvian governments, her to conduct negotiations for settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute, were asked today by Secretary Kellogg to "set an example to the world of a willingness to make concessions, adjust their differences and again restore their diplomatic and commercial relations.

In reply they expressed a mutual desire on the part of their governments to find a basis for agreement upon which an unreserved reconciliation could be had.

The meeting of the ambassadors and their staffs at the state department marks the beginning of direct negotiations, initiated by the United States as mediator, for settlement of the aged dispute between Chile and Peru over the sovereignty of the two provinces.

LYMAN MAINE ADJUDGED NOT GUILTY BY CITY COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 6—Lyman Maine was found not guilty of a charge of abandoning his wife and child and cohabiting with another woman, when presented in the police court Tuesday morning, when the continued case was resumed. Judge Frank H. Yeomans was on the bench. The defendant continued the testimony which he had started Monday and which was halted when word was received of the death of Chief of Police Allan McArthur. The basis of his testimony was to flatly deny any of the charges of abandoning or wrong-doing brought against him by his wife, Mrs. Flora Heath Maine of Franklin. In regard to his leaving this city on March 10 with Mrs. Marguerit Howse for Canada, witness stated that he had planned to return here on or about March 18. He resumed his description of the trip to Moira, Canada with the woman. In Canada they visited relatives of Mrs. Howse. He said that he had met the Howse woman at the home of his sister, Mrs. Nichols of High street, this city, where he went to spend his evenings because of the unattractive state of affairs at his home.

Mrs. Nichols, sister of the defendant, said that she had known Mrs. Howse for about six months and that both she and brother had been visitors at her home. She knew that Mrs. Howse was planning to go to Canada to visit relatives and also that her brother had planned a trip into Canada. There was nothing wrong in their relations, she stated.

Mrs. Howse said that her home was in England and that she had lived in this country for about six months. She was a domestic by occupation and a friend of Mrs. Nichols. She told of having been granted a fourteen day vacation and deciding to visit her sister, Mrs. Kenneth K. Foster in Moira, Canada. She was telling of her intended trip to Mrs. Nichols and Mr. Maine who was present decided to see something of Canada. He was invited to spend a few days at the home of Mrs. Howse's relatives. Cross-examined by Prosecuting Attorney Gaucher Mrs. Howse said that she saw nothing wrong in the trip; that nothing improper transpired on the trip or at any other time during her acquaintance with Mr. Maine.

John Moriarty, an employe of the Gulf Refining company, testified that Mr. Maine had told him just before leaving for Canada that he would be back in ten days or two weeks, to complete a painting contract with the company.

First Selectman Ernest P. Chesebro gave testimony that Maine had come to him before leaving and told him that he was about to take a vacation and mentioned that he would like to see Canada and Niagara Falls on the return trip.

Mrs. Alice D. Stoughton, assistant town clerk, testified that the defendant had secured from her a certificate of his citizenship in the United States and residence in Willimantic.

Louis Chartier testified that Mr. Maine had employed him to go to work for him in the latter part of March or the first part of April.

After brief arguments by the attorneys Judge Foss announced that he did not deem the evidence presented sufficient for a conviction and declared defendant not guilty.

PRESIDENTIAL GAVEL GOES TO JAMES P. BATH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 6—James P. Bath was presented the presidential gavel by retiring president John F. Ahern, at the annual meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club held in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday noon. President Bath received the honor and assumed his new duties with an excellent talk which came as a reply to farewell remarks by ex-President Ahern. The attendance contest between the Haymakers and the Coal-Heavers having come to a conclusion last Tuesday with a close victory for the former team, Captain Charles B. Pomeroy was called upon to present the forfeit, a beautiful meeting gong, to the club which he did [illegible] appropriate remarks. A [illegible] was made by Captain [illegible]er of the Coal-Heavers were distributed and [illegible] hit with the mem-

[illegible]ushing the gavel President Ahern called for annual reports. Treasurer Herbert W. Huber presented a printed report which he explained in detail. SAN JOSE COUNCIL HOLDS SUCCESSFUL BALL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 6—About one hundred attended the 26th annual concert and ball given by San Jose Council No. 14, Knights of Columbus in the State Armory last evening. Music was by the Peerless augmented orchestra. Deputy Grand Knight James Healy, accompanied by Miss Virginia Hagerty led the grand march, followed by District Deputy T. Frank Cunningham with Miss Mildred Fitzgerald. The ladies were attired in especially beautiful gowns, many in the modish pastel tints which were also used as colors for the artistic decorations of the drill shed.

At the conclusion of the grand march a tribute of respect was paid to the late Chief of Police Allan McArthur. As those present stood with bowed heads the orchestra played Nearer My God to Thee. During intermission purple of Mrs. Eileen Racicot entertained with novelty dancing.

Grand Knight Patrick A. Connor was general chairman of the affair. The committee comprised: Thomas O'Brien, chairman; James A. Healy, Luke C. Hevrin, William Grady, Paul Moran, J. Francis Moriarty, Daniel Graf, Robert Casey, Arthur P. Bergeron, Conrad Dubeau and Gilbert P. Flynn. The reception committee headed by District Deputy T. Frank Cunningham consisted of: John M. Bransfield, Edward F. Casey, James F. Twomey, James Courtney, John McDonough, John W. Moran, James F. Lynch, Eugene E. Hickey, William A. Costello, Edward Ottenheimer, Joseph P. Cotter, Arthur P. Bergeron, William Grady, Gilbert P. Flynn and J. Francis Moriarty.

The Women's Committee of the N. S. L. A. comprising employes of the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company, met at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, with Miss Anna Shea, chairman. The session opened with a song by the club with John F. Ahern as song leader, and Miss Mildred Pickett at the piano. The secretary, Miss Bessie Hochberg read the minutes. Miss Eleanor Foote featured in a reading entitled The Powder Puff versus The Utility Razor. The speaker of the day was Frank Miln of the Rockville office who gave an instructive talk on the gas industry. A forum brought out many questions from the audience. Announcement of the May meeting was made by Miss Elvina Beaulieu. The committee for the day served refreshments. Mrs. Maude Cosgrove represented the Rockville employes. Adjournment was taken at 1.20 o'clock.

It became known at the session of police court Tuesday morning that there was no case against David Williams of 41 Jackson street who was charged with violation of the liquor law. One of the fourteen young men on which bench warrants were being served by Deputy Sheriffs William E. Jackson and Charles N. Ayer of Killingly and Chief of Police Allan McArthur, the latter had occasion to enter William's home. Chief McArthur found a still and a quantity of moonshine in the rooms. Officers later looked the situation over and found that they had no foundation for a case. There had been no reports to the officers that Williams had been manufacturing or selling and the case became one for the federal authorities. Williams reported for court as ordered but was informed Tuesday that his case had been dropped. He had retained counsel.

Albert Thomas Grady of Ives street pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication, breach of the peace and assault in police court Tuesday morning. Judge Foss imposed a fine of $5 and costs in each count, the total of $2.65 being paid.

Edward Thompson pleaded guilty to intoxication in city court Tuesday and drew a fine of $14.15 which he paid.

A wide search was started to locate Herman Johnson, 63, of Larchmont, N. Y., who wandered away from his son's home in Hampton, Monday morning. He came to visit Frank Johnson of Hampton last Saturday and was to remain one week. Monday morning the elderly man strode away and has not been seen since. It was at first thought that he had started back to his home in Larchmont, but a telephone call to that place dashed this supposition. Acting Chief Thomas F. Grady of the police department was notified of the man's disappearance Tuesday. The man wore a light cap, two tan sweaters, black trousers and police shoes. He has a small gray mustache.

The spirits of many Mansfield residents have been keyed up by the announcement of State Highway Commissioner Macdonald made to Daniel C. Flaherty, selectman and Annie Winton representative of the town that he had ordered a survey to be made to the so-called Mansfield and Mt. Hope road. A thorough study of the road situation will be made so that the state aid money available can be applied to best advantage.

The honor roll of Connecticut Agricultural college for the term from September 1925 to February 1926 contains the names of three Windham high school graduates: Charles W. Phelps, who is grouped in honors of the first grade, John Johnson and Ray C. Williams.

Charles H. Learned who died at his home in Mansfield Center late Sunday afternoon was born in Waltham, Mass., July 31, 1842, a son of James and Eliza Gardiner Learned.

The police headquarters entrance was draped in mourning Tuesday in respect to the memory of Chief of Police Allan McArthur. The emblem of sorrow will remain for thirty days.

Mrs. Patrick Hurley is ill with grip at the home of her son, J. Edmund Hurley.

Funeral services for William F. Mann, Jr., were held Tuesday afternoon with services at 144 Valley street at two o'clock. Rev. Paul Bartlewski officiated. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where Rev. Father Bartlewski read the committal service. Killourey Brothers had charge of the arrangements.

A successful whist party was held at St. Joseph's hall Tuesday evening by the Catholic Daughters.

"Jim" Gaffney, famous old amateur welterweight boxing champion and the hero of a score of battles was a guest of Ex-Mayor Oscar O. Tanner last week. Jim has been a member of the New London police force for over twenty years and desk sergeant for fifteen years.

In Columbia town court Saturday morning, Justice of the Peace H. P. Collins heard the case of Brownie Sledziewsky of Mansfield City charged with issuing a worthless check to Joseph Publisky of Columbia several months ago. According to the story told, a real estat deal was consumated some time ago between the two parties, the defendant giving a note for $325, on which payments were made from time to time until a balance of $75 remained. The court was informed that when the time came to pay the ba[illegible]e, Sledziewsky recalled the note and gave Publisky a check for the balance, but asked the latter not to cash the check for two months. In the meantime Publisky came to this city and in payment for merchandise at [illegible] store of J. Isadore Reller on Main street tendered the check telling the proprietor of the store to hold it up for a few days. This, the latter did; but later when he turned in the check with his banking account it was returned with protest charges, marked "no funds."

Heller got in touch with Publisky to have him make good the amount of the check and the latter came back at Sledziewsky for the purpose but the Mansfield man declined to settle in court. Sledziewsky admitted drafting of the check for $75, but shortly afterwards decided to pay in cash. The check was lost sight of until the court proceedings came up. Heller returned the protested check to Publisky, who entered a complaint to Grand Juror Joseph N. Clark and the case started.

Justice of the Peace Collins was of the opinion that during the time between the issuance of the check and the date when it was tendered to Heller, Publisky must have known of the financial standing of Sledziewsky. The case was nolled on payment of costs, amounting to $17.55. Civil action is expected to follow.

DANIELSON

DEATH OF CHARLES S. HYDE CAUSES WIDESPREAD REGRET

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 6—Residents of all the towns hereabouts shared Tuesday with Brooklyn in mourning the loss of Charles S. Hyde, whose death occurred at his home in Brooklyn early Monday evening after an illness of a few days with influenza and pneumonia.

There was no general knowledge of the fact that Mr. Hyde was ill until Monday, when his condition had become so serious as to preclude almost all hope of recovery.

Mr. Hyde was known through all of eastern Windham county through his connection with public affairs as an official and through his grange and other semipublic associations.

A native of Canterbury, where he was born December 30, 1858, Mr. Hyde had spent the greater part of his active life in that town, coming to Brooklyn a few years ago after he had given up farming on such an extensive scale as had marked many years of his life. He was a son of Jirah and Sophronia (Hyde) Hyde and of a family that has been prominent in the affairs of Canterbury for generations.

Mr. Hyde had on five different occasions been a member of the general assembly of Connecticut, having served as a member of the house from Canterbury in the sessions of 1897, 1903, 1905 and 1911. In 1923, Brooklyn honored him by sending him to Hartford as the representative of that town. Mr. Hyde was a democrat of the old Jeffersonian school and as such served both Brooklyn and Canterbury in legislative capacity. A solid, substantial citizen, free of every artifice, friendly, kindly and dependable, he was regarded wherever known as a traditionally pure American type. There was an inspiring degree of satisfaction in sharing in his friendship and in regarding the thoroughly conscientious manner in which he discharged every obligation, public and private.

In addition to his legislative duties, Mr. Hyde had held town offices in Canterbury and Brooklyn. For many years and at the time of his death he was one of the jury commissioners of Windham county. He was a member of Moriah lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Danielson, a charter member of Brooklyn grange, at the 40th anniversary of which, a few days ago, he presented a historical paper, a member of Quinebaug Pomona grange and of the Brooklyn Congregational church. He had held official positions for years in the Windham County Agricultural society, at the annual exhibition of which each year for decades he had been an exhibitor of cattle and farm products.

Mr. Hyde leaves his wife, who was Miss Addie Cleveland, and a brother, Jirah Hyde, a resident of Hampton.

AMERICAN LEGION POST WANTS COMMUNITY HALL

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 6—Leo J. L'Homme post, American Legion, remains consistently earnest in its efforts sufficient to raise a fund to build a community building in Danielson. The post has been accumulating for some time past a fund for this purpose and is now on the eve of another very special effort to further increase its saving for the purpose mentioned. It is significant that the Community house project is all that the name implies. The post is not seeking something for itself alone, but a community structure that will be that in every sense of the word and a benefit to the people as a whole. In this public spirited effort the former service men are entitled to every aid and consideration. The post is active, well organized and has the aid of a splendid auxiliary in furthering its programs for the community house fund.

On behalf of a great many people who often express privately a wish that never gets much publicity, The Bulletin suggests this morning that the people of Danielson and other parts of the town of Killingly would welcome a circus—a good one—in Danielson the coming summer.

The purveyors of "big top" entertainment have been passing up Danielson for several years. Various explanations have been offered as to why these shows do not play Danielson when they give dates to nearby communities offering doubtfully greater opportunities for attracting patronage. None of these explanations are wholly satisfying.

From hearing comment these early spring days, one would be inclined to believe that Killingly people would welcome a real circus the coming summer. Mention of this is made now, that no effort of any character may later be made to block a booking here. Danielson rates a good circus town, a producer of profitable business for the show. Having grown considerably and having more surplus cash than in the old days, it is about ready to make a circus that appears here glad it came.

Attorneys Harry E. Back and W. Fenner Woodward inspected Tuesday a new mill that is being established at East Woodstock. This textile plant is a model style and is now being equipped with machinery.

A motorist traveling between Danielson and South Killingly over the state highway Tuesday afternoon came near to upsetting his car in applying brakes quickly to avoid striking three deer that he encountered in rounding a curve.

Lumber that will be used in preliminary operations of the building program has been received at the Killingly high school site.

Of special interest is the fact that there are 7,000 users of books of the Danielson public library. Not all take out books regularly, though a great many do.

Chief John McFarland finds it somewhat regular requirement to prevent motorists backing into Center street, a one-way street, to turn cars around for travel in Main street, this being against the traffic regulations here.

About every shade of opinion found expression here this week relative to the Gerald Chapman case, and its various angles. All are now united on the agreement that he is dead for all time.

A week from tomorrow morning, April 15, Snake Meadow brook, state-leased and stocked, will be thrown open to the public for trout fishing. The brook is now under regular daily patrol by game wardens.

Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Ayer is again actively engaged with his duties after an illness that kept him confined to his home for a week—the first time in 32 years that illness forced him to remain at home.

Pierre Goulais, long a resident of Danielson, is seriously ill at his home on Cottage street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Natorski motored to New York for a brief visit with friends.

The Roundabout club is to meet Thursday with Mrs. Robert Tyrell.

A County Y. M. C. A. Older Boys' conference is to be held this year in Moosup, probably on a date late in the present month.

Next Monday afternoon the polls will open at 4 p. m. in the town hall burning for the annual borough election.

Reports from the eastern section of the town indicate that buds on peach trees are in good condition and stood the winter well.

A Peeping Tom is reported operating on streets in the vicinity of Davis park and adjoining neighborhoods. He has been reported on two evenings within a week.

Trout fishermen are reporting better catches as the season wears on. One heard Tuesday of a string of 15 trout caught by a Plainfield man.

Arthur C. Pelletier of Holyoke visited with friends in Danielson on Tuesday.

Hector Lagace of St. Charles Academy at Woonsocket has been spending the Easter recess at his home in Danielson.

Miss Helen Cronin, who has been spending the Easter vacation at her home here, is to be graduated in June from Mt. St. Vincent college on the Hudson. Miss Cronin is a graduate of Killingly high school, class of 1922.

John Flood, who has conducted a stable on Furnace street for several years, is to make his home at a farm in the Mashentuck section.

Spring being here, one again hears expressions of curiosity as to whether it would be possible to catch from the waters of Alexander's lake a few of the Chinook salmon that were released there a number of years ago. These fish released when they were seven to nine inches in length, should be big fellows now if any of them are living. There is no record of any of this species or fish ever being caught in Alexander's lake, but there are those who believe they are there.

A meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Westfield Congregational church is scheduled to be held in the church parlor this (Wednesday) afternoon.

EAST WOODSTOCK

Mrs. J. S. May is visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. May, in Waterford.

Rev. H. D. Baker is confined to his home by a grip cold.

The pulpit was occupied Sunday by Rev. Harry Lawson of Union. The pulpit platform was banked with flowering plants and the choir sang an anthem. The Junior Endeavor meeting was led by Alfred Witherell. The Senior Endeavor by Constance Witherell.

A social was held last Friday evening at the Community house. The supper consisted of beef loaf, escalloped potato rolls, gingerbread with whipped cream and coffee. The young girls in Mrs. Carl Morse's Sunday school class served the supper, assisted by the mothers.

A religious drama entitled "Easter morning was given by the young people. In the cast were the following: Misses Eunice Pike, Elsie Hibbard, Marion Cady, Joseph Morse and Dudley Gifford. A piano duet was given by Alfred Wetherelle and Sarah Pike, a piano solo by Miss Dasatille.

Mrs. L. H. Lindeman is spending a few days in New York with her daughter, Louise also stopped in Waterbury to visit her brother, Silas Allen and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Aldrich, Miss Elizabeth McMillan and Hale Towne left Tuesday after the auction and after making a few farewell visits started Thursday for California by automobile. They will take the southern route and expect to reach Los Angeles in a month or so. The Ladies' Aid society presented Mrs. Aldrich a handsome silk scarf, as a token of esteem.

PUTNAM

MISS MATHEWSON REBUILDS HISTORIC FOX HILL HOME

(Special to the Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 6.—Miss Eleanor Mathewson who lost her home on Fox Hill farm, in a disastrous fire last Thanksgiving day, is rebuilding the house and hopes to be able to occupy it by the first of August. The new house will be smaller than the old one, with fewer rooms.

Miss Mathewson's home has been a famous place for Pomfret visitors for a number of years. The original Mathewson house, one of the oldest and most historic in Pomfret, was burned to the ground on New Year's day in 1915. She at once rebuilt. Miss Mathewson lost all her possessions in the second fire of last Thanksgiving, when the house was again burned to the ground. She was so much discouraged that she did not at first contemplate rebuilding but later decided to replace the house. Her friends from all parts of the country are delighted to hear of her decision.

WALLACE W. TUTTLE DIES—WIFE SERIOUSLY ILL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 6.—Wallace W. Tuttle, 48, died this morning at his home on King street, after ten days' illness with pneumonia. Prior to last week he had been in vigorous health. Sunday, April 3, he suffered a violent chill followed by high temperature that developed into an acute attack of pneumonia. For the past four days he had been delirious the greater part of the time. Mrs. Tuttle is also seriously ill with pneumonia, but was reported better today. Mr. Tuttle came to Putnam two years ago as assistant manager of the Putnam Company, manufacturers of steam heating furnaces.

DR. OVERLOOK IN MAINE—MISSED PARDON BD. HEARING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 6. — Wilbur C. Overlook, brother of Dr. Seldon B. Overlook died Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of his foster-son, John Howard, near Rockwell, Maine. Rockwell was Mr. Overlook's own home.

Dr. Overlook left for Maine Sunday afternoon in response to a message advising him of his brother's critical condition. This prevented him from attending the meeting of the state board of pardons of which he is a member, held at Hartford Monday, to consider Chapman's plea.

Alice Bradford, 11 months old daughter of Rev. James F. English, pastor of the Second Congregational church, and Mrs. English, died Tuesday morning at Day Kimball hospital, after a short illness. The child had been suffering from a slight cold and last night became violently ill. It was determined this morning that she had pneumonia in an acute form and death resulted shortly before 11 o'clock. The sympathy of the community is being expressed to Mr. and Mrs. English.

Selectman William P. Warren of Putnam was runner-up in the Eastern Connecticut championship. Warren was defeated in the final rounds by Carl Hallen of Lebanon one game to none with three draws. As runner-up he was awarded the second prize of $10. Putnam had the largest representation in the opening round, having six of the 15 entrants. Alderman Dubois and Frank S. Stanton easily defeated their opponents. H. H. Barton and William Warren scored wins, and Henry Dubois and Judge M. H. Geisler were eliminated. Joseph Gorman of Norwich, formerly of Putnam, also scored a win. At the finish Putnam was still in the game.

A few weeks ago Milton Panteles and John Zachariades dissolved partnership as owners of the Colonial restaurant and for some reason an argument started. After scrapping for some time in the restaurant, they changed to the street and waged the war there. The police interfered, stopped the fight and arrested both the participants on a charge of breach of the peace. They were taken to the police station where they were released after securing bonds of $50 each for their appearance in court.

John Schela of South Main street was arrested by Officer Page for being drunk. When taken into custody he had with him a quart bottle of alcohol but refused to say where he got it. He failed to get a bondsman so was committed to the lock-up.

Henry Belisle of Lee street, charged with being drunk, was found guilty and sentenced to ten days in Brooklyn jail, but sentence was suspended for six months.

There has been issued from the press of a publishing house of text books in Boston, a volume of American History under the direction of Professor Mason West and under the heading of Trade and Communication, use is made of the famous signboard of the Ben Grosvenor inn with its Mounted Colonial officer. This widely known trade mark, is in the form of a fine illustration with the caption, "A Hanging Sign of the Ben Grosvenor Inn, Pomfret Connecticut, on the road between Boston and New York."

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus M. Kimball who have been spending the winter in Capri on the Bay of Naples, Italy, are now in London where they have taken a house for the season at 3 John Stere, London, W. I.

POETRY.

A Friend of Man

I will build me a house by the side of the road,
Where the automobile pass by;
I will find me a nook which is screened from the cold,
Where the road is never dry.

I will buy me a team of horses strong,
And hitch them fast to a chain,
I will be on hand when the cars come along
Right after the first Spring rain.

I will watch the road from my sheltered nook
Till the wheels get firmly stuck,
Then I'll saunter forth, with a friendly look,
And sing as a man in luck.

I will wait till every means they've tried,
With blocks, jacks, chains and power;
And when they are thoroughly satisfied
I will chant: "This is my hour!"

Then I'll bring my team with ropes and chains
And fasten them firm to the bar;
I will pull from the mud the soiled remains
Of an erstwhile beautiful car.

But before they start on their way again
I'll collect a handsome fee.
They will surely remember the good time when
They were pulled from the mud by me!

Yes, I'll build me a house by the side of the road,
Where the automobiles go by,
And I'll earn in one Spring enough greenbacks
To last me till I die.

—James S. Stevens in Boston Globe.

The Wild Geese

The wild geese, flying in the night, behold
Our sunken towns lie underneath a sea,
Which buoys them no its billows. Liberty
They have, but such as those frail barques of old
That crossed unsounded mains to reach our world.
To them the blight unspeakable is free;
They have the moon and stars for company;
To them no foe but the remorseless cold,
And froth of polar currents darting past.
That have been nigh the world's end lair of storms.
Enormous billows float their fragile forms,
Yet, those frail beings, tossing on the vast
Of wild revolving winds, feel no dismay!
Tis we who dread the thunder, and not they.

—James Herbert Morse.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Teacher—William use Idaho in a sentence.

William—Idaho lot rather answer another question.—Washington Star.

Elliott—Did you enjoy the show?

Burton—Yes; the jokes make me feel so young.—Capper's Weekly.

Mrs. Hilder—My new "flesh" hose are full of holes. I wonder what's the matter with them?

Hilder—Probably a skin disease.—Twice Told Tales.

Old Lady—I can't bear to see you smoking that cigarette little boy!

Can't you ma'am? Well, you walk on, and I won't draw another puff until you get around the corner.—Good Hardware.

When charity is needed I'm always the first to put my hand in my pocket.

Yeh, and you keep it there.—University of Pittsburgh Panther.

Angry Parent (striding into dimly lighted room)—Young man, I'll teach you to make love to my daughter!

Daring Dan—Wish you would, old boy. I'm not making much headway.—Grinnell Malteasor.

New Boarder—Say, what kind of table do they set here?

Old Ditto—Oh, all right, I suppose. We have chicken every morning.

Chicken every morning? How is it served?

In the shell.—Judge.

KALEIDOSCOPE

If all bird life were destroyed, insects would soon make the earth uninhabitable.

Because of its liver-shaped leaves, the hepatica plant was once used as medicine for liver disorders.

The elephant's sense of smell is so keen that some hunters say it can scent a man a mile or more away.

There are 825 trees, representing 92 varieties, in the grounds of the national capitol at Washington.

The first dental college for women in the Philippines was opened in 1925 in Manila, in connection with the Centro Escolar de Senoritas, with a woman dentist as dean.

Senator Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, has a record which no other member of congress has ever equaled or likely ever will. His father, grandfather, great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather all were United States senators from Delaware before him.

After spending a full day to lay a 100-foot seine in Lake Current, George Rauenhorst, of Ruthton, Minn., hitched on a team of horses to pull it in and caught one small perch. Right there he established a record for the smallest catch in the state, because a state law prohibits the taking of perch from the lake and he was compelled to throw back his only fish.

Radio is becoming popular among the Russian masses. About 1,000,000 home dwellers now have amateur wireless sets. The government charges a license fee of 50 cents a year for a crystal set and $1 a year for a tube set. Amateurs are allowed to use transmitting apparatus as well as receiving sets. Importation of radio equipment is prohibited, all apparatus being of Russian manufacture.

Use of slow-speed motion pictures as a short cut in tennis coaching has been adopted by a tennis club in Culver City, Cal. Harvey Snodgrass, ranking singles player in 1925 and net professional at the Palomar Tennis club, brought the idea into play. A photographer on the sidelines "shoots" the pupils as they go through their first few lessons. Then they are shown the film and all defects in playing form are pointed out. Then back to the courts they go for correction.

Tokio is the one great city in the world where bicycles continue to be a favorite form of transportation. There are nearly 100,000 licensed within the municipality. Of late years many of these have acquired sidecars and trailers and their presence on the main streets has become a serious problem. A census of traffic taken recently shows that between 6 in the morning and 6 at night, at some of the busiest corners, an average of 2,300 bicycles pass an hour. These are ridden mostly by young boys, messenger boys, delivery clerks, school lads and the like, who dodge in and through the other traffic at high speeds, causing many accidents.

WHERE THE BIG TROUBLE LIES

According to the figures of the department of motor vehicles "operators were to blame for 78 1-3 per cent. of the accidents last year, other persons for 21 1-3 per cent. and defective equipment for 3 1-3 per cent., miscellaneous causes for the remainder."

Thus when we stop to think of it, it is through the operators that there can be expected the greatest reduction in motor vehicle accidents. If the auto accidents were only those which were caused by defective equipment and other persons, meaning those riding bicycles, children in the highways or pedestrians stepping out from behind vehicles, there would be only about one quarter of what there are which would certainly be too many even then.

Without a doubt there is an excellent opportunity for the reduction of all classes of accidents but with nearly three quarters of them being caused by the operators of cars the greatest stress needs to be applied right there. All one has to do is to watch the manner in which many cars are operated, whether they are involved in accidents or not, and it can be readily understood why there are so many needless collisions, upsets and crashes. Speed becomes a mania with some drivers and they are not willing to brook any delay. They must burn up the road wherever they are, whether it is going down bad hills, around corners or in tearing through traffic. And in a great majority of the cases there is absolutely no need for it. They are not involved in life or death missions and yet they drive as if that were the case, with the result that when they get in a tight place and encroach upon the rights of others there are serious consequences. Too many drive as if they expected to find no one else on the highway, cut blind corners and take whopping chances and then act surprised if something happens.

The figures put forth by the motor vehicle department are sufficient to direct needed attention to the deplorable number of accidents and show conclusively that they are avoidable if proper care is observed.

SEEKING THE POLE

Every explorer sets out with confidence, and it is thus that Lieutenant Commander Byrd departed from New York for Spitsbergen on the first leg of his endeavor to find out some additional facts concerning the polar regions through the use of flying machines.

Airplanes have been employed in similar undertakings without favorably impressing those who had great confidence in them until they had had a demonstration of their limitations. Perhaps it will be possible for Lieutenant Commander Byrd to overcome those conditions and to actually accomplish what is desired. He at least goes with that idea in mind and it is to be realized that he has the advantage of knowing what obstacles the others encountered and therefore can be on his guard in anticipating and overcoming them. Every explorer makes good use of the experiences of the others regardless of the transportation means employed.

Without a doubt the time is coming when some one is going to fly over the pole, perhaps alight beside it and also make a thorough exploration of the territory that is at present slightly or totally unknown. Amundsen had great confidence in his attempt before he started. MacMillan was sure that the airplanes were going to be of great benefit to his expedition, but there was much disappointment in both instances. Even the Wilkins expedition, planning to cross the pole in the air from a point in northern Alaska, has encountered difficulties with the planes before a start could be made.

Crossing the pole involves conditions which are not experienced elsewhere. A desolate, rough, uncertain trip with extreme cold and severe storms must be expected. It is not to be looked upon as a recreational trip or a summer's outing. There is peril in big measure to be faced and it calls for resourcefulness and courage to meet it. Many have sought but few have found the pole, but, as is the case with every expedition, the best wishes of interested countrymen go with him.

PEACE OR CONTINUED WAR?

While the rainy season has been on fighting in Morocco has been at a standstill. Whether it is going to be resumed again is a question which is interesting Abd-El-Krim, the Spanish and the French. There have been indications of a resumption of activity and there have also been conferences which indicated the possibility of peace.

France knows and has known for a long time that it has other uses for its money than the prosecution of war in Morocco. The fact is that the conflict there was not of its seeking. It was forced into it and believed that it was duty bound to shoulder its responsibilities as the guardian of its part of that territory. It has met with more success than the Spanish experienced and through the joining of activities the two countries could anticipate crushing the Riffians.

But the question also arises as to whether it is advisable to go to the heavy expense in money and men that would be involved in continuation of the war for the sake of success, or to carry on negotiations which would result in peaceful conditions in Morocco without that burden. France has reason to think of this matter seriously, for it is not only confronted with the expense of a continued campaign in northern Africa but it is also involved in similar activity in Syria at a time when it has had serious difficulty in balancing its budget and when it needs its money for other purposes.

Thus when French leaders got together for the purpose of discussing plans for the ending of hostilities in Morocco there was evidence of a new sentiment gripping the French authorities. Peace has of course been talked before but at this particular stage added significance must be attached to it. The war in northern Africa has always occasioned more than passive opposition but the time would seem to arrive when a different attitude must be displayed toward the constant drain that is required for such purposes, especially during these days when peace and disarmament are so much favored.

HARTFORD'S ELECTION

By the result of the Hartford election it becomes apparent that the voters of the capital city are satisfied with the administration that they have been receiving under the guidance of Mayor Stevens and desire a continuance of such good government.

As in all cities, there were certain local matters which came to the front for the citizens to consider in electing new officials or reelecting present ones. According to the vote they have given endorsement to the manner in which they have been treated under the present administration and in spite of the desperate efforts that were made to distort the issues insisted that there be no change.

Hartford underwent conditions under democratic control which caused the people of that city to demand a change. There was a housecleaning that was wholesome and recognition of this improvement has been voiced in an emphatic manner by the electorate the first time it was given a chance to express itself.

There can be no disposition to tolerate bad conditions or to seek to bring them back. Endeavors to misrepresent conditions for the purpose of gaining political office may fool the people some of the time but not always. Evidently the voters of Hartford have recognized the wisdom of analysing the facts for themselves and using their votes in accordance therewith with the result that they have ordered Mayor Stevens to continue for another term and declared for the maintenance of businesslike policies. That should be the aim of every municipality.

HOSPITAL FIRES

From unknown causes fire greatly damaged the Penobscot General hospital at Oldtown, Me., caused the death of one and nine patients were removed with difficulty.

This deplorable condition represents that which exists in too many institutions of this character. At the time of their construction little thought was probably given to the erection of a fire proof structure and since then efforts to safeguard against fire have apparently been inadequate.

Such institutions as hospitals homes for aged, homes for children school houses, theatres and buildings where there are apt to be large gatherings should be protected against fire. Patients and particularly those who have just undergone operations as was the case with three in the Oldtown hospital, are helpless when it comes to doing anything to get away from the building on fire and too often the facilities for dealing with fire are not what they should be.

Buildings which cannot be abandoned can have their furnace rooms so protected that the fire dangers from such a source can be minimized and the chances for fires from other causes can be carefully guarded. For the proper protection of life this is necessary, but when it comes to the construction of new buildings for such a purpose just such a distressing situation as that at Oldtown can be eliminated through the erection of fireproof buildings. They may cost more but the expense is justified, and yet such additional expense is nothing as compared to the loss of life through the failure to eliminate such fire hazards. There are enough such fires to demonstrate the wisdom of making the proper initial provision to forestall them.

It is going to be time soon for the repairing of a large number of the streets which have been going from bad to worse through lack of needed attention.

The arrival of the first of April has made a large increase in the number of autos on the street. Bright and warm week ends will still further increase the number.

MEETING THE SISTER

"Never again," announced Geraldine, "will I be scared to death to meet anybody. Not since I met Lorna Dean."

"And who is she?" Annette inquired.

"Lorna is Jack's sister. She's more than that. She's his pal, his counselor, his housekeeper, his general supervisor—"

"Help!"

"That's the way I felt when I first heard about Lorna Dean. She might be all those things to dear Jack, but for little me she was simply the fly in the ointment—the wet blanket to be thrown on our budding romance—the—"

"That's quite enough," laughed Annette. "In other words, what you mean is that Lorna Dean is one of those wonderfully efficient sisters who imagine nobody in the wide world is good enough for her darling brother, and who are going to mount guard and save him from the plotting females that seek to devour him."

"Commend me to yourself for graphic descriptions," admired Geraldine. "That's exactly the way I felt. I'd sooner have faced a dozen mothers-in-law. There's always a chance that the dear man's mamma will remember the time she had to pass inspection by her husband's mother, but a sister-in-law. There's nothing for her to look back to."

"Unless her husband owns a couple of devoted sisters, of course."

"Not in this case, old dear. Lorna isn't married. And, what's more, she isn't even in love with anybody. She should worry. Anyway, I kept hearing about her until I thought I'd go loony.

"'My sister Lorna's a wonderful dresser.' Jack would break out suddenly after he had complimented me on some new hat or something. 'Nothing loud about Lorna. But class! Real class! You ought to see her new hat. And she made it all herself too.'

"Oh, he just couldn't help it, I guess," defended Geraldine. "You see, he and Lorna are the only two left in the family, and, of course, they're devoted to each other. She's a few years older than Jack, and she's just mean everything to him.

"Of course I'd hate my clothes the minute he got through talking about Lorna's. If he said her new suit was classy but refined I'd feel as if I had come out in a scarlet blanket trimmed with peacock's feathers. And if he told me that Lorna had just made a beautiful bright silk scarf to go with a plain black dress I'd feel as if I had wound a piece of mourning crepe around my throat.

"And her cooking was even worse. I've always prided myself on those wonderful baking-powder biscuits that I make. You know I took first prize at school for that stuff. And there was Jack—the very first time I invited him to dinner—calmly eating my biscuits while he dilated at length upon Lorna's delicious muffins and lemon cream pies!

"And books! To hear Jack talk you'd think nobody in the world knew what a book was except Lorna. And she knew 'em all.

"It got so at last that I decided I'd quit going with Jack. And then he asked me to marry him! I wanted to tell him that he'd better run home to ask Lorna first, so's to be sure she'd approve. But I just didn't have the heart." Geraldine laughed as her eyes sought her brand-new solitaire.

"Anyway, Lorna came up a few days after we were engaged. I was all prepared for her, too."

"Did she sample your baking, to be sure that Jack wouldn't pass out with indigestion?" giggled Annette.

"She did not. I got the shock of my life. She was the sweetest, most natural thing in the world, and she told me in confidence that she was glad I could cook, because Jack was just fed up with her delicatessen stuff and for goodness' sake, where'd I buy my clothes? She was sick and tired of trying to sew, and the minute Jack married and released her from keeping house for him, she was going to get a job somewhere so's she'd never have to make a single homemade thing again!"

"Did you ever? These adoring brothers. They make the same kind of blind husbands, I guess."—Exchange.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Roman newspapers usually well informed in Quirinal news have revived rumors of an engagement between Italy's heir, Prince Humbert of Piedmont, and Princess Marie Jose of the Belgians, although it is considered likely that official announcement will be deferred until Nov. 4, the anniversary of Vittorio Veneto. Princess Marie is 20 years old and the eldest of the daughters of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth. She is no stranger in Italy, having spent a portion of her early youth, there as a student in the Institute of the Annunciation at Poggio Imperial. She is said to have inherited much of the talent of her mother, who is known as the most accomplished of all the royal women of Europe. Like her mother she is a talented violinist, having graduated with high honors from the Belgian School of Music. Not only is she a gifted musician, but during the absence of the king and queen on their travels she has proved herself to be a hostess of distinction.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

QUETTA

Quetta, in Baluchistan, near which it is probable that a new solar observatory will be established by the National Geographic society and the Smithsonian Institution, is familiar,—as a name—to readers of Kipling and workers of crossword puzzles, but probably means little to most Americans. The city and its region, recently visited by Dr. C. G. Abbot, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution, are the subjects of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Quetta exists primarily for military purposes," says the bulletin "but the Pax Britannica that has been substituted for the lawlessness and banditry of former days has made an important civil community and trading center of it as well. Baluchistan is India's fortress to the east, and Quetta is it's donjon keep. The British have been in control of the place since 1877, and since 1883 have held it under perpetual lease from its old ruler, the picturesquely named Wali of Kalat.

"When the British went in Quetta was only a little group of mud huts surrounded by unhealthy plains that were virtually swamps. Drainage and sanitation have made the place over. Now Quetta has a population of about 30,000; and the once swampy lowlands furnish a setting for villas and farm houses surrounded by orchards and planted groves.

"The outstanding feature of Quetta, still, however, is the cantonment where six or eight regiments of British and Indian troops are quartered. This extensive post is on the north on relatively high ground while the civil town is to the south on a lower level. Mud, in the form of sun-dried brick, is still a most important building material in the town, though not to the extent that it was two decades ago. Then mud-brick domes formed many of the roofs, and were considered safe because of Quetta's scant rainfall (about 10 inches annually.) But there came an unusually wet spring, and most of Quetta's buildings melted away. Since then many iron roofs—less picturesque, but better insurance against weather vagaries—have surmounted the mud walls of the town.

"The population of Quetta is British, or perhaps more broadly, by western influence. is a phenomenon that cannot be escaped by anyone who has known the town over a series of years. The standard of living rises before his eyes. Tea, a little while ago marked luxury, is becoming a common beverage. Leather footwear has displaced sandals to a noteworthy degree; all classes are wearing warmer and more comfortable clothing; and the native women are decking themselves out in more ornaments; after the manner of their prosperous sisters in other climes.

"The climate of Quetta has interesting aspects. The place is in the same latitude as Cairo; Jacksonville, Florida; and Shanghai; but because of its 6,000 feet of altitude and the physical aspect of the surrounding country, its climate is very different. Each day the mercury bobs up and down through a wide range. The difference between daily maximum and minimum has been known to reach 50 degrees; but such excessive changes are confined to cetain short season. The hills and even the valleys of Baluchistan are largely treeless, and when the sun is down heat radiates away rapidly. As a consequence the nights are always cool—even when the sun blisters one by day.

"In the matter of combatting the climate, there is nothing like an American standard of comfort in the homes of Europeans in Quetta. The winters in general are no more severe than those of Washington, but the houses are so constructed that it is most difficult if not impossible to keep warm. The rooms are huge—16 by 25 feet or so, with ceilings 18 to 24 feet high. Small fireplaces are set far into the very thick walls and what little warmth they radiate into the rooms is lost in their vastness. Yet coal of fair quality is mined near-by and is used in the town. Its use in modern heating systems could make Quetta homes as comfortable as any in the world.

"If the National Geographic-Smithsonian solar observatory is established in Baluchistan it will be placed on top 7,525-foot Kojak peak about 40 miles north of Quetta near the railroad which pierces the Kojak range and extends to Chaman, ten miles beyond on the Afghan border. To the east beyond the Kojak mountains the Registan or Helmand desert stretches for more than 100 miles. It is 60 miles to the nearest mountains in the north. To the east lies a long, broad valley. On this relatively isolated mountain ridge on the edge of the desert the precipitation is even less than in Quetta—probably seven inches or less per year. When Dr. Abbott visited the Kojak peak in January he reported that the sky was perfectly blue right up to the sun's edge and added: 'It was the clearest sky I have even seen in the world.'"

From Small Beginnings

Michael J. O'Brien, Ex-pressman, President of the Southern Express

A young man driving an express wagon need not sit on the seat of the wagon forever. He can, if he wishes, exchange the hard board and the jolting wagon for the soft cushion and the pleasant office of the president of the company. At least, that is what Michael J. O'Brien, president of the Southern Express company, did. As a young man, he had been happy indeed to be put in charge of a wagon and to be given responsibility. He was so thoroughly capable in the discharge of his duties, small though they were, that he laid a foundation on which he rose to a high position. It was Thomas Carlyle, the stern old Scotch philosopher and historian, who said that small duties are the best stepping-stones to great ones. "It is only the man who neglects the commonplace who is unable to find the opportunity to do the unusual.

As a little Irish boy, Michael O'Brien had to go to work in a printing office, earn small pay and hand it all over for the support of the family. Then, for a little while, he was clerk in a store, but the outdoor life appealed to him, and he wished the chance to use his strong young muscles, so he got a job as expressman. He did not earn much money but he saved what he could and put it aside for the day of opportunity. He had not had the chance to go to day-school but he had taken the chance of going to evening school, so he had a foundation of education, even though it was slight. He could write a good hand, and thus he was able to go from the wagon to the office as shipping-clerk. That was the first step in promotion. He carried on his work in the office just as faithfully as he had carried on the work in the wagon, and slowly, year by year, by faithfulness and efficiency, he rose from place to place, filling almost every position from that of wagon-driver to president of the company.

The one interruption in his steady development came during the Civil war when he enlisted in the Confederate service, but even here his knowledge and training led to his appointment to carry on shipping work for the confederacy. As soon as the war was over he went back to his former work, and entered upon his steady rise to the headship of the company. His success in life is the result of knowing one thing and sticking to that one thing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Working Cheap.

Mr. Editor: Here is an item that I read the other day and I would like to pass it along. It is from the Catholic Transcript of March 25, 1926:

"An American humorist once asked a profane commercial traveler, 'Are you paid anything for swearing?' 'No,' replied the drummer, 'I do it for nothing.' 'Well,' said Perkins, 'you work cheap. You lay aside your character as a gentleman, inflict pain on your friends, break a commandment, and lose your own soul—and you do certainly work cheap, very cheap.'"

Farmer Brown's Boy Speaks His Mind

Some people seem to never care
If what they do is most unfair.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

Farmer Brown's Boy keeps a watchful eye on the Smiling Pool. He has many friends there and he likes to know what is going on. Little happens at the Smiling Pool that Farmer Brown's Boy doesn't find out about. So the day after the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Quack, the Mallard Ducks, Farmer Brown's Boy paid them a visit. Now, the Quacks and Farmer Brown's Boy had been the best of friends the year before. Yes sir, they had been the best of friends. Farmer Brown's Boy had fed the Quacks every day, and the Quacks had never thought of flying when they saw him coming.

But now it was all different. Mr. and Mrs. Quack took to their wings long before Farmer Brown's Boy was anywhere near the Smiling Pool. Their eyes are keen. They had seen him coming across the Green Meadows. Farmer Brown's Boy saw them jump into the air and watched them fly swiftly over the Big River.

"My, but they are scary!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "It means that they have been shot at so much that they are afraid to allow a man anywhere near. I suppose I've got to tame them all over again. It is a shame. Yes, sir, it is a shame. I suppose it is all right to have a shooting season, but when Ducks have been so hunted that weeks and weeks after the close of the hunting season they are as wild as ever, something is all wrong. I understand that in some places the law allows a man to kill 25 ducks, and do it day after day for more than three months. That sort of thing may have been all very well when Ducks were shot for market, but now that they cannot be lawfully sold there is no excuse whatever for killing so many. I don't know how anybody can call it sport. Sport lies in giving the other party a fair chance. I'd like to know what chance a Duck has when a hunter can fire six shots at him without reloading his gun. The more I see of hunting the less I see of sport. It's a wonder to me that Mr. and Mrs. Quack have lived to get back here from the Sunny South. I think I'll go back to the barn and get some corn."

So Farmer Brown's Boy trudged back to the barn and got some corn. This he took over to the Smiling Pool and put in the water where the year before Mr. and Mrs. Quack used to feed.

"Probably they'll think I'm trying to bait them in the way some of those hunters do," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "I really don't see how we have many ducks. No sir, I don't. Men talk about being fair-minded, and then will put out food for ducks day after day until the ducks get into the habit of coming to that particular place. That is baiting them. Then some day, when the ducks think that they are perfectly safe and come flying in to get their usual meal, they are met by those terrible guns in the hands of hunters. That isn't my idea of hunting, at all. I don't know how any one can call it sport. And it's just as bad when the hunters use live ducks to call the wild ones in. That is treachery."

He carefully hid, and then possessed himself in patience. Now, patience brings its own reward. After a while he saw Mr. and Mrs. Quack coming in from the Big River. They flew high, and they circled round and round, still flying high. It was some time before they ventured to drop lower. Farmer Brown's Boy knew that if he lifted so much as a finger they would be away again. That was because they were so suspicious. It meant that they had learned that it was never safe for a duck to feel sure that things are as they look. It meant that they had been shot at so much that they trusted nothing, not even the dear old Smiling Pool where they so often had been fed.

And when at last they did drop down and alight in the Smiling Pool they were still suspicious. They had discovered the corn, but it was a long time before they ventured near enough to pick up any of it. Farmer Brown's knew exactly how they felt, and he didn't blame them in the least. "It's unfair—it's dreadfully unfair," muttered Farmer Brown's Boy.

The next story—Peeper Stops Peeping.

"It's unfair, it's dreadfully unfair," muttered Farmer Brown's Boy

When James A. Garfield decided to go to college he favored Yale, but also wrote to the presidents of Brown and Williams colleges. Yale's president made a formal reply and the president of Brown did the same. But the president of Williams took an extra second to add this line: "We shall be glad to do what we can for you." As a result of that one line Williams college received the honor of graduating a president of the United States and having as its own president Henry A. Garfield, son of President Garfield.

Hair Dry, Brittle from Constant Waving, Curling

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair, slowly burns the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle, and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre, become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

WEDDINGS

O'Neil—Harrison

John Edward O'Neil of this city and Miss Bernice Bendetta Harrison of Pawtucket were married Monday in St. Mary's church, Pawtucket, by Rev. Fr. McKenna.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. O'Neil of 244 Broad street, this city.

Bugbee-Whalen

Monday morning, at 8 o'clock, Arthur M. Bugbee, of Norwich and Miss Sarah M. Whalen of Pawtucket, R. I., were married by Rt. Rev. Mgsr. Michael H. May, rector of St. Patrick's church, Norwich. The marriage was solemnized in the basement chapel, because of the fact that the forty hours' devotion was in progress in the upper church.

Jakan-Friars

Miss Bernice Friars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Friars of 18 Walden avenue, New London and Edward Jakan of that city, formerly of Norwich, were married Saturday night at the parsonage of the First Baptist church, New London. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Chester H. Howe. The couple was attended by the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Friars.

Muttart-Pierce

A very pretty Easter wedding took place Saturday at one o'clock, at the Preston City Congregational church when Miss Marion Geneva Pierce was united in marriage with Raymond Chetwin Muttart. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Muttart, father of the groom, assisted by Rev. George W. Clark. The bridal couple was attended by Edythe Pierce, cousin of the bride, maid of honor, and Harold Muttart, brother of the groom, best man. The bride carried a bouquet of white Ophelia roses and the maid of honor carried American beauty roses. The altar was prettily decorated with Easter lilies and daffodils on a background of green.

At Dawning and Lohengrin's wedding march were played by Mrs. Henry Bates. A reception was held at the home of the bride. She received many handsome and useful gifts consisting of silver, glassware, china and money. The bridal couple will reside in a newly furnished apartment with Mrs. James Bates of Preston road.

Galutia—Starkweather

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, when Miss Blanche Irene Starkweather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Starkweather of Plainfield, was united in marriage with Mack John Galutia of New York city, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Galutia of Bath, N. Y. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home by Rev. William C. Prentiss, pastor of the First Congregational church, Plainfield. The groom was attended by his best man, Russell Starkweather, brother of the bride, and Miss Saddie Usher was bridesmaid. The bride was gowned in pale blue pussy willow silk trimmed with grey and carried a bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in Copenhagen blue silk crepe and carried daffodils. The double ring service was used and the bride was given away by her father. The bridal party stood in front of a bank of evergreen and pussywillows.

The wedding was followed by a chicken supper which was served to the immediate family and friends attending the ceremony. The dining room was beautifully decorated with the color scheme of yellow and white. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a white gold necklace set with pearls and the gift of the groom to the best man was a pair of gold cuff links. There were many beautiful and useful wedding gifts of linen, silver, glassware, pictures and pieces of furniture.

The bridal couple left in the groom's automobile for a wedding tour, after which they will reside in New York city.

FUNERALS

Miss Martha A. Palmer

The funeral of Miss Martha A. Palmer took place at eleven o'clock Monday morning in the Preston City Congregational church, the pastor, the Rev. George W. Clark, officiating and J. Kellogg Hall rendering "Lead Kindly Light" and "Good Night."

Many friends were present from the neighborhood and nearby towns, from New York city and Chicopee Falls, and beautiful floral tributes bespoke their affection. The burial was in the Palmer cemtery, the bearers being relatives—Frank Hyde, Walter Palmer, Wallace Palmer and Ernest Kennedy.

David Shereshevsky

With a very large attendance of relatives and friends the funeral of David Shereshevsky was held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, from his home No. 54 Asylum street. Delegations from the Bnai Brith, Zion society and other societies were present. Burial took place in the Brother's of Joseph cemetery, Brewsters neck. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mildred Arlene Brayman

Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the funeral of Mildred Arlene Brayman, eight months old, was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brayman, No. 156 Talman street. Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong, rector of Christ Episcopal church, conducted the service and burial took place in Maplewood cemetery. Relatives and friends of the family were present at the funeral. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the arrangements.

Charles J. Mott

The funeral of Charles J. Mott was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his home, No. 12 St. Regis avenue, with a large attendance of relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church, conducted the service and burial took place in Reed cemetery, Lisbon. Rev. Mr. Ricketts conducted a committal service at the grave. The bearers were George Wilcox, Frank Wilcox, Herbert Thompson of Jewett City, Carl Drescher, Fred Langlais of Springfield and Martin Waldron of Norwich. Undertakers Cummings and Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Attended Wedding in Ware

Guests from New London, Jewett City and Danielson attended the wedding in Ware, Mass., on Monday of Fred Bessette of Palmer and Miss Irene Cloutjer of Ware. The ceremony took place at Mt. Carmel church.

THREE FROM THIS COUNTY ARE TO PRESENT APPEALS FOR PARDONS

Three prisoners sentenced to state prison from this county will be among the petitioners appearing before the board of pardons on May 3.

Mrs. Mabel Kenyon of Pawcatuck is to make her fourth appeal, asking release or commutation of the sentence of from 10 to 15 years which she was given at her trial in this city, Oct. 22, 1920, for the shooting to death of Dr. Herbert Fetlow of Pawcatuck. A jury found her guilty of manslaughter. On the stand she told the story of her love for the doctor whose home was around the corner from the house where she lived with her husband and two sons.

Simon A. G. Salisbury of Preston, who was tried in this city and sentenced to life imprisonment on Oct. 9, 1915, will make his fourth appeal. He shot and killed Herman Chapman and Constable Kinney, both of Preston, and escaped to East Liverpool, Ohio, after the double murder. There he was arrested, brought back and lodged in the Norwich jail from which he escaped while he was awaiting trial. In his escape he was accompanied by a Negro prisoner but both were recaptured within a day or two. At his trial Salsbury pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Diratto Canaudo, who murdered a man in a saloon brawl in New London a number of years ago, will make his ninth appeal. He was found guilty of first degree murder, Oct. 30, 1909, but had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Alex Tedechi sentenced from Windham county March 12, 1907, to life imprisonment for second degree murder will make his first appeal.

Sixty-Nine Petitioners.

HARTFORD, April 6.—(AP)—Sixty-nine petitioners, two of them women and 24 of them serving life terms for murder, have filed notice of their intentions to appear before the state board of pardons at its meeting May 3 at the state prison in Wethersfield to present reasons for their release from that institution.

Most of the petitioners appealing to the board were convicted in the superior court in New Haven county, there being 32 from that county. Fairfield ranked second in this respect with 15 petitioners who had been sent to the prison by the court in that county. Hartford was third with 11; New London, Litchfield and Middlesex counties had three each and Windham and Tolland counties and one each.

Three of the petitioners, two from New Haven county and one from New London county are women. They are Bessie J. Wakefield, convicted in New Haven county in 1914 of second degree murder, Mabel Kenyon, convicted in New London county of manslaughter in 1920 and Alleen O'Bourne, convicted in New Haven county of theft from person in 1925. The Wakefield woman is serving a life sentence. The Kenyon woman was sentenced to from 10 to 15 years and during her five and a half years in prison has earned a commutation of nine months for good conduct. The O'Bourne woman, a native of Cuba, is serving a sentence of from one to three years, the minimum of which was reached January 20 and has earned a commutation of two months for good behavior. It is her first petition, while the Wakefield woman is making her eighth appeal to the board of pardons and the Kenyon woman her fourth.

Those among the petitioners serving life terms are divided among the counties as follows: New Haven 11, Hartford 4, Fairfield 3, New London 2, Windham, Litchfield, Middlesex and Tolland, one each.

Frank Bassett, the oldest petitioner at recent sessions of the board, will not appear at this session seeking his release. Bassett was sentenced to prison for life in the superior court in Fairfield county on March 1, 1879 for murder and is now over 70 years old. He has appeared before the board of pardons in support of his petition for release 29 times.

GAVE JARLEY WAX WORKS TO DELIGHT OF AUDIENCE

The mission department of the United Congregational church entertained an audience of several hundred people Tuesday evening at the Community House when they presented Madam Jarley's Wax Works, with an all-star cast. Those in the cast made a very favorable impression on the delighted audience who heartily and most generously applauded the actors and actresses. The programme was given in two parts, part one opening at 8 o'clock.

The posing was excellent and could hardly have been improved upon and the costumes were appropriate to the various roles. There was original humor in plenty and the members of the cast displayed exceptional ability.

Harold T. Robbins, as Mr. Jarley, Jr., the exhibitor, explained the interesting history of the various personalities and then with the aid of his mechanic, Jean Kieffer who wound up the figures, saw that they were well oiled and "tightened up," using for this means a huge monkey wrench, screw driver and an oil can, exhibited the mechanical ability of the figures. Mr. Jarley's assistants, Tom and Jerry, (E. V. Ross and Alfred Bliven) impersonating typical negro servants carried the figures back and forth on the stage, much to the amusement of the audience. The cast was as follows:

The Beauty, Miss Helen Browning, Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. Arthur M. Thompson; Babes in Woods, Dr. Hugh B. Campbell, Walter F. Lester; Yankee, Arthur L. Peale; Mrs. Jarley, Mrs. Helen B. Zabriskie; Bachelor, Lewis Young; Jack Spratt, Archibald Mitchell, 4th; Bo-Peep, Mrs. Hugh B. Campbell; Jack Horner, Arthur M. Thompson; Miss Muffett, Mrs. Edwin H. Sevin; Maniac, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Davis; Squalling, Miss Esther Bixby; Simple Simon, Edward Rich; Bluebeard, Henry S. Lyons; Sewing Girl, Miss Susan Whittlesey; Mr. Jarley, H. F. Dawley; Bachelor's Wife, Mrs. C. T. Bard; Jack Spratt's Wife, Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, 4th; Red Riding Hood, Mrs. Harold E. Robbins; Aunt Jemima, Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins.

One of the features of the programme were the Yankee's (Arthur L. Peale) boxes. These were fascinated Listerine, Dr. Leron's Tablets, Cuticene, Campbell's Soups, Sherman's Tea and Higgin's Ink.

Between the acts candy was sold by the Misses Emma Thompson, Betty Zumbro, Catherine Zumbro and Dorothy Dewing. Miss Clara Gelswold was chairman of the candy committee and was assisted by Mrs. Hugh B. Campbell, Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, 4th, Miss Martha Reynolds, Miss Grace Rogers, Miss Helen Brown, Miss Helen Browning, Miss Louise Ernst, Mrs. Carl Johnson and Mrs. Arthur M. Thompson. W. S. Jeffs presided at the organ.

BURGLARS GET $10,000 AT PORTEOUS PORTLAND STORE

The Porteous, Mitchell and Braun department store in Portland Me., was robbed early Monday morning of $10,000 in cash and negotiable checks by professionals who blew off the door of the safe, deadening the noise of the explosion by use of rugs taken from the rug department.

The burglary was discovered by a porter who visited the office about 7.30, about an hour after he had relieved Night Watchman McDowell. The latter had turned off the guide light at the office at 3.20 at approaching daylight and made hourly rounds through the night.

Robert Braun, president of the company, and Louis R. Porteous, who is with the company, were both formerly with the Porteous & Mitchell Co. of this city.

FORMER GROTON MAN INJURED IN CALIFORNIA

According to word received in Groton, serious injuries have been sustained in Palo Alto, Cal., by Orrin B Edgcomb, a former Groton resident.

According to the message, Mr. Edgecomb sustained multiple fractures of the skull, fracture of the collarbone and the loss of four teeth when he was pinned between a garage wall and an automobile under power. He was cranking the automobile which was in gear and when the machine started it hurled him against the wall.

Orrin B. Edgecomb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Edgcomb of Palo Alto, formerly of Ramsdell street, Groton.

Burial in Maplewood.

The death of Mary W. Johnson, a native of Scotland and a former resident of this city, occurred Sunday, March 28 at a hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., from pneumonia. The body was brought here and burial took place last Thursday in Maplewood cemetery where a service was conducted by Rev. J. Harlow Graham of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church. There were many beautiful flowers.

MOOSE LODGE ENJOYING SPECIALLY ACTIVE PERIOD

Thirty-five candidates were put through the first degree by the degree team of Norwich Lodge, No. 960, L. O. O. M., Saturday evening at the Moose home, Laurel hill. Over 200 members of the lodge braved the stormy weather of the evening and were well repaid. At 7:30 o'clock the Moose band orchestra under the leadership of Edward Brennan rendered a group of dance selections. After the degree work and adjournment of the meeting refreshments were served and a group of variety entertainers from Walters' Amusements held sway for two hours merriment. These talented artists were among the finest ever seen at lodge gatherings in this vicinity.

In appreciation of the splendid work accomplished under the open charter, the organization department of the order granted a 15 day extension for the open charter. This campaign will come to a close April 15th. Sunday April 18th members of the local lodge will go to Meriden to attend the frolic to be given by H. D. Davis Legion, No. 8, at which time the second degree will be worked on 60 candidates from all sections of the state. Sunday, May 3rd, will find the local lodge holding its annual banquet and installation of officers.

BANQUET AND DANCE HELD BY THE PHAMS

Present and alumni members of the Phams, an Academy fraternity, enjoyed a delightful occasion at the Wauregan house Monday evening when they met for their annual banquet. The following menu was served:

Grape Fruit Supreme
Celery Olives
Cream of Tomato
Filet Mignon Mushroom Sauce
Au Gratin Potatoes Green Peas
Ice Cream Assorted Cake
Coffe Creme de Menthe Cigars

For the postprandial part of the evening, Paul Driscoll was toastmaster and responses were made as follows: Our Fraternity, William Mahoney; Our Future, Thomas McVeigh; Initiations, John Spotten; Athletics, Edward Brewer. Two addresses of much interest were given by Edward G. McKay and Henry J. La Fontaine who were the principal speakers of the evening.

Following the banquet dancing was enjoyed until midnight, the fraternity men having their young lady friends as guests. Thumm's orchestra played for the dance programme.

JUDGE GIVES VERDICT AGAIST BOTH DEFENDANTS

Judgment for $750 damages in favor of Julia A. Robinson of Stonington against both defendants in her suit against Joseph Mirell and Rose Geliombardo, both of New London, was handed down here Tuesday by Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court.

The plaintiff brought suit for $5,000 damages against the two defendants named. She was riding in the automobile of Salvatore BiFrancesca on Oct. 19, 1924, when the machine was in collision near Shaw's greenhouses, Stonington, with a machine owned by Mrs. Geliombardo and driven at the time by Joseph Mitell. It was alleged that this machine was at fault for the accident because it was driven on the wrong side of the highway in attempting recklessly to pass cars going ahead of it in the same direction.

GIVES INVITATION TO MERCIER ASSEMBLY MEMBERS

A very enthusiastic meeting of Mercier Assembly, C. L. of C. was held in their rooms Tuesday evening, Miss Elinor Donovan, president, presiding. A splendid report of progress was made by the committee in charge of the production of A Couple of Million, the play to be given at the Broadway theater by the Columbian players for which there is an active demand for tickets.

Rev. W. A. Keefe, chaplain of the society, spoke for the good of the order and extended an invitation to all of the members of the society and their lady friends to a ladies' night to be held at St. Mary's Memorial hall Friday evening of this week.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT EVENING OF BRIDGE

Constipation

Undermines Children's Health

Your doctor will tell you that constipation is what makes so many growing children sickly. Poisons from the waste matter spread through their little bodies and lower their resistance to disease. A little Nujol every night will keep them regular as clockwork.

Mothers are the best friends of Nujol. When their children's health is at stake, they use Nujol—the remedy that medical authorities prescribe because it is so safe, so gentle, and so natural in its action.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. Unlike laxatives, it does not form a habit and can be discontinued at any time.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

ACADEMY BASEBALL SQUAD LOOKS GOOD IN FIRST WORKOUT OF SEASON

Baseball practice began in earnest Tuesday when the Academy ball squad took the field for the first time this season. Although the weather was a little chilly and a stiff wind swept across the playing field, A solid afternoon of practice was put in by the squad of about 30 that reported to Coach Earl E. Brigham for the team.

The greater part of the afternoon the boys worked under wraps and the pitchers were not worked at all There was some light fielding practice and a good deal of batting practice In the work the boys showed marked improvement over last year both in the batting and in the fielding

In yesterday afternoon's work Ferrington played third base replacing Ted Carroll who held down the hot corner last year. Cimmikoski played the short field berth, while Jack Marks, freshman, was at second base Marks, who was a star on the St. Patrick's team last year and who played considerable summer baseball, handles himself well but his position is by no means clinched as there is bound to be plenty of competition Captain Burke was at the initial sack and the captain will have to show considerable improvement over his last years playing if he would hold the berth. For this position there are plenty of candidates and it is possible that a star first sacker may be developed before the season is over.

In the outfield Coach Brigham has Sadinsky, Mish, Hamel, Greene and Jarvis all veterans besides a number of promising outfield recruits. The pitching staff includes Lloyd Jarvis and Johnny Greene, two of last years stars and also several youngsters who are trying out for box duty.

The catching department is well cared for by Co-Captain Mish, veterans, and Tommy Vitliano, a recruit of last year.

Taken as a whole the team looks exceptionally fine for an early start and the work yesterday showed that as the season wears on Norwich Free Academy will be represented by one of the strongest teams in many years Greene and Jarvis have put on weight during the winter and both are good for a stiff season. Sharky Hamel also has lengthened out a bit and also put on weight and is fast growing the name of Sharky. Mish is entirely recovered from his ankle injury of last year and is in the best of condition Mace Goldblatt looks to be much improved especially when it comes to his throwing Mace had a noticeably weak arm last year, but this season he has apparently developed a snap throw that is getting the ball to the bases with greater accuracy. Pheno Tombari although not out for the first days practice, has recovered from his injury to his ankle and is expected to fit in well in the recently rebuilt infield.

Practice will be held every afternoon this week and on Saturday the Academy team will get its first taste of real baseball against the Alumni team.

COLUMBIA BLANKS YALE WITH FOUR SCATTERED HITS

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Columbia defeated Yale's baseball nine here today 9 to 0. Pitcher Arthur Smith, a Columbia sophomore, held the Eli batters to four hits while Columbia touched Sheep and Kern for nine hits and nine runs. Smith fanned nine Yale players.

Captain Ferdon and Zwgri starred for Columbia with two smashes, both coming with men on bases while Captain John Lindley was the Eli batting star Yale's only good chance to score came in the ninth when Captain Lindley the first man up, tripled smith touched up and fanned the next two batters and forced he third to fly out

NEW ADVISORY FOOTBALL COMMITTEE AT HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 6.—(AP)—The Harvard athletic committee today announced the appointment of a new graduate football advisory committee to supplant the one which resigned last winter after failing to name a suitable successor to Head Coach Robert T. Fisher, resigned. The committee's nomination was rejected by the athletic committee.

The new committee consists of the following: Boston men: J. Wells Farley '96, chairman, Ernest W. Soucy '91, Westmore Wilcox '11, Charles A. Coolidge, Jr., '17, and Herbert H. White '93. Advisory members include Percy Bettle '14 and Lawrence D. Smith '12 of Chicago and John W. Heisman '01 of New York.

White is the only member of the new board who served on the committee which resigned. Soucy, Wilcox and Coolidge also played on Harvard teams with Ralph Hower, brother of Arnold, next year's head coach.

MISS WILLS WINS THREE EASY MATCHES AT MILAN

MILAN, Italy, April 6.—(AP)—Helen Wills, America's woman tennis champion playing before the most fashionable gathering of her Italian visit at the Milan Tennis club today, was victor in three easy matches. First she won a singles match from Signor Gastoni, the club champion, 6-4. Then with Signor Gastini as partner, she defeated Count Bonacessa, president of the Milan club and Count Leonardo Bonzi, 6-1, and Count Bonzi and Signor Sabladini 6-2.

PYLE OFFERS SUZANNE $250,000 FOR AMERICAN TOUR

NICE, France, April 6.—(AP)—William H. Pickens, representative of C. C. Pyle, manager of Harold ("Red") Grange, arrived in Nice today to attempt to sign up Suzanne Lenglen for an American tour under Pyle's management. He is understood to be ready to offer the French tennis champion $250,000 if she will turn professional. If she refused this a second offer is to be made of $100,000 for a contract containing a guarantee that she would not forfeit her amateur status.

Mlle Lenglen's father refused at first to meet Pyle's representative, declaring that he had finished talking to American promoters and newspapermen. However, when informed that nearly 3,000,000 francs was involved he arranged for Pickens to meet Suzanne at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. "Suzanne will not turn professional tennis player," M. Lenglen said.

Pyle's offer of $100,000 is understood to be for a contract under which the money would be paid for motion pictures which it is contended Mlle Lenglen could make without jeopardizing her amateur status. Pyle's representative declined to go into details when it was suggested that the mere acceptance of the $100,000 would constitute professionalism.

He volunteered the opinion, however, that Mlle. Lenglen's drawing power in the United States would equal that of "Red" Grange.

RICKARD RUNS INTO SNAG WITH N. Y. COMMISSION

NEWYORK, April 6.—(AP)—Tex Rickard encountered unexpected opposition in his endeavor to arrange his 1926 heavyweight program today when the state athletic commision tabled his applications for dates for his six "big shots" at the Yankee stadium, pending definite arrangements of the contemplated matches.

Similia raction was taken on applications from the Polo grounds and Ebbets field but boxing observers interpret the action of the commission a direct slap at Rickard because of the promoters activities in building up Gene Tunney for a title match with Jack Dempsey in face of the board's edict that Harry Wills must be given first consideration.

Rickard applied for June 10 and 24; July 29; August 13 and September 3 and 16, all dates when the Yankees will be played away from home, but the decision of the commission makes it necessary for Rickard to sign up a match before applying for a definite date.

The promoter plans to stage the light-heavyweight title match between Paul Berlenbach, champion, and Jack Delaney, challenger, as his opening show June 10. He is considering the June 24 date for a Pack Renault-Harry Wills headliner providing Paddy Mullins, Wills' manager, consents to sign for the negro, while the August and September dates, it is believed, are being preserved for the proposed Dempsey-Tunney match.

IS THERE TO BE TWILIGHT BALL HERE THIS SEASON?

This is a question that is being constantly asked as the days grow longer and it is one which demands attention. It is none too soon to start planning plans for a twilight league if there is to be one in Norwich this season. Last year the league was started in June and with eight teams playing the league extended into September when the days were getting short.

Toward the latter part of last season it was a lucky team that was able to play five innings before it was too dark to see the ball. In fact some of the last games could be said to have been played in the moonlight. With the days reaching their greatest length on June 21 it would be none too early to start the league early in May and finish up in August which would insure practically seven innings to every game.

It has been suggested that this year the league be limited to six teams and play three nights a week, which would give ample opportunity for postponed games to be played during the week. It is anticipated that Norwich, one of the greater part of the manufacturing plants and stores, will accept the daylight saving plan as in years past and this will go into effect late this month. Now is the time to start talking of a twilight league so that everything will be ready to start, while the days are the longest.

MUNGO CAPTURES FEATURE EVENT AT BOWIE TRACK

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Mungo captured the feature at Bowie today in a tarrying finish from Extra Dry and Leonard G. A challenge in the last sixteenth carried the victors in the seven-furlong event which was run in 1:26 2-5. Peysan and Kandutt were unplaced.

The Honey Bunch was the outstanding event of the Orlando meeting, the biz mare, Sea Green, again finishing in front, followed by Lucky Run and Muddenstown. The time for the mile was 1:47.

Nine claiming races were staged at Tijuana, Poppins winning the mile feature at long odds. Seth's Memory was second and Hands Up third. The time was 1:42 4-5.

THOSE ATTENDING FIGHT AT HARTFORD WELL PLEASED

Those who attended the Berlenbach-Neuman fight in Hartford from Norwich were well satisfied with the card as a whole but were a trifle disappointed in the main bout. About 50 from Norwich attended and the general opinion is that they failed to see Berlenbach at his best. This was due no doubt to the injury to his hand which he received early in the bout making him very cautious about using his right hand except for defense.

The Garcia-Drew bout was the feature of the card and the opinion is that this was well worth the money. Many fans, however, have expressed the wish that Hughie Kerry' would send some better tickets to Norwich than those which he put on sale here for this fight.

OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE LACROSSE TEAM BEATS PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—(AP)—The Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team defeated University of Pennsylvania here today, 10 to 3. It was the first victory for the invading squad in a series of fourteen games to be played in this country. University of Maryland defeated the invaders last week.

Although the game was hotly contested Formby of the British team was the only player seriously hurt He was struck in the stomach in the first half. Four Americans are on the British team.

HARTFORD, April 6.—(AP)—West Hartford in the annual election today, voted to permit professional Sunday baseball and elected members of the town council. The vote on the Sunday baseball referendum was 830 to 735.

MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS SHOW POWER IN YESTERDAY'S EXHIBITION GAMES

CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP)—A slugging offensive with which the major leaguers welcomed the final pre-season baseball exhibition games continued with slight abatement today and was balanced by pitching exhibitions that warmed at least three managerial hearts.

The real ball game of the day developed in Georgia, where the Washington Senators nosed out the Giants in a 10-inning affair, 7 to 6. Yesterday the Senators showed the Giants under. Coveleskie and Bush allowed the McGraw men a total of ten hits today, a performance which the Harris crew equalled at the expense of three Giant moundsmen.

Cincinnati made a belated entry in the heavy hitting of the week by crashing out a 13 to 8 win over the Atlanta Southern association team, on the strength of 17 hits.

The major players led on errors, 4 to 3.

Detroit Tygers pounded out 15 hits to down Birmingham, 10 to 3. Heilman was out of the game but Cobb and Tavener each turned in circuit drives.

The high run honors went to the Yankees, who cudgeled Brooklyn 19 to 9. The Manhattan club was aided by five bobbles, collecting but one more of the 33 hits that did the Dodgers.

Boston's Red Sox took another from Louisville, 5 to 2, in the Colonel's park. The Indianapolis association team turned the tables on the Pittsburgh Pirates in Arkansas to win, 5 to 5. The Pirates ran away with yesterday's game.

With the Indians idle at New Orleans, the chief news from the Cleveland club was the statement from President Barnard, as he started north, that Speaker's outfit is by far the strongest in years.

At Memphis Ted Blankenship pitched the Chicago White Sox to a nine to nothing shut out of the Tennessee City's southern circuit team, the Oklahoman going the entire route in easy fashion while his teammates collected 11 hits.

At about the same time over in Oklahoma, Hallahan, Rookie pitcher, worked the entire nine innings and allowed but seven hits to give the St. Louis Cardinals four to nothing shutout of the Tulsa, Western league outfit.

Opening a two-tilt series at Nashville, the St. Louis Browns shattered the opposition 6 to 4, with Falk and Robertson pitching.

The Chicago Cubs were silent en route eastward from California for a final pre-schedule tussle in Kansas City.

DUNLAP WINS QUALIFYING ROUND IN N. AND S. GOLF

PINEHURST, N. C., April 6.—(AP)—George T. Dunlap, Jr., 17 year old New Yorker, today won the qualifying round of the annual north and south amateur golf tournament here with a 75-75—148 score. He was one stroke ahead of Arthur W. Yates, Rochester, N. Y., defending champion.

Dunlap's round today included three birdies.

Yates, who had a 71 yesterday, was seven strokes higher today, chiefly because of playing his short game in shaky style and taking extra putts on short holes.

C. Ross Somerville of London, Canada, was third with a 74-78—152 score.

The qualifying field contained more than 200 entries and the play of Dunlap and Yates were outstanding after the first 9 holes. Of the first sixteen in standing, however, six are under 20 years of age. One of them, Eugene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., 17, had a total of 76-78—154 to place fourth.

Others in the championship flight which starts tomorrow, are:

T. C. Newton, Brookline, Mass., 79-79—158.

Joe Bydolek, Buffalo, N. Y. 80-80—160.

Donald Parker Youngstown, Ohio, 78-82—160.

H. T. Curtiss, Greenwich, Conn., 79-82—161.

E. Giles, Jr., Princeton, N. J., 82-79—161.

R. McDougal, Jr., Chicago 84-78—162.

McGRAW DECISIVELY BEATS ROCCO IN 12-ROUNDER

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Phil McGraw, Detroit lightweight, sent Johnny Rocco of New York to the floor five times, each for a count of nine, in their 12-round bout here tonight and won the decision easily.

Rocco was down in the fourth, sixth seventh and eighth rounds, with two plunges recorded after solid rights in the seventh. He managed to hold on after the knockdown in the eighth McGraw weighed 135, Rocco 132 3-4.

George Courtney of Oklahoma scored a technical knockout over Lew Warshaw of New York in the third round of a six-round match. The weights were: Courtney 163 1-2, Warshaw 167 1-2.

NOTED JOCKEY ARRIVES FROM ENGLISH RACES

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Barrett Haynes, American jockey, arrived today on the liner Celtic to recuperate from the effects of a broken shoulder sustained in a fall during a steeplechase race at Cheltham, England, several weeks ago. This mishap, Haynes said prevented him from having the mount on Jack Horner, which won the Grand National Steeplechase, at Liverpool, March 26, in the colors of Charles Schwartz of New York.

PLAN FOR 1,000 GOLFERS AT DINNER FOR GOLF TEAM

NEW YRK, April 6.—(AP)—The United States Golf association today announced plans to receive one thousand golfers at a farewell dinner to the American Walker cup team in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel on May 4.

William C. Fownes of Pittsburgh, president of the U S G A., will act as honorary chairman and Findlay S. Douglas as toastmaster.

GREB WANTS TO BREAK RELATIONS WITH MANAGER

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, Pa., former world's middleweight champion, appealed to the state athletic commission to sever his relationship with Red Mason, his manager, because of a disagreement between them.

Greb alleged Mason induced him under false pretenses to sign a two-year contract renewal with him, February 24, the day of the fight in which Greb lost his middleweight title to Tiger Flowers.

The former titleholder contended that in his rush to renew his own state license he signed three papers and did not learn until later that one of them was a contract tieing him up with Mason for more years. The commission withheld action until next Tuesday when Mason will be ordered to explain his version of the dispute.

Joe Glick New York junior lightweight, together with his manager Harry Albers, who was suspended following his fight with Frankie LaFay at Syracuse March 8, was reinstated to permit him to fulfill a contract to meet Tommey Farley at Philadelphia tomorrow night Glick proved to the satisfaction of the commission that the contract for this fight was signed prior to his suspension and the ban was lifted for one day. The suspension will become effective again after the Farley fight.

Promoters of the Arena A. C. at Syracuse, N. Y., applied to the commission to permit them to stage the Dave Shade-Frank Moody match April 19 instead of their regular day, April 9. The request was granted.

CLOSE RACES EXPECTED IN MAJOR BASEBALL

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Opening major league baseball games next Tuesday take champions of both circuits under the withering fire of outstanding contenders, with Washington confronted by a Philadelphia invasion in the American and Pittsburgh facing a confident Cardinal team at St. Louis in the national.

Successful training seasons by challenging cohorts of Connie Mack and Rogers Hornsby have indicated to baseball observers that both pennant winners will be subjected to severe opening tests. Many critics in the east have picked the Athletics to displace the Senators as champions by a sensational string of exhibition victories.

The struggle at the capital, commanding local interest by reason of the see-saw struggle between Washington and Philadelphia last year, develops a test of the psychological effect produced on the Athletics by their rout at the hands of the Senators last fall.

Returning from a disastrous road trip, the Mackmen were still within reaching distance of the champions as they entered upon the so-called crucial series. The challengers failed, however, to pull together their shattered ranks and the Senators clinched their grip on the flag by a clean-cut triumph.

Other opening games in the American will take St. Louis to Chicago, Cleveland to Detroit and New York to Boston.

In the National, New York will start at home against Brooklyn, the Phillies will receive the Braves, while Chicago will invade Cincinnati.

YOUNG COULON TO FIGHT BRADLEY ON FRIDAY EVE.

Young Coulon of Taftville (Al Beauregard), who enlisted in the regular army two months ago will engage in his first ring encounter since joining the outfit next Friday evening at Portland, Me. Coulon's opponent will be Young Bradley (Dark Cloud) whom he was scheduled to fight in New London several months ago but the bout flivvered. Young Bradley holds the Connecticut fly-weight title having won it from Pincus Silverberg last winter at Hartford.

TWO WORLD'S RECORDS BROKEN IN CHICAGO TANK

CHICAGO, Ill., April 6.—(AP) — Two world's records were broken in the National A. A. U. men's indoor swimming championship meet here tonight when the central "Y" relay team of Cincinnati splished 400 yards in 4.38 and Miss Ethel Lackie, holder of several international swimming titles raced 50 yards free style in 27 3-5 seconds.

Another world's mark was shattered when Agnes Geraghty of New York negotiated the 50 yard breast stroke swim in 36 seconds flat. Her time cut three and two-fifths seconds from the previous indoor time for women in the event.

The relay event was for the senior A. A. U. championship, and the Ohio team was forced to lower the world's time for the distance in a 60 foot indoor pool to win from two Chicago quartets. The Illinois A. C. team, previous holder of the record, at 2:39, finished second and the Chicago A. A team was third.

Laufer and Glancy, who piled up points for Cincinnati in yesterday's running of the penathlon, and Webb and Rutledge made up the Y. M. C. A. quartet. Laufer won the all-around yesterday.

Miss Lackie's record was sent in an exhibition race against time. She slipped two fifths of a second off the previous record of 28 seconds flat set by Miss Eleanor Garrett of California for the woman's indoor 50 yard sprint.

Eric Rademacher, German breast stroke star, was unsuccessful in an exhibition effort to break the world's record in the 100 yard breast stroke event, in a 60 yard tank. He made the distance in 1:08 1-5.

Gustav Froelich, the second teutonic swimming star entered in the meet, swam a leisurely exhibition, saving himself for the later competitions.

TUNNEY BOUND WESTWARD FOR MOVIES AND DEMPSEY

CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, left tonight for Los Angeles to dig in at Jack Dempsey's battlefront and to face the ordeal of the movies.

While on the coast, Tunney will endeavor to go ten fast episodes with a motion picture, director in a serial which will exalt the quantities of a fighting marine. He will also get down to serious waiting for a match with Dempsey, Harry Wills or some other in the heavyweight division.

Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney, expects a match with either Wills or Dempsey to break very soon.

"It makes no difference to Gene who he fights and I think he will get both Wills and Dempsey before the end of the summer," said Gibson.

"These bouts will be staged in the east around or in New York, both big boxers need a try-out before entering a championship match. Dempsey particularly needs one before fighting Wills, if he actually intends to fight him. So what is more likely than either of them trying to knock out Tunney?"

Tunney, bronzed by the Florida sun, looks to be in perfect shape. This will be his first experience as a movie actor.

"As for acting," Tunney said, "they tell me all I'll have to do is as I am told. Well I got along with the first sergeant when I was in the marines and I don't think I'll have any quarrels with the movie director."

VAN KEMPED AND GAUDET LEAD IN PIKE RACE

PARIS, April 6.—(AP)—The American team of McNamara and Horan is grinding along with the other contestants in the six-day bicycle race which began last night. Though thrown heavily in the early part of the race, Horan came back and joined his teammate. He was off the track for four hours, and the American team was penalized one lap.

At the end of 19 hours Van Kemped and Gaudet were in the lead with 57 points. De Graeve and Tollembeck, of Belgium, were second, 46 points. Cugnot and Baron, France, 42. The teams were bunched, having covered 497 Kilometres (about 330 miles), with the Americans one lap behind.

Fred Parent to Coach at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 6.—(AP)—Fred Parent, member of the world's champion Red Sox in 1903, and 1904, was appointed second coach of Harvard baseball by the Harvard athletic committee today.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Harvard's track team will go south during the spring vacation to be the guests of Williams and Mary college for a week of training.

Joey Glick of Brooklyn and Ted Morgan of California are to battle in Madison Square Garden next month for the junior lightweight title.

In Ruth, Meusel and Lazzeri, the New York Yankees possess three players who are record holders in home runs either for a season or for all time.

Of the eight stars on the pitching staff of the New York Giants, seven are right-handers. Nehf is the only left-handed pitcher of note on Mr. McGraw's payroll.

The German Lawn Tennis association has barred the German woman champion, Frau Noppach from further play in Germany, because she participated in the Riviera tournaments.

Carlos Terra, the youthful Mexican who is the latest sensation in the chess world hails from New Orleans, which city was also the home of Paul Morphy, the greatest chess expert of all time.

Baseball followers througbout the land will join in a hope for the early recovery of Hugney Jennings, one of the ablest and most popular figures in the whole history of the national pastime.

Results of the interleague exhibition games in the south this spring fail to show that the use of resin has given the National League pitchers any advantage over their brethren in the American circuit.

WESTERLY

FEDERAL INSPECTION OF BATTERY E TUES. NIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 6—Federal inspection of Battery E, 243rd, R. I. C. A. C. (H. D.) Capt. John F. Datson, at Westerly state armory on Dixon street, was held Tuesday night. At 9:30 o'clock Col. Samuel G. Sharpe, from Fort Adams, Newport, commanding the Narragansett Bay Coast defenses, a regular army officer, began the annual federal inspection, which included work both as infantry and coast defense units, in which a creditable showing was made by the Westerly infantry men.

Among officers present from the Rhode Island National Guard, was Col. Cyrus L. D. Wells, of Providence, commanding the 243rd coast artillery regiment of Rhode Island; Maj. H. V. Allen, of East Greenwich, R. I., battalion commander; and Adjutant General Arthur C. Cole of Providence. The drill was attended by a number of interested spectators.

Forty musicians, of the 243rd regimental band, Captain Datson announces will come to Westerly soon, to give a band concert.

BUSY PROBATE SESSION HELD BY JUDGE BURKE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 6.—In Westerly probate court, Judge Edward M. Burke presiding, Tuesday afternoon, business was disposed of as follows:

Estate of Alfonse Quattromani. Petition received from Carletta M. Quattromani, that she be named executrix of the estate of Alfonse Quattromani, who died in Westerly on Sept. 24, 1926. Witnesses to will present in court were John J. Dunn and Frank A. Tuscano, and will having been read at previous court session the same was proved. There being no objection, the will was admitted to probate and Carletta M. Quattromani was confirmed as executrix. Bond was fixed at $200 without surety. James A. Dunn was named appraiser.

Estate of Amos P. Chapman. Petition received from Sarah S. Chapman, widow, who with Achsah Chapman, daughter, were named as executrices in the will made by Amos P. Chapman, who died Dec. 30, 1925. Achsah having since died, a declination in writing was received from Clara S. Chapman, to serve. A petition received asked for the appointment of the Washington Trust company as administrator. Will was read, requiring no bond or inventory. Of the witnesses John J. Dunn, Dr. John M. O'Connell and William J. Joyce of Newark, N. J., Mr. Dunn appeared in proof of will. There being no objection, will was admitted to probate, the declination in writing accepted and the Washington Trust company was appointed administrator with the will annexed, with bond $200. John J. Dunn was named appraiser.

Estate of Antonio Gentile. Petition received from Josephine Gentile, setting forth that she is the mother of the young man's person and property and that his health would be benefitted if taken on a trip to Italy to see relatives. For this purpose an expenditure of $200 was asked to find a doctor for he was reported to be suffering with tuberculosis. Petition was granted for the trip to be taken about May 1st and a copy of the decree is to be furnished the veteran's Bureau in Providence, which has the young man's case in charge.

Estate of Achsah M. Chapman. Petition received from Fred S. Chapman and Theodore S. Chapman setting forth that Achsah Chapman died in Westerly, Jan. 19, 1926, intestate and these two brothers, as next of kin, asked that the Washington Trust company or some suitable person be named executor. There being no objection, the Washington Trust company was appointed administrator and Bond was fixed at $200 without surety. Samuel H. Davis was named appraiser.

Estate of Lydia Maria Rush. First and final account of Washington Trust company, with receipts and releases was received from Thomas Perry, trust officer, from Feb. 21, 1925 to March 1, 1926. There being no objection, the same was received, allowed and ordered recorded.

Estate of Edward A. Hart. Petition was received from Bankers Trust company, by L. S. Grady, vice president, and the petitioner was represented in court by Attorney Watson Smith, representing the firm of Hinckley, Allen, Tillinghast and Phillips of Providence, asking that securities enumerated be disposed of at private sale. Petition was granted, a certified copy to issue, for sale of securities at private sale for cash at not less than the market price on the day of sale.

Estate of Henry J. Northrup. Petition received from widow, Edna C. Northrup, for a six months' allowance from the estate of Henry J. Northrup, who died Jan. 16, 1926. Six months' allowance was granted.

Estate of Vera G. Potter. Petition received from Lena Potter York that Vera G. Potter, a resident of the town of Stonington, was of unfeebled mind and that she be appointed guardian of estate. There being no objection, Lena Potter York was appointed guardian of the estate. Bond was made $500 with Winslow N. York as surety. Fred T. Mitchell was named appraiser.

Estate of Richard Opie. Petition received from William B. Opie, a son, for permission to erect monument and place lot in perpetual care. Notice having been given, petition was granted.

Estate of Charles W. Gray. Petition received from Edith C. Gray for six months' allowance from estate. Due notice having been given, petition was granted.

Estate of Nathan L. Langworthy. Inventory received from Judge Oliver H. Williams, who appeared to represent petition of Albert H. Langworthy, which described him as administrator of the estate of Nathan L. Langworthy, and asked leave to sell an undivided one-half interest in fee of his mother, Georgiannia L. Langworthy. Claims had been filed against the estate in excess of the personal property. There being no objection, permission was granted to sell interest at private sale for not less than $5,000 to apply proceeds to liquidating claims. Bond was made $7,500 with Georgiannia L. Langworthy as surety.

Estate of Emma D. Taylor. First account of Bessie Taylor, as executrix, represented in court by Bertha M. Brown of the Washington Trust company, from Jan. 6, 1925 to Jan. 2, 1926, showing a balance, was received, allowed and ordered recorded.

Estate of Margaretta Johns. Inventory received, allowed and ordered recorded.

Estate of George W. Timbury. Inventory received, allowed and ordered recorded.

Westerly Masons are planning a visit to New London Friday evening, April 30th to witness an exemplification of the Master Mason degree in the Lyceum theatre by the officers of Orpheus lodge, No. 36, F. and A. M., the celebrated lodge of Providence whose membership is made up of musicians. Through special dispensation of Most Worshipful Arthur Nathan Nash of Pawcatuck of the grand lodge of Connecticut, Rhode Island work will be given Rhode Island candidates under the auspices of Union lodge of New London.

Men at the Westerly waiting station of the New Haven railroad have completed the work of painting the west-bound train shelter, the entire interior having been renovated and repainted. Work was begun Tuesday near this train shelter in the preparation of the wooden scaffolding to be erected inside the main waiting room which is also to have a thorough renovation. Painters have been employed in the main waiting room for the past two days in repainting the window frames and sashes. When the staging is in place the paint will be applied to the ceiling and walls by a motor paint "gun," the work will not be completed until after the first of next month.

In the Westerly freight yard, the work of unloading freight cars is greatly facilitated by the new cement driveway laid between two of the freight track sidings. Shipments of coal, potatoes and general merchandize are transhipped to motor trucks and moved out with no delays as formerly experienced with deep mud to contend with. This (Wednesday) morning work will be started on the unloading of three large electrical transformers, consigned to the South County Public Service company of Westerly. The heavy electrical apparatus weighs about 15,000 pounds each and will be taken to the yard or the Service company for use eventually in a new sub-station to be constructed.

The funeral of Rosario Lombardo was held Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock from his home, 6 Pauline street. Requiem high mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock at St. Michael's church by Rev. Michael Keating.

Burial was in St. Michael's new cemetery, where the committal service was by Fr. Keating. Eulogies were delivered by Francesco Barravecchio, Emanuele Natale and Guiseppe Tudisco. The bearers were Joseph R. Grillo and Michael Caruso, of Westerly, Castrenzo Perrone of Elizabeth, N. J., Vincent Longo of Portchester, N. Y., Rosario Scraguso of Lawrence, Mass., and Vincenzo Pine of Stamford Conn.

The services at the church and cemetery were attended by many relatives and friends and a delegation from the Sons of Italy was also present.

The funeral of William Gardiner was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from undertaking rooms on Canal street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. C. A. Burdick, of the Pawcatuck Seventh day Baptist church. Burial was in the First Hopkinton cemetery. The bearers were George Simons, Harold Roberts, Everett Jones, Fred Whitford, John Whitford and Charles Thomas.

ABSALOM FRANCIS DEAD— HAD BEEN ILL WITH PNEUMONIA

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 6—Absalom Francis, 62, unmarried, making his home at the Commercial hotel, West Broad street, Pawcatuck, died somewhat suddenly there Tuesday afternoon, although he had been ill several months. While recovering from an attack of pneumonia he was at the home of his sister, Mrs. Abrahant Datson, Park avenue, Westerly. Mr. Francis was born Dec. 5, 1863 in Tenryn, Cornwall, England, the son of Absalom and Jane Datson Francis. Coming to America he was employed as a granite cutter for many years by various concerns in Westerly although he had not worked for the past six months. He was a member for a long time of the Westerly band, playing alto horn.

Besides his sister in Westerly he is survived by several brothers and sisters in England.

JEWETT CITY

ARM DRAWN INTO WRINGER, CHILD NOT INJURED

(Special to the Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 6—Mr. and Mrs. James Smith's small daughter, while her mother was hanging out clothes yesterday, caught her arm in the electric wringer, which was in operation. The arm was drawn between the rollers up to the elbow, but it was found that no bones were broken. The bone of the arm raised the tension roller enough so that the arm was not crushed.

Norman Harvey of Holyoke is visiting his aunt Mrs. F. E. Robinson, while his mother is visiting friends in Kansas.

The funeral of Miss Clarissa F. Geer was held at the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon. Rev. G. Keene Gray read the scripture and offered prayer, also reading a consoling poem. Abide with me and Rock of Ages were sung by Mrs. J. T. Stewart, Mrs. Walter Marshall, Mrs. F. L. Robinson, Mrs. C. D. Wolf and Mrs. E. H. Hiscox. There were beautiful floral pieces. Burial was in Pachaug cemetery, relatives acting as bearers.

Mrs. S. A. Thompson and family attended the funeral of Charles Mott in Norwich, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Gerald Guillet is visiting relatives in New York, Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

Solemn requiem mass was offered at St. Mary's church Tuesday morning at the funeral of John Lefebre. The celebrant was Rev. John Landry, deacon Rev. R. P. Morrissey and sub-deacon Rev. J. J. McCabe, the last named also reading the committal prayers at the grave. The bearers were six sons, George, Fred, Napoleon, Hector, Hebert and Oscar Lefebre. There were beautiful flowers. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Lisbon, Hourigan Bros., having charge of the arrangements. Relatives were present from Moosup, Sterling, Baltic, Torrington and Springfield.

Stephen Jaskiewicz is at home from the Bentley school, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Lee of Webster were in town Tuesday.

Mrs. G. H. Prior and daughter Eden are in Worcester for a week.

A considerable gallery of small sports was present when the Slater's All Stars ball team took the count in a closely contested game, with the Our Gang team of Ashland as the winners 14 to 10. Our Gang had Perry on the mound, and he was there at the slab also. The goo dsupport he recived helped in his winning his game.

A forest fire on Rose Hill in Lisbon caused some excitement on the Lisbon streets in mid-afternoon Monday. Great clouds of smoke were seen to be rolling up in the horizon. Bob Geist the Lisbon fire warden was sent for. Near by neighbors turned out, and after two hours hard fighting in the woods and fields the flames were so dyed with but small damage. The fire started on the Fitch farm and soon spread into nearby wood lot. Honors go to the first arrivals, eight 10-year old boys from the borough, they crossing the Quinebaug in a boat. They fought well and prevented a serious blaze. They are Walter Piso, Bennie Norle, Francis Liberty, John Parish, Adolph Liberty, Domenic Siousil, Romeo and Eddie Barwood.

The postponed switch board demonstration, to be a public exhibition by the Southern New England Tel Co., is now arranged for April 29. Invitations for this were issued by the Jewett City chamber of commerce. These will now hold good.

Red wing blackbirds have been reported in this section. It is interesting to any one that happens to be near when a flock arives. They will not be making a sound while on the wing but when alighting among the bare branches of a convenient tree, will with the precision of a trained choir, break into their wild familiar song which is likely telling of a non stop flight from the Gulf. It is possible that in summing this rude chorus might fail to awaken enthusiasm, but in the spring it is a welcome and inspiring a promise of the new year, as the peeping of the hyla, or the blooming of the first wild flower.

UNION

Wednesday night's rain storm turned into an ice storm in parts of the town. Thursday morning there was a heavy coating of ice on field and forest in the more elevated sections, while other farms a half-mile distant had no ice at all.

The schools closed Thursday for the Easter vacation, having good Friday for a holiday.

Cases of severe colds and grip have developed during the week.

Alexander Stoyanovich a pupil of the Red school is in New York for the Easter holidays.

Lloyd Eaton was graduated from the two year course at Connecticut Agricultural college, last Saturday. His father, Levy Eaton, of Watertown, Mass., and his uncle, Charles Eaton, of Mashapaug attended the graduating exercises.

There was an attendance of about 60 at the social at the town hall last Saturday evening. After a well served supper an entertainment was much enjoyed. Among features of the latter were banjo solos by Thomas Reed, a vocal solo by Mrs. Raiza Horton, a three Just Notions by Mr. and Mrs. Raiza Horton, and community singing.

Lloyd Eaton has been spending a few days with his uncle and cousin at Mashapaug, before going to his home in Watertown, Mass.

There was a chimney fire at Burt Tinker's last Sunday. It created considerable excitement and drew out a number of helpers but no damage was done.

Mrs. Mary Razner has returned from West Dudley, Mass., where she had been assisting in the care of her little grandson, Edward Razner, who was ill with measles.

Miss Florence Barrows of C. A. C. New London is spending the Easter vacation at her home here.

The date for the next meeting of Mashapaug Lake grange is Wednesday evening, April 7.

The past week Mrs. George Coolidge went to New York to join her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Bower who went last week. Messrs. Coolidge and Bower have positions in the city.

For a few days during the worst of the mud season some motorists at Mashapaug found it desirable to follow the state road via Stafford Springs and Wales, Mass., in order to get to Southbridge, Mass. The distance covered by the latter route took about ninety minutes. Somerville is only eight miles from Mashapaug, by direct route.

An unusual case came to the attention of Probate Judge Frederic A. Bartlett in Bridgeport when Attorney Robert C. Mallette presented a photostatic copy of the will of Mary Elizabeth Laning, formerly of Philadelphia, who died in Japan last year.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

The first quarter of the present year showed a decided decrease in the building activities as compared to the first quarter of 1925. This year at the office of Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton only 27 permits were granted which is only about a third of the number for the first quarter in 1925 when 76 permits were issued. The permits for the quarter included, three for new frame houses, eleven for new frame garages, one for a frame greenhouse, nine for alterations to frame buildings and three for alterations to brick buildings.

For the month of March the permits numbered 17 and were as follows:

New Frame House	1
New Frame Garages	9
Alterations to brick bldgs.	2
Alterations to frame bldgs.	5
Total	17

During the past week there has been a noticeable increase in the building activity 10 permits having been granted by Fire Marshal Stanton. The building permits are as follows:

To W. C. and A. Brinkman to erect a frame garage, 16x18, feet at 31 Newcomb street.

To Dennis McCarthy to erect a frame garage, 12x20 feet on Roath street.

To Valley Oil Co., to extend present building on the new wharf. The extension will be of frame construction 18x24 feet, with galvanized iron covering.

To Samuel Sakowitz to add to the present garage on West Main St. The addition will be 10x18 feet and frame construction.

To Contractor George W. Allen to add a one story ell to the present frame house at 43 Fairmount street for T. E. Eldredge.

To George N. Zucher to erect a frame garage on Grant court for himself. The garage will be 17x36 feet.

To Frank Meli to erect a cement garage on Crown street on Laurel Hill for John A. Stott. The garage will be 44x32 feet and will be constructed of cement blocks. The floor will be concrete.

To Charles J. Baldwin to erect a frame garage on West Main street. The garage will be 19x20 feet.

To Abbobse Dubreuil to add another story to the present house at 117 Tallman street for Santo Rezzuteo. A tenement of 4 rooms will be furnished on the 3rd floor.

To Jack Allecretti to build a frame garage 11x13 feet at 191 Boswell avenue.

"Buy Flat Wall Paint by reason – not by guess" – The Bay Stater

"THERE are commonsense reasons why you should use one flat wall paint in preference to another. Wall paints differ!

There are six sound reasons why Dultint is superior to ordinary flat wall paints:

1. It is made only in artistic and practical colors
2. It is extremely easy to apply.
3. One coat covers as well as two coats of ordinary wall paint.
4. It is so durable it will last for years.
5. It can be washed repeatedly with soap, water and a sponge.
6. Its colors are always uniform due to the exclusive Howland test.

"It is actually guaranteed to render satisfaction when applied according to directions.

COLONIAL FILLING STATIONS DIVISION BEACON OIL COMPANY

The Largest Independent Oil-Refining and Marketing Organization in New England

Announces the Consolidation of its Marketing Groups

THE Beacon Oil Company of Boston, the largest independent oil-refining and marketing company in New England, and producers and marketers of the famous NEW COLONIAL GASOLINE and BEACON MOTOR OIL, has always owned, controlled and operated the Colonial Filling Stations of Connecticut, Inc.

In the interest of simplified accounting, and to more strongly impress on New England motorists the fact that COLONIAL is not merely the name of a filling-station system, but a vital link in a complete chain of service extending from the refinery to your car—the marketing business has been consolidated with refinery operations, and will be conducted under the title Colonial Filling Stations Division, Beacon Oil Company.

There is no change in ownership, personnel or policy. But the motorist will know that when he fills up with NEW COLONIAL GASOLINE and BEACON MOTOR OIL, he is assured of highest quality, uniformly maintained through a single ownership, control and operation of every phase of refining and distribution from producer to the motoring public.

A far-reaching program of extension and development will be put into effect whereby BEACON products and COLONIAL service will be made available to every community in Connecticut. And we pledge you that NEW COLONIAL GASOLINE and BEACON MOTOR OIL will always be maintained at the peak-point of quality.

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

Horrible details of a fire near North Woodstock arrived in Norwich 75 years ago, four children having been burned to death and their father totally blinded by flames when he tried to save the children, who were on the second floor of the house.

Items in part from the Norwich Courier of 1851 are taken from the files as follows.

Tuesday, April 1, 1851—Four children of a family named Phillips, who lived in the gate-house on the turnpike between North and South Woodstock were burned to death recently when the house destroyed their home during the late hours of the night. Their parents, who slept on the lower floor were awakened to find the house a roaring furnace and they immediately ran outside. Mr. Phillips sensing the danger rushed into the house again and tried to gain the second floor. He succeeded in doing so but found three children already burned to death and the fourth so badly burned that it died shortly after he gained the out of doors. The flames burned him deeply, his eyes being practically burned out as he endeavored to escape from the house.

Much pity is expressed for the family for Mr. Phillips is now hopelessly blind. The family recently came to this country from England, three other children being taken by death while crossing the ocean.

A number of Norwich and Killingly men have signed notice that they are to petition to the general assembly for the incorporation of a railroad company to construct a railroad from a point on the Norwich & Worcester railroad line, at or near the depot in Danyville, in the town of Killingly, by the shortest and best route to a point on the boundary line between Connecticut and Rhode Island, at or near the terminus, intended, of the Woonsocket Union railroad, and to connect with that railroad and the Norwich & Worcester railroad.

An application is also to be made for a railroad from Norwich to intersect the New Haven and New London railroad at Westbrook, or between Westbrook or Eastbridge, in Guilford.

Thursday, April 3, 1851—But two days remain before election and every whig voter of the city has been warned to be on his guard lest the locos work in some trickey work and defeat the cause.

Norwich people are sorry to learn that Hon. William A Buckingham has refused the nomination for representative and a special meeting of the whig party has been called for tomorrow night to select another candidate for that office. The call for the meeting has been signed by Ebenezer Learned, Jr., Esq., as chairman and S. H. Grosvenor as clerk.

Levi H. Goddard treasurer of the Norwich Mutual Assurance company has announced that the office of that company has been moved to the Buswell building on Main street.

Saturday, April 5, 1851—Philo M. Judson, Esq. was nominated for representative at the special meeting of the whig party called for last evening to fill the vacancy caused by the refusal of Mr. Buckingham to run for office. The whig ticket is exceptionally strong this year and should be elected as a glance over the records of the loco office holders indicates that a thorough cleaning house is in order.

The Norwich and Worcester railroad is now running three passenger trains each way every day, these being combination trains. The steamboat train leaves Allyn's Point about 1 a. m. and leaves Worcester at 7.05 p. m. Trains connect at Norwich with the Hartford, Providence and Fishkill railroad and the New London, Willimantic and Palmer railroad.

Summer rates are now in effect on the regular propeller line and a charge of $1.00 the trip is now in effect. These trips are made out of Norwich on three days each week, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, with return trips from New York on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

NEW LONDON TAILOR SHOP BREAKS-- THREE SUITS OF CLOTHES STOLEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 6—One tailoring establishment was entered by a thief last night, while another received the attention of a crook, although entrance was not gained to the place. When Harry Salamon, proprietor of the tailorshop, 117 Golden street, opened the place for business this forenoon he discovered that an attempt had been made to force an entrance and reported that fact to the police. Sergeant John Cavanaugh was assigned to conduct an investigation and going to the Golden street store, he determined that the crook had attacked a rear window, but had undoubtedly been scared away, as it would have been an easy matter to force the window because of the woodwork being in a decayed condition so it would not require any great effort to open it.

The other place to receive the attention of a crook was the establishment of L. Quintilliani, 14 Bank street. When Quintilliani opened his place for business he immediately observed that the place had been entered during the night. Quintilliani investigated and discovered that one of several lockers that are rented to sailors had been smashed and that three suits of clothes had been stolen. One suit was light gray, while the other was dark gray, the other suit was of brown. Quintilliani informed the police that he suspected a sailor stationed at the United States coast guard of having committed the theft.

THE POLICE DEPARTMENT TO HONOR DEAD PATROLMAN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 6—All the members of the police force, except those whose services are imperative, will attend the funeral services of former Patrolman John E. Hogan, which will take place tomorrow morning at St. Joseph's church. The members have been instructed to report at the police station at 8:30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock they will proceed to the church and in charge of Sergeant Joseph Hick to the residence of the dead man's sister, Mrs. Michael Gately, 46 Belden street and from there to the church and from the church to St. Mary's cemetery, will act as honorary escort. Sergeant James D. Gaffney and Patrolman David Nagle will represent the department further to be pall bearers.

The city council was in session last evening but thirty minutes. A number of building permits were granted, including some new work in the way of residences and garages and some alterations. The council endorsed the project of a better homes week as proposed by Mrs. Emily Speirs last week, the purpose being to induce the building of homes and the beautifying of grounds and to secure a higher standard of homes.

A petition of Clarence E. Martin and others for repairs and the improvement of Redyard street was referred on by the city manager, which said the need of improvements was obvious, but that the street really should be rebuilt. Repairs are now being made there, but the rebuilding of the highway would of necessity be deferred till another year.

Ordinances for sewers on Bolles avenue and Pequot avenue from Jerome avenue to Neptune avenue were adopted with their third reading by title.

Councilor Whitton introduced a resolution prepared by the director of law as to Granada avenue in which Benjamin L. Armstrong and Robert Armstrong had deeded land to the city for a street which was accepted after Mr. Whitton had explained the resolution. He pointed out that the land had been deeded to the city and accepted by the council and that therefore the grantors could not enter upon the land and do work there without the permission of the owners, the city. The resolution directed the city manager to obtain the permission necessary that the street might be graded and curbed for sidewalks, but that the city was not bound to go forward and open the highway as a street if water and sewers were not laid in the street unless same be secured by petition, as in other cases and in conformity with existing ordinances.

Secretary H. R. Bramley of the United Commercial Travelers announced he had extended an invitation to the council to attend a joint meeting of the councils of Norwich and New London at the Mohican hotel, New London, on the evening of April 16th at 7 o'clock. It is intended to carry out the idea of the development of the Thames river valley and to have at the meeting a representative number of the business interests of this city, Connecticut.

The F. H. and A. H. Chappell company was the lowest bidder, was awarded a contract for a garland of sewer pipe. The cost of the pipe is to be $242 at 54 cents a foot.

Car Starter John Maloney of the Connecticut company, who has been confined to his home, Colman street, a fortnight because of illness, has resumed his duties.

Miss Lina Beckwith appeared before the city council last evening and being given the permission to address that body, asked for a refund of money which she claimed she had been illegally charged and which she paid to the city for sewers on Ocean avenue. She pointed out that when she paid the bill the cost per foot was 50 cents, while now the cost is $8. She asked for a refund of the overcharge with interest, at the rate of 6 per cent. since 1900, or $51.32. The matter was referred to the city manager to investigate and report.

Because of the sudden death last Sunday night of Patrolman John E. Hogan, Arthur Feeley, the only supernumerary officer to pass examinations recently and to be appointed by City Manager William A. Holt a week ago, will be assigned to duty without delay. City Manager Holt this forenoon provisionally appointed another of the successful candidates for the supernumerary force, selecting Henry W. Jorie. Captain of Police Charles A. Putney was notified during the morning of the action of the city manager. The death of Patrolman Hogan will result in the appointment of Supernumerary Officer George K. Cockell to the regular list, he having attained the highest average when he and 20 others were examined. Cockell, however, will not be appointed for a year. In all probability, as the city charter contains a clause whereby it is mandatory that all supernumerary officers perform patrol duty as a supernumerary one year and that they shall not be appointed a regular patrolman until the period of probation has been served.

The Ryans, Patsy and Joe, appeared in the police court today. Joe was a day late and he was committed to pay for his negligence. He was booked to be on hand yesterday and succeeded in securing a friend who paved $25 as a bond that Joe would be on hand when the case called. Joe was under the impression that he was to be present in court yesterday and so failed to answer. The prisoner stated his purpose to allow Joseph to receive a sentence in his case only to be asked for the postponement of the case until this morning, but this night he gathered in and failed to pay the penalty of deception as well as of intoxication. When Joe was found he was drunk. Then he had two complaints to answer for. Today he was committed to jail for a stay of thirty days on conviction of each offense. Costs were added that will keep him in jail thirty days more than the stipulated time. Patsy, who by the way is not a brother of Joe nor is he of blood relative but rather an unbeloved, whopped up a few drinks and was found down and out. He demanded all that was had about him by the police officer who brought him to court. He was fined $7. He could not pay, so went to jail.

Charles F. Tatlor, a night cook in a restaurant, was at the railroad station where he was very drunk and very offensive. He had had a night off and was going to Hartford, but he got twisted and went drunk. Charles had the rules with him so he paid a fine of $10 and was therefore entitled to get his lunch. Soon at a restaurant instead of in a cell in the Franklin street institution where inebriates are confined when they are working out fines and costs imposed in the police court.

Daniel Stahler, Jr., was accused of intoxication, but his case as continued two months, until the 5th of July. Daniel will be wise if he abstains from intoxicating liquor during that time, for he has established a record that will take him to jail if he continues his present course.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

The bringing to life of prehistoric dinosaurs marks another milestone in motion picture history. Years ago Watterson R. Rothacker bought the screen rights to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's novel, The Lost World, and over seven years was work on the photoplay version was started.

The Lost World, made jointly by Rothacker and by First National, reached the screen under the supervision of Earl Hudson, who adapted it from the original Conan Doyle story.

The human section of the cast appearing in the picture comprises Bessie Love, Lewis Stone, Lloyd Hughes Wallace Beery, Arthur Hoyt, Margaret McWade, Finch Smiles and Bull Montana.

The thrilling photodrama will be shown at the Breed theater the last time today and other pictures on the bill include Charlie Chase in Mama Behave and the Pathe news.

Colonial Filling Stations

The change in the Colonial Filling Stations of Connecticut, Inc., proves to be only a change in corporate organization. The Beacon Oil company of Boston, the largest independent oil refining and marketing company in New England, has always owned, controlled and operated the Colonial Filling station system. The Beacon Oil company operated as a refining and producing unit, and distributed its products through the Colonial Filling stations.

About six months ago, when the Beacon company produced a new Colonial gasoline the only anti-knock gasoline to be sold at ordinary gasoline prices, a tremendous increase in business indicated the advantageous of more closely associating the two companies in the public mind. Plans were laid which have been in process of adjustment for the past several months—whereby accounting practice would be greatly simplified, and the corporate name would indelibly impress on the public the fact that Colonial was not merely a filling-station system but a direct division of a complete gasoline producing and distributing unit.

The new designation will be Colonial Filling Stations Division, Beacon Oil company. It indicates at once the close association of the station with the refinery, insuring to motorists a uniformly high quality of gasoline and oil through a single control operation and responsibility from the refinery right to the car.

It is the intention of the Beacon Oil company to extend its facilities as rapidly as possible throughout the entire territory covered by the Colonial Stations Division, so that New Colonial gasoline and Beacon Motor Oil may be made even more available to every motorist interested in the more efficient and economical operation of his car.

Broadway Theatre.

The exclusive motion picture rights to the great Pendleton (Oregon) Round-up of 1925 were purchased by Universal Picture Corporation so that this greatest of all western events might be incorporated exclusively in "Under Western Skies," an Edward Sedgwick-Universal-Jewel production that is to be the attraction at the Broadway theatre commencing Thursday.

The Pendleton Round-Up is the peer of all American cowboy sporting events, for it brings into the arena the best bronco-busters, lariat throwers and horsemen to be found on the cattle ranges of the west and southwest. It is the most spectacular event of its kind in the country and makes a thrilling and entertaining picture in itself. Sedgwick, who wrote and directed "Under Western Skies," has brought the round-up into the picture story in smooth and easy fashion. Movie fans will be surprised to see Norman Kerry in a role entirely different from anything in which he has yet appeared, for Kerry rides in a thrilling steeple-chase that is one of the features of the round-up.

"Under Western Skies" also presents several picturesque scenes of the gathering in the crops, with hundreds of farm hands and reapers at work.

The supporting cast includes Anne Cornwall, George Fawcett, Kathleen Key, Eddie Gribbon, Ward Crane and others.

A Couple of Million

An American comedy in four acts to be given by the Columbian players, under the auspices of Mercier assembly, C. L. of C. and White Cross council, K. of C., promises to be a play second to none ever shown in Norwich. The plot is fine and there is a laugh every minute. The cast has been especially well chosen and every rehearsal points to another step toward perfection. Mr. James E. Murphy is directing the players and nothing more needs to be said to convince everyone as to how well the work is being done.

The demand for tickets seems to indicate that the public does indeed want to see "A Couple of Million."

Exchange tickets may be obtained at Mara's Drug store, Madden's Cigar store and at Quinn and Desmond's and may be exchanged at the Broadway theatre beginning Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Tickets $1.00 and $1.50, plus tax.

Capitol Theatre, Willimantic.

The attraction at the Capitol theatre, Willimantic, today, matinee and night will be "Bringing Up Father in Gay New York." It is the work of those two past masters of up-to-the-minute fun and revelry, Nat LeRoy and Seymour Furth. This is the original production brought intact from the Lyric theatre, New York and Olympic theatre, Chicago, after prosperous runs. A beauty chorus of 20 captivating and prancing young women, along with a roster of experienced principals have been engaged. If one is in search of real, unalloyed fun, frivolity screams, guffaws, joy, happiness, color tingling and sparkling music, novelties innovations and a play built on different make local theatrical history lines and models "Bringing Up Father in Gay New York" is bound to

TWO FAMOUS WOMEN BORN IN SAME YEAR

Queen Victoria and Lydia E. Pinkham

MRS. ANNA McHENRY
1005 E. PLUM STREET, MARSHALL, ILLINOIS

In the year 1819, two babies were born whose lives were destined to have a far-reaching influence. One was born in a stern castle of Old England, the other in a humble farmhouse in New England.

Queen Victoria through her wisdom and kindliness during a long and prosperous reign has become enthroned in the hearts of the British people. Lydia E. Pinkham through the merit of her Vegetable Compound has made her name a household word in thousands of American homes.

Marshall, Illinois.—"After my second child was born, I never saw a well day for five years. My father was telling his druggist about my condition, and the druggist insisted that father take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have me try it, as it had helped his wife. I had given up, but to please father and mother, I commenced taking your medicine and in a week I had begun to feel better. When I passed through the Change of Life, I was taking the Vegetable Compound and I had no trouble of any kind."—Mrs. Anna McHenry, 1005 E. Plum St., Marshall, Illinois.

Another Woman Helped

Philadelphia, Penna.—Mrs. Caroline Nagy, of 2717 Sears St., in a recent letter to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., says that after her child was born she was in a very weak condition. She could not seem to regain her health and went to her mother for advice. She told her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it had helped her when in like condition, and it has helped her mother also. So Mrs. Nagy started taking it. She felt better after taking the first bottle—after taking six bottles her weakness and other troubles disappeared, and she is never done praising the Compound.

In some families the fourth generation is learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

POULTRY
PAN-A-CE-A
Prevents the backsets
It keeps the flock right on the road to early maturity.
You simply add one pound of Pan-a-ce-a to 50 pounds of mash, or one teaspoonful for every 20 or 30 chicks once a day.
Pan-a-ce-a contains tonics that keep the flock hungry.
Pan-a-ce-a contains laxatives that helps the bowels throw off the poisons.
Pan-a-ce-a contains minerals very helpful to chicks during that stage of rapid growth of bone and feathers.
Costs little to use Pan-a-ce-a—the price of just one broiler will pay for all the Pan-a-ce-a 100 chicks will consume in 60 days.
In fact it costs nothing to feed enough Pan-a-ce-a to prove its worth if it should fail to convince you.

Cattle: Dull and lower.
Hogs: Lower.

STOCK PRICES IMPROVE

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—Stock prices made further recovery in today's market. The rally, while provided with a background of favorable financial and trade developments was generally regarded as a further correction of an ever old condition resulting from the drastic liquidation of stock in March. Closing quotations disclosed a long list of net gains ranging from fractions to 10 points. Trading was again in relatively light volume, the day's sales aggregating 1,245,000 shares.

The announcement that stock exchange brokers' loans had been reduced over $535,000,000 last month helped to revive confidence. Other bullish factors included the continuance of easy money rates, more favorable reports from the automobile industry and the prompt over subscription of the $65,000,000 Associated Electric bond issue, the largest this year.

Equipment shares gave one of the best demonstrations of group strength with buying influenced by predictions of substantially higher railroad orders this year. Pullman jumped 8 points to 157 1-2, and Americna Locomotive, Baldwin, General Railway Signal, New York Airbrake, and Westinghouse Airbrake closed 3 to 3 points higher.

The renewed demand for the public utilities was based on predictions of special dividend distributions, the first of which was fulfilled today when directors of the American Light and Traction company increased the annual dividend on the common from $7 to $8, and declared an extra of $2. Columbia Gas and Electric, which is reported to be considering the distribution of a stock dividend or an increase in the regular $2.60 rate, closed 1 1-2 points higher at 75 1-8 after selling a point above that figure. Manila Electric corporation jumped nearly six points to 34, or within a point of year's high. Philadelphia company and Standard Gas and Electric each lost about a point on profit taking.

Optimistic reports on the motor industry came from several sources. Mack Trucks, which did a record breaking business in March, was bid up over three points to 113 1-2 and then eased to 112 3-8. Hudson, General Motors and Packard advanced a point or two. Short covering operations played a prominent part in the advance in these issues, which are reported to harbor a larger short interest than any other group.

The approach of the spring planting season probably accounted for the heavy demand for the chemical and fertilizer issues. Special strength of the commercial solvent issues, each of which moved up over three points, was associated with a report that the company had won important patent litigation in England. Allied Chemical, the new Virginia Carolina Chemical preferred issues, Mathieson Alkali and American Agricultural Chemical, all showed net gains of 1 to nearly 3 1-2 points.

Oils were slow in recovering from the disappointment occasioned by the abandonment of the plan for the merger of the Texas company and California Petroleum company. Steels displayed a firm undertone. U. S. Steel common touched a new high on the current recovery at 133 5-8 and Gulf States, Sloss Sheffield and Republic each advanced about two points.

Substantial gains also were recorded by Air Reduction, American Smelting, American Ice, Associated Dry Goods, J. I. Case, Coca Cola, Federal Mining and Smelting preferred, General Electric, Loose Wiles Biscuit, May Department Stores United Drug and Woolworth, all up two to nearly six points, and South Porto Rican Sugar, up 10. Southern Dairies A advanced 3 5-8 to a new high record at 49 3-4 on reports that sales for the first three months of the year had established a new high record.

Rails were quiet, but the undertone was strong. Atlantic Coast Line, Atchison, New York Central and Lackawanna scored moderate gains.

The principal commodity markets lost ground. Wheat rallied at the opening in sympathy with an advance in Liverpool, but lost its gain on later realizing. Cotton closed unchanged to 10 points lower. Raw sugar was unchanged but futures sagged four to six points on increased offerings in the spot market. Coffee slumped 38 to 59 points on increased crop estimates.

Call money renewed at 4 1-4 per cent., as against 4 1-2 yesterday and then eased to 4, closing at the bottom. Money brokers reported that large sums were available at the lower figure. Time money held steady at 4 1-2 per cent., and commercial paper was quoted at 4 1-4 to 4 1-2.

Although all of the European banks reopened for business after a prolonged Easter holiday, trading in the foreign exchanges was quiet. Demand sterling held firm around $4.85 7-8 and French francs were quoted slightly higher at 3.47 cents. Renewed heaviness developed, however, in Belgian francs, which dropped over 5 points to 3.72 cents.

RAIN AND WARMER TODAY AND TOMORROW

Norwich Bulletin

1704 1926

NORWICH, CONN., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1926

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Wednesday, April 7, 1926

THE WEATHER

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Shifting winds becoming moderate to fresh southeast and weather overcast with rain Wednesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh east and southeast winds and overcast showery weather Wednesday.

Conditions.

The area of high pressure from the northwest has moved rapidly eastward to the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic states. Pressure is low from Texas northeastward to Lake Michigan with the lowest barometer reading 29.48 inches at Amarillo, Texas.

The temperature is now above normal almost generally in the southern states and in the Pacific states but it remains below normal in practically all other regions.

The Texas disturbance will move northeastward during the two days and it will be attended by rains in all sections east of the Mississippi river.

The weather will clear, however, during Thursday except from the lower lake regions and extreme upper Ohio valley eastward to the Atlantic coast. The temperature will rise in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic states Wednesday, but colder weather again will overspread the Atlantic states Thursday or Thursday night.

Forecast.

Southern New England: Rain with slowly rising temperature in interior Wednesday; Thursday rain and warmer followed by colder Thursday night.

Observations.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Monday:

	Tem.	Bar.
7 a. m.	40	30.30
12 m.	56	30.40
6 p. m.	40	30.40

Highest 56, lowest 40.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Tuesday: Fair and colder.

Tuesday's weather: Fair, northwest wind, not much change in temperature.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Eva Bedard of Brooklyn, N. Y., spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bedard and family of Providence street.

Mrs. Narcisse St. Germain of South street has moved to Franklin street, Norwich, where she will make her home in the future.

The Army and Navy club orchestra, which has been making a hit in and about town have returned from New Bedford, where they have been playing.

The regular monthly meeting of the Taftville Social and Football club was held at the club rooms in the Ponemah house Monday evening, President Allan Bogle presided, and the minutes of the previous meeting which were reported by Secretary Walter Barritt, were approved as read. John Unsworth, Harold Tarbuck and Geo Muddeman who had been named a committee to purchase a new pool table for the club, reported that they had made the purchase and that the new table was ready to be set up in the rooms. The committee was discharged with a vote of thanks. Fred Ince, George Muddeman and George Kinder were named a committee to draw up a new set of rules, as the old records had been destroyed by the recent fire. The club rooms are well on the way to completion, and will be comfortable and home-like in a short time, according to a statement of President Bogle.

Mrs. George G. Grant of Providence street has been named Taftville chairman of the ticket committee of the Royal Cortissoz lectures for the benefit of the Norwich Art Students' association.

ARRANGING OLDER GIRLS' CONFERENCE FOR COLCHESTER

Mrs. Robert A. T. Bitgood, chairman of Older Girls Work of the New London County Council of Religious Education, is arranging for a New London county Older Girls' conference to be held in Colchester on May 1. There will be addresses, recreational activities, a basket luncheon at noon and a banquet at night. The Y. W. C. A. will co-operate with the committee and Miss Laurel Erdman, Girl Reserve secretary of the New London Y. W. C. A., will have charge of the recreational program for the conference. The theme of the session will be The High Way. The officers of the organization are: Florine Dimmock of Jordan, president; Marion Dieter of Pawcatuck, secretary, and Elizabeth Avery of Norwich Town, treasurer.

THREE SMALL BLAZES CALL FIRE DEPARTMENT

Three calls were answered by the fire department Tuesday. The first was received at 9:38 a. m. for a chimney fire at No. 25 Garfield avenue owned by Mrs. Minnie Noyes and occupied by Luther W. King. There was no damage. The second call came in at 11:34 o'clock for a fire at No. 863 Boswell avenue where a grass fire was in progress. At 1:24 o'clock the third call was received and this was for a burning fence in the rear of the former Alling block on Franklin street. Six gallons of chemical were used on the blaze which was started by children playing with matches.

CORNS

In one minute the pain is Gone!

Gets at the cause of corns

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads work like magic, because they remove the cause—pressing or rubbing of shoes. The pain goes instantly. Zino-pads are safe, sure, antiseptic, healing. They protect while they heal. Get a box at your druggist's or shoe dealer's today—35c.

METHODISTS GATHER IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE AT SOUTH MANCHESTER

(Special to The Bulletin)

SOUTH MANCHESTER, April 6.—The 86th annual session of the New England Southern Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will open here tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The presiding bishop this year is Rev. Ernest G. Richardson, D. D., whose episcopal residence is in Atlanta, Georgia.

The territory covered by this conference includes all of Connecticut east of the Connecticut river, the state of Rhode Island with the town of Blackstone, Massachusetts, and that part of Massachusetts south of the towns of Wrantham, Walpole, Dedham, Milton and Quincy, and including all of Cape Cod. Since 1833 there have been three districts named as follows: New Bedford, Norwich and Providence. This will be the first time the conference has met within the boundaries of the Norwich district since 1922 when it was held in New London.

This is the first time that Bishop Richardson has been assigned to preside over this conference. He was born in 1874 at Kingstown, St. Vincent, West Indies, and his father was a Wesleyan Methodist minister. He studied in Harrison college, Barbadoes, West Indies and after coming to this country, he graduated from Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, afterwards receiving his Master's degree from Yale and his Doctor of Divinity degree from Wesleyan university, Middletown. Entering the Methodist ministry, he joined the New York East Conference in 1896 and held important pastorates among which were those at Bristol, Conn., and Simpson church, Brooklyn. In 1917, he received appointment as superintendent of the Brooklyn North District. His conference honored him by electing him a delegate to the general conference three successive quadrenniums, viz., 1912, 1916, and 1920. It was at the session of 1920 that he was elected as a bishop. He is said to possess a very pleasing personality and poise of manner which makes him of great usefulness in deliberative bodies and very effective in debate. This qualification adds to his other excellencies what is regarded as a decided asset for the episcopal office. His presidency of this conference at this time is looked forward to with a pleasant anticipation.

The episcopal territorial division known as the "Boston Area" includes five conferences, viz., the Maine, the New England, the New England Southern, the New Hampshire and the Vermont conferences. Bishop William F. Anderson is the resident bishop of this area but according to the traditional custom prevailing in Methodism of frequent changing of episcopal supervision, it happens this year that each one of the five conferences in this area is assigned to Bishop Anderson. This one is the Maine conference which is scheduled to meet April 28 to May 3 in Rockland, Me.

The bishops are co-ordinate in authority and in matters of far reaching importance the presiding bishop usually considers favorably the wishes of the resident bishop. However, the presiding bishop is in charge for 30 days before and for 30 days after the annual conference session when the authority reverts again to the resident bishop.

Third Time in South Manchester.

This is the third time in the history of this conference that its annual session has convened in South Manchester. It was held there in 1897 with Bishop John P. Newman presiding. Some surviving members of Trinity church, Norwich, may recall that Bishop Newman held a meeting at the Wauregan house that year with the Trinity official board where important matters regarding the local church were discussed, he having arranged to stop in Norwich over night for that purpose on his way to the conference. Again the conference was held in South Manchester in 1911, with Bishop Earl Cranston, now retired, presiding.

Meeting in New Church.

The church at South Manchester is one of the earliest Methodist churches in New England, it having been organized in August of 1790. Its first house of worship was dedicated by Bishop Francis Asbury in 1794. To this place the people came from surrounding towns to hear such distinguished preachers of early Methodism as Bishop Asbury, Jesse Lee, Elijah Hedding and others. A second house of worship was erected in 1822, this one being larger than the other, it being 50 by 18 feet having two stories and a tower. The third building occupied by this society was dedicated Nov. 9, 1854 and this building was used until the present magnificent edifice was built. The present building has been but recently completed and dedicated, the dedicatory services being held Nov. 1, 1925. Bishop Anderson being present and assisted by several clergymen. It is called one of the finest church edifices in New England, its exterior being Tudor Gothic in style, it being built of Connecticut field stone with gray cast stone trimmings and its total cost being about $370,000. Rev. Joseph Cooper, the present pastor, has had a very interesting and successful career. After coming to this country he joined the conference as a young man and began his career as pastor at Old Mystic on the Norwich district. By hard work and straightforward perseverance in a few years he won recognition and filled important pastorates in New Bedford, Mass., Newport, R. I., and Brockton, Mass., coming to South Manchester in 1922. It is during his pastorate that this building project has been brought to its successful completion and it marks the greatest triumph in Mr. Cooper's successful career.

Pastors of the Church

The list of pastors who have served the South Manchester church shows an occasional name remembered in connection with Norwich Methodist churches.

Rev. Augustus W. Kingsley, an original Norwich boy, began his career as pastor of the South Manchester church, 1868-1872 and later returned to Norwich serving the former Central church 1883-1886. Rev. James M. Taber who was popular at the former Sachem Street church 1888-1891 served South Manchester 1891-1894. Rev. James M. Worcester, who served Sachem Street church in 1856 and whose family afterward resided in Norwich, was pastor in South Manchester in 1862. Rev. M. P. Alderman who served the Central church in 1867-1869 was South Manchester's pastor in 1849-1851. Rev. Eben Tirrell, who resided in Norwich 1833-1895 during his term as presiding elder, was pastor in South Manchester, 1893-1896. Rev. Walter Ela who served the Norwich Town church 1865-1867 served South Manchester 1874-1877.

Preliminary Services

While tomorrow morning is the formal opening of the conference, there are some preliminary services which took place today. The candidates for conference membership and for ordination as either deacons or elders met their examiners during the day and completed examinations not formerly taken. At 4 p. m., the board of examiners held an important business session.

At 7:30 p. m. there was held a service for welcoming the conference to the city which was followed by a musical entertainment.

The first service in formally opening the conference is the administration of the sacrament of the Lord's supper. In this, Bishop Richardson will be assisted by several prominent clergymen.

Following this the conference will proceed to organize, the roll being called, and the officers chosen, including the secretary, the statistician, and the treasurer.

At 11 a. m., will occur the annual memorial service, Rev. J. Francis Cooper presiding and the address being given by Rev. Ernest A. Legg of Stafford Springs, formerly of Norwich.

At 3 p. m., Rev. Edward E. Wells, of Brockton, Mass., will preach the conference sermon. At 3 p. m., the Rural Minister's association will hold its anniversary. Rev. Clinton E. Bromley will preside and Dr. David D. Forsyth will be the speaker.

At 4 p. m., "Saving America Through Home Missions" will be the subject presented by two speakers, Dr. D. D. Forsyth and Dr. G. H. Spencer.

At 6 p. m., there will be an educational banquet in the interest of Boston university. Dr. J. I. Bartholomew will act as chairman and the speakers will be Dean A. C. Knudson of the School of Theology, President Daniel L. Marsh and Bishop Richardson.

At 7 p. m., Rev. C. M. McConnell will be the speaker and the subject "Industrial America".

Special interest centers this year in the fact that Rev. Ira W. LeBaron has completed his six-year term as superintendent of the Providence district and a successor is to be appointed at this session of conference. The time limit for district superintendents was removed by the general conference of 1920 but restored by the general conference of 1924 and making it unlawful for any man to serve longer than six years out of 12 in the same conference. Several clergymen have been favorably mentioned for this appointment in different parts of the conference but there is no definite information to date as to the man whom the bishop is likely to appoint. It is rumored that there are to be many changes in the pastorates of the conference but the definite facts are not yet known.

The holding of the conference on the Norwich district will tend to attract Norwich Methodists, especially those with automobiles who can thus easily make the trip back and forth.

CONTINUANCE IN CASE ON LIQUOR VIOLATION CHARGE

Charged with violation of the liquor law, Walter Paprocki, 32, of No. 189 West Main street was presented in the city court Tuesday morning before Judge Arthur F. Libby. At request of his counsel the case was continued until April 13, under bonds of $1,000 which were furnished. He was arrested early Tuesday morning by Sergt. Matthew Delaney and Officers Charles Perry and Henry Davis, after evidence of a sale is alleged to have been secured.

John Burabey, 54, was presented on a charge of breach of peace, in striking his landlady, Mrs. Mary Illinger, of No. 78 School street, Monday afternoon. He was found guilty and fined $5 and costs, total $13.50, being given 30 days in which to pay. He had trouble with Mrs. Illinger over rent due for several months. She put a padlock on his door and claimed that he went into her rooms and grabbed a bunch of keys off the table. Then there was a struggle and Mrs. Illinger claimed Burabey tried to knock her down, and took a pail of water off the stove and threw it at her. She grabbed a stick of wood and stated that he threw the telephone around. Mrs. Illinger afterwards notified the police and the man's arrest followed.

A. J. Schultz of Groton has been summoned to appear in court Wednesday morning to answer to a charge of violation of the motor vehicle laws in driving his machine past a standing trolley car, which was discharging passengers.

Employed Boys Meet

The Employed Boys Brotherhood held an enthusiastic meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening. The meeting opened with the singing of the first verse of America, the divine blessing was said by E. H. Davis. After supper many popular songs were sung after which a short talk was given by Mr. Davis. Team scores were read, President Lambert leading with 35 points.

Architects' Suit on Trial

Trial in the damage suit of Bilderbeck & Langdon, Inc., New London architects, against E. E. Dickenson and others, was begun before Judge Christopher L. Avery in the superior court at New London Tuesday.

The suit is brought on a claim for $502.40 for services rendered by the plaintiff firm for the defendants.

DENIED MOTION TO SET $1,000 VERDICT ASIDE

Defendant's motion to set aside the $1,000 verdict in the suit of Mary Palencar, a minor of Stonington against Cyrus F. Mitchell of Stonington has been denied by Judge C. L. Avery in a decision handed down Tuesday. The girl plaintiff sued for injuries she received Sept. 9, 1925 when struck by an automobile operated on Greenmanville avenue, Mystic, by Mitchell.

In the memorandum of decision, Judge Avery says:

While upon the argument of this motion to set aside the verdict of $1,000 awarded by the jury to the plaintiff, defendant's counsel somewhat perfunctorily claimed that there was no sufficient evidence to warrant a finding of either due care upon the part of the plaintiff or negligence upon the part of the defendant, as intimated by the court at that time, in its opinion the evidence upon both of these points was ample to sustain the jury's conclusion.

Defendant's counsel urged with somewhat greater apparent conviction that the amount of the verdict is excessive and that therefore a remittitur should be ordered. The jury may well have found upon the evidence that the plaintiff who was some 8 or 9 years of age at the time, was struck and knocked down by the defendant's automobile as she was crossing the street, resulting in a fracture of her left collar bone, severe injury to her left foot, sundry bruises to her head and body, and a serious shock to her nervous system and the pain and suffering consequent upon such injuries, that she was kept out of school for 25 days at the time, and that by reason of her experience she was obliged to "stay back" a class and so in effect lost a year's school time.

Upon such a finding it cannot be said as a matter of law that the award of the jury was excessive.

The motion to set aside the verdict is denied.

JUDGMENT IS ENTERED ON THE CROSS-COMPLAINT

Judgment for the defendants John Krowsnik et al of Lisbon upon the cross-complaint has been entered by Clerk George E. Parsons of the superior court in the foreclosure suit of John Nazaruk et al of Lisbon against John and Katharine Krowsnik.

Judge Allyn L. Brown denied the Nazaruk foreclosure petition and said in his memorandum of decision: "The defendants may therefore further amend their amended ad damnum by substituting for the claim for damages therein the following:

"The defendants claim $3,500 damages, and demand judgment for $3,500 or so much thereof as they may be entitled to over and above the plaintiff's claim." By the stipulation on file the defendants owned on the mortgage at the date of trial $328.75. Judgement may there be entered on the cross-complaint, when amended as above suggested, for the defendants to recover of the plaintiffs $671.23, and their costs."

The amended ad damnum has now been filed by Attorney Thomas M. Shields, counsel for Krowsnik, and the judgment has entered on the cross complaint.

CONFERENCES ARE SLATED FOR STORRS IN SUMMER

STORRS, April 5—Connecticut Agricultural college is each summer becoming more popular to the people of the state as an excellent place to hold conventions, meetings and conferences. Located at Storrs on the hills of Mansfield, the college is particularly well situated and equipped to handle these meetings, which each summer are becoming more numerous.

Already sixteen organizations have secured dates for meetings at Storrs next summer, and these run all the way from one-day sessions to conferences that will cover a period of almost two weeks.

Equipment at Storrs is ideal for summer meetings. Visitors are housed in the various college dormitories, and meals are served in the college dining hall.

The new community house, which is now being constructed with funds raised by the Connecticut Federation of Churches, will be open for the use of summer visitors. This structure, with its auditorium, banquet hall, social and conference rooms, will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of future guests at Storrs.

Religious organizations in Connecticut are each summer returning to Storrs in larger numbers, and already three religious conferences have been arranged. The young people of the Congregational churches of Connecticut will hold their summer meeting from June 25 to July 5. The Baptist young people will hold their conference from July 7-18 and the Connecticut Council of Religious Education will meet from Aug. 10-21. The World Wide Guild of Young Women will meet Sept. 10-12.

Farmers' Week, when hundreds of farmers from this and other states visit Storrs, is scheduled for Aug. 3-6. Junior Short Course for members of Connecticut's 4-H Clubs will be held July 21-29. Fertilizer Dealers of the state will meet for a two-day session June 23-24. The Owl Interest Jersey Breeders will have a field day on Aug. 21. The annual dahlia field day will come Sept. 11. The Smith-Hughes Teachers of home economics will meet June 21-25, and an extension conference for women will be held July 7-14. The Visiting Nurses' association will meet for a one-day session on June 15.

Two summer encampments for military organizations have been scheduled. The first is for the reserve officers of the 304th infantry, which will run from June 14-26. The second will come July 4-17, for the reserve officers of the 417th infantry. On June 17 there will be a field day for the Manchester chamber of commerce, and on the day following there will be a meeting of the Association of Secretaries of Chambers of Commerce.

JORDAN'S "RIP VAN WINKLE" MAY BE REVIVED THIS YEAR

Because he is a native of Windham, there is special interest in the following from The Providence Journal:

Revival of the comic opera, "Rip Van Winkle," written by Dr. Jules Jordan, dean of Providence musicians and composer, was strongly indorsed by Mayor Gainer yesterday in an open letter. The opera was originally produced in the Providence Opera house in 1897 when it made a notable success and attracted countrywide attention among music lovers. Since then it has been produced in the west and will be sung in Nashville, Tenn., next May.

It has been proposed by friends of Dr. Jordan that the romantic piece be produced again in the city of its birth and the mayor feels that this should be done as a tribute to the musical genius of the Providence composer.

Governor Pothier and Secretary of State Sprague have also indorsed the reproduction of the opera here as a fitting tribute to the production itself and its composer.

TO MAKE APPEAL FOR NTL. CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The further work of presenting for the appeal to the churches and people of this part of New London county the building fund and endowment of a national Congregational church at Washington, which was begun in some of the churches of this region on February 21, will be continued in the next few weeks by Rev. and Mrs. Howard A. M. Briggs, field workers. Mr. and Mrs. Briggs have prepared themselves for this work by an intimate study of the Washington work and its background.

Engagements have been made for them for the next two weeks as follows: Sunday, April 11, in the churches of Norwich Town and Jewett City. Sunday, April 18, in the churches of Willington and Chaplin.

Mrs. Briggs will be recognized by many persons in Norwich who have attended the Missionary conferences at Northfield, Mass., where she has been in charge of the home missionary conferences, in association with Miss Elizabeth F. Pullen of this city, who was in charge of the foreign missionary conferences.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs will continue in other churches of the eastern part of the state as engagements are made for them, following up the work of presenting the Washington church matter which was begun on February 21.

EAGLES PLAN CLASS IN HONOR OF MOTHER'S DAY

At a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles held Monday evening at their home on Cliff street, Worthy President George Nadolny was in the chair.

In response to a communication received from the founder of Mother's day, Frank E. Hering, editor of the Eagles' Magazine, a committee was appointed to have charge of a class initiation and entertainment to be held in honor of Mother.

The pinochle committee reported that the challenge issued to the champion Foresters for a pinochle tournament in last Saturday's Bulletin has been accepted and the first session will be held at the Foresters club next Monday evening.

The building committee was empowered to start a campaign to lower the mortgage on the home and the membership at large will be requested to cooperate with the committee.

COLCHESTER BARN, COWS AND FARM TOOLS BURNED

Fire of unknown origin early Monday morning destroyed a large dairy barn, six cows, farm machinery and about twelve tons of hay on the farm of M. Selisnisky, five miles south of Colchester. The fire was discovered shortly before daylight by Mr. Selisnisky, who detected the smell of smoke while preparing to milk his cows. The flames spread rapidly and owing to the isolated location of the place, little could be done to save anything. The farm is located on what is known as the White Plains road and there are few neighbors. The loss is reported to be about $10,000 and is only partly protected by insurance.

Speeding to Gales Ferry

State Officer W. Mignerey of Old Saybrook chased and caught William Jennings of East Orange, N. J., who was speeding, at 2 p. m. Saturday. He pleaded guilty and paid $36 fine and costs. He was on his way to Gales Ferry to visit relatives over Sunday.

Ruins of a city about 1,500 years old have just been found in Sweden.

720,000,000 QUARTS OF LIQUOR DEALT IN PER YEAR UNDER THE VOLSTEAD LAW

Startling Estimate Given Before Senate Committee by U. S. District Attorney Buckner of New York City—Result of Diversion Into Illicit Channels of 60,000,000 Gallons Industrial Alcohol "Cut" Three Ways—A Total of $3,600,000,000 in Trade Per Annum Under Prohibition—Says New York City Druggists Dispose of $15,600,000 Worth, Bootleg Value, Per Year—Declares That the "Dry" United States is Exporting Bootleg Alcohol Into Canada.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Diversion of industrial alcohol alone furnishes an announced liquor traffic in this country totalling three billion six hundred million dollars in sales, Emory R. Buckner, United States district attorney at New York city, estimated today before the senate committee inquiring into conditions under prohibitory prohibition.

This estimate startled the committee and brought a gasp from the crowd which packed the hearing room on the third day of the inquiry, arranged to give modificationists an opportunity to present their case this week, with the limited next week to present anti-arguments.

But Mr. Buckner did not stop there, adding $15,000,000 to the total as the value of the "cut" whiskey which "bootleg druggists" in New York city have put on the market.

The district attorney arrived at his estimate by figuring a total diversion of industrial alcohol to the bootleg market of 60,000,000 gallons a year. Bootleggers "cut" this three ways, he explained, producing a total of 720,000,000 quarts of illicit liquor.

Placing the price at $5 a quart—and that is conservative—this makes a total of $3,600,000,000," he said.

"We pay $10 a quart cut in my country," remarked Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, the one avowed wet on the committee of five.

"You ought to know," interjected Chairman Means as the crowd roared.

Reed shot back Senator Reed and Mr. Buckner went up.

Called as a witness by the wets, Mr. Buckner pictured an improvement in enforcement conditions. He paid tribute to Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury who has charge of prohibition enforcement, declaring: "Mr. Andrews is the best thing that ever happened for prohibition."

Should Andrews be decreased, he added, he feared Andrews "took that attitude by the fact that last September the stocks of whisky alone, distilleries around New York alone as estimated that Mr. Andrews' alcohol squad had caused diversions to the point where bootlegging traffic had been lessened to the value of $15,000,000 a year."

A district attorney speaking with authority from the country's greatest city, Mr. Buckner said the way into Canada from the United States is exporting "industrial alcohol into Canada, and through the Canadian channels back into the United States."

Mr. Buckner will resume his testimony tomorrow, the committee hearing witnesses at the first of its sessions tonight.

Wet Vare, of Pennsylvania, a candidate for the republican senatorial nomination in opposition to Senator Pepper and Gov. Pinchot, appeared to support the Edge amendment providing for the sale of beverages "non-intoxicating in fact."

He advocated sale of beer and light wine as a practical solution of the problem.

"Sobriety and temperance, the undoubted purposes of prohibition legislation, have not been improved by the Volstead law," he said, "but on the contrary there has been a remarkable increase of drunkenness and a crime wave so general as to startle the country."

Modifications of the Volstead act to permit sale of beer, he added would "restore an industry in which there was an investment of $792,414,000 prior to 1920. It would put to work in the beverage plants alone over 66,000 workers. It would open the market for materials estimated at $123,630,450 annually. It would open the market for farm products which 13 years ago had a value of $87,520,247."

Chairman Means asked Representative Vare if he favored repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"I have not gone that far," the representative replied, adding:

"I am not in favor of the return of the saloon nor do I believe in the government going into the business of manufacturing liquors."

The chairman and Senator Reed got into an argument as to what the eighteenth amendment really means but Senator Reed cut it short by declaring:

"We'll call in Wayne B. Wheeler to advise us on the question."

That gave the crowd a laugh.

A severe indictment of the Volstead act was made by Alfred J. Talley, former judge of the court of general sessions in New York city.

"It is my calm and deliberate judgment, based on eight years experience," he said, "that the greatest single menace confronting us is the existence of the prohibition law."

"This is the most lawless country on the face of the earth, and prohibition is one of the greatest causes of this disrespect for law. You can't have one law scoffed at and the other laws respected."

After quoting figures which he said indicated growth of crime with prohibition, Judge Talley was asked by Chairman Means:

"Do you think the remedy lies in repealing the 18th amendment?"

"I think it would be immeasurably better off and rather reduced the criminality if the 18th amendment is repealed," Judge Talley replied.

Senator Means pressed him to suggest a remedy.

"I came here to present facts not remedies," the witness said. "But I will say that if you give the people right will and they will not stand a whisp about last liquor."

Senator Harrison, republican, Connecticut, stated he understood that theory.

"I came here to present facts, Judge Talley," he put in as Means looked pen and you remove the incentive of making the forbidden. You will remove bootleg liquor; you will remove the bootlegger and you will abolish the speakeasy."

Hobson Maxim, inventor of smokeless powder and other war implements, told the committee that he had studied prohibition for a year and that it was an "absolute, abject failure." In the native state of Maine,

"Alcohol is the medicine par excellence," he declared at one point, and large.

There was always beer alcohol in the blood of the white men who have conquered all the lands in the seven seas."

"I was in England for three months recently," the inventor went on, "I don't see a drunken man in all that time. When I returned home the first man I saw was drunk. He came to the dock to meet me. He was accompanied by a man who was drunker than he was."

COUZENS AND WHEELER EXCHANGE "COMPLIMENTS"

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—While the wets and dries are contending in the prohibition hearings before the senate prohibition committee, Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, and Wayne B. Wheeler, of the anti-saloon league, have developed a real side feud.

Senator Couzens referred to Mr. Wheeler today as a man who could not testify before a committee of which he was chairman and Mr. Wheeler resented by saying that the senator was a "15 per cent beer advocate from a dry state."

The trouble began yesterday when Mr. Wheeler's testimony was asked by a member of the civil service committee of which Mr. Couzens is head. The committee went into executive session and the Michigan senator put himself on record that the dry leader could not "even associate with" him.

Today Mr. Wheeler issued a formal statement declaring the remarks were not made within his hearing and that when made otherwise they furnished an example or the "childish bully of boyhood days." He also mentioned Mr. Couzens as "an apologist for the brewers" and remarked on "a new kind of senatorial courtesy" which would refuse a witness a hearing on law enforcement legislation.

The measure under consideration would place prohibition officers under the civil service.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT TO VOLSTEAD ACT OFFERED

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—An additional amendment to the Volstead act was offered today by Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, one of the wet leaders who obtained the present senate inquiry into conditions under national prohibition.

It would permit each state to define for itself the meaning of the words "intoxicating in fact" as used in the prohibition amendment and would provide drastic penalties for persons convicted of shipping into any state any beverage prohibited by such state as "intoxicating liquor."

Penalties proposed are not more than ten years in the penitentiary or fines ranging from $10,000 to $100,000 or both.

This amendment supplements one previously offered by Senator Edge under which the Volstead act would be so changed as to permit the sale of beverages "non-intoxicating in fact" in those states which had not prescribed a percentage of alcohol limitation in their own state codes.

ATMOSPHERE OF SECRECY AT METHODIST CONFERENCE

SOUTH MANCHESTER, April 7.—(AP)—Charged with an atmosphere of secrecy and restraint, the second day's session of the 68th annual meeting of the New England Southern conference of the Methodist church opened in South church here today. Rumors rampant, linking the name of one of the pastors with serious charges, which if proved, might lead to his deposition from the ministry.

Details of the charges or the action to be taken are guarded with utmost secrecy and the minister in question refuses to discuss the situation. Officials of the conference admit that an investigation of the conduct of one of their body is under way, after charges against the man were preferred by the district superintendent. The nature of the charges was not given.

The discipline of the Methodist church outlines the method of procedure in such cases and states that charges against a minister must be preferred at the conference and that all investigations and hearings are to be secret. The final disposition of the case is to be incorporated into the minutes of the conference.

The man against whom the charges are preferred is to be represented by counsel, who must be a member of the conference. The church is also represented by a counsel and the case is heard by a committee of fifteen members, presided over by a chairman.

The names of this committee are carefully guarded, but names of both counsel and the chairman were whispered unofficially before the close of the session. The hearings are expected to take place on Friday, but it was said that the final disposition of the case may not be made public until the following Monday.

SHOT HIS YOUNG WIFE THEN KILLED HIMSELF

LINCOLN Me., April 7.—(AP)—Robert Crocker, who wounded Mrs. Mary Ward this afternoon with his wife, and her three times, according to police, then killed himself with a shot through the head, died at 11 o'clock tonight.

As the young wife left Crocker fired a shot into the abdomen of Mrs. Mary Ward, the farm of J. B. Weatherbee, several hundred feet distant, and then returned to the house and shot himself through the head and died.

He was the son of Hiram Crocker of East Wales. Mrs. Ward has been employed by Mrs. Dodge for about two years. Crocker met Mrs. Ward in Whitefield, the county town. They were married a year ago and she soon learned that Crocker had an irregular employment but had done odd jobs about town. He was said to have been jealous as well as troubled with jealousy.

Crocker was 25 years of age. Soon his wife, or whom he said he could be very jealous. It was said that they had been quarreling. They walked along the street the public of the afternoon. Crocker became enraged and suddenly pulling a pistol shot her, then turned it on himself and fell dead.

She was rushed to the hospital in a serious condition and Dr. George T. Way, a Penobscot county medical examiner, who attended her there, said her charges for recovery were very doubtful. One shot entered the abdomen and penetrated the intestines.

TRIAL OF WHITTEMORE POSTPONED TILL APRIL 19

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 7.—(AP)—The trial of Richard Rosso Whittemore, bandit chieftain, for the murder of two bank guards in a $50,000 robbery here last October, has been postponed tentatively until April 19. The adjournment from April 5 was agreed to by District Attorney Guy M. Moore when he was informed by Martin Greene, associate counsel for the defense, that W. Bartlett Sumner, chief of defense counsel, could not return from New York before that time.

Sumner has gone to New York to obtain evidence to be used in establishing an alibi for the Whittemores, who claims he was not in Buffalo when the bank of Buffalo robbery was staged. In a long distance telephone conversation, Sumner told Greene that eight reputable witnesses, two of them Methodist-Episcopal church trustees, would testify that Whittemore and Leon Kraemer, gang member were not within 500 miles of Buffalo when the crime was committed.

When Whittemore is brought to trial it was learned today, defense counsel will ask for a change of venue on the ground that a fair trial cannot be had in Erie county on account of the character of the judge and passion against Whittemore and his associates here.

FALL OF SIX INCHES OF SNOW AT ST. JOHNSBURY, VT.

BOSTON, April 7.—(AP)—Winter returned to New England today and snow fell in many parts of the area. The fall ranged from a trace in Boston to six inches at St. Johnsbury, Vt. The weather bureau predicted that higher temperatures would turn the snow to rain tonight in most sections of New England.

$10,000,000 Fire Loss [illegible] Oil Tanks

Near San Luis Obispo, Cal.—Between 3,500,000 and 4,250,000 Barrels Ignited.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—A force of 400 men, a steam shovel and a corps of trucks and other equipment battled a fierce heat tonight against the flames which fed on four and possibly five huge oil reservoirs of the Union Oil Tank farm near here.

The fire is described as the worst in the history of the petroleum industry.

Between 3,500,000 and 4,250,000 barrels of refining oil were ignited, the offices of the Union Oil company reporting four reservoirs in flames while the sheriff's office here declared that the fifth reservoir had been reached by the blaze, the loss was estimated in excess of $10,000,000.

The first reservoir, Number 5, with a capacity of 750,000 bare's, was struck by lightning at 7:30 o'clock this morning. The flames spread in turn to reservoirs Number 6, 3 and 7, with a combined capacity of almost 3,000,000 barrels. The fifth reservoir, said by the sheriff's office to be afire, has a capacity of 750,000 barrels. A sixth reservoir in the group but had not been reached by the fire early tonight. There are 50 surface tanks in the field and the fight was centered on saving these.

A feverish attempt was being made to build up a high dike of steel and earth to protect the pump house in order that a part of the oil may be salvaged by pumping it to tank steamers. The fleet of these, a Standard Oil company ship, stood off shore today but was unable to come in because of high winds. The second tanker will reach here tomorrow morning.

The crisis in the efforts to prevent spread of the fire was expected when the flames eat down to the water carried in the crude oil. Steam then will cause the tanks to boil over, it was predicted, and the effectiveness of the dike being thrown up will then be given a test.

NOTHING IMMORAL IN THE AMERICAN MERCURY

BOSTON, April 7.—(AP)—A touch of bright green was added again to the rainbow hued news stands of Boston today.

Judge Parmenter in municipal court ruled that H. L. Mencken, editor of The American Mercury, had violated no law in selling a copy of the Mercury containing a story about a young colored jacket, had violated no law in selling copies of the issue on Boston common last Sunday. Mencken came here expressly to have himself arrested after A. Daniel Gilbert of the Watch and Ward society and succeeded in having the magazine's copies of Massachusetts and Rowland Howard.

Gilbert charged that an article in the magazine "tended to corrupt the morals of youth," but Judge Parmenter after reading the article, as well as every other one in the magazine, said he saw nothing immoral or improper in it.

He upheld the contention of Mencken's counsel, Arthur Garfield Hays, that the magazine "is not for the immature."

"It represents rather high-class intellectual discussion, and the average person would go to sleep over it, but if it did, the quality of the articles is such that they probably would not understand them and accordingly would not be harmed.

After unsuccessfully trying to get Mencken to enter a plea of guilty before the court, Gilbert withdrew the complaint.

STATEMENT TO THE PRESS BY CLARENCE M. MACKAY

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Clarence H. Mackay today broke his long silence since the separation of his daughter Irene Mackay Berlin, to protest against the "relentless and malicious" publicity involving his name by "a certain type of newspaper."

In a statement which he authorized an associate to issue to The Associated Press, reporting that a reconciliation with his daughter was imminent as a result of intervention by Mrs. Kenneth O'Brian, his eldest daughter, and Mrs. James A. Sullivan, were denied. The consolation report was characterized as "only another of the many irresponsible rumors and stories that have been printed from time to time in the past three months."

Mr. Mackay, the statement said, considers that much of the publicity following the marriage of his socially prominent daughter to the song writer who rose to be one of Broadway's idols from a start as singing waiter in "Ginger Mike's" saloon on the Bowery, "so have "sadly stretched the limits of decent journalism." He characterized this publicity as "vulgar and lying," and expressed the opinion that it "must be nauseating to decent family people." It originated, he believed, "from press agent sources only too apparent."

JOURNALISTS AND SENATORS APPLAUD SENATOR BINGHAM

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Senator Bingham won round after round of applause from the senate and the 400 visiting Pan-American journalists when he made a welcoming address in Spanish this noon when the journalists visited the capitol. The senate took a short recess in their honor and as soon as the visitors were seated in the galleries Senator Bingham rose and turning to the galleries made a brief address of welcome. At its close the visitors rose and applauded him vigorously. Senator Bingham who has traveled much in South America speaks Spanish with ease and fluency and was selected by the senate to make the address.

MISSING DOUGLAS ROBINSON PICKED UP IN ROCHESTER

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 8—(AP)—Picked up in a dazed condition, unable to explain where he had been or what he had done since he vanished from Harvard university five days ago, Douglas Robinson, 21, son of Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Robinson, this morning was taken to St. Mary's hospital here. Robinson told attendants who he was and produced a personal card bearing his name.

Robinson was picked up by police in Fitchugh street, when several persons reported a man walking about in a dazed manner.

Perils Encountered By an Air Mail Pilot

Landed on Mountain in Idaho, After Losing His Way in a Terrific Storm.

BOISE, Idaho, April 7.—(AP)—Franklin Rose, missing air mail aviator, is safe and uninjured, according to a special long distance despatch to the Statesman at 8:10 o'clock tonight from Jordan Valley.

Rose landed 65 miles south of Jordan Valley on Juniper mountain, after losing his way in a terrific storm. He landed safely in a grain field, his plane uninjured, but deep mud prevented his rising again.

He rode horseback 30 miles to the ranch of Prince Hardesty, telephoned from there to Jordan Valley.

He has plenty of gas, he reported, and is clearing the field to take off for Boise early Thursday morning.

SENATE DEBATE ON IOWA SENATORIAL CONTEST

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Senate debate on the Iowa senatorial contest got its second wind today with no indications of early cessation.

The entire day was taken up by Senator Stephens, democrat, Mississippi, speaking in support of Senator Brookhart's claim to his seat over the challenge of Daniel F. Steck, democrat. He was interrupted frequently.

He assailed the methods adopted by the senate elections sub-committee in conducting the recount, charging they had employed Republican clerks exclusively and had not properly handled the ballots.

On the recount of machine ballots, which had been held under and by court order, the Mississippi senator said Brookhart had gained 77 votes, bringing his plurality up to 1,345. But the recount of paper ballots, which had been "thrown around in a loose and careless manner," he said, showed a confirmed gains for Steck until the sub-committee "waved aside" a request for an investigation of discrepancies in ballots although the records in 1965 precincts did not tally with the official returns.

Urging the senate to abide by the Iowa election law, Senator Stephens declared that if Steck could have gained 1,344 votes on which the voters had marked the straight republican ticket and also cast a mark in front of Steck's name. He did not find the Iowa supreme court twice and read the ballots so marked should be counted as a straight ticket.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, asserted that "no committee is made by report recommending for Senator Reed of the senate to succeed Senator Reed of Missouri, said that it was "indefensible to [illegible] "usurping under [illegible] the will of the voters, with contempt for the will of the voters."

The majority report was defended by Senator Gillett, republican, Massachusetts, a member of the sub-committee who declared the charges were not investigated because the officers representing the contestant had not appeared and Steck had refused a request to [illegible] the results.

DECREASE IN EARNINGS OF THE FORD MOTOR CO.

BOSTON, April 7.—(AP)—In spite of the enormous profits amassed by most of the large automobile manufacturing units in the U. S. Ford Motor company was one of the few to show a decrease in earnings and in the proportion of profit, according to the report issued in the company's annual statement to the Massachusetts commissioner of corporations today.

Operating profits are based on the basis of the years increase in surplus, plus the usual dividends of $15,000,000, were estimated at $91,000,000 compared with [illegible] profits of $140,165,419 in 1924. The [illegible] ings were equivalent to $47.71 on each of the 1,772,040 shares of stock held entirely within the Ford family against $66.13 on the same [illegible] ing year.

On the basis of the Ford company's balance sheet, the [illegible] earnings and dividends, stock market analysts have estimated the value of each share at close to $5,000 giving the company a total stock valuation of in excess of a billion dollars.

600 STRIKERS IN PASSAIC REPULSED BY POLICE

PASSAIC, N. J., April 7.—(AP)—Six hundred striking textile workers today were repulsed by police in attempts for the second successive day to picket the Gera mills. Four arrests were made, two men and two women.

The skirmish started a short time from the hill, when the picket line composed of those who attended mass meetings in Passaic and Garfield refused to turn back. Concerted action by 30 officers resulted in a confused flight to safety in which women and children were knocked down by the rush. Within 20 minutes the crowd was dispersed.

As the riot ended Chief of Police Richard Zober appeared on the scene in an automobile. The car was showered with missiles by children in the crowd. Commander McCarthy of the Passaic American Legion post and five followers were beaten by strikers when they singled out the boys who did the stoning.

HOUSE REJECTS $40,000,000 FOREST CONSERVATION BILL

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The house showed a determination to economize today by refusing to approve a $40,000,000 forest conservation program with expenditures extended over a ten year period.

Instead, it passed a bill to authorize a $4,000,000 outlay during the next two years for conservation, chiefly through the purchase of land where timber growth would be protected.

Another bill passed by the house today, which already had received senate approval and now goes to the president, provides for a liberalization of laws regulating reforestration of denuded areas by removing a requirement for a full state audit of all claims.

The house also passed and sent to the president a joint resolution authorizing the secretary of agriculture to co-operate with territories as well as states in reforestation work.

Wounded Man Warned His Countryman Against Reprisals—Was Shot in the Face as He Emerged From the Congress of Surgeons in Rome—The Bullet Perforated Both Nostrils, But Without Grave Results—His Assailant Was The Honorable Violet Albina Gibson, 50 Year-Old Irish Woman, Resident of Compeigne, France—Would-Be Assassin Was Dragged to a Place of Safety by a Carabineer.

ROME, April 7.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini, strong man of Italy, was near to death today. He had just emerged from the congress of surgeons, and had raised his arm in salute to the plaudits of the multitude when a woman pressed a revolver into his face, and fired.

At that very moment, Mussolini, as he ducked, threw back his head, the bullet passed through his nostrils, and with a quick step forward, the fascist premier put his hand to his face, and drew it away covered with blood.

The assailant, believed to be an Irish woman, the Honorable Violet Albina Gibson, the 50-year-old sister of Baron Ashbourne, a resident of Compeigne, France, was seized by a carabineer and dragged to a place of safety, for in an instant the thousands who had gathered to acclaim the premier were in a frenzy of excitement and rage.

When Mussolini at the time were Dr. Ettore Roberto Alessandro, one of the royal surgeon, Raffaele Bastianelli, and they rushed to his aid. It was Bastianelli who dressed the wound, and later he issued a statement, saying: "The premier was wounded by a fire-arm, the bullet perforating both nostrils, but without grave results."

Notwithstanding his injury Mussolini insisted on driving his automobile, but he was induced to return to the hotel. He was perfectly tranquil, seemingly not thinking of himself, and was only anxious that no grave consequences among the people should arise from the attempt.

"I desire that the country be not alarmed," he cautioned. "If to two words replies I receive, [illegible] I would have received him shoulder-[illegible]. Mussolini smiled and again gave the Roman salute and then drove away with Aeronautic and Bastianelli.

ASSAILANT A WOMAN "OF ECCENTRIC HABITS"

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Late reports from Rome tonight leave hardly a doubt that Mussolini's assailant was the honorable Violet Albina Gibson, Baron Ashbourne's middle-aged sister, who is described as "of eccentric habits."

Neither the present baron, who married a Frenchwoman and lives habitually in France, nor any other member of the family, resides in Ireland, the ancestral home of the family.

Violet Albina Gibson was born in 1876 at Dalkey, county Dublin, and a little over a year ago was the central figure of a dramatic incident in Rome. Sometime previously, her friends say, her life had been spent in mystic contemplation. She remarked that illness had filled her with one great desire — to leave mundane world, inspired possibly by the motto on the family coat-of-arms—"Celestes pandite portae" ("Open, Oh you heavenly gates.") She was devoutly religious,

HERMAN JOHNSON FAILS TO RETURN TO HAMPTON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 7—The search continues for Herman Johnson, 63, of Larchmont, N. Y., who disappeared from the home of his son, Frank Johnson in Hampton Monday morning. Mr. Spencer of North Windham after reading the description of the aged man in the newspapers reported that he had seen such a man walking along the highway in North Windham Tuesday. The man, he said, was headed toward Willimantic. This clue has brought some relief to members of the family who had feared that he had either been assaulted, had strayed in the woods or possibly had taken his life. The searchers are keeping in constant touch with the home in Larchmont, N. Y., in the hope that Mr. Johnson will return to that place. Mr. Johnson who retired from active business a few months ago, recently purchased a new home in Larchmont. He was troubled, however, for fear that in his advanced years the purchasing of a new home would prove a foolhardy adventure. In order to rest his family arranged for him to make a long visit with his son in Hampton. He was advised to feel free to come and go as he pleased and take all the advantages of peace and quiet which a farm home offers. He went out for a ride Saturday, Sunday and Monday, but failed to return on the last day. It was learned that he had dinner there and returned to the east home without giving notice. He had consulted no one in person to make the visit according to relatives. Mr. Johnson was unusually active and there was no fear that he could not make the trip back home safely if such was his intention. The state police, the local police and County Detective W. E. Jackson have been notified and are leading the search. The premises in Hampton have been carefully searched and the theory that his body might be found in ponds in the vicinity was dispelled when no breaks could be discovered in the ice covering these. Mr. Johnson is slightly over five feet tall and of slim stature. He has a small gray moustache. When he disappeared he wore a light suit, two tan sweaters, black trousers and police shoes.

INCH OF SNOW ON GROUND EARLY WEDNESDAY MORNING

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 7—Weather of an unusually unpleasant nature has prevailed here to mark the opening of the spring season. March was cold and dreary for many days. The calendar day for April was damp and chilly and the month itself has been doing its best to live up to the forecast. One inch of snow covered the ground at daybreak Wednesday. Drizzling rain followed leaving the ground wet and cold and making tempers and traveling disagreeable. At noon thermometers registered 40 degrees. One year ago Wednesday the mercury was up to 80 degrees at noon, with the sun shining and force.

Miss Edith T. Parke, 20, a student at the State Normal school, is confined to her home, 175 North street, with painful injuries sustained when knocked down by an automobile operated by Mrs. Emma K. Robinson, of Windham center, Tuesday afternoon, on Summit street. Miss Parke and two other students of the Normal school were walking to their respective homes when the machine driven by Mrs. Robinson approached them, as they were in the street. The young ladies leaped to safety and it was said that Miss Parke had reached the sidewalk when the machine climbed the curbing and struck her down, running over her left leg. A physician was called, and it was found that the young woman had no broken bones. She was suffering from severe bruises and cuts on her leg. Mrs. Robinson made a report of the accident at police headquarters.

Funeral services for Charles H. Learned were held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at his home in Mansfield Center. Rev. T. Hawthorne Jones of Mansfield conducted the services. Hymns were sung by the Mansfield Congregational church quartet, Robert E. Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wyman and Mrs. R. L. Hahn. Burial was in the new Mansfield Center cemetery. The honorary bearers were Charles Franklin, Henry Brown, Walter Storrs and A. W. Buchanan Sr. The active bearers were Robert E. Stearns, Thomas Wilcox, T. Arthur Barrows and John Jacobson. SOUNDING PUBLIC OPINION ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 7.—A committee of the chamber of commerce is engaged today in interviewing representatives of manufacturing concerns and business interests on the daylight saving proposition for Danielson and other parts of the town of Killingly. There is a possibility that some reasonable measure of the attitude of these interests may be at hand by tonight.

The committee, it is understood, is not favoring no special program. As a central agency it is seeking some uniform agreement, one way or the other, as to what sort of time this town will keep for the late spring and summer months.

It is generally conceded that the attitude of the manufacturers is likely to govern the situation. If they agree on a daylight saving schedule, daylight saving time it is likely to be. If they disagree Danielson likely will have a dual system of keeping time this summer, for disagreement means that some on standard and some on daylight.

There was some consideration at tonight's evening's meeting of the chamber of commerce of having that body leave the question entirely alone, but it was finally decided that the chamber might perform a public service by seeking at least a uniform agreement.

It is undeniable that there is more interest in Danielson this season for daylight saving than for several years past. This is due not so much because of a dislike for a standard time as because of the fact that great part of New England with which this town does business follows fast time each summer, and that means additional trials and tribulations for people here in carrying on business transactions with people in the fast time areas.

The impression, on the other hand, is not strong as to the merits of the daylight saving plan. Many do not like and do not care to say so. There is no reason why these conflicting views, if this be true, that the chamber of commerce committee at work on the daylight saving proposal today.

STILL DISCUSSING CASE. PRO AND CON CHAPMAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

Middletown, April 7.—As late as yesterday several witnesses were frantically seeking a stay of execution of the death penalty for Arthur Chapman, convicted murderer of Officer Edward Shields, and who has been in the state prison at Wethersfield since his conviction in the New Britain murder in the first degree.

In the letter referred to, Chapman is shown of having fired the shot that killed Officer Shields, and who has been in the state prison at Wethersfield since his conviction in the New Britain murder in the first degree.

PUTNAM

ALDERMAN ALFRED PIGEON SENDS IN RESIGNATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 7—The resignation of Alfred Pigeon, democratic alderman from the Fourth ward was received and accepted, at the meeting of the city council last evening. Mr. Pigeon has moved from Putnam to Rhode Island. His successor will be chosen at a special meeting of the council Tuesday evening, April 20.

Putnam's water problem did not come up at the meeting except that the special committee appointed to consider the matter of improvements to the plant reported progress. City Engineer George W. Perry was not at the meeting, nor was Shepard B. Palmer, of Norwich, who has been engaged by the council to give his opinion on the best way to make the needed improvements.

There was considerable discussion over the matter of installing two new fire alarm boxes. It was finally decided to put in a new box on Woodstock avenue, and one on South Main street. The cost of the boxes is $125 each.

Captain of Police William Jarvis reported a very quiet month. There were but five arrests, for intoxication. One offender went to jail, three received suspended sentences, and three paid fines and costs amounting to $37.56.

Chemical company No. 2 reported the election of the following officers, all of whom were ratified by the council: Foreman, Frederick Dumas; first assistant foreman, Joseph Dumas; second assistant, Louis Beausoleil; secretary and treasurer, Eugene Desrilaume.

Petitions for cooling on Main and Water streets were read and laid over. The cost to the city would amount to more than $5000.

MASONIC FUNERAL RITUAL FOR WALLACE W. TUTTLE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 7—Masonic funeral services were held for Wallace W. Tuttle, were held at the Masonic Temple at 12:30 noon today, conducted by Rev. H. H. Bigelow of Pomfret. The body was taken by automobile to Upton Mass., where burial will take place following the committal services of the order by his associate members of that lodge.

Mrs. Tuttle, who has been critically ill with pneumonia, the same malady that caused the death of her husband is reported to be much improved.

Mr. Tuttle came here two years ago from Detroit to become production engineer at the Putnam company, which is owned by the Leland-Gifford company, of Worcester, with which Mr. Tuttle had been engaged for a number of years. He was born in Greenfield, Conn., Oct. 26, 1880. He attended Worcester Mass. Polytechnic institute for two years and then went to the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor from which he was graduated.

He married twelve years ago Miss Marjorie H. Fitch, of Detroit, who, with one child, Henry, a boy of ten, survives. He was much interested in radio and was president of the Putnam Musical Shop, Inc.

The 33rd post-Lenten ball of Carroll Council, K. of C., was a very great success from every standpoint. Decorations arranged by a Hartford firm made the armory a gay ball room and the electric light made a veritable way of the street approaches. The Ideal orchestra of Worcester furnished music, giving a concert before the dancing. The grand march began at nine o'clock and was led by Armand J. Monnette, grand knight and Mrs. Monnette. Until the ball was such a success was partly due to the very efficient committees. Ball committee: Michael L. White, John M. Hogan, P. Edgar Lussier, Lester Herlihey, Patrick Dignan, A. J. Cavanaugh, James J. Charron, Ulric O. Baker, Edward W. Mullan and John Hannifan; reception: Bernard J. McGarry, George Lewis, Jr., John J. McGarry, Armand Lizotte, Willis B. Carroll, William E. Six famous cooking experts agree

Pacific Coast, Gulf of Mexico, New England, and Lake Michigan! Six of the country's foremost cooking experts have just completed a rigorous test of the Perfection Stove.

THEY used every method of cooking from frying to baking, and were enthusiastic about the Perfection. Read what they say.

"Whether I broiled steak or French-fried potatoes, the results were fine," says Mrs. Rorer, famous Philadelphia cooking teacher.

Crisp Waffles

"My waffles were light and beautifully brown," says Miss Allen, director of The Boston School of Cookery. "They cooked on a hot flame, with yellow tips 1½ inches high above the blue area."

"I found the Perfection so dependable," reports Mrs. DeGraf, home economics counsellor. "I left a roast lamb in the oven for hours. The flame never wavered."

No Scouring Needed

"Eggs a la King and broiled tomatoes are delicious enough in themselves," affirms Miss Hall, nutrition expert, "but twice as delicious to the cook whose kettle bottoms need no scouring. Perfection's long chimneys burn every drop of oil before the heat reaches the cooking. No soot or odor."

"Using a Perfection is like cooking with gas," remarks Mrs. Vaughn, domestic science expert. And Miss Rosa Michaelis is of the same opinion.

Tested Cooking Ability

These are just a few comments made by the six experts, satisfied with only the best cooking equipment. They find the 1926 Perfection fulfills every cooking requirement.

What does it mean to you?—That when you buy a Perfection you get a stove with cooking ability tested and proved by experts.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

TAFTVILLE MAN FINED IN THE BOROUGH COURT

(Special to the Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, April 7—Hermidas Geier of Taftville pleaded guilty in the borough court Wednesday morning to the charge of reckless driving and operating a public service car without a public service license. Judge Head imposed a fine of $5 on the reckless driving charge and $5 with costs of $11.70 for operating a public service car without a license therefor.

Geary was arrested by State Policeman Hulbert and Heinold who were patrolling the highway between Stafford Springs and Willimantic. Geary who was driving a public service car approached the railroad crossing below Stafford at about 45 miles an hour and on account of the curve in the highway his machine was barely able to make the turn his machine swayed from side to side as he crossed the tracks and came within a few inches of striking the fence. Had he struck the fence the car with all its passengers might have plunged down the embankment into the river. There were four passengers in the car at the time. The police officers followed the car up the river road and through Stafford Springs Main street. Traffic Officer Hearn blew his whistle for Geary to stop when he turned into Main street, but the driver paid no attention to it. The officers continued the chase until they reached Healey's corner at the junction of Somers avenue and West Main street. Geary said he did not think he was driving as fast as the officers said he was.

Neighbors were called to the home of Mrs Hilliard Wednesday evening to extinguish a chimney fire. Later a second blaze appeared under the chamber floors in two rooms, near the chimney and but for the prompt action of Arthur Love it might have proved quite serious. He chopped holes through the floors and plenty of water was brought and the fire was soon under control.

Mrs. Hilliard and daughter Carolyn spent Saturday in Providence.

Mrs. Gertrude Gallup and Mrs. Fillmore who have been confined to bed ill with grip are improving slowly.

Evelyn Love spent the week end with her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Lord, at John Place's home.

Otis Remington, of Oneco, is staying at the home of Mrs. George Kenyon.

THE TURKISH TREATY

[illegible] any question the objection that has been raised to the ratification of the treaty with Turkey that was negotiated at Lausanne deals with the situation in a manner that calls forth much sympathy. What is said about Turkey and its treatment of others is no secret, and were it possible to take the conduct of that country alone into consideration there would probably be no question about the manner in which the treaty would be dealt with.

But regardless [illegible] the Turkey of the past it is to be realized that it is not solely the past that must be dealt with. There is the present and the future to be considered. There are Americans in Turkey at the present time who are without the protection that goes with such a treaty. There are those who are doing business in Turkey who have no such protection as formerly existed, and only recently American goods had a higher duty placed upon them than did those of other countries simply because the treaty had not been ratified.

Because ratification of the treaty is sought does not mean that Turkey's acts of the past are condoned. It does not mean that they are accepted and forgotten, or that it changes the known history of Turkish atrocities. It is accomplished it will simply mean that the best has been obtained in the way of a treaty that could be obtained under existing conditions and that it is desirable that the subjects of this country should be given the benefit of that advantage.

It seems necessary to give consideration to all sides of the matter in connection with the question of ratification. Other nations have been quite as horrified by the Turkish acts as this country and yet they have ratified treaties that are similar in character to that which has been negotiated for the United States, and there is no prospect at the present time that anything better could be obtained. On the other hand the absence of a treaty would subject our people in that country to conditions that ought not to exist.

From all indications the woman who was shooting is not in [illegible] mind and yet the attack quickly followed the story to the effect that his life was threatened by a widespread plot.

It is unfortunate that there are those who believe that there is no way of bringing about an adjustment of conditions which do not suit them without resort to the bullet. From Small Beginnings

James A. Garfield, the Canal-Boat Boy, President of the United States

Every boy who has read Treasure Island and similar stories has felt a wish to become a pirate. If possible, a pirate. When James A. Garfield was a small boy he read such stories, not the immortal Treasure Island, but wild stories of the ocean. He made up his mind to Ohio home and set out to find the nearest sea captain. Unfortunately Ohio is some distance from the Spanish Main and young Garfield landed on a canal boat. After he had driven the mule until he was sick of mules, and after he had all the adventures that a canal boat can offer, he fell both sick and homesick, returned to his parents to go to work in real earnest, leaving sabors and pirates to take care of themselves. His farmer-father, who had lived in a log cabin when the boy was born, had no money to spare and the boy had to work indeed. The farm demanded much use of the muscles and the schools were few and poor and only available in a small part of the year when farm help was not much needed. By dint of all sorts of work, sometimes with the hoe, sometimes with the saw and hammer sometimes [illegible] or surveying, [illegible] himself alive. He managed to prepare himself for college and to do so well there that at 26 he was made a professor [illegible] a university president.

[illegible] young college head took such a strong stand against slavery that he was sent to the state senate. The Civil war broke out, and he volunteered, served most bravely and became a major general. During the course of the war he was elected a member to congress and began at once a long period of brilliant service at Washington. He became one of the most prominent leaders of his party and [illegible] candidate for speaker. In 1880 he was elected to the United States senate.

FROM LUCILE'S DIARY

About two weeks ago I invited Mrs. Armond Wright, whom I met last summer up in Wisconsin, to come in from Heathdale and have lunch with me at father's club. I was anxious to entertain her.

"You have such a charming home," I said as we were finishing our bisque caramel, for which the club's chef is noted, "that ever since I was in your marvelously spacious drawing room I've been thinking what a splendid place it would be in which to give a parlor drama. Have you ever had a play there, Mrs. Wright?"

"Why, no. I never thought of such a thing," she replied.

"Well, I have thought of it," I said gayly. "Indeed, I have just about engaged the Strollers, a perfectly delightful little amateur society, to give their two-act drama, Wild Rose, in your lovely home. The cast is willing to do it just for expenses and we can divide the profits between some pet charity of yours and my Dix Amies service fund."

"You have thought of everything," remarked Mrs. Wright.

"That's my way," I laughed. "I really ought to have some important executive position."

"You certainly should," she agreed. "How will a week from next Friday evening do for the play?"

"I'll let you know if it's all right," she promised, but three days passed and I did not hear from her, so acting on the belief that no news is good news I went right along with the preparations.

The day before the date of the entertainment I called Mr. Wright at his office and asked him to tell Mrs. Wright that the Strollers and I would be on hand at the house for a dress rehearsal during the evening before the performance.

"This sounds jolly," he said. "Does Mrs. Wright know about it?"

"Certainly. Hasn't she told you?"

"She did say something in regard to an amateur play but I got the impression that the performance had been indefinitely postponed. Mr. Armond Wright [illegible]

"You dense! That's a joke," I laughed. "She probably didn't wish to bother you with details."

"Perhaps," he assented doubtfully.

When we arrived at Heathdale and encountered the frigid politeness of Mrs. Wright I better understood.

"I had no idea that you would think of going on with this affair," she said to me in an aside, "but since you have of course I shall further your arrangements in any way I can."

"But, dear Mrs. Wright, I thought you expected us."

"I told you that if it were all right to have it. I would let you know. Mr. Wright says I should have written you anyway, and I see now that I should have done so."

Her attitude struck me as both unreasonable and absurd, but I did not allow it to mar my pleasure. The dress rehearsal was a lot of fun. As I am eager to join the club I was glad to show how clever I could be at helping with the makeups and costumes.

When it was over I asked Mrs Wright what we should do about dinner. We were starving. She said there was, unfortunately, no good restaurant in Heathdale and her cook was out.

"How would it do for us to have an indoor bacon bat in your kitchen?" I asked. "It would be quite a lark frying bacon and eggs, and you and Mr. Wright could join us."

"Thank you, but we are running in next door to dine with my sister," she said. "She is expecting us."

Although Mr Wright in his genial way had hurriedly phoned to many neighbors and friends, we did not take in enough money to pay even for the bisque caramel that I had had sent on our from father's club to eat after the performance. Some of the Strollers showed their disappointment and were inclined to blame me.

It was difficult for me to explain that Mrs. Wright had practically played me false.—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Kindness to Animal Workers

Mr. Editor: My whole life has been spent in a general kindness to animal work and I was greatly interested in the letter of Gustav Stryker of New Haven city in your valuable paper on April 6th by, he has left out one very prominent Roman Catholic who dictated one of the grandest "kindness to animals" articles ever written.

I refer to Pope Pius IX. I am not a Catholic. The article I refer to was printed in The Boston Pilot when that grand man of all men, John Boyle O'Reilly was its editor. I have forgotten the date, but I have the article.

While I do not recognize any such things as "saints" I do know that the dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church for many centuries have been in the front rank of kindness-to-animal workers.

Rev. John Creedon and John A. Broderick, two former Moosup, Conn. Roman Catholic priests were always advocates of dumb animal kindness, preached sermons along those lines and also did good work outside of their church in dumb animal interests. Rev John A. Broderick and his brother Rev Edward Broderick both assisted me in the appointment as game warden years ago because they knew how I stood along dumb animal lines.

Every Roman Catholic on earth has just cause to be proud of the good work done by their church heads in the kindness-to-dumb-animal lines and I heartily thank Gustav Stryker for calling it to The Bulletin readers' attention.

Peeper Stops Peeping

Times there are when one may peep
And other times to silence keep.
—Peeper the Hyla.

Singers always love to sing. Perhaps you have noticed that. Sometimes they love to sing better than other folks love to have them sing. Now, one of the sweet singers of the spring is Peeper the Hyla, whom many hear and few see. There is a saying that little folk should be seen and not heard but Peeper thinks that this is all wrong. Peeper believes that they should be heard, but not seen. And because he really believes this he does his very best to make it true. If you doubt it just go over to the Smiling Pool some April day when you hear Peeper singing. You won't see him. I am quite sure of it. You see, in spite of making a great noise in the world, Peeper the Hyla is really very bashful.

Now, there is a reason for this bashfulness. Perhaps it would be more correct to say there are many reasons for this bashfulness. Two of them arrived one evening just as Peeper was getting into the full swing of his evening concert. They arrived in the Smiling Pool with two splashes—splash! splash!—just like that. Have you guessed who they were? Of course! I knew you would. They were Mr. and Mrs. Quack, who had just arrived from the Sunny South where they had spent the winter.

Now, some singers are so bewitched with the sound of their own voices that they can hear nothing else. But it isn't that way with Peeper the Hyla. Goodness, no! No, indeed! Peeper may seem all voice, but when you listen you will find he has ears, and those ears [illegible] the least sound. So when Mr. and Mrs. Quack arrived in the Smiling Pool Peeper the Hyla heard them. He heard them splash. He saw Pook and Mrs. Quack swimming about. He saw the other Hylas in the Smiling Pool fell just the same way about it. Only a second before Mr. and Mrs. Quack splashed, splashed into the Smiling Pool, the air rang with the Hyla concert. A second after the splash, splash, not a sound was to be heard from the water. It was as silent as if there were not a Hyla within miles and miles.

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Quack had heard the Hyla concert long before they reached the Smiling Pool. It had sounded good to them. Yes, indeed, it had sounded very good to them. They were not thinking of the sweetness of the voices. That was not why it sounded good. The reason it sounded good was that they were hungry. Of course, they couldn't eat those voices, but they could eat the owners of those voices. I mean, they could if they could catch them. So they would have smiled, if ducks could smile, when they flew down to the Smiling Pool. But the instant after they touched the water they listened in vain. Their musical dinners had disappeared. Yes, sir, they had so. Mrs. Quack cocked her head on one side and listened. Mr. Quack cocked his head on one side and listened. They heard nothing.

"No [illegible]," said Mrs. Quack, "for we [illegible] Quickly still for a [illegible] with to peep again. So [illegible] and waited. They [illegible] Then they waited [illegible] There wasn't a sound from the Smiling Pool. Peeper the Hyla had stopped peeping. You see, he cared more about living than singing. He is a very small fellow but, as you see, there is considerable wisdom in that small head of his. He would rather be a peepless peeper than a ducks dinner. And so there was a great silence in the Smiling Pool.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The distinction of being the most widely known woman in the world today is one to which Miss Mary Pickford can truly claim. Such little chance of fame is disputed. Today the celebrated film actress receives the most birthday in the enjoyment of fame and fortune in such large measure as seldom falls to the lot of any woman or man, even in these days. Miss Pickford is a credit to the family to which she belongs—the great Smith family, for it was as Gladys Smith that she first saw the light of day 33 years ago, in the city of Toronto. Her parents and other members of her family were of the "profession," and it was natural that she should take up a stage career while still in her teens. For a time she appeared on the speaking stage and then a kind destiny guided her into the movies. On the silver screen her success was almost instantaneous and soon she was known wherever American motion pictures are shown, which means in virtually every corner of the globe.

Stories That Recall Others

Honesty

There was a grower who had a poor fruit crop. He was ashamed of it and was undecided what to do. After the shipping season was over a friend asked him what he did with his crop.

"Well, sir, my conscience wouldn't permit me to send that fruit to the market. I've always had a name for honesty and the crop was so poor in every way I had my wife send them under her middle name."

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Don't Poison Baby

Through Your Constipation

Nursing mothers must avoid constipation. Slow bowel movements allow poisons to form and be absorbed by the blood. This means tainted milk for baby.

Mothers are the best friends of Nujol. When precious new lives are at stake they use and give their babies Nujol—the remedy medical authorities prescribe because it is so safe, so gentle, and so natural in its action.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without gasping.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. Unlike laxatives, it does not form a habit and can be discontinued at any time.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

WEDDINGS

McCartis-Gebo

At 8 o'clock Tuesday morning Joseph McCartis of Ware, Mass., and Miss Mabel Gebo of No. 22 Grosvenor Place, this city, were united in marriage at St. Patrick's church, by Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May. The bride was beautifully gowned in white canton crepe with a wreath of orange blossoms caught with a tulle veil. The bridesmaid, Miss Irene Gebo, sister of the bride, was handsomely attired and carried Columbia roses. The bride carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Easter flowers adorned the altar.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception were held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gebo, No. 22 Grosvenor Place with about 25 guests present. The bride received numerous beautiful and useful wedding gifts. Her gift to the bridesmaid was silver rosary beads and a small prayer book with silver case. The groom presented the best man, Oliver Lotermay of Ware, Mass., a pair of gold cuff links. Later in the day the bride and groom left for a wedding tour by automobile after which they will reside in a newly furnished home in Ware. The bride's traveling gown was of pearl gray material. Guests were present from Ware, Palmer, Chicopee, Moosup and Westerly.

Walsh-Risley

OVERHEATED STOVE PIPE STARTED FIRE AT ELIZABETH STREET HOUSE

Fire caused by an overheated stove pipe resulted in damage of about $500 to the house at No. 24 Elizabeth street about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The house is owned by Samuel Kadish. Box 15 was pulled in at 10:13 o'clock calling out the department. The firemen made a quick response and by good work kept the flames from spreading by use of chemical lines.

The fire originated in the basement tenement occupied by C. H. Burt and was caused by an overheated stove pipe. The David Kirkup family had a hot woodfire in an airtight stove, the pipe of which led into the chimney through a clothes press. The overheated pipe ignited clothing in the closet and spread through the partitions. The contents of the house were only slightly damaged, the damage being confined to the building itself.

SIX CHURCHES CONFERENCE HELD IN JEWETT CITY

Jewett City Congregational church entertained the conference of six churches on Wednesday. In spite of the rainy day 130 were present. Rev. G. Keene Gray presided, offering the invocation after the singing of the doxology. The Lord's prayer and responsive reading preceded the Scripture from 1 Timothy 13 read by Rev. Dwight Stone of Hanover. The choir of 11 voices, Miss Irene Stewart, organist, sang an anthem. Prayer was offered by Rev. William Prentiss of Plainfield, followed by choir response. The sermon was by Rev. J. Beveridge Lee, D. D. of New London. His theme was The Living God 3-15. The word loyalty to the church is often used as meaning a building; that God lives no where else. The church is made of people, the circle of the living God. God reveals Himself in a human life, the most natural thing He can do. Though the attributes of our wills, intellects and affections we understand the living God. How can we claim to be churches of the living God, unless the church is alive itself. A church is alive which has a consciousness of the presence of God—which loves with the love of Jesus Christ—as these six everybody. Rev. W. J. Reynolds of Lisbon pronounced the benediction. Dinner was served in the vestry, Rev. A. H. Clement asking the blessing.

The afternoon session opened with a song service. The report of the last conference was read by the clerk, Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, of Jewett City. The roll call showed 17 from Hanover, 5 Newent, 30 Preston City, 3 Pachaug, 20 Plainfield, 34 Jewett City, and 20 visitors. Rev. Mr. Stone gave the notice for the next conference in Hanover. A vote of thanks was given the entertaining church. Rev. Mr. Reynolds read resolutions on the death of Rev. John P. Richardson in Dorchester, Mass., a former pastor in Pachaug. The conference appreciated his Christian character and worth as a man. He was a real servant of God, and lover of men. A copy is to be sent to Mrs. Richardson, the devoted and helpful companion of his life for half a century. The resolution was seconded by Rev. Mr. Prentiss. Mr. Reynolds also offered a resolution, seconded by Mr. Stone on the death of Rev. J. W. Payne. Although not a member of the conference he always attended in Jewett City, and often in the other towns and gave the columns of his paper freely for reports and notices. The conference rejoices that he has entered into the fuller and wider fellowship of the Kingdom of Heaven.

Rev. and Mrs. Howard A. M. Briggs, field workers, were present and presented an appeal to the conference for the building fund and endowment of a new National Congregational church in Washington, D. C. The afternoon address was by Samuel Aurrerated of Yale Divinity school. He has been studying for five years, intending to become a lawyer, but for a year he has been studying to become a missionary. He is from the Philippines. His principal idea was to let people do, of any country until all sides have been studied and to make ourselves so fine that we can lead others. Rev. George Reese of Central Village pronounced the benediction. The platform was very lavishly decorated with palms and ferns, interspersed with Easter lilies, hyacinths, daffodils and pussy-willows.

SAW BIG SESQUI-CENTENIAL BUILDINGS IN PHILADELPHIA

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lyman returned Wednesday from a visit in Philadelphia, where Mr. Lyman went on a business trip to see his father. One of the interesting things for visitors in Philadelphia at the present time is to see the preparations that the city is making for the sesqui-centennial celebration, erecting vast buildings and filling in a large tract of from 200 to 300 acres for the exposition grounds. Three of the principal buildings, each 1300 x 900 feet, are well advanced, and the work on others is being pushed along as fast as possible.

Mr. Lyman brought home a number of postal card views of the new buildings and also of the new bridge between Camden and Philadelphia, across which he had the privilege of walking although it is not completed yet.

ROTARY CLUB RE-ELECTS E. A. HARRIS PRESIDENT

Edwin A. Harris, who has been president of the Norwich Rotary club since the resignation of J. Nelson Weymouth, was re-elected president of the club at the annual meeting held on Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel. The other officers elected were: Judge Nelson J. Ayling, vice president; Edward L. Jewett, secretary; Dr. Clarence A. Spear, treasurer; Frederick S. Crowell, sergeant at arms.

The directors elected at the meeting were Judge Nelson J. Ayling, Arthur M. Brown, Dr. Hugh B. Campbell, Edwin A. Harris, Edward L. Jewett, John J. O'Rourke, James Ruantree and Dr. Clarence A. Spear. The tellers were Alex McNicol, C. J. Twist, and Herbert Ferguson.

The speaker of the day was Arthur M. Brown who in his introductory remarks said that it was hard to pick a current topic from the many at the present time. He said he had picked at random from the pages of the newspapers and cited three cases that illustrated: First, the courage to achieve success; second, speed; third, the knowledge of the laws of knowledge. Illustrating the first he cited the case of Mary Lewis who only recently achieved success through her wonderful voice with the Metropolitan Opera Co. This young girl dared to run away from home and join a theatrical company and fight her way to recognition. The second was illustrated through the report of the research work or a prominent scientist who makes the prediction that it will not be long before man will be able to attain a speed of 500 miles an hour, making it possible to encircle the globe between dawn and dusk. He bases his prediction on the fact that there is a fly in South America that attains this speed and it is hoped in the study of this insect that man will be able to construct a mechanical device to attain the same speed.

The third is illustrated through the investigations of a professor at Columbia university who secured through a knowledge of how many people knew the Ten Commandments. He investigated in various walks of life, the professional men, the business men, the farmer and the clergy. Of these groups none of them knew all of the commandments, as it may seem. It is forgot that the last named group knew much more about the commandments than the others.

Mr. Brown's talk was very interesting and he injected a large amount of humor into it.

President E. A. Harris presided at the meeting and William G. Park was the song leader. The musical and entertainment programme included two selections on the piano by Miss Mary Hall, to be followed next Wednesday evening by a solo by Miss Ruth Hall.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

HAROLD MAHONEY WINS PRIZE FROM BANK JOURNAL

To inculcate habits of thrift in Norwich school children, the Norwich savings society, Charles H. Bates, treasurer, among other activities sponsored a contest open to pupils of the public schools in the city. Each pupil was asked to write a letter to the treasurer explaining his or her reasons for opening a savings account. The letters were to be judged by a committee of three, and the writer of the best letter was to receive a prize of $5. The contest closed March 15 and the letters were judged by Miss Mary Louise Bliss, Miss Mary Louise Bliss and Miss Mary Louise Bliss. The prize letter was written by Harold Mahoney, 12 years old, a pupil in the sixth grade at St. Patrick's school. The letter follows:

Norwich, Conn.
March 15, 1926.

Mr. Harold Mahoney,
St. Patrick's School,
Norwich, Conn.

Miss Smith, of the Savings society, who took the letter and sent it to St. Patrick's school to give the reward to the boy, found that Master Mahoney had submitted a second letter independently, winning the prize. The boy's home is on McKinley avenue. Very naturally, his teacher and schoolmates shared with him the satisfaction of knowing that his effort had brought honor to the school, and a check which Miss Smith gave the young man to deposit greatly added to the glee.

He was told that he could keep or add the prize money to his own account, or come down and have the check cashed, on demand.

OCCUM MAN PATIENT IN BACKUS HOSPITAL

Homer Therrien, 36 of Occum, is a patient in the Backus hospital in a semi-conscious condition with a fractured skull from injuries reported to have been received when he was struck by an automobile in Lisbon last Saturday night. He was brought to the hospital Monday when his condition became critical.

According to the state police, who have been investigating the case, Therrien was struck by an automobile driven by George Dugas of Versailles. After the accident Therrien was taken to his home where he was attended by Dr. George Thompson, who had him taken to the hospital.

JUDGE RESERVES DECISION IN ARCHITECT SUIT

The arguments were concluded in the superior court at New London Wednesday afternoon and Judge C. L. Avery reserved decision in the trial of the suit of Bilgerbeck & Langdon, Inc., against E. E. Dickenson and E. E. Dickenson, Jr., of Essex. The suit is brought on a claim for $502.40 for architect services.

Attorney Philip Z. Hankey was counsel for the plaintiff and Frank L. McGuire conducted the case for the defendants.

FAITH TRUMBULL CHAPTER HEARS INTERESTING TALKS

Faith Trumbull chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its April meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Community house on Church street with the regent, Mrs. William H. Dawley, presiding. The attendance was rather small, owing to sickness among the members. In the absence of Mrs. William S. Elliott, the secretary, Mrs. Helen B. Zabriskie was appointed secretary pro tem. Both the secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted.

The museum committee reported a $100 pledge paid to the museum fund and a bookcase given to the museum. The chapter voted a $5 donation to the Boy Scouts. The present membership of the chapter is 173.

Henry S. Gilbert of Danielson gave a very instructive talk upon tree surgery. The members received a great deal of information regarding their own special tree problems and they were invited to ask questions. Mr. Gilbert suggested cleaning and filling the cavities of trees to save them just as dentists do teeth. He also told of the proper food which trees need to make the best growth and said that many of our trees need systematic watering as the customary rainfall was not enough. After soil has been impregnated by gas fumes it takes eight or ten years for the fumes to get out of the soil before the trees would grow again, he said.

Mrs. Albert S. Comstock, delegate to the state convention in Stamford gave a very comprehensive report of the meeting which was much appreciated. She said that the convention had two real daughters of the Revolution, 106 and 107 years old; also that $9,000 had been contributed by Connecticut Daughters for scholarships during the past year. That in itself should answer the question what does the D. A. R. do. Also a tent has been purchased to be used at the Ellsworth home meeting, which will be a long felt want.

Mrs. Harriet S. Blackmar also reported upon the Stamford convention. She enjoyed the turkey dinner, served on time and hot, and said the convention was run on schedule time, that two patriotic plays were presented and enjoyed. She reported 17,700 manuals distributed in the last year and there had also been a wonderful response to the appeal for funds for the new auditorium in Washington.

Mrs. Aurin E. Payson, with Mrs. Sarah Woodman as accompanist at the piano, sang two groups of songs in very sweet and clear voice. Let Me Linger Here being a favorite.

Dr. John H. Evans spoke very interestingly of his work in the Near East and showed what a wonderful work was carried on among the boys and girls. All of this work, he said, was made possible by the receipt of the old clothing, medicine, milk, and the [illegible] that were sent to them, expressing [illegible] transporting free of charge by the soviet government. The condensed milk sent by the Borden people and others had saved the lives of the children, and the children in turn had been making cups for themselves out of the cardboard milk cans, and also [illegible] cartridge pipes, stove pipe [illegible]. The children made their own boxes for their food, made their own wooden spoons, and hung them on their backs as they would also have their own, and as they [illegible] of the dining room dipped [illegible] and spoons in them and emptied them away for there are no [illegible] on these children. [illegible] being taught all kinds of [illegible] the children and [illegible] a gift from one of our own [illegible] being built. It was up [illegible] stories when Dr. [illegible] left. In this mill the children make cotton cloth from their own grown cotton for employments [illegible] for these hundreds of [illegible].

Dr. Evans answered a number of questions that were asked after he had concluded his address.

Miss Ruth Hall, pianist, rendered a piano selection and Miss Alexander Darling, Miss Mary Hall, Miss Edith Hall, Miss Ruth Hall, Miss Dorothy Gilbert, Miss Mary Dolbeare, Miss Annie L. Howard, Mrs. Arthur Brown and Mrs. Edward Bliss.

TWO LEADERS HOLD PLACES IN PINOCHLE

For Automobile Law Violation.

Thomas Moore, 17, will have to answer in the police court this (Thursday) morning to two charges of violation of the motor vehicle law, operating a car without a license and with illegal registration. He was detected Wednesday night by Officer Gwizdowski in Falls avenue driving a car which were plates calling for a car of a different make as he had failed to have the transfer made. He also had no operator's license.

State Forester To Speak

The Brotherhood of the United Congregational church is to have Austin S. Hawes, state forester, as the speaker for its April monthly meeting and supper at the Community house.

All Day Meeting

An all day meeting of the Progressive Missionary club, Mrs. John E. Post, president, was held Wednesday at the Central Baptist church.

Help that lame, achy back!

ARE you dragging around, day after day, with a dull, unceasing backache? Are you lame in the morning, bothered with headaches, dizziness and urinary disorders? Feel tired, irritable and discouraged? These are common signs of kidney weakness. Don't risk neglect! Help your kidneys with Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Are endorsed by home folks. Ask your neighbor!

Here's a Norwich Case:

G. E. Disque, 50 Hodge Ave., says: "I have had backaches and other symptoms of disordered kidneys. Being on my feet weakened my back and my back felt tired. I had often read of Doan's Pills helping others and this led me to use them. Doan's have always rid me of those attacks."

SWIMMING RECORDS BROKEN AT CHAMPIONSHIP MEET AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 7—(AP)—Erik Rademacher, Germany's sensational breast stroke swimmer, tonight distanced an American field by a matter of inches to win a new world's indoor record for the 440 yard breast stroke swim and win the national amateur title for the event at the National A. A. U. championship meet.

The Teutonic star made the distance in 5:46, lowering the previous record of 5:47 by Robert Skelton, of the Illinois A. C. The old record was 2:48 2-5.

Walter Spence, of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. who entered the race as champion of the event, finished second, dropping behind by little more than a foot to Rademacher sprinted to the finish line Donald McClellan of the Detroit A. C. was third.

The world's record was made by Miss Ederle of New York when she swam the entire breast stroke exhibition in 5:30. The previous time for the same event was the 1:31 4-5 of Miss Hurst of England.

Several new marks were set in a sixty yard dash at the Chicago A. A. The new record was the second Miss Ederle has set in the meet. Last night she dashed through the 50-yard course in 26 seconds flat a record for women swimmers.

The 100 and free style championship was won by Arne Borg of the Illinois A. C. who defeated Harry Glancy and Walter Spaith of the Central Y. M. C. A. of Cincinnati, to finish in 2:35 flat.

C. F. C. TEAM HAD VERY SUCCESSFUL BASKETBALL TEAM

The very successful season has just been closed by the C. F. C. basketball team which won ten games on its schedule were victories. The defeat was administered on New Year's night by the Nutmeg quintet. This was the only game lost during the season although the score was close, being 30-29. The team showed great improvement over last year when they were defeated the Rex quintet of New London, the winner of the two games in 1925. Captain Brown and Leffingwell were the high scorers with only three points difference in their totals. The team showed its worth in foul shooting when they defeated the Taftville Celtics and won first place in the Free Throw contest held in the "Y" gymnasium during the season. Jackson, playing his first season with the team, showed up well in offensive tactics and should prove a great help to the team in the future. It may be stated that although the Celtics claim the amateur championship of Norwich they absolutely refused to play a series with the C. F. C. team under amateur rules but said that unless professional rules were played they would not meet the C. F. C. team.

The team wishes to thank Coach Harmony Burns for his fine coaching and the Central Baptist church for its support of the team.

DUWELL CLUB SUGGESTED TO SPONSOR TWILIGHT BALL

In answer to the question, what about a twilight league, it has been suggested by those interested in twilight baseball in Norwich that the Industrial Athletic association again sponsor the league the same as last season. All agree that the Duwell club is one of the finest athletic organizations in this section of the state and the sponsorship of this club was the logical organization to sponsor a league. Last season the club conducted the league and everything ran as smooth as could be expected considering it was the club's first venture with a league and that there were eight teams to handle. Everyone that played in the league was entirely satisfied. The money that was realized on the season, which by the way was very voluntary, is to be spent in baseball, putting it into shape for another season. Work will start on the field this week, according to one of the Duwell members. Nothing has been said to the Duwell club about forming a league but it is thought that the club would be willing to sponsor a six team league under the same conditions as last season.

NOAH WINS EASILY IN PRINCETON HANDICAP

Bowie, Md., April 7—(AP)—Harry Payne Whitney's Noah galloped to a decisive victory over Storm King in the Princeton handicap, feature event at Bowie today. Noah carried the claiming weight of 126 pounds in a driving rain. Lester Salmon piloted the place horse, Top Gun. The race, of nine furlongs, was run Tuesday at Belle Meade, although it was run in mud and rain.

Orlando as the third race started turned the track into a quagmire Ireen and Ready won the event at 1:46 miles with Old Rosebud second and Nettie May in third. The time was 1:52 3-5.

FRENCH BIKE TEAM HEADS RIDERS AT PARIS

Paris, April 7—(AP)—The end of the first 65 hours of the six-day bicycle race found the French team of Cugnot and Baron in first place, which they had wrested from Van Kempen and Laudet, with 125 points, and a total distance covered of 1214 kilometres (about 820 miles).

The American team, McNamara and Horan, was still a lap behind the others, having been penalized for Horan's absence from the track the first night on account of an accident.

YALE TRACK TEAM OVERWHELMS NAVY STARS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7—(AP)—Yale's track team overwhelmed Navy on a dull meet here today, the Elis rolling up a point score of 86 against 39 for the Midshipmen.

PRACTICE FOR ACADEMY MORNINGS AND AFTERNOONS

The Academy baseball squad will hold practice sessions both morning and afternoon for the rest of the week in order that the team may be in good shape for the alumni game on Saturday afternoon. The morning sessions will begin at 10 o'clock and the afternoon sessions at the usual time. Coach Brigham has ordered all candidates to be on the field this morning at the appointed time.

Followers of the Academy sporting activities are greatly enthused over the prospects of a championship team this season and it is to forecast a most profitable season for the team. Record crowds are expected to attend the games this season and as the schedule includes a large number of home games than ever before a most successful financial season is also anticipated.

In fact such large crowds are expected at the games that additional seating arrangements have been made A large number of the knock-down bleachers have been secured so that an additional 500 seats are available for the spectators. This type of portable bleacher can also be used for the football games.

EIGHT AMATEUR BOXERS PICKED FOR PAN-AMERICAN TE

NEW YORK, April 7—(AP)—Eleventh hour changes today brought a revised list of amateur boxers to represent the United States in the Pan-American championships at Buenos Aires next month.

National headquarters of the amateur Athletic union, after a conference with Boston officials, made public the following list, the men to meet here for a banquet Friday night before sailing for South America Saturday:

112-pound class, Lawrence Lyons of Pittsburgh.

CHICAGO A. A. SWIMMERS WIN NATIONAL "200" RELAY

CHICAGO, April 7—(AP)—The national amateur championship in the 200 yard relay was today won by the Chicago A. A. quartet at the opening of the third day's swims in the National A. A. U. aquatic carnival here.

Splashing the distance in 1.38 the Chicago swimmers provided somewhat of an upset in winning from the crack relay team of the Cincinnati Central Y. M. C. A. The Ohioans had set a new world's mark in capturing the 400 yard relay team of the Cincinnati Central Y. M. C. A. The Ohioans had set a new world's mark in capturing the 400 yard relay title last night. They finished second in today's race, with the Illinois A. C. team third.

CARPENTER SIGNED TO MEET HUFFMAN AT GARDEN

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Georges Carpentier of France, former light heavyweight champion, and Eddie Huffman of California today were matched to fight 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden on May 21.

The match will mark Carpentiers first ring appearance of his present American invasion. On his visit here in 1924, he suffered a technical knockout at the hands of Gene Tunney and lost a decision to Tom Gibbons of St Paul.

Huffman came to the front rapidly last year. During a recent eastern invasion he won a 12 round verdict over Jack Demave. Later he boxed a draw in Newark, N. J. with Ad Stone and lost a decision to Jack Sharkey-Boston heavyweight.

CUTTING MEETS HUSBAND IN AMATEUR TENNIS FINALS

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—C. Suydam Cutting of New York today reached the finals of the National amateur court tennis tournament by defeating J. W. Appel, Jr., of New York, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3.

Cutting's victory qualified him to meet George Huband, English player now a resident of Chicago, who gained his final bracket earlier in the day by eliminating W. C. Wright of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5. The winner in the final round will gain the right to challenge the present holder of the title, Jay Gould.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Harvard men are much elated over the splendid showing made by the Crimson athletes during the indoor season just ended. Their showing in practically all branches of indoor sport was highly satisfactory.

Competent critics seem agreed that the Victoria Cougars the Western Hockey League sent the greatest team east to play for the Stanley Cup that has ever represented the west in the world championship series.

Tiger Flowers, the new middleweight champion expects to engage in several bouts in the east before his return engagement with former Champion Harry Greb, which is down for decision in Madison Square Garden on May 28.

In winning a string of 23 straight games this spring the Cardinals have engendered in the breasts of the St Louis baseball fans a wee bit of hope that the 1926 season may bring to the Mound City its first major league pennant.

John J. McGraw's 53rd birthday, reached on April 7, finds the veteran manager of the Giants just as keen in battling for a pennant as he was in the early days when his fighting proclivities obtained for him the sobriquet of "Muggsy."

JUDGE BROWN REMANDS CASE TO COMMISSIONER

Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court who heard the appeal taken by the New London Ship & Engine Co. in the workmen's compensation claim made by Martin H. Sprague of Groton has remanded the case back to Commissioner J. J. Donoue. The commissioner made a finding and award in favor of Mr. Sprague to receive $8 per week for 312 weeks as workmen's compensation for the death of his son, Henry M. Sprague, who was electrocuted, July 22, 1925 while at work on a welding job on a submarine.

Judge Brown wrote the following memorandum of decision in the case:

Counsel for the appellant in argument urged but two claims in support of its appeal, first, the finding in paragraph 5 of the commissioner's finding that the claimant was "dependent" upon the decedent and, second, in paragraph 6 that $5 per week is a reasonable deduction for his board from the decedent's average weekly contributions to the claimant, are unwarranted.

As to this second contention, the appellant's claim in brief is that since there was no direct evidence introduced as to what was the reasonable cost of board in Groton at the time in question, there was no evidence upon which to base this finding of paragraph 6. While in the view which I take of this appeal as now presented, it is not necessary to decide the point, it would seem as though the evidence as disclosed by the transcript—as to the rent paid by the claimant the wages earned by him and the decedent, their manner of living, station in life, and all the other circumstances would warrant the commissioner as the trier of the facts in arriving at the conclusion which he did.

In support of its first contention counsel for the appellant called attention to several familiar decisions which emphasize the principle that for one to be a "dependent" within the compensation act under such circumstances as here, it must appear that he so receiving the contribution from the decedent "relied upon" it. While, the reasons of appeal do not clearly and explicitly raise the point that the finding of "partial dependency" set forth in paragraph 5 of the commissioner's finding is not supported by the above mentioned, and by certain other perhaps less important subordinate facts, paragraph 3 of the reasons of appeal hints at it, and it might be claimed under paragraph 5 thereof.

Be this as it may, the transcript discloses what appears to be ample evidence to warrant a finding of the subordinate facts to support the ultimate fact already found of partial dependency. The situation so presented seems to me to fall within the rule laid down in Connecticut vs. McMahon, where the supreme court says: "The situation disclosed leads us to surmise that this finding was omitted through the commissioner's belief that his finding of the ultimate conclusion was all that was necessary. . . . Cases under workmen's compensation act are upon a different basis from actions between ordinary litigants. No case under this act should be fully determined when the trial court, or this court, is of the opinion that, through inadvertence or otherwise, the facts have not been sufficiently found to render a just judgment. When this appears, the case must be returned to the commissioners for a finding in accordance with the suggestions made by the trial court or this court as for an award to be made upon the corrected finding."

Therefore, instead of passing upon this appeal, I return the case to the commissioner with the suggestion that the additional subordinate facts not now set forth, bearing upon the finding of partial dependency, be found and incorporated by way of amendment in the present finding, and his award made on the finding so corrected. Such facts would seem to include (1) the necessity of the contributions to maintain the claimant in his position and station in life, (2) his lack of sufficient means at hand for supplying his present necessities according to his class and condition in life, (3) a reasonable probability that the contributions found made would be continued, and (4) that the contributions so made and used and to be made and used were relied upon by the claimant dependent. While all of the above facts may not be of controlling importance, they are suggestive of the ground to be covered, and so of them are essential.

NORWICH TOWN

The Easter bulletin of the First Congregational church, prepared by the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey copies of which were distributed at the Sunday morning worship, read as follows: This church welcomes to its membership all who desire the help of the church in living the Christian life and who would make the impact of their lives upon the world 1926 through the church.

New members are usually received at the communion service on the first Sunday's of January, March, May, July, September and November. Those who wish to unite with the church should make the fact known to the minister three weeks before the date of their reception. Friends rejoiced to see their former pastor, Rev. Charles A. Northrop at the opening of the year and to hear his familiar voice in the church again. Four helpful meetings were held the first of the year with our neighbors of the First Methodist church. The gatherings were well attended and a devotional spirit was manifest. Now we have just held in Holy Week four more union services with four neighboring ministers coming to join us in our fellowship and inspire us with their messages.

Your pastor has attended thirty-two extra meetings and delivered twelve addresses outside of his own church since the New Year began. He feels that this service is as much a contribution of the church as of himself to the common work of the community.

Do not forget your representatives on the Mission fields: Miss Gertrude S. Ayers, Ahmednagar, Western India; Miss Ruth Bruce, Tuskegee, Ala.; Miss Atlanta, Ga.; Rev. Edward H. Smith, Logansport, Indiana; Rev. Lowell Combs.

This Easter bulletin was provided by the Young People's Christian Endeavor society of our church. This organization of young people is alive to respond to service when needed.

Because of the Norwich Training school which opens this (Thursday) evening for a ten weeks term, in which the Norwich Town Congregational church is cooperating, there will be no mid-week service for conference and prayer Thursday evenings at this church during that period. The meetings however will be held each week on Friday evening beginning April 9th, "Presbyterians" I Timothy 1:12 with reference to 1:13-2:7.

It was announced Easter Sunday that up to that time ten from the local church had decided to attend the training school course.

Rev. Allen Shaw Bush of Gales Ferry, is to be the officiating clergyman at the Sheltering Arms service Sunday afternoon. Philathea class of the United Congregational church school, Mrs William H. Dawley, teacher, will have charge of the musical part of the hour.

Mrs. May Lynes and Dr. Lillian M. Lynes of Bliss Place, are entertaining Mrs. Kinne, of Rochester, New York.

Mrs. Charles H. Kimball and Miss Agnes Thorpe of Norwich Town, were hostesses Tuesday evening for the April meeting of the Woman's auxiliary of Grace Episcopal church, Yantic, held at Mrs. Kimball's home, 846 Washington street, with a large attendance. Dr. Lillian M. Lynes, the new president for 1926, presided at the short business meeting during which she appointed a new ways and means committee, Mrs. Herman J. Gibbs, chairman; Mrs. William E. Manning and Mrs. Louis Engler. This committee is to be assisted during the year by Mrs. Herbert Daw.

This was the first social night, following the Lenten season, when meetings were held especially to do sewing. Three tables of whist were in play. Prizes were awarded Mrs. George Fraser; Mrs. Kinne of Rochester, N. Y., a guest at the meeting and Miss Lillian Carpenter. At the close, the hostesses served sandwiches, cake and coffee.

The April meeting of Home chapter of the Kings Daughters, is to be held at the Johnson home, Monday afternoon.

ONTARIO COLLEGE HENS HELD LEAD FOR WEEK

Production fell off slightly during the twenty-second week of the Storrs egg laying contest, when the 1,400 pullets laid a total of 5,306 eggs, or slightly over 54 per cent. This is a drop of 225 eggs when compared with the lay of a week ago, but is a gain of 593 eggs when compared with the production for the corresponding week a year ago. A grand total of 99,350 eggs have been laid since the contest got under way last November, which is an average production of 63 eggs per bird.

The Barred Rock entry of Ontario Agricultural college, from Guelph, Ont., repeated its performance of two weeks ago by laying more eggs than any other pen to head the weekly honor roll. Their score for the 22nd week was 56 eggs. The Rhode Island Red entry of the Hayes Hennery from Dover, N. H., came a close second for the week with a score of 55 eggs. Third place saw four pens deadlocked, each with a score of 52 eggs. They include the Barred Rock pens entered by Jules Francais from Westhampton Beach, L. I., N. Y., and Harlan W. Kimball from Northboro, Mass.; the Rhode Island Red entry of Fabry Bros. from East McKeesport, Pa.; and the White Leghorn entry of Toivonen Farm from Girard, Pa. Incidentally, the Toivonen Farm entry is the first pen of White Leghorns that during the last three weeks has laid eggs enough to make the honor roll. Fourth place for the week was taken by the Rhode Island Red entry of Fred H. Sampson from Springfield, Mass. with a production of fifty-one eggs.

John Z. LaBelle's leading pen of Rhode Island Reds from Ballouville Conn., continues to increase its lead over the other high pens in the competition. At the close of the twenty-second week the total score for the pen was 1095 eggs, or an average of better than 109 eggs per bird. This is a lead of 127 eggs over the Dudley Poultry Farm Leghorns from Webster, Mass., the next high pen in the contest. There were three changes among the leading pens in the "All Other Varieties" classification. A. T. Lenzen's pen of White Rocks from North Attleboro, Mass., went into the position, displacing the Ancona entry of F. M. Wistner from Monroe, Mich. which dropped to third position. Second place in this class was taken by Buff Rock entry of Littlewood Farm from Norfolk, Mass.

"Have a Camel"

No other cigarette like this was ever made

CAMELS brought the world an entirely new sense of smoking enjoyment. And the world gave Camels the largest patronage ever given a cigarette.

It was Camel quality that made Camel the largest selling cigarette on earth. That made it first and only choice with millions of experienced smokers. That caused Camel goodness to become a world triumph of cigarette contentment.

Into this one cigarette is concentrated the skill, the ability of the world's largest tobacco organization. Nothing is too good for Camels. No expense, no care is spared to make it the utmost in cigarettes. Camels are the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown, masterfully blended to bring you their full, mellow goodness.

We know that you will like Camels if you will try them. To be sure, compare them with any other cigarette made, regardless of price. Smoke all the Camels you want—they'll never tire the taste, never leave a cigaretty after-taste.

No other cigarette can be like this one. No other can so wonderfully satisfy your taste. Have a Camel!

M'GRAW FORECASTS NEW ERA OF BASEBALL PROSPERITY FOR MAJORS

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—A Washington-New York world series next October and an era of baseball prosperity which will soon find stadia seating at least 100,000 spectators in every major league city, were forecasts of John McGraw today on the 53rd anniversary of his birth.

Linking the financial success of the national pastime with its development in this city, the veteran Giants' pilot asserted that winning teams in New York were necessary for continued prosperity of the game "When interest languishes here, it soon falls off all over the country," he said.

"In the light of my experience in baseball, I can see only bigger and better things, with new and greater stadia all over the major circuits.

"Some idea of the growth of the game may be found in the fact that in 1890 I could have bought the Pittsburgh Nationals for $35,000. You could not buy the club for any amount now.

"When I broke into New York twenty-five years ago as manager of the Giants, major league baseball was a losing venture. The clubs at the top usually made a little money, but at least five others always lost. Now it's a rare thing for a club to finish with a deficit. Twenty years ago you would have been lucky to draw 200 or 400 at an exhibition game in the south. Now at least four or five thousand fans turn out.

"Behind all this success you will find New York. We took the lead in raising the standard of the personnel. We also showed the value of providing better accommodations for the spectators, putting up the first steel and concrete stadium in the game.

"I am more than eager this year to win the National league pennant. On paper we look like the best team.

"In the American league, I expect the Senators to come though again. I have a high regard for Mack's Athletics, but they do not impress me as being as well balanced or as smart a team as the Senators."

WESTERLY

BOSTON-N. Y. COACHES TO STOP IN PAWCATUCK

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 7—(AP)—Regular Westerly stops by the New York-Boston Coach company were announced at the noonday luncheon of Westerly Lion's club, when 26 members assembled at a local food shop. Through the efforts of Frank L. Furness, a Westerly Lion, also president of the Pawcatuck board of trade, arrangements are announced to be in effect immediately. Westbound busses from Boston to New York will stop at the Elm Tree Inn from 1 to 2 p. m. East-bound busses from New York to Boston will make the Westerly stop at 4:15 p. m.

There was no regular speaker for the luncheon but Tail Twister Dr. Henry L. Johnson presented a "demonstrated talk" on table etiquette which the assembled Lions described as a scream from start to finish.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP OF MRS. JOSEPH MONTE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 7—Mrs. Mary E. Monte, wife of Joseph Monte of 113 West Broad street, returned to Pawcatuck Wednesday morning from an automobile trip to Stonington, which she had taken in place of her brother, Walter Kaiser, ill at home with influenza, to drive workmen to the Atwood Machine shop. She notified the Pawcatuck police that an attempt was made to hold her up at about 7:30 o'clock in the Stonington road by an armed highwayman, identity unknown to her. Arriving at a Pawcatuck store, she telephoned Officer C. Wilson Brown. He went to the location between Pleasant Hill Dairy farm and the Woods farm. There Mrs. Monte noticed a sedan parked nearly in the middle of the highway.

She slowed down her car and gradually approached the sedan, which she believed to be either a Dodge or a Buick. Just before she came abreast of it a man stepped out from behind it. He held up his left hand to signal her to stop, but when she saw a revolver in his right hand she stepped on the gas and sped on, leaving the bandit and shooting him against his car machine.

Mrs. Monte did not take down the number but said the background of the plate was black, and the numbers yellow.

The bandit was short, of dark complexion, with general appearance of a foreigner. He wore a slouch hat and dark suit, and several of his front teeth were of gold. The last fact was noted by Mrs. Monte as she approached, for the bandit smiled as he signalled for her to stop.

FORMER WILLIMANTIC MAN WAS SEEING THINGS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 7—Charles Hertel, coming to Westerly from Willimantic about two weeks ago and employed as a millhand, was presented in a special session of Third District court on Wednesday morning before Judge Oliver H. Williams on a charge brought by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, of being drunk on Canal street Westerly. On his plea of guilty his case was continued to one month, upon payment of $2.80 costs.

The arrest of Hertel was made at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning by Officer Michael Curtin. He was found on Canal street by the officer, in his shirt sleeves, his face cut, and bruised. Hertel's recollections of his whereabouts Monday night and Tuesday morning were somewhat vague in one account he got into an automobile with some young people and later he thought there were colored people about him. When attacked he claimed that he hollered "Fire" to drive them away. One of the men who was beating him stepped away. Although Hertel had $26 on him he claimed that the attack was made for the purpose of fleecing him.

Three 2,000 kilowatt transformers, developing 2700 horse power, are in process of being unloaded from a flat car in the Westerly freight yard for the South County Public Service company to be located in the Westerly sub station on Canal street where they are to be located. They will be used on a 11,000 volt current which will be sent to outlying districts. The installation of electric motors in the American Velvet mill in Stonington has increased the current demand in that direction.

Recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk is the following transfer: April 7. Maynard Land company to Wayland E. Chapman, lots Nos. 85 and 86 in Melrose Heights tract off John street.

At the annual meeting of Westerly Visiting Nurse association, Tuesday evening, in the Westerly Memorial and Public Library building, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs Albert M. Spicer; first vice president, Mrs. Ralph Briggs; second vice president, Mrs. Elisha C. Burdick; treasurer, A. Barclay Robertson; board members for three years, Mrs. Charles J. Butler, Mrs. Clifford W. Campbell, Miss Harriet Cottrell, Mrs. S. H. Davis, Mrs. Charles E. Sherman Mrs. Frank A. Sherman and Mrs. George B. Utter. No secretary was chosen, Mrs. Henry L. Burdick having been elected in 1925 for a term of two years. The list of officers was submitted by a nominating committee consisting of Mrs. A. H. Langworthy, Thomas McKenzie, S. H. Davis, Arthur L. Perry and Mrs. Frank Sherman. Annual reports were read by the secretary, treasurer, supervising nurse and recording secretary of the tuberculosis committee. After the business meeting Mrs. Austin T. Levy of Harrisville, R. I., gave a short talk on important phases of public health nursing. Mrs. Levy is a member of the board of directors of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

The Women's Aid society of the Pawcatuck Seventh-day Baptist church held its annual meeting in the vestry Tuesday afternoon. Following the presentation of reports, officers were elected as follows:

Mrs. Samuel H. Davis, president; Mrs. LaClede Woodmansee, secretary; Mrs. B. Frank Lake, treasurer and collector; Mrs. William H. Browning, Mrs. Karl G. Stillman, Mrs. Wilfred Utter and Mrs. Walter Grenolds, vice presidents; Mrs. J. H. Austin, Mrs. C. P. Palmer, Miss Jessie Utter, Mrs. Hiram Barber, Mrs. Edward Crumb and Mrs. Herbert Lanphere, directresses; Mrs. L. L. Whipple and Miss Jessie Utter, House committee, Miss Emma Crandall and Mrs. E. C. Burdick, auditors; Mrs. Allan Whitford, calling committee, and Mrs. John H. Tanner, program committee.

A private funeral service for John M. Langworthy, was held at 11 a. m. Tuesday at 43 Granite street. Rev. A. L. Schoning, pastor of the Broad Street Christian church, officiated. The bearers were Millard Clark, Lloyd Langworthy, Harry Langworthy and George Robinson. Burial was in River Bend cemetery.

Wednesday morning at 2:15 o'clock Jessie MacLean Ferguson, 76, wife of John Ferguson died at her home, 5 Highland avenue, following an illness of over a year. Mrs. Ferguson was the daughter of William and Jessie Fraser MacLean, was born in Scotland and spent practically half her life in that country. With her husband she came to Westerly 38 years ago. Besides her husband she leaves two sons, Dr. Alexander Ferguson and Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr., both of Westerly. A third son, Sergt. Donald Ferguson of the Westerly police force, died May 16, 1924. She is also survived by six grandchildren, Elizabeth, Alexander and Charles the three children of Dr. Ferguson and Frances, Donald and Findlay, children of the late Sergt. Ferguson.

Rev. Marvin S. Stocking, pastor of Grace Methodist church, Westerly and his wife left Wednesday afternoon by automobile for South Manchester, where they will attend the 86th annual session of the New England Southern Conference. During Rev. Mr. Stocking's absence, services at the Methodist church next Sunday will be conducted by Rev. C. A. Burdick, pastor of Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church.

Funeral services for Joseph Oliver Lemire, 18, who came to Westerly from Willimantic and whose death occurred Sunday in Clarkville, were held Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Lemire, 5 Buckingham street, Clarkville. Requiem high mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock at St. Michael's church by Rev. J. F. X. Quinn. Burial was in St. Michael's New cemetery. The bearers were Henry Harvey, Armond Demeos, Henry Dubois, Adelard Dubois, Joseph Lemire and Leo Lemire. In addition to relatives and friends the following delegation from the Spinners' union was present: Natale Turco, Episano Castagna, James Jessop and Anthony Toskas.

James Connors of New London, division foreman of painters for the New Haven road, was in Westerly Wednesday and inspected the scaffolding erected in the women's section of Westerly waiting station, for men repairing the ceiling.

Mrs. Elizabeth James is a visitor with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Convici, in Woburn, Mass.

Albert G. Martin, of Pawcatuck, was named at the Pawcatuck session of Stonington probate court guardian of the person and estate of Mrs. Antoinette West, who resided at the corner of Dixon and High streets, Westerly, before going to Norwich.

Miss Charlotte Dower, a Westerly visiting nurse, is passing a week's vacation in New York.

Work in the Temple degree with a class of candidates followed the business session of the conclave on Wednesday evening in the asylum of Narragansett commandery, No. 27, Knights Templars, of Westerly. John A. Hogg, commander.

Walton Clark returned on Wednesday afternoon from New London to his home in Westerly.

The equipment for the elevator hoist being installed in Westerly Memorial and Public library, to take books from the basement to the second floor in the children's department, has arrived at the library building.

Patrolman Robert M. Kessel began Wednesday a week's tour of day duty, succeeding Officer George L. Madison, who returned to night duty.

The Building and Loan association has published its fifth semi-annual report which shows remarkable success in the past six months. Since the last report in Oct. 1925 two already built houses, have been purchased and five new houses are under construction with the financial aid of the association amounting to a total of nine old and ten new houses since its beginning. At the special meeting after reading the auditor's report, the directors voted a dividend of 6 per cent. per annum, which leaves a surplus of $145.73. After taking care of the writing off on the equipment account and adding to contingent this makes a total of $651.07 surplus, a gratifying result for the members as well as proof that the association is a valuable asset to the welfare of a greater Mystic. The management is composed of a conservative group of fifty business men.

The basketry class will meet in grange hall this Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock. The instructor will not be present. The object is to see how much can be accomplished without the instructor.

NOANK

William Bogue a West View fisherman while selling at Bake Bridge cove Tuesday morning had about 20 eels in the bottom of his boat "Minnie." He walked home to his dinner and when he came back he found that some one had stolen his eels and spear. Later the spear was found near the railroad station, but no eels. Some lucky person or persons had an eel chowder for supper without working for it while Mr. Bogue lost a day's pay.

JEWETT CITY

RIFLE CLUB PLANNING TO ERECT BUILDING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, April 7—At the last regular meeting of Jewett City Rifle club, Henry Wallace, chairman of the dance committee, reported that he had been successful in securing the famous Lee's Old Time Fiddlers' orchestra of Bridgeport, for the coming Social Hop dance. The grand march, led by the president, Gen. S. F. Condie, followed by his staff, will start at 8 o'clock. The following reception committee was appointed—Austin Harris, Theo. Boule, Wm. Marshall, Dr. Wallace and P. W. Chase. The building committee, headed by L. F. Guillotte reported that the building site, donated by the management of the Ashland Cotton company, was found highly suitable for the club's new building and the architect is to submit the plans at Thursday's meeting. This building when completed will comprise all the requirements of a modern and up-to-date indoor rifle range. Bids on the contract will be closed April 15th.

The membership committee reported that the drive has been highly successful and assures an early start of the club's activities.

A queen made the long trip from Bermuda, packed in a carton, arriving as fresh and fragrant as though just picked from the field. Mr. Blanchard was a recent visitor in Bermuda and the flowers are the remembrance of a friend.

The value of an adv. in The Bulletin was demonstrated in a novel manner Wednesday. A week ago, Thomas Barnett assistant postmaster and manager of the Finn theatre, lost a bunch of keys. For two days he hunted high and low, went over all the places he had visited, but his keenest search proved futile. Monday, he caused a two line adv. to be printed in The Bulletin. Tuesday as well as Monday passed without results. In the rear of the Finn block, a place is prepared for the daily burning of the waste papers and sweepings from the theatre floor and lobby. Tuesday evening the usual bonfire contained two or three copies of Monday's Bulletin. Wednesday forenoon Mr. Barnett was passing the pile of ashes remaining from recent clean-ups. Something shining caught his eye. It proved to be the name tag on his key ring. Twenty-two keys were all intact and O. K. "An Adv. in The Bulletin!" Mr. Barnett says, "surely does the trick." Adding, "Can you beat it?"

Those attending the conference of six churches were entertained at dinner in the Congregational church vestry. A menu of baked beans, boiled ham, cabbage salad, rolls, cake and coffee was served under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Wood. Mrs. Walter Marshall, Mrs. F. E. Robinson and Mrs. T. B. Keen. The waitresses were in charge of Mrs B. H. Hiscox and were Mrs. W. A. R[illegible], Miss S. K. Adams, Mrs. [illegible] Burdick, Mrs. H. T. Jeffers, Mrs. Grace Webster, Mrs. H. E. Paul, Miss M. A. Burdick, Mrs. L. G. Buckingham, Mrs. S. R. Waters, Mrs. Earl Hiscox, Mrs. Dona Ballou, Mrs. E. L. French and Mrs. J. T. Stewart.

FORMALLITY OF AN AUTO LICENSE IGNORED BY NEW LONDON DRIVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 7—Frank Silva was found operating an automobile without having a license so to do. He drove out of North Bank street, late last night and his car collided with the machine of Theodore Constantine, damaging the latter car somewhat. Silva kept going, but his car's number was obtained and he was arrested. He agreed to pay for whatever damage he had occasioned the Constantine car, so he was not prosecuted to attempt to avoid responsibility. He was fined $1 for failing to have a license. Silva explains that the car he was driving was the property of his wife and that he was taking it to the place where h's brother-in-law is employed. The trip was rather expensive.

REV. A. J. CHANDLER DEAD—WAS C. A. R. CHAPLAIN

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 7—Rev. A. J. Chandler, about 72, died late last night at his residence, 34 Thames street. He is survived by two sons, Merle J. Chandler, of this city and another son, who is a resident of a western state. Rev. Mr. Chandler had been a minister about two score years, but he never had been assigned to a pastorate. He was a member of the Huntington Street Baptist church and of W. W. Perkins Post, G. A. R., of which latter patriotic organization, he had been Chaplain many years. Rev. Mr. Chandler had been in poor health several months.

Mrs. Nellie Gaffey, of 45 Colman street, Abraham Zazzon, 201 Hamilton street, Mrs. William McMahon, 18 Hempstead street, avenue, Mrs. Reuben [illegible] and infant son, 45 Bayview avenue, Alex Sevastides, 108 Ocean avenue, and John McCarthy, 242 Ocean avenue, patients at Lawrence-Memorial [illegible] hospital, were discharged [illegible].

[illegible] A. Williams has sold a house and lot on Darrow street to Christine [illegible].

Clara Cilsh has sold a house and lot on Davis street to Whitney Reed.

Timothy S. V. Collins, of 41 Linden street, and Miss Helen G. Lawton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawton, 33 Lee avenue, were married at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's church, the nuptial mass being celebrated by Rev. William J. Fox, rector of Sacred Heart church, Groton, in the presence of relatives and friends. John J. Foley was best man and Dr. Josephine Lawton of Bridgeport, sister of the bride, was the bride's attendant. Following the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Collins left for a wedding trip. Mr. Collins is employed by the New Haven railroad as station master in this city. His bride until a few days was cashier at the office of the New London line, New England Steamship company.

Patrolman Carlos Selesnitsky reported at the police station early this morning that a Ford automobile had been parked four days on Montauk avenue, corner of Perry street. The car bears registration of Connecticut issue, XJ-218.

The fire alarm box, corner of Smith and Walbach streets, No. 57, was discovered to be defective last night by Patrolman Lawrence Fardy and a report of the condition of the box was made Chief Charles Rose today.

Supernumerary Police Officer Arthur Feeley has been assigned to regular patrol duty by Captain Charles A. Finney, the former officer being given a night patrol last night. The assignment of officer Feeley to duty was made [illegible] by a vacancy being caused in the ranks of the department by the death of former Patrolman John [illegible] last Saturday night. The officer will be kept on duty the greater part of the year and Supernumerary George K. Cockell will eventually be appointed to receive the place of Officer Hogan.

Charles L. Sherman, who has been a cook in restaurants for several years, abandoned the kitchen Monday night when he began a spree. He landed in the police court yesterday and when he left there he had $20 less in his pocket than he had when he entered. He was picked up very drunk and was fined. Charles did not return to his [illegible] because his employer desired a man who would abstain from liquor and filled the place which Charles had occupied. That was discouraging to Charles so he resorted to more booze, to drown his sorrows. He was found at the railroad station this morning about 3 o'clock, broke and begging for a dime, he admitted. Then he was arrested again and again was in court. Charles has a record of having served in one restaurant on Bank street during a period of three and a half years. So he was not sent to jail today, but was put to the test as to whether he will brace up and get back to work.

John Billings of Hill street was found intoxicated. He admitted what was obvious to the officer who took him to cover that he had drank too much. As John has kept away from the court more than a year, he was given the opportunity to make his absence a year longer.

The funeral of former Patrolman John E. Hogan was held this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's church and was attended by a great throng of mourners, among whom were representations of the police department, New London lodge of Elks, and Pequot Hose company. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William J. Fox, pastor of Sacred Heart church, Groton. The bearers were Sergeant James D. Gaffney and Patrolman David Nagle, representing the police department, John Tansy and Donald Bain, representing Pequot Hose company, and Patrick J. Clifford and Frank E. McCormick, from New London lodge of Elks. Beautiful floral tributes conspicuous among the choice flowers, were sent by the three organizations. A detail of 20 patrolmen acted as an escort from the residence of the dead officers sister, Mrs. Michael Cately, 42 Belden street, to the church and from the church to Broad street, corner of Hempstead street, the officers disbanding at that point. Each available officer attended the funeral and in order to make this possible the only officers on duty during the funeral hour were supernumerary officers, who performed traffic duty.

Mrs. Helen Sheffiott, of Maple avenue, employed as clerk in the office of City Treasurer Herbert J. Huntley, who has been confined to her home several days by illness, has fully recovered her health.

United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran, of Willetts avenue, has returned to New London, having spent a week with relatives in Detroit, Mich.

The pavement along State street, especially that between the rails of the Connecticut company, between Main and Union street, is fast becoming in a condition that will of necessity cause repairs to be made, for at present the lining has become so shattered as to make it almost unsafe for automobiles to be guided from between the rails, except with caution and it is almost an impossibility for a team to be driven from between the tracks without colliding with other vehicles. The pavement has been in position about 16 years.

Sophia A. Crandall has sold to St. Joseph's church corporation a parcel of land adjoining the parsonage and [illegible] on Orchard street.

Mrs. Isadore Miller, of 8 Thompson [illegible], Mrs. Richard Morrison and infant son, Westerly; Miss Betty Steifel, Mohican; Neale Beebe, Niantic; S. Thomas Pelletier, 97 Harrison street; and Robert Maynard, 43 Cutler street, were patients dismissed today from Home Memorial hospital.

The street department of the city suffered the loss of numerous lanterns of late and in the loss the city [illegible] have been caused considerable annoyance, to say nothing of [illegible] danger to autoists because of lanterns being removed from their spots. Within the past two days three lanterns have been stolen while in another instance the lantern was smashed. The police have been requested to be on the lookout for the thieves.

Wellington L. Brown, well known resident of Noank, and Miss Myrazbeth Weir of this city were married this afternoon, at the parsonage of the First Church of Christ by Rev. Romeyn Danforth.

Charles H. Baldwin has leased from Isaac Mann, the ground floor and basement of the building 5 Railroad place, formerly known as the Astor Building. The lease becomes effective June 1st and will continue for a term of years. After alterations to be completed and equipment installed in the structure the place will be used for business purposes.

Helen Richards, 33, wife of Harold Eldridge, died this morning at her residence, 451 Main street, after an illness of about a week. Mrs. Eldridge, besides her husband, is survived by six children. She was a native of New London. Her first husband died about five years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. William Caulkins have returned to their home, Oakdale, after having visited Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Edwards, 16 Methodist street.

Desk Sergeant William Babcock is ill at his residence 212 Jefferson avenue. Sergeant Babcock attended the funeral this forenoon of Former Patrolman John E. Hogan and is believed to have contracted a severe cold, for late this afternoon he was taken ill and this evening a physician was called because the patient was running a high fever.

The members of the duckpin teams of the league of New London lodge of Elks held their annual banquet at the [illegible] Wednesday night, following the closing of the bowling season. About 50 members participated in the feast, which consisted of a fine beefsteak supper.

UNION TRADESMEN SEEK ADVANCED WAGE SCHEDULE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 7—Union tradesmen are seeking another increase in wages, it has become known this morning. The increase sought is to [illegible] carpenters, painters and masons. A request to [illegible] has not been made, but is now within the next fortnight. It is the intention of the union members to endeavor to secure the new schedule of wages so that it will become [illegible] May 1, except in the case of [illegible] which schedule it is sought to become in force May 15th. When the present working schedule will expire. The increase sought by painters is 10 cents an hour. They now receive 90 cents per hour; carpenters 15 cents per hour more, as against the present wage of $1 per hour. Masons now receive compensation of $1.25 per hour and a wage of $1.50 1-2 cents per hour is asked. Plumbers ask for a wage increase of 10 cents per hour as against the present wage of $1 per hour.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Ladies' Night Programme

Arrangements have been made for an excellent musical and literary entertainment for the ladies' night on Friday evening at St. Mary's Memorial hall. Miss Teresa Brown, a well known school teacher of New London, will deliver an address upon a topic of special interest to the women of Norwich. Miss Mildred Lamb of Middletown will entertain with several readings and elocutionary selections. She is one of the popular entertainers of the state and on several occasions her readings have been broadcast from Hartford and other radio stations. Vocal and instrumental musical selections will be rendered by the talented young women of St. Mary's parish. A general invitation to all women of the parish and neighboring parishes to attend and enjoy the evening is extended by the committee. There is no admission charge.

Lyceum Theater

After a run of three years—with a record of the longest dramatic run in New York—the New York company in White Cargo will be presented by Earl Carroll at the Lyceum, New London to run two days, commencing Friday, with a matinee Saturday.

There have been nearly a score of companies all over the world and all of them with appearances in White Cargo during the past three years, one of them starring Leon Gordon, the author. But naturally the greatest interest attached to the original company which has made stage history. This play now enjoys the distinction of having established the record for the longest run of any drama in the history of the stage in New York, or any other city of the world.

Six of the ten players in this company have been with the piece since the beginning—Conway Wingfield, Frederick Dunn, Curtis Karpe, Tracy Barrow and George Duryea. Car. Brickert, Alan Davis and W. Wana Singhe have played consecutively considerably over a year, succeeding Players in their roles very early in the long run of the tropical love story that electrified New York when first offered three years ago at the Green with Wingfield starring.

Recital by Miss Estlow

The second annual recital of the dancing classes conducted at the Wauregan hotel, Friday afternoon by Miss Sarah Shipman Estlow of Hartford, will be held next Friday evening, April 9 at eight o'clock.

The many different styles of dancing, from the ballet training to the popular dancing of the day, will be demonstrated by the pupils. The children have been faithfully rehearsing their different numbers and in many cases the ability shown is remarkable.

A few of Miss Estlow's Hartford pupils will entertain.

A very interesting feature will be the demonstration of ballet exercises and the correct method of learning toe dancing.

Many different character dances will be given and the costumes are well worth seeing.

Tickets may be bought at the Jewelry store of G. FitzGerald and also at Cranston's and at the door the night of the reception.

Breed Theater

Chill Limehouse shadows—ominous silhouettes seen dimly through the fog—a sense of mystery that gives one a creepy feeling of delicious expectancy of something unknown—those are the impressions that one absorbs in [illegible] watching Lon Chaney's latest and possibly one of his most remarkable characterizations in The Black Bird the feature attraction at the Breed theater today, Friday and Saturday.

The [illegible] of a vaudeville theater, the queen of London's poor, pathetically determined to have a good time in spite of the bits of penury, a foreboding of unseen evil overshadowing even and laughter—and then a remarkable climax in which the Good is turned inside out and the silver lining reflects a happy sheen—that's the play.

Lon Chaney plays two roles, one a sinister underworld leader—the other a crippled missionary of almost angelic mien, in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer mystery play. Never has an actor been called upon for two more dissimilar roles.

The last chapter of The Green Archer will also be shown and the Pathe news and an educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill. Coming Sunday Syd Chaplin in Oh! What a Nurse.

Broadway theatre

National Vaudeville Artists Week is still in full sway at the Broadway theatre, where hundreds of people have come and were satisfied beyond their fondest expectations.

A brand new program opens today and the crowds that are sure to come [illegible] will be guaranteed to be just as much pleased as they were the early part of the week.

Five new, especially selected, Keith-Albee vaudeville acts will be on hand to give all a real good time.

It took more than 10,000 miles of traveling to make "Under Western Skies," an Edward Sedgwick-Universal-Jewel production that is to be screened at the Broadway theatre commencing today. In addition to all this, Director Sedgwick and his players were absent from the studio at Universal City, California, for almost three months.

The company's first west from Universal City to Pendleton, Oregon, in which city and in the country about it many of the most important and picturesque scenes were made. The trip was planned so as to coincide with the holding of the famous Pendleton round-up and the harvesting season in eastern Oregon. Both of these events play a prominent part in the story of "Under Western Skies."

From Oregon to New York is a long jump but the story called for it and a certain number of the players made the trip east, invading the sacred precincts of busy Wall street where bulls and bears were treated to this spectacle of a motion picture company at work. The Hudson was "shot" in all its glory and the great "open spaces" where Madison Square Garden once stood, were made to do their bit in the story.

"Under Western Skies," combining east and west is a picture that will interest every American. It is something different in western pictures with its plot based on the attempt of an eastern money ring to ruin western farmers just as they are about to harvest their crops.

The story was written by Edward Sedgwick.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A Couple of Million.

The exchange of tickets for "A Couple of Million" began at Broadway theatre box office on Wednesday morning and the lobby was filled to capacity in spite of the bad weather. The demand is most satisfactory and a capacity house is looked for when the play is given on Monday evening. The exchange will continue every day until Monday and those who have not as yet obtained tickets may get them at Marra's drug store, Madden's cigar store, at Quinn and Desmond's, and at the theatre box office, for $1 and $1.60 plus tax. Best seats as usual go to the earliest requests so all are urged not to delay the exchange of their tickets.

POETRY

An April Adoration

Sang the sunrise on an amber morn—
"Earth, be glad! An April day is born.
"Winter's done, and April's in the skies,
"Winter's done, and prill's in the skies,
Earth, look up with laughter in your eyes!"

Putting off her dumb dismay of snow,
Earth bade all her unseen children grow.

Then the sound of growing in the air
Rose to God a liturgy of prayer;

And the thronged succession of the days
Uttered up to God a psalm of praise.

Laughed the running sap in every vein,
Laughed the running flurries of warm rain.

Laughed the life in every dandering root,
Laughed the tingling cells of bud and shoot.

God in all the concord of their mirth
Heard the adoration song of Earth.
—Charles G. D. Roberts.

Night After Night

Night after night we dauntlessly embark
On slumber's stream, in whose deep waves are drowned
Sorrow and care, and with all senses bound
Drift for a while beneath the somber arc
Of that full circle, made of light and dark
Called life, yet have no fear, and know refound
Lost consciousness shall be, even at the sound
Of the first warble of some early lark
Or touch of sunbeam. Oh, and why not then
Lie down to our last sleep, still trusting Him
Who guided us so oft through shadows dim,
Believing somewhere on our sense again
Some lark's sweet note, some golden beam shall break,
And with glad voices cry, "Awake! awake!"
—Gertrude Bloede.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Weren't they pressed in a hurry? Dutch was afraid the other would back out. — Boston Transcript.

Lady—How much will you have a set of teeth inserted without much trouble? Dentist—Just kick a bull dog, and he will do the rest.—Bison.

Boy, put down that bottle. A single drop is enough to kill a full-grown man.

But I am not a full-grown man.—Lustige Blaetter, Munich.

"I want to start in business, father said my son, 'only like an artist.'

"Wonder what you can have done?" Sympathetic Neighbor—I'm taking me a spanking.—Good Hardware.

Parson—You look to go to Sunday school don't you, Robert?

Bobby—Yes sir.

Parson—What do you expect to learn today?

Bobby—The date of the picnic.—Judge.

"Late again, O'Malley," roared the boss. "How do you account for this persistent tardiness?"

"Tis inherited, sir," answered O'Malley. "Me father was the late Michael O'Malley."—Good Hardware.

Hee—Ever see a worse fog than this?

Haw—Yes, one.

Hee—Is that so, where?

Haw—Why, er—er—it was so foggy I really couldn't tell where it was.—Middlebury Blue Baboon.

"What luf you got?" the Jew asked the butcher.

"Mutton and venison," the dealer responded.

"Give me der mutton," ordered the Jew. "I prefer it, as it is cheaper as that vat is deer."—The Progressive Grocer.

KALEIDOSCOPE

The number of horses bred on United States farms is rapidly decreasing.

Because burial of jewels with the dead was forbidden, early medieval ornaments are now rare.

Hornets make their nests of bits of wood which they chew until the wood becomes a paper like mixture.

One hundred and fifty students from [illegible] are making a six weeks' tour of Europe.

Some of the fossil trees found in Wyoming are species which no longer grow in any part of the United States.

Japanese crabs, which weigh as much as 120 pounds each, supply a good deal of the canned crab meat on the American market.

Dr. J. B. Forestier, a French surgeon, is the inventor of a new method [illegible] the X-ray through [illegible] of solid [illegible]. The object is said, first takes a background for an X-ray photograph.

Mme. Eve Curie, on being asked what her famous mother, Mme. Pierre Curie thought of her daughter's [illegible] for science for music, replied: "My mother's heart is with me in the career I have chosen for myself, but she hopes I will be judged [illegible] efforts alone, and not because I am her daughter."

Some curious objects were experienced by surgeons Dr. Monaghan, of Glenside, Mo., when [illegible] from the [illegible] of [illegible] Negro. It was a package of [illegible] feet, but was not painful, as the stomach was soft and [illegible] deep that he was out of [illegible]. Lacking all sense of direction in confusion he did considerable [illegible] wandering about before he realized [illegible] was out of the drift.

Under the same roof in the village of Billingsborough, England, are five women, all related, whose combined ages total 465, an average of 93. They are all active. Two of them earn a living by knitting and dressmaking, while the other three do housework. Their grandson, of the household is 97, but still gets out to do the shopping, while the flapper of 87 spends most of her time doing the kitchen work and chores. The others are aged 88, 91, and 92.

When the old Overbrook hotel, for years a landmark of the White Horse pike, near Lindenwold, N. J., was sold, $4,345 in cash was removed from mattresses and cupboard corners throughout the old hostelry. The money, property of Mrs. George Thomas, proprietor, was first discovered by a realty agent helping Mrs. Thomas remove her personal belongings from the hotel after its sale. The agent pulled five $10 bills from a mattress the night of which seemed to jog Mrs. Thomas's memory. "It's wonderful," she said. "I can remember now back as far as 25 years ago when, not having confidence in banks, I used to tuck small sums under these mattresses."
